OUR NEW BUILDING

A joint meeting of representatives of the Trustees, headed by Mr. Benjamin Saek, chairman, and of the Bulding Committee, led by Mr. Saul Godwin, met at the Park Avenue Synagogue on September 6th and chose the architects for our contemplated structure. A contract is being drawn which is expected to be executed shortly and the final plans and specifications will emerge. followed by the demolition of the existing structure on the site and the construction of our new building.

The architects chosen will work closely with representatives of all arms of the Synagogue so that the fullest use may be had of the new premises for all its activities.

Our campaign to raise funds for this objective has been given new vigor by the generous response of the congregants, and we are well on our way to the goal set by the Milton Steinberg Memorial Committee, under the dynamic leadership of Messrs. I. M. Cohen and Milton Weill.

We are now embarked on an historic enterprise for the greater glory of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and urge fullest cooperation from all the congregants to make this endeavor a noteworthy success.

High Holy Days to Dedicate Our New Year

The Park Avenue Synagogue will usher in the Jewish New Year this Sunday, September 30th at 6:00 P.M. The High Holy Day services this year will be conducted by Rabbi Simon Noveek and Cantor David J. Putterman assisted by the Synagogue Choir and Mr. Isador Geller at the Organ.

Cantor Abraham Friedman will conduct the early Shacharit services in the Main Synagogue while Mr. Sanford Hahn, rabbinical student at the Jewish Theological Seminary, will conduct them in the Vestry. Mr. Isidore Hahn will blow the Shofar.

A special Junior Congregation service will take place on Monday and Tuesday mornings, October 1st and 2nd at 11:30 A.M., under the direction of Mr. Sanford Hahn with the assistance of some of the young people, at the Jewish Museum.

The theme of Rabbi Noveck's sermon on the first day of Rosh Hashanah will be "On Being a Jew—What Does It Mean?". He will point out that the philosophy of Israel's Jews that, only in the Jewish State can one truly be a complete Jew, poses the question, "What does it mean to be a Jew in the Diaspora?". Rabbi Noveck will analyze these essential elements and suggest a program for Jewish living in America and in the Diaspora.

from the desk of Rabbi Noveck

Travelling to distant lands and living among cultures different from our own is always a great emotional and intellectual experience. To wander amidst the remnants of the middle ages—the Versailles of Louis the fourteenth, the halls of Oxford University or the Stratford of Shakespeare, to walk under the Arch of Titus and then to stand with one's own feet on the hallowed soil of Israel—on Mount Carmel where Elijah fought with the prophets of Baal, in Jaffa from which Jonah set sail on his mission—is for anyone with a sense of history or a Jewish consciousness a great privilege.

It was my privilege to have these and many other experiences during the past summer. But as I look back on the past two months I think the greatest thing I have gained from this trip is a new perspective on American and Jewish life.

First of all, I have come back convinced that we in America are doing great harm to ourselves by allowing the current hysteria and the suppression of freedoms to take hold of us. Nowhere in Europe or Israel did I find this same anxiety and fear that characterizes us —not in London nor Amsterdam nor Paris nor Rome nor in Jerusalem. In Hyde Park, in London, Communists, Socialists, Conservatives, Laborites, Christian Missionaries and Jewish ex-servicemen all set up their stands and, side by side, talk their heads off while thousands of respectable citizens stand and listen or good naturedly disagree. As I heard one Bobby remark, "It ain't doing us no harm and it's doing them a lot of good." While building up our armaments and strengthening our defense we ought to also build up our faith in the freedom of ideas and strengthen our morale for the future.

Secondly, I have come to appreciate, more than ever before, as a result of this trip, what a great institution the Synagogue is for the preservation of Jewish life. All over Europe and Israel I saw Synagogues that physically were magnificent and imposing but which actually had very little to offer the people of the community. The concept of a Synagogue with youth activities, adult education programs, auxiliary organizations and social service functions, in other words, with a total approach to Jewish life, is strange to European and Israeli Jewry. Only in England has there begun to emerge institutions of this kind. The development in America of Synagogues that are more than prayer halls and of Rabbis that are more than religious functionaries is, I am now convinced, one of the great guarantees for Jewish survival in America.

Finally I have come to realize, more than ever before, how important it is for American Jews to develop some form of unity in their religious and communal life. I do not think that the continental system whereby Jews are organized into official communities to which they must belong and pay taxes in order to be Jewish is suitable to the American Jewish mentality. Nor do I think we can ever have, as in England, a Chief Rabbinate, for our environment is quite different. However we must find some way of eliminating the anarchy and duplication which as the MacIver report indicates so characterizes American Jewish life. We must acquire a bit of the discipline and sense of standards which characterizes England and some of the European Jewish communities.

All of which leads me to our own Synagogue and our own pattern of Jewish life. We have planned a program of activities for the coming year which we hope will offer something to each member of our congregation. The Adult Education Committee, the School Board, the Sisterhood, the Men's Club, the Parents Association, the Young Marrieds, the Junior League and the Mr. and Mrs. Club will each announce its own program and plans in the next few days. I trust each of you will be active in as many phases of these activities as you can.

On behalf of Cantor Putterman, the Synagogue Staff and myself may we wish you a year of health and happiness.

L'shanah tovah tikatevu.

SIMON NOVECK

message from the Board Chairman

Welcome to all. I trust everyone has had a pleasant summer and enjoyed good health. We return to the activities of the Synagogue. for worship. study and sociability.

Everyone I have met appears to be affected by a certain vibration in the air which is due to the anticipation of enjoying our new building. The project has become a real one, out of the talking stages; now on the drawing boards of the architect engaged to design and supervise the erection of our new School and Community Centre. All will know that when this project is finished and paid for, we shall possess for ourselves a small part of the spirit of our beloved Milton Steinberg which will pervade this building forever.

Congratulations to Rabbi Simon Noveck upon whom the mantle of Rabbi Steinberg has been plamed by vote of the Board of Trustees and the Congregation. I bespeak for him patience and the continued confidence of the Congregation.

I extend particular thanks to those committees who have labored during part of the hot and humid summer just ended in necessary and important aspects of our congregational life.

We should be favored by good weather in the forthcoming holidays because of the time of the year. May we be privileged to continue in good weather in all respects for the balance of the New Year.

Happy New Year to all.

BENJAMIN SACK

High Holy Days

On the second day his theme will be "Can Judaism Survive in the Western World?" Passing in review the great challenges that face the Jew in the Diaspora, particularly in Western Europe and and England, Rabbi Noveck will disdiscuss such problems as the lack of numbers of European Jews due to the recent tragedies, the new migrations from Europe to Canada, Brazil and Australia, the lack of any real religious liberalism in Europe and Israel, and the restricted nature of the Synagogue in most European lands.

With these challenges, as his point of departure, he will discuss the similar problems facing European and American Jewry and outline some of the steps that must be taken if these challenges are to be overcome.

Mr. Benjamin Sack, Chairman of the Board of Trustees announces the appointment of Edward Kaye and Bernard Prensky as Chairman and Co-Chairman, respectively, of the Ushering Committee. The composition of this committe will be announced at a later date.

Thanks is hereby given to Jacob Boorstein, retiring Chairman of the Ushering Committee who performed devoted and useful service in the work of this committee to date.

Parent's Association Sends Season's Greeting

Summer days are over and once more we face a new year with all its challenges and stimulating problems.

We are caught between two worlds with varied conflicting philosophies. Educators today are disturbed as the emphasis in education is on the sciences rather than the humanities.

We, as Jews having long been called "The People of the Book" must see our way clearly. It is up to us to give our children not only the background and history of our people, but we must imbue them with the great philosophy of our people.

We must teach them the worthwhileness of man. The differences of nations and people should be taught so that we will have a moral responsibility to that ancient question—"Am I my brother's Keeper?"

The Parents Association has planned an active program for the year. We have interesting and well known speakers for our open meetings. We would like to urge, not only parents but all members to attend our meetings. All parents are urged to become active in our programs.

Let us, as parents and those interested in the spiritual development of our youth, join hands to make this a year in which we will give our children an inner strength "to go forth in our world unafraid."

Young Marrieds Plan New Season's Program

The first meeting of the Young Marrieds was held in the Board Room of the Synagogue on Tuesday evening, September 18th. A program for the year was presented to the group by the Program Chairman, William Riemer, and plans were made for the year's activities.

Refreshments were served later in the Vestry by the Entertainment Chairman, Mrs. Norman Cohen and her committee.

All young married couples who are interested in joining the group are invited to attend future meetings. The dates of these will be announced in the next issue of BULLETIN.

Youth Department Forms Three Teen Age Groups

It is with a great deal of pride that the Youth Department of our Synagogue announces the formation of three new clubs which will fill the needs of teenagers in our Synagogue Community.

The clubs, whose members range in age from 13 years to 17, have been actively at work, since the beginning of September, planning their programs. The members of the planning committees are enthusiastic in their endeavor to make their clubs a total success.

The planning committee for the youngest group includes Eleanor Foa, Sandra Gevirtz, Martin Gold, David Hoexter, Michael Rosen, Andrew Selig and Roger Waldman. The intermediate group elected permanent officers last May. They are Jonathan Freedman, President; Martin Gelfand, Secretary; and Barton Hoexter, Treasurer. The oldest of the three groups has a working committee of the following temporary officers: President, Jack Kaplan; Vice Presidents, Michele Kaye and Sylvia Schneider; and Secretary, Julia Washell.

The committees plan to have interesting and varied programs of socials, films, discussions, debates, lectures, theatre parties, trips, outings, as well as inter-synagogue activities.

We feel that these groups have much to offer the young people of our Synagogue.

Abraham Friedman Appointed Cantor

The appointment of Cantor Abraham Friedman, formerly Cantor of Congregation Emanuel in Mount Vernon, as assistant cantor to Cantor David Putterman has been announced. He will be the Reader of the Torah and will assist in the teaching of Bar Mitzvah boys.

Rabbi Noveck Addresses West London Synagogue

On September 11th, Rabbi Noveck returned, after spending seven weeks in Europe and Israel. While in London he was the guest speaker at the West London Synagogue on upper Berkeley Street at regular Sabbath services. He met with the leaders of the London Jewish community, the Chief Rabbi Israel Brody, the Rabbis of the liberal and reform groups in London, the President of the Board of Deputies of British Jewry, the leaders of the British section of the World Jewish Congress and the Secretary of the Anglo Jewish Association.

In Amsterdam, Antwerp, Paris and Rome Rabbi Noveck discussed the status of Jews and Judaism with the leaders in these cities. He will report on these discussions during the course of the High Holy Days.

The students of the Primary Department were welcomed by Rabbi Simon Noveck and Mr. Leichtling in a special assembly which was high-lighted by the showing of a film-strip on Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. This Dramatic and informative film-strip will be the basis for much of the High Holy Day instruction in the classroom.

The Hebrew Department of the school met on Monday, September 17 and, for the second year, greeted an entering class of more than thirty students. Once again, some ten students of the Primary Department decided to forgo their last year in Sunday School to join the Hebrew School a year ahead of time.

STUDY NOTES

The Primary Department of the Religious School has inaugurated a Hebrew-Readiness Program for students of 8 and 9. Experience has shown that students must be "made ready" for reading whether it be in English or in Hebrew. With that in mind, classes 3 and 4 will, this year, study a carefully graded course prepared under the supervision of the Jewish Education Committee. The course makes use of attractive charts, flash cards and games and prepares the student for the more formal study of Hebrew the following year in our Hebrew Department.

A new history text book, "The Jewish People" by Deborah Pessin, the first of a series of three books prepared under the auspices of the United Synagogue Commission on Education will be used by class 1 of the Hebrew Department. The history book, with a Conservative Judaism orientation, will replace the Hebrew Union College publications previously used in Congregational Schools.

The music program of the Hebrew Department has been expanded to provide for additional music instruction and an extra-curricular program of dramatics and music. On Wednesday afternoons Miss Fay Green, a music teacher in the N. Y. City school system will teach liturgical and folk music to classes 1 and 2 and on Thursdays. She will lead interested students of the Hebrew Department in the preparation of musical and dramatic productions. Miss Green plans to present a minimum of four productions during the school year.

The study of Humash has been added to the work of Hebrew School Class 4. The students will have an opportunity to read and study selected portions of the Bible in Hebrew.

Junior Congregation To Conduct Services At Jewish Museum

Again this year, in upholding an established precedent, the Young People of the synagogue will present High Holy-Day services at the Jewish Museum on 92nd St. near 5th Ave. Facilities for these services are made available by the Jewish Theological Seminary and Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, curator of the museum.

These services, to be held on October 1st and 2nd at 11:30 A.M. and on October 10th at 11:30 A.M., will be conducted by Mr. Sanford H. Hahn assisted by Edward Curtiss, Eleanor Foa, Martin Gold, David Steinberg, Michele Kaye, Jonathan Greenwald, Sylvia Schneider, Theodore Zucker, Lee B. Reichman, Roger Waldman, David Ruttenberg and Paul Bienstock.

September Birthday Celebrations For 25 Religious School Pupils

The members of the Confirmation Class of 1952 met Thursday afternoon, September 13th to plan their program of studies and their social activities for the year.

New Liturgical Music For Our Synagogue Published Recently

Within the past few weeks G. Schirmer Inc. announced the publication of a one volume anthology of more than 350 pages of 38 compositions for the Sabbath Eve Service, all of which were composed for our Synagogue at the invitation of Cantor David J. Putterman.

These include only the first five Friday evening services (1943 to 1947 inclusive) of New Liturgical Music by Contemporary Composers whch received their world premiere performances at our Synagogue.

The publication of this veritable treasure to the enrichment of Synagoguc Music was made possible by the magnanimous generosity of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cohen, members of our Synagogue, to whom the book is dedicated bearing the following inscription:

"No greater joy could mark the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cohen than to encourage the development of Jewish Music."

The book also contains a Foreword by our beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg, a Preface by Cantor David J. Putterman and Acknowledgements by the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The composers who contributed their creative genius to this anthology are: Arthur Berger, Leonard Bernstein, A. W. Binder. Henry Braut, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Julius Chajes, Paul Dessau, David Diamond, Lukas Foss, Isadore Freed, Herbert Fromm, Morton Gould, Alexavdre Gretchaninoff, Roy Harris, Max Helfman, Frederick Jacobi, Ernst Levy, Jacques de Menasce, Darius Milhaud, Paul A. Pisk, Bernard Rogers, Salomo Rosowsky, Heinrich Schalit, Leo Smit, Leo Sowerby, William Grant Still, Alexandre Tansman, Kurt Weill, Jacob Weinberg, Zavel Zilberts.

Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Darius Milhaud and David Diamond have sincc composed complete Friday Evening Services. Frederick Jacobi is presently engaged in composing a new Friday Evening Service which will receive its world premiere performance at our Synagogue in May 1952 on the occasion of our Tenth Annual Service of New Liturgical Music by Contemporary Composers.

Critics Applaud "A Believing Jew" Rabbi Milton Steinberg's New Book

Rabbi Milton Steinberg's new book, "A Belicving Jew" has been hailed enthusiastically by the critics. Many letters of praise have been received by the publishers, Harcourt, Brace and Company.

"The book, touching on many aspects of contemporary life and thought, presents to us Milton Steinberg's mind at its noblest and best. The community is fortunate to have "A Believing Jew." writes Louis Finkelstein, President of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

In his book the candid charity of the late Rabbi Steinberg shines strongly forth. The book is in four parts: the idea of God; Judaism and the American scene; Israel; and Judaism and the personal life.

Here can be found the full measure of Dr. Steinberg's individual qualities of brilliance and compassion. It is an experience in reading and thinking that should be shared by all.

Copies of "A Believing Jew" are now available at $3.50 plus postage of 12 cents at the Synagogue. Make all checks payable to the Park Avenue Synagogue. and send all checks and orders to Mrs. Emanuel Rosenthal. 50 East 86th Street. New York.

Congregation to Honor

honor. Thus it has always been the practice to assign those portions to individuals, who by their scholarship, peity or service to the Jewish community, have merited public tribute. The custom of honoring a Kalah Mafteret, which was inaugurated three years ago, is a tribute to an outstanding woman member of the Congregation, for conspicuous service rendered the Jewish community.

Mrs. Benjamin Sack

The woman to be honored this year, as Kalah Mafteret, is Mrs. Benjamin Sack, the wife of our distinguished Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Sack exemplifies admirably the ideals of Jewish womanhood. As an officer of Sisterhood and Chairman of its Program Committee for many years, Freda Sack has inaugurated many inspiring and challenging programs. As Chairman of Sisterhood's major event, the Annual Donor Luncheon, Chairman of Federation and United Jewish Appeal Drives for Sisterhood, and her present chairmanship of the Bazaar for Sisterhood to be held this Spring, Mrs. Sack has given her time and energy.

In the congregation she has also served as co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal for the Synagogue. In the community she is interested in Hadassah and other communal causes.

To all she has bestowed her warm and sympathetic personality and merits to the full being named Kalah Mafteret for the year 5712.

Mr. Joseph I. Lubin

To be honored as Hathan Torah will be Mr. Joseph I. Lubin, an eminent member of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue for more than fifteen years. He has actively served on this body and on its important committees.

In the Jewish community Mr. Lubin has given service to Israel and the Jewish people as Executive and Administrator of the Joint Distribution Committee, as a member of the Board of the United Jewish Appeal and many other Jewish philanthropic groups.

In his profession and in the community he has served as Chairman of the New York State Board of Certified Public Accountant Examiners, Commissioner of the New York State Pension Fund, Governor of The New Rochelle Hospital, and Trustee of the Henry Street Settlement and other institutions.

In service to his country during the last World War, Joseph Lubin, as Deputy Chief Investigator of the War Production Board in Washington, worked on a full time basis without compensation.

As an outstanding member of the community and the congregation, it is fitting that he be named Hathan Torah for the year.

Mr. Ezra Cohen

The honor of Hathan Bereshith will be bestowed on Mr. Ezra Cohen, Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, and a distinguished member of that group for many years.

Mr. Cohen who has been reared in the Park Avenue Synagogue since his boyhood, served as one of the early Chairmen of the School Board and was instrumental in establishing the Religious School of the Congregation. He has also, as Chairman of the Membership Committee for many years, been responsible for the building of the Congregation membership which has been increased to a maximum within recent years.

An active member in Community and Civic affairs, Ezra Cohen is dedicated to the cause of social justice. With these qualities of guidance and inspiration, he is one whose name, with propriety, the Synagogue may begin its years reading of Scripture.

To pay tribute to the three recipients of Simhath Torah honors all members of the Park Avenue Synagogue are invited to attend the services and reception which will immediately follow in the Vestry of the Synagogue.

New admissions to the Primary Department and the Hebrew Department of the Religious School will be accepted in the school office until October 17th. Parents are urged to visit or call the office any afternoon after 2:30 P.M. to register their children.

Mr. Alex Kaplan Joins School Staff

The increase in the enrollment of the Hebrew Department of the Religious School has made it necessary to appoint an additional full-time teacher to the staff. Mr. Alex Kaplan, our new faculty member, will teach the second and fourth year classes during the coming school year.

Mr. Kaplan's experience and background makes him a worthy addition to the staff. He acquired his Hebrew education at Herzliah Teachers Institute and the Teacher's Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary. At present, he is licensed to teach Hebrew in the New York City School System.

Mr. Kaplan also graduated from Columbia College, where he was Captain of the Varsity Basketball team and later coached the Freshman team. He continued his studies at New York University where he received his M.A. in Hebrew Education. Mr. Kaplan has taught at Midwood High School and Romaz School.

Zucker Bar Mitzvah Held

The Bar Mitzvah of Theodore Zucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zucker, was held on Saturday morning, October 13th. His portion was from Joel which he interpreted in his own words.

Theodore, a member of the 8th grade at the Horace Mann School, plans to continue through Horace Mann High School. He has attended the Religious School for eight years and has studied Hebrew for four years.

An ardent sports enthusiast, Ted excells in tennis. His hobby is oil painting.

Sisterhood Will Meet For Luncheon Oct. 30

Plans are being formulated by Sisterhood for the first general get-together of the season. The occasion will be a luncheon to celebrate the reunion of old members and the welcoming of prospective new ones. This repast, similar to those for which Sisterhood is already becoming famous, will be held in the Vestry Room on October 30th at 12 noon.

Mrs. Helen Wimpfheimer, president of the group, is anxious to extend greetings to all present and to urge sociability and closer relationships among the women congregants. Rabbi Noveck will recall some highlights of his trip abroad, emphasizing woman's role outside the United States. Cantor Putterman will favor the group with some of his musical selections. Additional surprise entertainment will be presented.

Mrs. Wimpfheimer further suggests that there are many opportunities in Sisterhood for members to assist in the various projects undertaken by the organization. Anyone who is interested should volunteer her services.

Now, Sisterhood's greatest effort is being expended towards the Annual Luncheon to be held on December 4th in the Grand Ballroom of the Astor Hotel. Each Sisterhood member is needed to insure this affair's success.

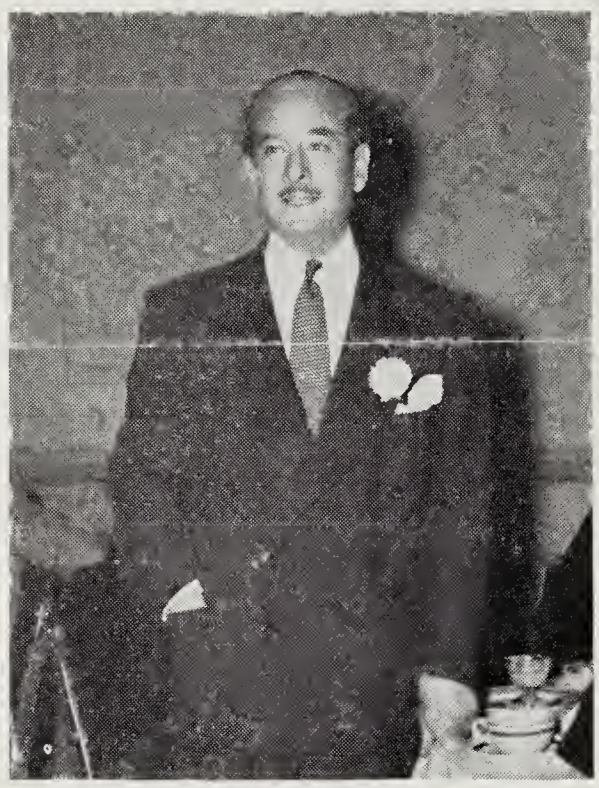

Immediate and continued cooperation of all members is urgent as raffle books must be sold quickly and in great quantity.

Judge Cooper to Address Men's Club

The opening meeting of the Men's Club will be held on Tuesday evening, October 30th, at 8:15 P.M. in the Vestry of the Synagogue. One of the problems confronting our community is the narcotic addiction of school children and juvenile delinquency.

To best illustrate the importance of this problem, the Men's Club has invited, as its guest speaker, the distinguished Presiding Justice of the Court of Special Sessions, Irving Ben Cooper, whose topic will be "Drama in the Court Room", narcotics, juvenile delinquency and the ever present problem of what to do with the first offenders.

JUDGE IRVING BEN COOPER

Presiding Justice Cooper is exceptionally qualified to discuss these subjects. As early as 1928 he was an assistant to Isidore Kresel in the ambulance chasing investigation. Subsequently, he was an associate counsel in the Seabury investigation to break up the vice ring and vice lords. Thereafter, during the La Guardia administration, he was counsel to the Commissioner of Investigation and he was personally in charge of the proceedings to disbar Dixie Davis, which led to the Dewey investigation.

A former Magistrate, a former Judge of Special Sessions, and now Presiding Justice of that Court, Justice Cooper will bring to the Men's Club platform a provocative, exciting and most interesting evening. A discussion from the floor will follow the formal address along with refreshments.

The meeting will be further highlighted by the appearance of our own Rabbi Simon Noveck, reporting the World Zionist Congress in Israel as he saw it.

All members of the congregation are cordially invited to attend and to bring their friends.

Young Marrieds Hear Rabbi Marvin Goldfine

The last meeting of the Young Marrieds was held Tuesday evening, October 16th at 8:30 P.M. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sokolow, 1225 Park Ave. Rabbi Marvin Goldfine of the Palestine Economic Corporation, and member of the Park Avenue Synagogue was the guest speaker. His topic was "Succoth and Shavouth in the Different Areas of the World."

The first meeting of the year was held in the Vestry of the Synagogue. Plans were made for the group's activities for the coming year.

The program includes a trip to the Jewish Museum, discussions on the observance of the major Holy Days, and a lecture on the Yiddish Theatre. These will be interspersed with social evenings, and possibly a dance or supper party.

Alan, a member of the Barnard School for Boys is in the 8th grade. He plans to continue through Barnard High School. He has attended the Religious School for the entire eight years and has studied Hebrew for four years.

Adult Education Opens Nov. 12th Rabbi to Lecture on Jewish History

The Adult Education program for this year will begin on Monday evening, November 12th. The major lecture series at 9:00 o'clock will be led by Rabbi Noveck on the theme: "Jewish History During the Past Century". The first lecture will be devoted to "The Jews in Russia up to the Soviet Revolution". The aim will be to furnish a picture of the world of our grandfathers, the background from which many of our parents and grandparents came, and the ideas they brought with them in intellectual baggage from the Old World. Rabbi Noveck's purpose is to give a background setting to enable us to understand better our contemporary American Jewish Community.

His other lectures will include: "The Rise of Yiddish Literature", "The Jews of Western Europe", "Forerunners of Modern Zionism", "Theodore Herzl and the Rise of the Zionist Movement" and "Judaism and Socialism".

from the desk of the Principal

The aims of Jewish Education are often expressed in most laudable and desirable accents, but the achievements of such an educational program are rarely evaluated. It is true that teachers' examinations, standardized tests and achievement tests, attempt to measure, with a degree of scientific accuracy, the educational accomplishments of our Religious School. These tests have their value, but sometimes no more than the traditional test given by grandfather when he opens the Siddur and says to the budding scholar, "Let me hear you read."

We recognize today, that the value of any educational program must be measured along a variety of lines. Can we evaluate the effects of the Bible stories that are told on Sunday by the teacher and then dramatized by the children? How do we judge the class projects that result in a personalized Rosh Hashanah card for mother and dad or in the construction of a class Succah? Evaluate, if you can, the Sabbath project which results in a gleaming white tablecloth, shiny candlesticks, a traditional chalah, and a "student father" who makes Kiddush after "mother" repeats the blessings over the candles.

What value can you see in the frequent greetings that may be heard outside of the school at dismissal time, "So long, Moshe" or more often, "Shalom, Moshe"?

Visit the Junior Congregation on Saturday morning. Watch the cantor as he approaches the ark to remove the Torah. Look at the faces of our youngsters as they fix their eyes upon the Torah, and repeat the Sh'ma together. Listen to the many requests by our congregants to be called to the Torah.

Measure, if you can, the 175 children who attend High Holy Day services at the Jewish Museum; the anxious post Bar Mitzvah boys who volunteer to serve as ushers; the many preparatory meetings by the students who conduct the service. Observe the attentive congregation captured by the two post-confirmants who deliver excellent sermons. Weigh in the balance, the unusual voluntary attendance of some sixty students at early morning Succoth service.

It is true that our children study Hebrew, history, customs and ceremonies, the prayer book and the Bible. They are required to follow a set course of study and meet our educational standards. However, we also recognize the need for the development of attitudes. Add to the work of the schools, the help given by the parent, who, in his home, sets a Jewish environment and you have young Jews and Jewesses growing in an American community and filled with a love, a desire and a pride in Judaism.

Book Month Exhibit At Jewish Museum

The Annual Book Month Exhibit has opened in the junior gallery of the Jewish Museum, 92nd St. and 5th Avenue, and will continue through January 2nd. As in previous years, it has been arranged by Temima Gezari, Director of the JEC Art Education Department.

The theme of the Exhibit will be "The World of Judah Leib Peretz" in observance of the centennial of Peretz's birth. The feature of the Exhibit will be an animated display depicting, through stories of Peretz, Jewish life in Eastern Europe during the last century. A running narration on a tape recorder will give the background for the Exhibit, so that every child attending will come away with a real understanding of the stories treated and the life they represent.

Class groups will visit the Exhibit. However, parents and students will find a family visit to the museum profitable, both to see the exhibit and for an opportunity to view the many other interesting items reflecting Jewish life which are on display in other rooms of the Museum.

Faculty Notes

The teaching of the High Holy Days in our school, particularly in the Primary Department, has been made both vivid and real through the efforts of two members of the faculty, Mrs. S. Scherman and Mrs. Vivian Finkel.

They attended a seminar and workshop on Teaching the High Holydays conducted on four successive Friday mornings by the Jewish Education Committee, and they shared their knowledge of methods, approaches and available materials with the other staff members.

Succoth Luncheon

On October 21st the oldest teen-age group in the Synagogue held their Succoth luncheon. The program consisted of a Kiddush in the Succoth followed by a feast of bagels and lox and sandwiches. Immediately following the meal the group elected permanent officers. The meeting, ending with a social, was most enjoyable for the entire group.

This meeting followed the Succoth luncheon conducted by our intermediate group. The meeting was concluded with the showing of a full length film.

All the teen-age groups are planning a full program for November. Young people who are not as yet affiliated with the Youth Department are asked to contact Mr. Sanford Hahn at the Religious School office.

Rabbi Kertzer to Speak To Parents Association

At the opening meeting of the Executive Board of the Parents Association, plans were discussed for a very active season.

The first event scheduled is a dessert luncheon to be held on October 29th at 1 P. M. in the Vestry of the Synagogue in honor of the mothers of children who are entering the Religious School for the first time. It is hoped that all newcomers will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend the luncheon and to meet the members of the Executive Board.

On November 14th, the first open meeting of the Parents Association will take place. The highlight of the evening will be a speech by Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer on: "Our Place in the Community." He will also discuss the function of the Synagogue as an aid to the social development of the child. Teachers of the Religious School will be present in order to give teachers and parents an opportunity to meet.

Another date which should be of interest to parents is November 11th. On that day, the annual Book Fair will open and continue through Wednesday evening, November 14th. Parents will be able to purchase books on Jewish life and thought as well as record albums of Jewish music. These will make very suitable gifts. Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, Chairman of the Fair and her Committee, plan to arrange an excellent exhibit and an interesting program for children and adults.

These are events which most parents will not want to miss. Please make a note of these dates and be with us on these occasions.

Gold, Fizdale to Star At Donor Luncheon

Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale, well known duo-pianists, will highlight the program, as announced by Mrs. Edward Peiper, the Program Chairman, at the Sisterhood Donor Luncheon on Tuesday, December 4th, in the Grand Ballroom of the Astor Hotel.

Messrs. Gold and Fizdale made their New York debut in 1941. Since then they have appeared in recital and orchestral programs throughout the United States and the major musical centers of Europe.

They have been interviewed and photographed by leading magazines and newspapers throughout the country. Harpers magazine wrote of them as: "Perfect ensemble and discriminating musical taste have carried Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale to the top of the current list of two piano teams." In the October 13th issue of Cue, their pictures appeared in the "Forecasts" column announcing their premiere of a new work on December 10th. Virgil Thomson of the HERALD TRIBUNE describes their performance: ". . . Duo-pianism reaches heights hitherto unknown to the arts."

Mrs. Peiper has added that, due to contractual commitments, she is not at liberty to divulge the names of the other artists to appear at this time. However, she promises a program as brilliant as those Sisterhood has enjoyed in the past.

It is suggested that all checks and requests for seating for the luncheon be sent, at once, to Mrs. William Karmiol, 400 East 58th Street, New York 22, N. Y. Additional books may be obtained from Mrs. Irwin Rome, REgent 7-1224.

In discussing the "Faith of America," Rabbi Eisenstein will trace the Development of the Religion of Democracy; the first attempt to express a common religious faith for all Americans, regardless of creed.

from the desk of the Men's Club President

Our Men's Club is now embarked on a campaign to bring new members into the fold. It is therefore fitting for me to discuss the policies and functions of this organization. It is a matter of great wonder to me that I have from time to time come across a number of my colleagues on the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue who feel that a Men's Club is not essential to congregational life. Some contend that the existence of a Men's Club only causes an overlapping and duplication of activities. Some may even go so far as to say that a Men's Club is merely a social organization utterly devoid of Jewish content and program. I believe that such charges are examples of shortsightedness beyond belief.

It is my opinion that the primary object of a Men's Club is to dedicate itself toward building a strong American Jewry consecrated to Judaism as a vital force in the lives of our people and, being likewise a social arm of the Synagogue, its job is to widen its members' circle of acquaintances and strengthen the friendships within the congregation. The Men's Club, in short, puts flesh on the dry bones of a congregation by filling its building with content, life and activities.

All throughout history the Synagogue was the only Jewish organization that served the needs of the community, as the house of study, the house of prayer and the meeting house. But through the years, Jewish life became more complex and many organizations came into being to serve Jewish needs and Jewish interests. All valid Jewish communal organizations have their own rightful place and their own service to perform. But the Men's Club provides leadership both to the Synagogue and to the community. The Men's Club has provided not only Trustees, officers and committee chairmen for the Synagogue, but leaders for our political and charitable organizations as well. It is a workshop for wide awake men imbued with its spirit, awake to the needs of the whole community and working to shed the influence of the Synagogue upon it. We hear on all sides that the Synagogue and the community need leadership. Close observation will disclose that the Men's Club can and does give leadership of the finest kind.

By its own rich program our Club has set a standard that may very well be an inspiration to other Jewish organizations. It can make them all feel that they are partners in the enrichment of Jewish life by strengthening the bonds that unite all Jews. Imbued with the spirit of Park Avenue Synagogue, our Club brings the message of the Synagogue to the Jewish men of the community, especially to those who have become estranged from it. By comradeship and companionship, these men can be brought into the Synagogue through our Club and molded into vital, useful members of the community. We foster Jewish art, music, education and participation in all communal activities as an inexsaustible source of creative joy. Cordial relations between Jews and non-Jews are an absolute necessity for our welfare and happiness. By taking the initiative in inter-church, to say nothing of intra-synagogue activities through the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, communal peace and harmony can be achieved without any violation of individuality or sacred traditions. Special projects which are dear to the hearts of our Club are: Men's Club Sabbath, Youth Leadership Award, Brotherhood Award to Jew or non-Jew who has done most in the field of racial and religious relations, a Man-of-the-Year Award, a Scholarship Fund, Vacations for the Underprivileged, Summer Day Camps and the Boy Scout Movement.

If all of the above objectives cannot be achieved now, we can at least strive to transmit this desire to those who follow us in office next year, or perhaps to the next generation, thus perpetuating Jewish life, culture, ideals and institutions, compatible always with the American way of life.

—JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ

Sabbath Observance Commission Formed

The United Synagogue is engaged in a national effort to strengthen Sabbath observance. A National Commission for the Revitalization of Sabbath Observance has been organized. Its purpose is to make the Sabbath relevant and functionful in the life of the individual, his home and his Synagogue.

Conservative Judaism cannot fulfill its function in the community without a deep appreciation and observance of the Sabbath which is the crucial center of the Jewish religious existence.

Each member of the family can contribute to the observance of the Sabbath rituals, ceremonies and songs. The mother with the lighting of the Sabbath candles and dressing the children in their finery, the father with his blessings for the children and his recitation of the Kiddush and the children with the singing of traditional melodies; each can contribute his share in celebration of the Sabbath and introduce observance into the home.

Saul Godwin Named Building Chairman

Mr. Benjamin Sack, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has announced the appointment of a new Building Committee to consist of Saul Godwin, Chairman, Isidore M. Cohen, Associate Chairman, Nathan Appleman, Sanford H. Cohen; and Samuel Lemberg.

The Chairman expressed great hope in the ability of this strong Committee to carry out the desires of the entire Congregation. It is expected that additions thereto will be made consisting of the representatives of the various arms of the Synagogue, as well as individual members who would like to make a contribution of time and effort to carrying out its program.

Ezio Pinza to Perform For "Night of Stars"

"Night of Stars" is a function of the United Jewish Appeal. Mrs. Hattie Grossman, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is the Chairman of the Women's division of "Night of Stars" which will be held on Monday evening, November 19th, at Madison Square Garden.

Ezio Pinza, star of opera, stage and motion pictures, has agreed to perform at the forthcoming 18th annual "Night of Stars." Proceeds of the show will go to the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York to further the work of rescue, relief, rehabilitation, and Israel resettlement overseas and of refugee aid and the defense of human rights at home and abroad.

Mr. Pinza's appearance at "Night of Stars" will be in the nature of a complete half hour concert. He will sing songs from his operas, from "South Pacific" and the films. Mr. Pinza joins a glittering galaxy of other stars of stage, screen, radio and television who will appear at "Night of Stars," this year.

In accepting the invitation to appear at "Night of Stars," Mr. Pinza said: "I have been deeply impressed with the tremendous struggle being waged in Israel to establish a country for homeless Jews all over the world. No one with a sense of decency and fair play could ignore the heartbreaking task and deny it assistance at this time of great need. If in my small way I can be instrumental in giving a lift to this noble cause, I am ready to do so."

The Synagogue has reserved a block of choice seats which can be obtained at the Synagogue office, 50 East 87th Street. All members are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy themselves and, at the same time, help Jews throughout the world.

As a result of revised plans, the annual Book Fair sponsored by the Parents' Association will be held in the Vestry of the Synagogue on Sunday, November 18th and will continue through Tuesday, November 20th.

In connection with this event, a special program has been arranged for Monday, November 19th at 3:15 P.M. Mr. Burns has appeared on programs at the White House, the NEW YORK TIMES Book Fair, Yeshivas and colleges and on many radio and television shows.

STANLEY BURNS

He is the only artist in his field who has dedicated himself to teaching the values of the Jewish way of life. He blends his Jewish background with a distinctive humor which makes his program easily absorbed by children. Parents are invited to bring their children and friends to enjoy this unusually original and humorous performance.

The Book Fair will feature the most widely discussed books on Jewish life and thought as well as a choice of record albums of Jewish music.

Everyone is urged to come and bring friends as the Committee under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer has planned an exceptionally entertaining program.

The November meeting of the Men's Club will take place on Tuesday evening, November 27th at 8:15 P.M. in the Vestry. This meeting will embark the Club on a drive to gather new members into its fold.

The accent of the meeting will be sociability and camaraderie. Mr. Milton M. Sivek, the Chairman of the evening's program, has planned an unusual event for this occasion. There will be shown, "The Charlie Chaplin Festival" film with sound effects and music. This hour film ran for six weeks at the Modern Museum of Art and is a compilation of the best of the Chaplin movies.

from the desk of the Sisterhood President

All of us are aware of the genuine desire of so many of our people today to return to the Jewish fold, to identify themselves with Jewish religion, and its traditions and ideals. This trend in Jewish life can be see from the fact that there is a waiting list to join our congregation and from the large membership that we, in Sisterhood, proudly boast of today.

Sisterhood plays a vital role in the life of the women in our congregation. It offers an opportunity for self-expression and an outlet for literary and philanthropic work. It helps us to translate Jewish ideals into a living practical Judaism. It offers fun and diversion, companionship, inspiration and the sense of belonging that comes from real effort along positive lines.

Webster defines a Sisterhood as a society of women united in one faith. The women of the Park Avenue Synagogue are united in our faith in God, in the future of Jewish life in this country and in the future of our Synagogue. We have dedicated ourselves to the new educational building soon to be constructed. We are determined that this memorial to our late beloved Milton Steinberg will become a living symbol of what he stood for and that the new school and community building will become a reality.

We have planned what we hope will be an exciting series of programs for this year. While in the past Sisterhood has followed the serious lecture type of program, during 1951-52 the program committee is offering a series on the Jewish arts, music and dance. Mr. Louis Untermeyer, noted poet and lecturer will launch this series on November 20th.

On December 4th Sisterhood will hold another of its Donor Luncheons that have won such high praise from all those who have attended them. This year the musical program preceding the luncheon will have a pattern that other groups may follow. Mrs. Irwin Rome as Chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Edward Peiper as Chairman of program are planning an afternoon that will be long remembered.

The December meeting of Sisterhood will take place at the Jewish Theological Seminary with which, as a Conservative Congregation, we are affiliated. We shall have lunch there, listen to some of the world renowned people associated with Seminary and get a "behind-the-scenes" picture of the life of the students and the work of this great institution.

Sisterhood sponsors many other activities from our regular work for the Jewish blind and Federation to the mammoth bazaar we are planning for the Purim season. May I urge all of you who belong to Sisterhood to try to participate in one or more of these activities. Your efforts will be a worthwhile contribution to your Synagogue and to Jewish life.

letter to the editor

For years I have had the desire to learn all about Jewish History, Jewish Civilization, its languages and its cultural aspects, and have pursued its study on my own time. However, Monday night, my first night of Adult Education at our Temple I was thrilled to see so many people of all ages with the desire and ambition to learn of Jewish Culture.

Learning five simple sentences in Hebrew made me at once feel like a real Jew and gave me a feeling of belonging. I was delighted and proud to see the efficiency with which the program was executed.

The main lecture hall with so many people in it, waiting eagerly for our magnetic Rabbi Noveck was the "piece de resistance" of the evening for me.

Hereafter my Monday nights are all reserved for Adult Education at the Synagogue.

Remember Your Federation For the Thanksgiving Season

This is the Thanksgiving season. The harvest is in and our holiday spirit embraces all in our community. Let us remember the 480,000 troubled neighbors who turn each year to the 116 agencies of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York

This year Federation must raise 5½ million dollars more than last year because of spiraling costs and constantly growing demands for the agencies' services. To do this everyone must make an increased gift.

Our own Federation Chairman is Mrs. Henry Howe. Respond generously.

One cannot possibly celebrate Hanukah without music. When the Maccabees enlisted the support of their co-religionists in their fight against the Greek oppressors they sang "Mi Chamocha Baelim Adonai," (Who is like unto Thee, O Lord). In victory they sang as they cleansed the Temple, purified the sanctuary, kindled lights in the Holy Courts, and appointed these eight days of Hanukah to give thanks and sing praises unto the name of God. Today as we kindle the Hanukah lights we sing the blessings, Mooztsur, Haneros Halolu, Mi Yemallel, Sov Sov Sevivon, etc. These joyful and stirring melodies will create a gay and festive mood in your home and will set the tone for the eight days of Hanukah.

This year Hanukah begins Sunday evening, December 23rd, with the kindling of the first candle. The entire family ought to participate in decorating the home with appropriate beautiful decorations and lights, which are available from your Synagogue or Jewish book dealer. The first evening and every evening thereafter the family gathers around the Hanukah Menorah and joins together in singing the blessings for the kindling of these lights. Gifts are exchanged. These should be of Jewish content and spirit such as beautiful Israeli works of art, books, recordings, religious objects, etc. Appropriate recordings could be used to help in these celebrations. Dreidel games (spinning tops) may be played and other games as well. The special delicacies which all may enjoy are the new Hanukah candies which are now being manufactured by some of our leading candy makers. Latkes (potato pancakes) are always a treat on Hanukah.

Hanukah coincides this year with Christmas. Your children will therefore be home from school. Take advantage of this opportunity and be together during this vacation period. Accent the Jewish aspect of Hanukah by visiting the Jewish Museum, the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, plays and concerts of Jewish interest, the Y.M.H.A., and by attending services. Arrange Hanukah parties at home.

One can best enjoy Jewish festivals by participating in its ceremonials and rituals thereby experiencing the beauty and richness implicit in the holiday. In so doing you will immeasurably enrich your own lives as well as the lives of your children. They will long remember and cherish these pleasurable experiences. Jewish gaiety emanates from Hanukah music for it is the festival of song and lights.

Parents To Distribute Candles For Hanukah

The Parents' Association once again plans to distribute special Hanukah candles to all children who attend the Park Avenue Religious School.

The kindling of the lights plays such an important part in the Hanukah celebration that parents should put forth every effort to make the ceremony impressive as well as beautiful. The child should sense the spirit of solemnity as he recites the blessings appropriate for lighting the candles on each of the eight nights of the Festival.

To make the services more meaningful, the parent should explain that the lighting of each candle symbolizes the truths which Judaism has kindled throughout the world. The Light of the Torah, of Justice, of Mercy, of Holiness, of Love, of Patience, and of Courage—these truths are eternal and will live forever to inspire men who love freedom.

As a conclusion to the commemoration of the Feast of Rededication, the family, gathered around the Menorah, may sing songs, the most beloved of which are "Mooz Tzur", "Rock of Ages," and "Hear the Voice."

Let us make the observance of Hanukah an inspiring, thrilling experience which our children will long remember.

to observe the sabbath

The Sabbath Observance project of the Conservative Movement is now in full swing throughout America. It is conceded that its impact on the home will, in the final analysis, determine its entire efficacy. For the Sabbath must be clearly reflected in the Jewish home; its spirit must be mirrored in the behavior of the family. Its nakhas ruakh must shine on the faces of our men, women and children. Then will the Sabbath reign supreme in our home.

It is easy to achieve this Sabbath rapture. How? Observe the Sabbath ceremonies and the Sabbath rituals, sing the Sabbath songs, and transform your Sabbath table into an altar for adoring God.

Every member of the family has a part to enact. The mother should light the Sabbath candles and dress the children in their finery. The father should bless the children and lead in the recitation of the Kiddush with the participation of the family. The children should sing the melodies, helped by the parents. Grace (Benshon) should be ready with every member reading a section.

Each family should enroll their home in this Sabbath Observance Effort, an effort sponsored by our entire Movement. Please introduce Observance and Ceremony in your home. There can be no more gratifying Jewish deed; there is no joy comparable to the delights of the Sabbath. Bring the Sabbath Queen into your home.

Ritual Committee To Discuss Sabbath

At the last meeting of the Ritual Committee, it was decided to invite the presidents of all the affiliated groups of the Synagogue to its next meeting to be held on Thursday evening, January 17th.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss the problem of the Revitalization of the Sabbath in our synagogue in conjunction with the Sabbath Observance project launched by the United Synagogue of America this fall.

letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

A couple of weeks ago I attended, for the first time, the Adult Education Course. I expected a session reminiscent of most college courses—informative but professorial. Much to my amazement I got something quite different.

Around me I saw a group of people ranging in age from about 16 to 75. A few hundred people. Instead of a cut and dried lecture I heard an animated, at times highly spirited discussion which held everybody's undivided attention from start to finish. The time flew by as Rabbi Noveck alternately lectured, threw questions at us and exchanged good humored reparte. As I looked about the room I saw eager faces listening in a relaxed but attentive mood. One woman was knitting with her eyes glued on the speaker. Next to me sat a well known department store executive very much absorbed in the discussion.

In brief, here was a storehouse of cultural and educational gifts being dispensed but in oh such a pleasant manner. This was truly a delight.

I'm wondering how many of our members know of the glittering facets of Judaism hiding behind the prosaic words —Adult Educational Series.

Very truly yours,

Story of Hatikvah

by Cantor David Putterman

Too few realize that since May 14, 1948, the date on which Israel declared itself a nation, that the text of the Hatikvah has been changed to conform to Israel's status of nationhood. We are no longer a people "yearning to return to the land of our fathers", we now sing "to be a free nation in our land, the land of Zion and Jerusalem".

It is to be deplored that at functions where the American national anthem and the Israel anthem are usually sung, that whereas most everyone knows the texts of our American anthems, very few of our people are familiar with the text of the Hatikvah. The following data will familiarize you with the origin and significance of this anthem, in the hope that you will learn its text and know its sources.

HATIKVAH

Hatikvah, "The Hope", was written in 1878 by the Hebrew poet, Naphtali Herz Imber, and set to music by Samuel Cohen, pioneer settler of Rishon Le Zion, one of the oldest Jewish colonies, on the Plain of Judea, Palestine. The poem, consisting of nine stanzas, expressed the longing for Zion and the desire to return to it. It was taken up by Palestine colonists and became the anthem of the Zionist movement when it was organized in 1897. The melody is based on a Czechoslovakian folk-song. It has also been used by the composer Smetana in his symphonic poem, The Moldau.

Naphtali Herz Imber, the author of the lyrics, was born in Zloczow, Galicia, in 1856. He received an Orthodox Jewish education as the son of a Hasidic family. Through a Hebrew poem on an Austrian patriotic theme he won local distinction in 1870, for which the government rewarded him in money. After the death of his father, Imber wandered from country to country, visiting Vienna and Constantinople. Here he met Lawrence Oliphant (1829-1888), an Englishman who was planning to settle Jews in Palestine. In 1882 he went with him to the Holy Land.

For six years, Imber lived in Palestine. During this time he wrote essays and articles for Hebrew periodicals. In 1886 a collection of his poetry, Barkai ("Morning Star"), was published. One of the poems in this collection was Hatikvah ("The Hope"), originally entitled Tikvathenu ("Our Hope"). This later became the anthem of the Zionist movement. Others of Imber's poems, as Mishmar Hayarden ("Watch on the Jordan") became popular among Palestinian settlers.

After Oliphant's death Imber went to England. In 1892 he came to the United States. He lived in various cities, and died in poverty in New York City in 1909.

Imber's brothers in Zloczow published a second collection of his poems, Barkai Hehadash ("The New Morning Star") in 1902. A third volume was published by Imber himself, in New York, in 1905, two years after the Kishinev pogrom. He dedicated this third collection to the Emperor of Japan, then at war with Russia. In addition to Hebrew poetry, Imber also wrote several pamphlets in English on mysticism and for a while, in 1895, edited a theosophical magazine, Uriel, in Boston. In 1909 a selection of his writings appeared in Palestine.

SCHOOL NEWS

Greetings to the following students of the Religious School who celebrate their birthdays during the month of January:

Maxine Arnstein, Mary Louise Brandmarker, Stephen Feig, Anthony Greenwald, John Kogan, Nan Krulewitch, Paul Jacobs, David Savitz and Robert Spiegel.

The first issue of the "Voice of the Students", a mimeographed newspaper, published by the students of the Religious School made its appearance at the Annual School Hanukah Party.

The eight-page paper, edited by Lee Reichman, Susan Sheskin and a large editorial staff, featured a message from Rabbi Noveck and articles on Israel, holiday observance, Keren Ami, Judah Halevi and Moses Maimonides. The eager acceptance of the paper by the students assures the staff of many more student-contributors for the next issue of the paper.

Parents' Group Sponsors Parties During Hanukah

Under the auspices of the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue, several parties were held during the Hanukah season for the children of the Religious School.

On Saturday evening, December 22nd, the Parents Association sponsored a supper party. Alex Kaplan conducted the Habdalah service assisted by several children and kindled the lights of the Feast of Rededication. After supper, a musicale and play were presented under the supervision of Miss Fay Green. The following children participated: Geraldine Klein, Gail Rosenkrantz, Phyllis Brody, Richard Fread, Alan Mehlman, John Stangel, Robert Golden, Kenneth Rosen and Andrew Allenson.

Square dancing followed with Jack Landman doing a fine professional job as Caller. Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. A. Stangel were responsible for the beautiful, symbolic table decorations. Mrs. Charles Weisberg was in charge of the refreshments.

On Sunday morning, December 23rd, the children enjoyed individual class parties planned by the teachers of the Primary School. Candles were lit and traditional foods were served. Each child received an Israeli coin souvenir. Mrs. Edward Joseph supervised the square dancing and the Israeli dancing.

Over two hundred children enjoyed these parties and were instilled with the spirit of Hanukah, made more meaningful by these celebrations.

Mrs. Theodore A. Zucker, Chairman of the Class Mothers, and her assistants worked untiringly to make these festivities so successful. This could not have been achieved without the wholehearted cooperation of Mr. Leichtling and the teachers of the Religious School.

Men's Club to Hold Annual Ladies' Night

The Men's Club meeting on Tuesday evening, January 22nd, promises to be the outstanding social event of the year. The Club has dedicated the meeting as Ladies' Night. The Vestry will be converted into a cabaret; and a six piece Society Orchestra will supply the music for dancing; surprise television and radio entertainers will appear; and professional bartenders will serve cocktails and highballs and other refreshments all evening.

The Club has utilized all its talent to make this event the most talked of affair at Park Avenue Synagogue in many years. Festivities will begin at 8:30 P.M. and end some time after midnight.

All members of the Men's Club are cordially invited to attend and to bring their Ladies.

Religious Honors Given To Synagogue Members

On Saturday morning, January 19th, the prophetic portion will be recited by Mr. Israel B. Oseas of the Ritual Committee of the Synagogue. The portion will be taken from the first chapter of the book of Jeremiah.

On January 26th Mr. Archie Thurman the Chairman of the Ritual Committee will read. His portion will be taken from the 28th chapter of the Book of Ezekiel.

Publication of these names and the prophetic portions is in line with a newly established policy of the Ritual Committee to distribute the religious honors of the Synagogue among as many of the members as possible.

One of the great honors in every Synagogue service is the opportunity to recite the Haftorah portion. Members of the Synagogue who are able to recite the blessings before and after the Haftorah in Hebrew, and who would like to recite the Haftorah either in Hebrew or English, are urged to communicate with Mr. Jacob Klein of the Ritual Committee or with the Synagogue office.

Members who would like an Aliyah or any other religious honor in the Synagogue are urged to communicate with the Ritual Committee.

RABBI MAX J. ROUTTENBERG

Jewish Music Month To Be Inaugurated By Rabbi Routtenberg

On Friday, evening, February 8th, at 8:30 P.M., Rabbi Max Routtenberg, Executive Vice-President of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, will be the guest speaker. His topic will be "Changing Standards in Synagogue Music", to celebrate the launching of Jewish Music Month in our Synagogue. He is also the Director of the College of Jewish Music and the Cantors Institute of the Seminary.

Rabbi Routtenberg will announce at this time the opening of the School for Cantors. A school for which our own Cantor Putterman has been a motivating influence. It is in a large part due to his efforts that the school has become a reality. For many years he has been promulgating this school through the instrumentality of the Cantors Assembly, of the United Synagogue, of which he is the executive Vice-President and through the Department of Music of the United Synagogue, of which he is Director.

The school which has been named the College of Jewish Music and the Cantors Institute of the Seminary will officially open in September 1952. However, the Extension Department for Cantors in training will begin this month.

Dr Routtenberg was born in Montreal, Canada in 1909, and attended Mc-

Message from the President

I am deeply touched by the signal honor you have conferred on me this evening by electing me your President and I thank you all from the bottom of my heart and hope I shall be equal to all your expectations and prove a worthy successor to Dr. E. D. Friedman and to his predecessor Jacob Friedman, Jr., affectionately known as our Uncle Yakob.

This is hardly the time to make a speech, because actions speak louder than words. I would rather you judged me a year from now by what I may accomplish than have you form an opinion of me at this time by what I may say.

There is, however, one thing I would like to call to your attention. According to the by-laws of the Synagogue, duties of the President are quite limited in scope, principally to preside at religious services. While I consider that of great importance, I hardly think it covers the field of a president's activities and I call it to your attention and particularly to the attention of the Board of Trustees for such revision as their judgment may dictate.

And while I am on the subject, I feel that there should be a corresponding duty on the part of the officers, the Board and the members to attend all services or as often as possible—if not twice a week, then once a week or once in two weeks or even once in three weeks. A full Synagogue is an encouragement to a Rabbi and Cantor—when the Synagogue is less than half filled, it is discouraging.

A member's obligation does not begin and end with the payment of dues, nor does an officer's or trustee's duties begin and end with the collection and disbursement of income; each member owes certain loyalties to the Synagogue and one is to attend services as often as possible. A President cannot do anything by himself. If, however, the members, officers and Board will pull together, then surely the Park Avenue Synagogue will not only be one of the most influential conservative Synagogues in the country, but will be the most influential Synagogue. I will do my utmost to make it so and rely on each one of you to help.

In conclusion, I pray God
To give me the patience to accept those things which cannot be changed
The courage to change those things which can be changed, and
The wisdom to know the difference.

—JACOB KLEIN

Message from the retiring Vice-President

I have been asked to speak tonight on the responsibilities of leadership.

We are a leading Synagogue and the first question we might ask ourselves is, "What is the meaning of leadership?" The concept of leadership involves comparison with others. No matter how progressive one standing alone is, he is hardly a leader unless there are others to be led. Comparison, therefore, though proverbially odious, is inevitable. Leadership involves also the idea of direction, a goal toward which it is to move.

The goal is clear and the task is urgent. It is to build an American Judaism, or if you prefer, Judaism in America. By definition, the task is not and cannot be confined to what goes on within the walls of our Synagogue or on the middle east side of Manhattan Island. Even if we were inclined to decline the larger task, it is still forced upon us because we cannot build a local Judaism in the Park Avenue Synagogue. We must become aware of the obvious fact that our Synagogue is dependent for its very existence upon the survival, the extension, the development in modern idiom of our Judaism. Judaism without a fountainhead of Jewish scholarship is an impossibility.

With this background, let us take a look at our position of eminence. What is it due to? There can be no doubt that it is due first to the eminence of the late Milton Steinberg. Milton Steinberg was, of course, a local Rabbi, but he was also a national leader, a pointer of ways and an inspiration to a whole generation of young Rabbis. David Putterman, our Cantor, is a Cantor of national standing in his profession, not only as an individual Cantor, but also because of his work for the Cantor's Assembly, an institution with which I dare say most of us in this room are wholly unfamiliar. Simon Noveck has already begun to take his place in national work and has recently been appointed Chairman of the United Synagogue Commission on Adult Education. In addition to these, there are a handful of men, members of our Synagogue, who as individuals do their share on the national scene. They do so not because they are members of the Synagogue but because they are devoted people. They merely happen to be members of our Synagogue. We have not created these people. We have not helped them. We did not make Milton Steinberg an outstanding Rabbi or David an outstanding Cantor. On the contrary, they have helped us. Their leadership has given us distinction. We shine by reflected light and the greatest light in which we shine is receding in time. If I may borrow an analogy from the laws of physics, its intensity diminishes as the square of the distance.

The function of a leader is to lead. If we are to be a leading Synagogue, if we are to be anything more than a mirrored surface, hollow behind, reflecting the leadership of others, we as a Synagogue must assume our share of leadership. We, the men and women of the congregation, are the Synagogue and we must ourselves begin to lead.

To do this we must have an understanding of our responsibilities. We must understand the impossibility of isolation. The problems of Judaism in America are our problems. The Park Avenue Synagogue has been and will continue to be the beneficiary of the work of others.

Friday evening, February 22nd, Professor Robert MacIver, world renown thinker and author of the MacIver Report will speak at our Synagogue.

Message of Mr. Oseas

They have given us our tradition, educated our Rabbis and teachers, written our books and without them we could not be for a single moment. Mere self respect, if nothing else, requires that we shall cease to be free riders and pay for what we get.

If we understand all this, it seems to me that we must do three things. First, we must assume our share of the cost. Ben Sack and I attend meetings of the Board of Overseers of the Seminary and sit as members of the National Board of the United Synagogue. At these meetings we hear reports of fund raising campaigns. These reports are a source of constant embarrassment to us because this Synagogue always has been a laggard in the matter of its contribution to the cost of the national movement. Other Synagogues which do not have our resources do far better, and we are a long way from meeting even a fair share of our responsibility in this regard. Second, we must contribute our share of talent and personnel. This Synagogue has a wealth of ability of all kinds which should be at the service of our national movement. Third, we must revise our internal program, so that as a Synagogue, rather than merely individuals, we may take a place in the councils of conservative Judaism. If we do these things, we will be doing merely our share. If we do these things better than others and point the way to others, we will be leaders.

A long time ago Rabbi Tarfon summed up in "Pirke Avoth", a book which some of us enjoyed reading on Saturday afternoons under the guidance of Rabbi Noveck. He said, "The day is short, and the work is great, and the laborers are sluggish, and the reward is much, and the Master is urgent."

Building Notes

The first meeting of the building committee this year was held in the Trustees Room of the Synagogue on January 24th at 8:30 P.M. Representative heads of all the organizations in the synagogue were present.

The meeting was called for the purpose of going over the preliminary plans of the architects and determining the recommendations to be made before the plans are finally submitted to the architects. The following topics were discussed: improvement of the Vestry Rooms, installation of elevators, facilities to display Religious objects, and a Succah to be placed on the roof of the new building.

Suggestions were later made by Dr. Robinson and Mrs. Wimpfheimer for cooking facilities which will be installed next to the Kindergarten so the children could have hot meals and the Sisterhood Sewing Circle would have a place to eat.

The air conditioning of the Chapel and Lounge as well as the Rabbi's, Cantor's and general offices was considered. Mr. Herwitz, on behalf of the School Board, suggested that the Lounge have subdivisions for small groups as well as accommodations for a large meeting.

The suggestions made at this meeting will be incorporated in the final plans and specifications, except with regard to the facade.

The facade of the building was discussed and a vote was taken to accept the suggested picture that was presented. This contains stained glass windows incorporating a symbol which will indicate a Memorial to Milton Steinberg, the details of which will be worked out by the Building Committee. The resolution was carried unanimously.

"ISRAEL SPEAKS" Needs Your Support

The existence of one of the most important publications on the Jewish scene in America is threatened by financial difficulties. We refer to ISRAEL SPEAKS, a paper which for over four years has brought to the American community a straightforward, objective, sympathetic and human picture of life in Israel. This is a paper which speaks for no organization, no party, no vested interest. It has brought a new and fresh kind of publication tradition to the American scene.

ISRAEL SPEAKS has never asked for money or cried "wolf". The dignified statement of its financial plight, and the urging of its readers to get other readers, which appeared in a recent issue must be responded to by all who want to see good reporting on the Israel scene continue in this country.

ISRAEL SPEAKS is a 12-page tabloid with beautiful pictures in each issue. It is published twice monthly, and costs but $2.00 a year. It can be saved if more readers are added to its roster. We believe that this paper must go on. We urge every one of you, if you are not already a subscriber, to send your $2.00 to Mrs. David Putterman, 1049 Park Ave., N.Y.C. She will see to it that you get your copy of ISRAEL SPEAKS by return mail.

Seminary Brunch

Club is to further the spiritual work of Park Avenue Synagogue. We men are therefore dedicated to the ideals of helping to build a richer Jewish life for us and for the American Jewish community. No project is more important than helping to support the Jewish Theological Seminary. Its University of Judaism, the Eternal Light, the Library, the Jewish Museum, the Institute for Religious and Social Studies and the Leaders Training Fellowship, are all part of the Seminary. Through them the age-old truths of Judaism are being transmitted to the hearts and minds of millions, and with them we of the Men's Club strive to perpetuate Jewish life, culture, ideals and institutions compatible always with the American way of life."

The Sisterhood, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Helen Wimpfheimer, its President, has arranged to make and serve the Brunch. Members of Sisterhood will also act as hostesses for the affair. In addition to a full course Brunch which will include bagels, lox, eggs and other delicacies, the members will have the unique pleasure of being personally served by the women of the Sisterhood While the list is not yet complete, among those who have volunteered are: Mrs. Saul Godwin, Mrs. Louis Greenstein, Mrs. Sadye Cohen, Mrs. Milton Heller, Mrs. Morris Joffe, Mrs. Joseph Katz, Mrs. Harry Nicvert, Mrs. Hector Ritey and Mrs. Archie Thurman.

Support has been given by the Senior League who is planning a donation of several hundred dollars, from its budget, to the Seminary. Students of the Religious School have also pledged a contribution of $75.

The guest speaker. Brigadier General David Sarnoff is best known as the Chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America. He received a special award at the World Brotherhood Dinner at the Seminary last year. Active in civic and cultural activities, General Sarnoff is a member of the Council of New York University; a director and member of the Executive Committee of the Metropolitan Opera Association, Inc., Pan American Society of the United States, and the Chatham Square Music School, of which he is also Chairman of the Board; a trustee of Pratt Institute and of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. In recent years, he and his family have been vitally interested in the work of the Seminary and the future of Jewish Culture in America.

From the response cards which have been received, a great many of the congregation are planning to attend this outstanding affair. All members and their families are invited to attend this Brunch for which there is no charge, as guests of the committee and the Sisterhood. They will hear the message of the Seminary (and the correlated program to be presented) for a better understanding of that institution with which the Park Avenue Synagogue, through its membership in the United Synagogue and through its rabbi, cantor and teachers, has long been associated.

Washington's Birthday, this year, gave the school an opportunity to review the influences of Judaism on American democratic life. The discussion at the Junior Congregation Services showed how the Old Testament ideas were part of the thinking of the men who made our constitution. The Old Testament was one of the inspirations of those who fought for freedom and liberty. Symbolic of this feeling is the quotation from Leviticus which is inscribed on the Liberty Bell, "Proclaim liberty throughout the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof."

Through the kindness of the Parents' Association and its very active class mothers and holiday workshop committee an appropriate holiday table was set and the students were served cherry tarts.

MEMORIAL BUILDING SITE ACQUIRED!

On Tuesday, February 26th, the Park Avenue Synagogue acquired title to the Memorial Building site adjacent to the Synagogue, after it had been under contract for purchase for more than a year. Present at the closing of title were Benjamin Sack, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Arthur Ochs, Treasurer and Joseph Howard Katz who acted as attorney for the Synagogue. Now that all legal obstacles have been removed and the Synagogue has complete possession of the property, demolition of the present building will be authorized as soon as the Bazaar is over.

The plans of the architects for the educational edifice have been approvide by the Board of Trustees and Mr. Saul Godwin, Chairman of the Building ommittee, reports that "the Building Committee is making great progress on all fronts. Kelly and Gruzen, the architects, are working on final plans and specifications. The builders are about to submit construction estimates, and Dr. Stephen Kayser, of the Jewish Museum is being consulted concerning the artistic design of the facade. The payment of all pledges is urged, as substantial amounts of money will be required as we proceed, and failure of payment may cause undue delays in the completion of the building".

This building which will serve as a memorial to Rabbi Milton Steinberg, will be a constant reminder of the great ideals which his life symbolized. It will provide classrooms and club rooms needed for the Synagogue's rapidly expanding educational program, a small chapel for weddings and office space for the Rabbi, Cantor and Executive Director. It behooves every member of our congregation to make what payments he can so that this great dream will become a reality.

VOL. 6 No. 11

The following article appeared in the January issue of the NEWS LETTER of the New West End Synagogue of London, the outstanding congregation in the United Synagogue in England.

One of the visitors to our Synagogue during the past summer was Rabbi Simon Noveck of the Park Avenue Synagogue in New York. This is a conservative Congregation with a membership of some 750 families representing a cross-section of New York City. Though in its ritual and observance it is between the Orthodox and Reform, this Synagogue is similar in its location and composition to our own and a review of its activities may be of interest.

Religious Services

Like other American Congregations, the Park Avenue Synagogue has a very impressive list of activities by virtue of which the Synagogue becomes a vital religious centre as well as a house of worship. In its religious services the attempt is made to blend the old with the new, to retain as much of the traditional framework as possible and yet to leave room for experiment and variety in the Synagogue service. The Friday evening services, at a fixed time of 8:30 p.m. form one of the most popular Synagogue services and they are followed by addresses from distinguished individuals on subjects of Jewish interest.

Adult Education

Apart from the Synagogue services, the most important activity is, appropriately, adult education. From the beginning of November to the end of March there are a variety of study courses which are all well attended. This winter there are to be lecture courses on Jewish History during the past Century, Jewish Theology and The Rise and Development of American Judaism. In addition, there are small seminars and discussion groups led by well known scholars and dealing with more specialised subjects. There are classes in modern Hebrew and even courses in the Yiddish language and literature.

Societies

Attached to the Synagogue are a number of clubs and societies, each catering for special interests. The Men's Club holds monthly meetings dedicated to promoting cultural and spiritual projects of the Synagogue and to aiding communal projects in the community at large. There is a "Young Marrieds" group of young people belonging to or intending to affiliate with the Synagogue. Their activities cover both social and cultural aspects and they too hold monthly meetings. A very important group is the Parents' Association which is the liaison between the religious school and the home. They hold four open meetings during the year with guest speakers who discuss Jewish educational topics. They run parties for the children on all major holidays and they hold an annual Book Fair to stimulate interest in Jewish books. The Parents' Association also organises a boy scout group, a library, and supervises youth activities.

Not unnaturally in the United States where so much communal activity is undertaken by women, the Ladies Guild, called the Sisterhood, is intensely active. The Sisterhood serves the welfare and advances the work of the Synagogue and religious schools and does a great deal of general charitable work.

A Junior League corresponds to our Communal Centre and is open to young people between the ages of 21 and 35. Through social gatherings, discussion groups, literary meetings and dramatic presentations the Junior League tries to imbue and stimulate the proper spirit and interest in positive Judaism.

The Children

Finally, the religious school consists of a Primary Department for children btween the ages of 5 and 10. For children between 10 and 15 there are classes meeting 3 times a week. There is a Barmitzvah and Basmitzvah Preparatory School, but this requires a minimum of 3 years attendance in the Senior School as a pre-requisite to membership. Confirmation takes place at the age of 15 as a culmination of the formal educational programme. Also under this Department is a Junior Congregation which conducts services on Sabbath, Festivals & High Holydays. Instructional media in the classes include the use of music, art, dance, visual aids, newspapers, parties, excursions and modern classroom techniques.

On March 28th we shall commemorate the 2nd Yarzeit of Rabbi Milton Steinberg. Rabbi Noveck will speak on the theme "What Milton Steinberg Believed" and the traditional kaddish prayer will be recited by the entire congregation in memory of this great leader, teacher and saint.

letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

I have received a few telephone calls complaining about some offensive remarks made by one of the speakers at a recent Monday night Adult Education lecture. May I, through the columns of the Bulletin, offer my apologies to any of our members who may have been affronted. I do not condone some of the statements that were made and, together with Rabbi Noveck, completely disagree with the point of view of the speaker.

I should like to direct attenton to the policy of the Adult Education Committee of maintaining an open forum for the free expression of ideas. During recent years, we have presented diverse points of view from our pulpit and at the Monday night lectures. These have included Ethical Culture, Jewish Science, Community Church, Zionist and non-Zionist, Orthodox, Conservative. and Reformed viewpoints. Representatives of the American Jewish Committee, American Jewish Congress, B'nai B'rith, and outstanding Jews from Germany, Israel, England, France, Poland and Russia have spoken to us. It is not the policy of the Committee to restrict the speakers in any way or to request advance copies of their talks for censorship purposes.

Whilst I sincerely regret some of the lecturer's remarks, I am certain that these will be counter-balanced in the long run by the point of view of other speakers whom the congregation will hear at our services and lectures.

HAROLD R. STARKMAN
Chairman
Committee on Adult Education

With such an energetic programme a great deal of financial support is expected and received from its membership. Funds are raised through membership dues which, as in the Spanish and Portuguese Congregation in London are assessed in accordance with income and they range from $100 to $1,000 a year (£35 to £350).

SCHOOL NEWS

On Sunday, March 16th, the school will hold its annual Purim Carnival in the vestry of the Synagogue. The vestry will be gaily decorated in the latest Purim fashion. The children, dressed in colorful costumes. will have an opportunity to test their ability at games of skill which will be featured at the many booths. A major attraction of the carnival will be the annual costume parade. All the money raised at the carnival will go into the Keren Ami fund for distribution to worthy organizations at the end of the school year.

Parents, who need assistance in the preparation of holiday costumes for their children, are invited to attend the Parents' Association Holiday Workshop which will be held at the Synagogue on March 12th and 13th.

Even if you're too late to win the stole, send in your raffle books. All contributions go to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building. Mail all checks to the Chairman, Mrs. Emanuel Rosenthal, 50 East 87th Street, New York City. Your support is needed!

Message from the Chairman of the Bazaar

Although I know this message will not be read until at least two weeks after the close of our immensely successful Bazaar, it is written when the excitement has not abated and while the glow of the marvellous team work we all experienced, is bright.

No large undertaking is ever the work of one, or even a few. Numerous credits have been bestowed on me, and I blushed for the feeling that these credits should have been directed to my loyal team of co-workers, to all affiliated arms of the Synagogue as well as to our Sisterhood President.

None of us had a single doubt that financial success would crown our efforts. Few, if any, seriously believed we would do so well. However, one of the finest by-products of the entire Bazaar, in the planning stages, and particularly in the three days of the super selling and dining, was the spirit of fellowship that prevailed.

Literally thousands of people milled about. Members of the congregation fraternized, dined together in our delightful Cafe a la Park Avenue, members of families saw more of each other.

Everybody felt wonderful, my entire committee sparkled with the knowledge that we were backing a winner, and for such a magnificent cause, The Milton Steinberg Memorial Building.

As much as we like to feel that the affair was sponsored and executed by the ladies of the Sisterhood, no small credit is due to a handful of devoted men of the congregation who assisted in the kitchen, at the bars, at our prize wheel and in our booths, who in the aggregate gave us a sense of security that their voluntarily assumed responsibilities were faithfully and competently discharged.

It would give me a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction to give public acknowledgement in these columns to all individuals who participated in any phase of our Bazaar, but because we are not all infalible, and someone might be omitted, I know you all will understand and take the following as coming from my heart.

To every member of the congregation, to our friends, to all who gave their time moneys and merchandise, I express my heartfelt appreciation for the magnificent way in which you supported our efforts.

In closing, I would like you all to share with me one of the most touching letters I have ever received.

Dear Mrs. Sack,
Inclosed please find the money I received for taking pictures Sunday March 9, 1952 from 11 till 2.
I wanted to help the MILTON STEINBERG BUILDING FUND. I have only $2.05, I know it is not much, but I tried.
May you always be successful.

Yours,
Johnny Stangel.

The writer is ten years old. His simple devotion to our cause is as deep as the ocean.

FREDA SACK
Bazaar Chairman

Message from the Cafeteria Chairmen

The Cafeteria Chairmen take this opportunity of expressing their gratitude to their many friends who contributed food, and money for food, to the seen and unseen help that made the Cafe a la Park Avenue work with such precision; to Mr. Ezra Cohen and Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Hahn who, for three days, carved all the meats; to the kitchen staff of workers; to the dining room staff of waitresses; to Dorothy Gellert and Helen Luebeck who saw that those who did not pay did not pass; to Anna Jacobi who executed all the ideas submitted to her for decorations; to the Sewing Group who made the aprons for the waitresses; to Mr. David Bielefeld for his daily arrangement of flowers; and to many friends outside of the Synagogue family, who worked with and for them as a trucking service. To all of these and to everyone else who made the project a labor of love we send our love and thanks.

Harold Osserman, Sanford H. Cohen Head UJA Drive

Dr. Harold A. Osserman and Sanford H. The honorary chairmen are Cantor David Putterman, Rabbi Simon Noveck and Benjamin Sack.

The two co-chairmen urged their friends and fellow congregants to attend the meeting, stressing the decisive importance of this year's UJA campaign and the pressing need for volunteers to participate in the work. "Lives are at stake in this drive," they said, "and we can be the saviors of thousands of Jews overseas by our activity, generosity and efforts to secure the help of others."

Through its 1952 campaign, the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York aims to help save the lives, maintain the hopes and secure the future of 1,000,000 Jews throughout the world.

These objectives are to be accomplished by raising the metroplitan area's share of the nationwide United Jewish Appeal goal of $151,000,000 to meet the financial requirements of the United Israel Appeal, Joint Distribution Committee (including ORT), United Service for New Americans and New York Association for New Americans.

Bazaar Festivities Highlight Week !

By NAOMI JACOBSON

Last weekend one of New York City's brightest and gayest spots was the Bazaar at the Park Avenue Synagogue. A tremendous success, the Bazaar was sponsored by the Sisterhood to raise money for the Milton Steinberg Memorial.

The festivities catered to all appetites. For the Gourmet, a delicious turkey dinner at one dollar a plate; for the Bacchanalian, a bar; for the Bargain Hunter, booths of merchandise at modest prices; for the gambler, a wheel of chance and many raffles.

At any time you could hear Abe Geller or Harold Levin disposing of valuable merchandise ranging from Ladies' Handbags to bottles of Scotch, through the medium of the wheel of chance. Miss Saloman, daughter of Professor Saloman, now sports a beautiful mink stole, donated for raffling by Mr. Greenhut. Ladies of the Sisterhood manned the booths and sold every bit of merchandise on the shelves.

Bouquets to Mrs. Benjamin Sack, the little lady with a tremendous capacity for organizing and insuring the success of the venture. Mrs. Harry Sokolow and Mrs. Sanford Cohen share the honors for providing an excellent cuisine; as procurers extraordinaire, Mrs. Harry Neivert and Mrs. S. Bernstein stocked the bargain booths with appealing merchandise. All donators and workers contributed to make this 1952 Bazaar a grand success!

Sisterhood Will Meet Tuesday Eve, April 15th

The next meeting of the Sisterhood will be held on Tuesday evening, April 15th in place of the usual afternoon gathering. The speaker will be Dr. George Lawton, consulting psychologist, who will discuss "Emotional Maturity for Husbands and Wives". A lively discussion period following the talk will give the gentlemen guests an opportunity to express themselves on any controversial points of the subject. Dr. Lawton will also answer written questions from those who are reluctant to be identified.

Dr. Lawton is a practising marriage counselor and psychoanalyst and also a visiting lecturer in marriage counseling at Long Island University. He has written two books on this subject and Sisterhood is happy to benefit from his wealth of background and experience.

United Synagogue Plans Pilgrimage To Israel in May

An event of historic significance has just been announced by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. From May 15th to June 1st, the Seminary will sponsor a Pilgrimage to Israel. The climax of this Pilgrimage will be a Seminary Convocation on May 25th in Jerusalem at which Doctor Louis Finkelstein will confer the honorary degree of Doctor of Hebrew Literature on Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion. The Seminary has extended an invitation to members of all our congregations to participate in this momentous occasion.

For many years all of us have sought to strengthen the spiritual ties between the Jewries of Israel and America. Since the establishment of the State of Israel, the need and desire for methods of better cooperation and better understanding between these two communities has become vastly more important. Much has already been accomplished by our rabbis, our lay leaders and our congregations to which we belong, as well as through the United Jewish Appeal, the Israeli Bond Drive and similar organizations in an effort to make Israel successful materially. But the time has now come when we must embark upon a new level of relationship between the peoples of the two countries.

The Seminary Pilgrimage will undoubtedly be an important step towards this purpose. Because of the nature of this Pilgrimage, it is hoped that those of you who have for many years been planning to go to Israel will utilize this extraordinary opportunity to represent the Conservative movement in this great mission.

Members of our congregation who are interested in joining this pilgrimage should contact Rabbi Noveck as soon as possible so that the necessary arrangements can be made.

YOUTH NEWS

A most spirited Purim Carnival was staged by the Youth Department on Sunday afternoon March 16th in the Vestry of the Synagogue. In addition to booths operated by the Judah Halevi Socicty, the Brandeis Society and the Halutzim—all Park Avenue Synagogue clubs, elaborate booths also were managed by the young people of Congregations B'nai Jeshurun, Emanuel, Mount Neboh, and Rodeph Sholom. The job of coordinating activities for this successful affair rested with members of the Judah Halevi Society under the chairmanship of Judy Kursch.

The event was an excellent example of how the various youth groups in the midtown area, when called upon to work for a common cause, can consolidate their efforts in an atmosphere of friendship to producc something truly worthwhile.

All proceeds from the Carnival have been turned over to the United Jewish Appeal.

Synagogue Organizes New Boy Scout Troop

The Park Avenue Synagogue Boy Scout Troop is now meeting regularly on Thursday evenings between 7 and 8:30 P.M. in the Vestry of the synagogue.

The Troop, consisting of 18 boys from the Religious School, have embarked upon a full Scout program under the leadership of their Scoutmaster, Mr. Sam Peyer. The Troop also has the benefit of the guidance of a committee of fathers under the chairmanship of Mr. Sidney B. Gurfein. Rabbi Noveck has accepted the position of Chaplain of the Troop.

The Troop was helped in its formative stages through the efforts of Mr. Edwin Davidson, a member of our synagogue, Mrs. Lillian Helpern of the Parents' Association and Mr. William Johnson of the Boy Scouts of America.

Boys between the ages of 11 and 13 are invited to inquire in the school office for membership in the Troop.

The Brandeis Society announces that the debate originally scheduled for April 6th has been postponed until April 20th. At that time members of the society will debate on the topic "Should the Honor System be Rctained in our Schools?"

New Wedding Music Is Now Available

By Cantor David J. Putterman

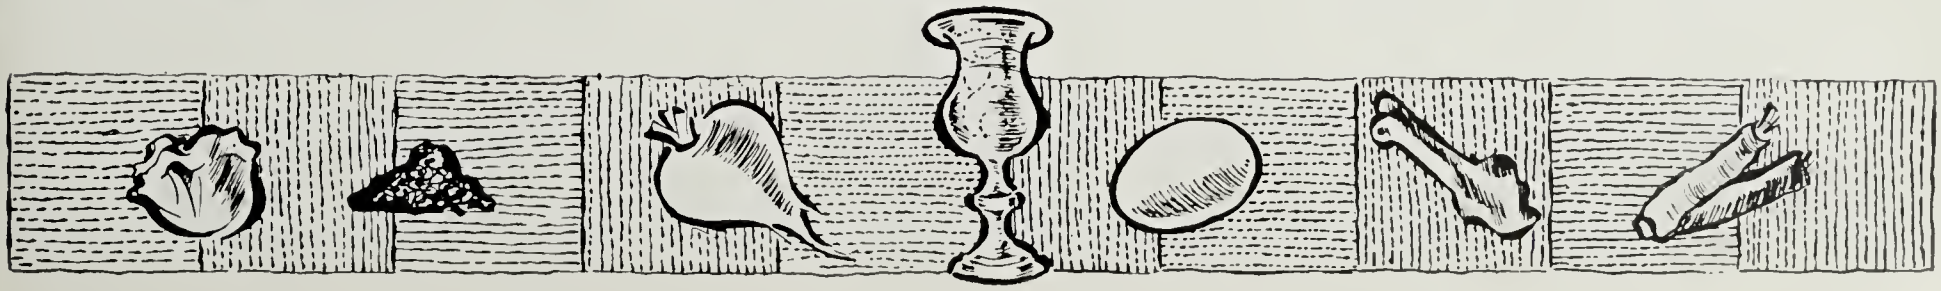

The new wedding music which was commissioned and sponsored by The Cantors Assembly has just been published by the Mills Music Company. All of this music was composed by the internationally renowned Jewish composer, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco. It consists of a processional for the bridegroom set to the text of "Mi Adir", a processional for the bride set to the text of "Boruch Habo B'Shem Adonoy". Both of these processionals may be played by piano or organ or could be sung by the choir. In addition there are four beautiful songs set to the appropriate texts which may be sung before or during the wedding ceremony. They are: "V'Erastich", "Simeni Chachosom Al Libecho", "My Betrothed" and "Seal My Heart". You may order this music directly from your usual book supply dealer or from your local music store.

We hope that all of our Rabbis and Cantors will urge the use of this new music at weddings at which they will be officiating. This new music is Jewish in spirit and content. Secular music of any type has no place at Jewish religious functions. We urge you to discourage the use of the "Wedding March from Loehgrin" by Wagner as well as the solos of "Oh! Promise Me", "At Dawning", "Because", "I Love You Truly", etc., etc. Now that this new Jewish music is available, there is no excuse for the use of inappropriate and secular music.

Mr. & Mrs. Club to Meet

Rabbi Noveck will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Mr. and Mrs. Club on Tuesday evening, April 29th. The group will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Metzgcr. The Rabbi will speak on "Psychiatry and Rcligion—Arc they Compatible?"

Noted Psychiatrist To Address Sisterhood

The next meeting of the Sisterhood will be held on Monday evening, April 14th at 8:00 P.M. in place of the usual afternoon gathering. The change has been made for this month only, so that husbands and friends may attend. The speaker will be Dr. George Lawton, eminent psychiatrist, who will discuss "Emotional Maturity for Husbands and Wives".

A lively discussion period will follow the talk. Since the material is of a personal nature, listeners who are reluctant to identify themselves from the floor, may submit written questions which Dr. Lawton will answer.

Dr. Lawton is a practising psychoanalyst and marriage counselor also visiting lecturer at Long Island University. He has written two books on courtship and marriage, stressing failures due to factors of which the man and woman are almost completely unaware.

Dr. Lawton is a Diplomate in Clinical Psychology of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology, and a member of the National Psychological Association for Psychoanalysis.

"Author Meets Critics" to Discuss "Trial Judge" Friday Eve, May 9th

On Friday evening, May 9th, as part of the late Friday evening services, the Park Avenue Synagogue will present "Author Meets the Critics". The author, Judge Bernard Botein, a Justice of the New York State Supreme Court since 1941, and member of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, whose book "Trial Judge" has just been published by Simon and Schuster, will met his critics in an informal panel discussion of his book. His critics will inelude Dr. David Abrahamsen, Mr. Abraham Geller, and Mr. Harold H. Levin who will act as moderator.

JUDGE BERNARD BOTEIN

"Trial Judge" is a candid, behind-the-bench treasury of wonderful life pictures . . . dramatic, amusing, poignant. Best of all, it gives the reader a tremendous confidence in the integrity and humanity of the American courts and of the men who carry on the tradition of justice under the law. Advance readers, Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Herbert H. Lehman and Senator Estes Kefauver have the highest praise for Judge Botein's book.

A most stimulating evening is in store for all members and friends who attend this program.

"Trial Judge" is available, if ordered now, at a 20% discount off the retail price, which is $5 per copy. Those wishing a copy should contact the Synagogue office.

United Jewish Appeal Needs Your Support!

As the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York embarks upon its 1952 campaign we are filled with a deep sense of its momentous importance. With the people of Israel fighting a desperate battle for economic survival, we are reminded that just as in the early days of Spring, 1948, Israeli men and women are today faced with a crisis that threatens the future of Israel and the thousands of immigrants who have made their home there.

This time it is not the Arab armies but the armies of hunger, hardship and poverty that endanger the security of Israel. An intolerable and relentless pressure has been put upon the Israeli people and without help they may falter in their struggle to create a haven for the homeless and oppressed Jews throughout the world.

But not only in Israel do the Jews need our help. There are thousands in Europe and the Moslem lands, suffering from the persecution and terror, whose ardent desire to escape to Israel or America must not be denied. And with the dissolution of the International Refugee Organization the care of the Jewish DPs in Europe becomes chiefly the responsibility of the UJA.

It is to the United Jewish Appeal that these people look for the help that will gring them safely through their trials and it is imperative that we mobilize our full strength and resources behind the UJA campaign this year.

Any member who desires to have an Aliyah or wishes to recite the Haftorah on any particular Saturday or holiday, please communicate with Mr. Archie Thurman, Chairman of the Ritual Committee, who will be happy to make the necessary arrangements.

SCHOOL NEWS

May is Registration Month

The Jewish Education Committee has designated this month as REGISTRATION MONTH. During the month, Religious schools in the Metropolitan area will register all new children who will be coming to the school in September, 1952.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School educational program provides for:

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 6 through 9. The school, which meets on Sunday morning, aims to familiarize the child with Judaism; its history and its cultural expressions. It develops within him a sense of loyalty and pride in Judaism.

HEBREW DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 10 through 15. The school, which meets on two afternoons and on Saturday mornings, aims to prepare the child for an active and constructive participation in Jewish life. Instruction in Hebrew, Bible, history, customs and ceremonies and religious worship in the Junior Congregation develop in the child an understanding of the religious concepts, the ethical values and the ritual forms of Judaism.

BAR MITZVAH and BAT MITZVAH for the boys and girls at the age of 13. In accordance with the recommendations of the United Synagogue Commission on Education, a minimum of three years instruction in the Hebrew Department is required for Bar Mitzvah and Bat Mitzvah in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

CONFIRMATION for the boys and girls of 15. This solemn and inspiring ritual which takes place at Shavuot is the culmination of the formal educational program.

The Religious School office will be open every afternoon after 3:00 P.M. for the registration of new students. Parents are urged to begin the Jewish education of their children on the Primary School level so that the child may benefit from a full and rich, religious experience.

Do not delay! Enroll today!

Joint Convention Set For Week of May 14th

The Park Avenuc Synagogue and the Men's Club of the congregation, will participate in the forthcoming Joint Convention of the United Synagogue of America and the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, scheduled for May 14th through 18th at the Hotel Bradford in Boston.

Judge Simon F. Rifkind, prominent figure in American public life, one of the outstanding laymen in the Conservative Movement, and a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, will deliver the keynote address at the opening session of the Convention which will be highlighted by a gala fiftieth anniversary observance of Solomon Schechter's arrival in America, and by a public session on Israel at historic Faneuil Hall, "Cradle of American Liberty".

Mr. Charles Rosengarten of Waterbury, Connecticut and Mr. Milton Berger of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania serve as national co-chairmen of the Convention in behalf of both national organizations.

"Standards for Jewish Living" is the theme of the Conventon at which, for the first time, a Code of Standards for Congregational Life will be adopted.

In keeping with the current National Sabbath Observance Effort the Convention Sabbath will be devoted to a "living demonstration" of revitalized Sabbath Observance in our days. "The Jewish Family of the Year" will "preside" over the proceedings of the Shabbat dinner, with the father, the mother and the children of the family so chosen leading in the ritual of the occasion.

The Solomon Schechter Award for distinguished congregational achievement will be conferred again to meritorious congregations.

A round of outstanding social events will give added luster to a most colorful and exciting Convention.

Those interested in attending the convention should contact Rabbi Noveck immediately.

Congregation Gathers to Celebrate Second Annual Passover Seder

By Dorothy C. Ringler

"Wherefore is this night distinguished from all other nights?" To answer this question and many others, and to feast upon unleavened cakes and bitter herbs, the congregation of the Park Avenue Synagogue, their families, and friends, met in the vestry to celebrate the second night of the Passover on Thursday, April 10th.

Rabbi Noveck, seated on the dais with Cantor Putterman, leaders of the Congregation, and the choir, conducted the services from the Reconstructionist Haggadah. With typical warmth and humor, Rabbi Noveck gave us a clear understanding of the traditions, their basis in history, and the modifications which modernize the new Haggadah. Some of the passages were summarized, others were read in English and still others were said in the traditional Hebrew.

An atmosphere of conviviality was lent by the participation of those attending the Seder both as a whole group and as individuals. The able Mr. Yuder, Co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal for the Park Avenue Synagogue, hid the Afikomen most securcly. Between dinner courses, the younger generation scampered around, peeping behind draperies, looking under tablecloths until this special matzoh was finally discovered. As their rewards, Michael Aaron and cousins, Masters Berns and Dennistein will receivc baseball equipment donated by Mr Yuder. Other young members who justified the teachings of the Hebrew School were Miss Elizabeth Kaplan and Masters Kreindler, Helfand and Wolff who asked the traditional questions. Masters Taurig and Ritey interpreted in English. Many of the adults livened the services by individual readings.

A Seder would count for little without singing and Cantor Putterman was at his usual best, both alone and with the choir. During dinner there was an additional treat rendered by impromptu singing of the choir.

At each table one member acted as leader dispensing the Matzoh, wine, bitter herbs, and making mention of the paschal lamb, burnt egg and Charoseth. Preparation of the above mentioned, as well as responsibility for the delicious dinner was in the very capable hands of Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow. A full course chicken dinner was a delight to the eye as well as to the palate. Thanks can not be too profusely rendered in the direction of Mrs. Sokolow, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Rosenthal who, in general, assisted with the Seder and the many others who aided in making the occasion a most successful endeavor.

Young Marrieds to Hold Elections on May 20th

The Young Marrieds will next meet on Tuesday evening, May 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Weinstock, 511 East 20th Street.

The meeting will not only be social in nature, but the election of officers for next season will take place.

At the April meeting, the group heard Dr. Joseph Ben Yochanan speak on the customs, culture and religious observances of the Jews in Ethopia. Dr. Yochanan pointed out that the Falasha Jews are guided morally, culturally and religiously by the torah alone. He spoke of the simplicity of life in Gunda (the Jewish State in Ethopia), yet he maintained that most modern and scientific improvemcnts are used and accepted there.

Aside from the non-importance of the Talmud in Gunda, the most singular departure there, at least as far as the Young Marrieds were concerned, is the practice of polygamy.

The group agreed that Dr. Ben Yochanan's talk was one of the most interesting and stimulating that was given this year.

WhatPriceLeadership

By
Maxwell Abbell

One of the saddest aspects of Jewish life in America is the manner in which the funds so generously contributed by American Jewry are divided, so contrary to Jewish traditions and to the preservation of interest in Jewish life. All sorts of institutions, particularly on a local level, are treated very generously as compared with the national and overseas budgets for similar activities.

There is one exception, however, to this statement—the field of Jewish Education. For this basic activity the "people of the book" lose all sense of proportion and, in almost every Jewish community, allocate far less than is necessary and desirable. Yet every thinking Jew concedes that Jewish education is more important to the continued existence of the Jewish community than most of the other projects far more liberally supported.

On a national scale this phenomenon is further reflected in the liberal allotments to the so-called defense agencies whose work is for the most part negative as compared to the positive programs of the leading theological seminaries and their auxiliary national organizations, and even as compared to such national organizations as the American Association for Jewish Education and Histradut Ivrit, the association dedicated to the revival of Hebrew and the Hebrew book in America. This anomalous situation, the spending of more funds "to defend and to protect" from outside detractors than on teaching and inculcating ourselves and the rising generation of Jews with a normal and wholesome understanding of our heritage, can only be explained in terms of the character of the leadership responsible for the distribution of the monies. The only possible conclusion is that the leaders charged with these tasks are indifferent Jews. Frequently, they have deserted their own religion and people.

In community after community heads of federations and members of their boards, heads of local institutions and members of their boards, leaders and board members of Welfare Funds and Community Councils—and this situation is duplicated on national and regional levels also—are men who have married out of their faith and, worse still, are bringing up their children as non-Jews. What other group would recognize as leaders persons who are traitors to the beliefs and ideals, attitudes and aspirations of the group? To ask the question is to answer it.

It is only we Jews, who, in the chase for the almighty dollar for communal purposes, have lost sight of the prophetic ideals and teachings, in reality the only justification for our continued existence. A people that has so lost its self-respect as to make leaders of those who are traitors to its ideals can not long endure. The continued existence of the Jewish people has been due to the leadership of consecrated Jews who stood ready to sacrifice even their lives for their religious and ethical ideals. When, however, all of this is sacrificed for a few paltry dollars, then there is little left to justify the group's continued life.

If those of us who are active in our local communities and in national organizations scrutinized the membership and officials of boards from this point of view we could establish readily standards that would exclude all such persons from offices of honor and leadership. Such boards would then have a positive outlook towards Jewish life; Jewish education and Jewish religion would then cease to be the step-children of the Jewish community.

letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

In a review of Judge Botein's book "Trial Judge", by David H. Peck, Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, First Department, which appeared on the Editorial page of the New York Law Journal in the April 29th issue, the Presiding Justice writes a most laudatory opinion of Judge Botein's maiden effort as an author. Since the entire review cannot be printed here in full, the following extracts will give our readers some insight into Judge Botein's character, ability, integrity and humanity as one of the leading Supreme Court Justices.

"It (the book) is intimate, flavorful and a reflection of the personality and character of the man, as well as a distillation of his experience and observations as a trial judge . . . It has perspective, a balance of philosophy and practicality and an overall humanity. "Drama in the Courtroom" is only one chapter, by title, but the drama which inheres and abounds in this book is absorbing. There is poignancy in chapters like "A Day in Bellevue" and "The Child in Court" but there is no heaviness in the writing, and one of the accomplishments is its story telling quality."

Space does not permit any further quotations, but I cannot close without adding the following from the Presiding Justice's review. "In sum, Judge Botein's book can be read with profit and pleasure by the experts and emanated in the law by those who dwell in or pass thru our halls or just pass by with nothing more than curiosity as to what goes on inside."

Truly a worthy review of a fascinating book and we of the Park Avenue Synagogue can well be proud of Judge Botein's accomplishment.

Senior League Hears Speaker From Jerusalem

The Senior League observed Israel Independence Day on the occasion of its last open meeting of the season on Thursday, April 24th. Dr. Cherrick of Hebrew University of Jerusalem addressed a capacity audience on "The Foundations and Goals of Hebrew University." So informative was the talk and so enthusiastically was it received that it is hoped Dr. Cherrick will visit with us again on the occasion of his next stay in the United States.

A forum followed the prepared address and refreshments were served thereafter. Co-chairmen of the meeting were Henry Moed and Bernard Raphan.

The remainder of the current club season will be devoted to League matters. A lawn party for members only is planned for mid-May and the annual club outing is scheduled for mid-June. Closed meetings will be called to receive close-of-season committee reports and recommendations and to elect officers for the coming year.

Silos to Entertain Parents' Association

RUTH AND JOHN SILO

The Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue is planning a most unusual and varied program for its final meeting to be held on the evening of May 21st in the Vestry. On that occasion, Israel's ambassador of laughter, Jon Silo, his wife and young daughter, will entertain with a variety program of humor, satire and song.

Born in Jerusalem, TV star, Jon Silo, has gained a wealth of experience from his many appearances in Hebrew plays before pioneer groups in Palestine. For over sixteen years with the Art Theatre, this versatile artist and his charming wife have entertained crowds of service men and women during their extensive USO-Jewish Welfare Board tour. In the past year, Jon has been featured on TV shows such as "Hands of Destiny," "Freedom House," and many others. In a recent program on the air, "Americans by Choice," Jon's portrayals of Walter Damrosch, Sam Bernard and other notable figures were regarded as "proverbial knockouts." Currently, this talented character actor can be seen on "Not for Publication" every Tuesday evening on TV Channel 5 from 10-10:30 P.M.

Jon's wife, Ruth, is an outstanding radio-artist monologist in her own right and is especially well known for her fine, sensitive performance of "H 326572."

The Parents Association is proud to present these versatile artists in their program of songs, sketches and character portrayals. This will be a fitting celebration to honor the seventh birthday of the organization of the Association.

music of the American Indians; he spent considerable time among the Pueblos and the Navajos of our great Southwest, collecting their melodies, some of which he used in his first string quartet and in the orchestral compositions: Indian Dances and Yeibichai. His works have been played by Koussevitzky, Stokowski, Szell, Monteux,Hertz, Bodanzky, Sevitzky, Stock, Smallens, F. Charles Adler, Thomas Scherman, Rodzinski, Fritz Mahler, Stoessel, Alexanian, Grandjany, Heifetz, Albert Spalding as well as the famous quartets: Flonzaley, Pro Arte, Budapest, Paganini, Kolisch and Kroll.

THE WORK

Although Jacobi received no formal religious instruction as a child, he began to study Hebrew when he was about thirty years old. His imagination was captured by the language and the spiritual content of Jewish history. He has become more and more involved in matters pertaining to Jewish music and his works along these lines include the Quintet (Hagiographa), Ode for Orchestra, the 'cello concerto (inspired by three Psalms), Ahavas Olom (written for the Park Avenue Synagogue), Rhapsody for Harp and Strings, Hymn (Saadia Gaon), Ode to Zion (Jehuda Halevi), From the Prophet Nehemiah for voice and two pianos, as well as a group of organ pieces for use in the Synagogue and his first Friday Evening Service, written in 1931 for Lazare Saminsky and the Temple Emanuel in New York.

The present Service, Arvit l'Shabbat, was written during the winter of 1952 in close collaboration with Cantor Putterman. It aims at a simplicity which, in certain numbers at least, will ultimately permit of congregational participation in the singing, following a trend which seems to be growing in Synagogue circles. The work is conceived as an architectural entity: its nineteen individual numbers are held together by the recurrence of several musical motives and by a planned sequence of tonalities. It is dedicated to Cantor Putterman and the Park Avenue Synagogue.

United Jewish Appeal Needs Your Support

The celebration of the Fourth Anniversary of Israel's Independence is an occasion for great joy on the part of Jews throughout the world. For Eretz Israel resurrected has now come through four years of trial and tribulation. Today the young state stands as a bastion of democracy in the Middle East as well as an open door to freedom for the hundreds of thousands of oppressed and persecuted Jews who seek its shores.

However, Israel's survival and ability to keep its gates open are now threatened by the grim economic crisis which demands the greatest sacrifices from its people and saps their spirit and strength. What they need most now is time and the help that only we through the United Jewish Appeal can provide. For if Israel comes through this period safe and sound, it wil be able to shoulder its responsibilities in the future.

The United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York is now engaged in a great campaign to secure this aid and it is the duty of every Jew to support this campaign wholeheartedly for on this response depends the survival of Israel.

Cantors Assembly Honors Cantor David Putterman

The Cantors Assembly and The Department of Music of the United Synagogue of America has just held its Fifth Annual Conference-Convention. Cantor David Putterman is the Executive Vice President of The Cantors Assembly and the Director of The Department of Music.

More than two hundred Cantors from the United States and Canada attended this historic Convention. The formal and official announcement was made of the opening this Fall of the Cantors Institute of the Seminary. The members of the Assembly pledged $25,000 annually for the financial support of the Cantors Institute. A revised Constitution and By-Laws was adopted changing the name of the The Cantors Assembly to The Cantors Assembly of America. New standards and qualifications for membership were also adopted.

The following Resolution on the Status of the Cantor was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS, the Cantor is traditionally the custodian of our sacred musical liturgy and prayer modes, the Sheliach Tsibur, the emissary of his Congregation in prayer and supplication before God, representing them as their spokesman and petitioner in worship, imbuing each and every religious rite and service with aesthetic beauty and dignity, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED AND REAFFIRMED, that the Cantor possessing genuine piety, beauty of voice, and the hebraic, chazanic, and musical qualifications, functioning as a Cantor in a bona-fide Congregation, is according to Jewish law, tradition, and practice, a religious functionary and a Minister of Chazanut. The Cantor as a religious functionary officiates at all religious rites and services and as the Minister of Chazanut is the all-embracing musical personality of his Congregation and the authority in all matters pertaining to Jewish liturgical music in the Synagogue."

Cantor Putterman was honored and presented with a special citation in the form of a bronze placque which reads:

MIZMOR L'DAVID

"Pursuant to a resolution unanimously adopted by the Executive Council of The Cantors Assembly this placque is awarded to

on the occasion of the Fifth Annual Convention of The Cantors Assembly held on the 7th day of May, 1952, in grateful recognition of his outstanding efforts as its Founder, Organizer and Executive Vice President and in behalf of the Cantorial profession and as one of the motivating influences in the realization of The Cantors Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America."

from the desk of Rabbi Noveck

There is an ancient Jewish legend that the angels in heaven once came before God and asked, "When is the New Year"? and God replied, "When man will cease doing evil and there will be peace, justice and true brotherhood on earth, then it will be New Years".

In this ultimate sense we still have a long time before we can celebrate a real New Year. Rosh Hashanah, however, is the time when we dedicate ourselves anew to work for a "newer and braver world".

"B'Rosh Ha-Shonah Neevroh Hoolom". It was on Rosh Hashanah, say the sages, that the world was originally created and our task at this season of the year is to do our share in fashioning a world "closer to our heart's desire". We must first of all concern ourselves with the problems of the moment—the tensions between our world and that of the Russians, the rise of neo-Nazi parties in Germany, and the persistent intransigence of the Arab states, not to speak of the discrepancies which exist in our own country between the American dream and the realities of our land. The liturgy of these high holy days urges us to work with all our might for the time "when wickedness will vanish like smoke, and the dominion of tyranny will be removed from the earth."

Secondly, we must be concerned with the Jewish community and its problems. Such causes as the United Jewish Appeal and the Bond Drive, Federation and the Seminary, constitute "sine qua nons" for American Jews who are concerned with the survival of our people.

Finally, and most important of all, the spirit of these holidays urges us to renew our interest in the Synagogue as the source of the religious and cultural life of our people. The many secular organizations which characterize American Jewish life are undoubtedly temporary phenomena. Another generation or two and they will lose the hold they have upon the community. The future of the American Jew is dependent on the Synagogue and its program of activities.

This year promises to be a significant one in the life of the Park Avenue Synagogue. At long last there is a possibility that the great dream of a new educational edifice and a memorial to Rabbi Milton Steinberg will become a reality. However, this is dependent on the sense of sacrifice that will be displayed by the membership of the Synagogue. I sincerely hope that every member of our congregation will do his or her share to make sure that our plans come to fruition.

I want to wish each one of you and your families a happy and a healthy New Year. L'Shonah Tova Teekosayvu.

During this season of the year the Synagogue office is busily engaged in making arrangements for the Holy Day Services and other activities of the Congregation. Members are requested to make this work easier by informing the office of all vital statistics including change of address, marriages, births etc. Send or call all information to Mr. Emanuel Rosenthal, executive secretary.

message from the Board Chairman

Welcome to all. I trust that everyone has had a pleasant summer and enjoyed good health.

For all of us 1952-1953 will be a year of decision. Many problems face your Board of Trustees, Advisory Council, officers, and most particularly, the membership at large. For those of us, long in the service of the Synagogue, situations have arisen from time to time, were met, solved, and the Synagogue family and its prestige emerged stronger and more vital.

For those members who have been with us for a shorter period, opportunities lie ahead for sharing in communal responsibilities which will make a paradox of the arithmetic table: the more you give of yourself in money, time and dedication, the richer you become.

Facing us immediately is the wonderful prospect of our new building, now visibly in the course of construction. What a genuine occasion for us to translate our deep seated devotion to the memory of our incomparable Milton Steinberg and, at the same time, create a much needed facility—our New School.

There have been so many requests for space from all arms of the Synagogue, it would repuire a ten story building to satisfy them. Therefore, one of the important decisions that must be made is to provide for our primary needs in a manner that will encourage everyone to support the efforts of our Building Commitmtee and the Committee entrusted to finance the construction.

Another facet of our congregational life is the tie we have to The Jewish Theological Seminary of America. More and more we become increasingly awarc of the important part Seminary plays in our institutional life as a Synagoguc, and, that as a single institution, we arc regarded as one of the important members of thc Seminary family.

message from the President

Happy New Year to you and to all those near and dear to you. In addition to this message of greeting, I want to add this thought on the approaching High Holy Days.

When Israel departed from Egypt thc Bible says that they left "Beyad Ramah", with dignity and pride. However, thc sages tell us that they did not retain their composure for any length of time. When they saw the Egyptians pursuing them, they raised a hue and cry against Moses saying that he had conspired to have them killed in the desert. In spite of this unjustified accusation, Moses did not lose his head but, in a quiet and dignified manner, pleaded with them, closing his appeal with the following beautiful statement: "God will fight for you and you hold your peace."

For thousands of years, thereafter, the Jews followed this counsel trusting in God and relying entirely upon his saving power. However, the people have, at times, taken this statement too literally, expecting God to do all the fighting

SYNAGOGUE ARMS PLAN FOR NEW YEAR

Sisterhood to Publish Journal for Luncheon

This year, because of the urgent need for funds, Sisterhood is publishing a Journal in conjunction with its annual Donor Luncheon which will be held on Tuesday, December 9th. Although the time is short, it is hoped that the incentive of earning a luncheon invitation for every $50. worth of ads secured will make this venture a success. The publisher's deadline for ads is November 9th.

The luncheon to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Astor Hotel, will feature a fashion show. Miss Maggie McNellis will comment upon creations from the major fashion designers of Ameriea.

Members will be offered books of chances for the luncheon. Those who have not yet received their books and wish them now should contact the Chairman, Mrs. Mack Fieber, SAcramento 2-1834.

Blanks for the Journal may bc obtained from the Chairman, Mrs. Saul Granetts, TRafalgar 9-8919.

greetings from the Sisterhood president

I want to extend to each and every member of the Sisterhood the best wishes of the Officers and Board for a very happy, healthy and prosperous New Year.

It is traditional, at this time, to rcdedieate ourselves and our organization to the ideals and principles we wish to attain. For the past few years we have added to our goals the shining light of a Memorial Building, the erection of which was to be our primary desire and purpose. Now we are on the threshold of seeing that Memorial become a reality We must, therefore, not falter at this last stage, but must attack our task with renewed zeal and accomplishment. To this end we are inaugurating a Journal at our annual Donor Luncheon on December 9th.

The success of both these enterprises ean be attained only through the efforts of each member of Sisterhood in seeuring ads and selling luncheon books. This is a much easier task then putting the bricks up ourselves. Let us start right now—the time is very short.

My very best wishes to you all.

We also extend a eordial invitation to all young married couples in the Synagogue to join our group. Our program for the coming year is a varied one, designed to have a wide appeal. We have already engaged as speakers for our informal discussion meetings, Joseph Ben Yohannen, who led an unusually interesting meeting last year, and Eliezer Whartman of the Israel Offiee of Information, who will present some controversial views on the question, "Is there a future for Ameriean Jews?" We expcct to obtain several other noted speakers on topics of eurrent interest.

We have also planned a number of soeial meetings and at least two major social functions, the first of which is expected to be a Cocktail Party at the Raleigh Room of the Warwiek Hotel on a Sunday afternoon this fall.

A theatre party sponsored by the Men's Club, will be held on Wednesday evening, December 17th. A new exciting drama, by the successful playwright, Terence Rattigan—"The Deep Blue Sea", stars Margaret Sullivan. For tickets, call the Synagogue office or Mr. Archie I. Thurman, Chairman, ATwater 9-0849.

Men's Club Program Planned for New Year

The Men's Club has embarked on a very ambitious program for the year 1952-53. The meetings, onee a month, will again feature outstanding speakers and eelebrities, a Ladies' Night, an Inter Faith night, and a card party.

For its extra-curricular aetivities, it is planning a theatre party on December 17th to raise funds toward its pledge to the Milton Steinberg Building Drive, a Men's Club Sabbath, and the Youth Leadership Award. In addition to the above, the ushering during all the holidays will again be sponsored by the Club. Ever mindful of its purposes, the Men's Club is dedicated to promote cultural and spiritual projeets of the Synagogue, to foster social relationships and to initiate and aid eommunal projects in the community at large.

ligion for American Jews". Noting the shift of interest today from secular activities back to religion, Rabbi Noveck will analyze this current religious trend to see whether it is an authentic religion that is emerging in America. He will describe the enduring value of Judaism and compare the Jewish religion in America with these past values.

In his Kol Nidre address "The Power of a Great Tradition", the rabbi will deal with the importance of tradition and discuss the impact of this tradition upon the lives of each one of us. He will demonstrate the power of this tradition in unifying the Jewish people, in giving us perspective, and in giving us courage for living.

On Yom Kippur, Rabbi Noveck will take the theme "Moral Leadership for Our Times" and demonstrate the great role that leaders with the proper background and outlook can play in moulding the destiny of American Jewry.

The rabbi will deliver a sermonette before the Yiskor service. He will discuss the recent trends in Israel and the relationship of the American Jew to the New State.

Message From the Chairman

Above the purely administration level of the Synagogue, Seminary provides us and other Conservative Synagogues with Rabbis, Cantors, Teachers, ritual guides, school standards, etc. We owe a great debt to Seminary. Many of us have recognized this fact and have regarded the financial support of Seminary as an integral part of our Synagogue obligation.

For Seminary we must decide ways and means of discharging our annual obligations, not on a crisis basis, but on a regular agreed upon procedure which will serve to justify the enviable position we hold among the Synagogues supporting Seminary.

A third member of the trio constituting our complete religious equipment is the Reconstructionist movement. I address this principally to those members who have become part of the Park Avenue family during the past three years.

We as a congregation, are dedicated to most of the principles embodied in the Reconstructionist movement. Its philosophy is impressed in the character of our living as Jews. It has made completely compatible our living as Jews and as Americans. Under the impact of our Rabbis, most of us in the Synagogue take this conditioning as naturally as being Americans.

Yet each American pays an assortment of taxes for being an American. Each member of our Synagogue should decide for himself and herself the extent of the annual obligation to the Reconstructionist movement for the enormous intangible value imparted to us in providing a way of life as Jews in this wonderful country of ours.

Important as they are—so much for decisions involving money.

We are a marvellous congregation. Statistically we represent nearly every branch of professional and industrial endeavor. Among us there are represented talents of a wide variety.

I know our congregational life would be more stimulating and more successful if we received the consent of our members to serve on one or more of the numerous committees that function ten months of each year. It will be a rewarding experience, I assure you, to assist in many decisions which must be made in connection with the completion, furnishing and operation of our new building. That is but one example.

Our Adult Education Committee is an attractive Committee engaged in the top intellectual activity of the Synagogue. I should like to know who among the members would like to participate in making the decisions of this Committee.

Surely there is among us more than one member who has the ingenuity to promote an annual social gathering of the congregation which could be made a memorable fixture in the life of the Synagogue.

These are but a few of the areas of our busy congregational life which call for thought and decision. As our activities throughout are conducted democratically I should like to feel that in the rotation of authority we are encouraging every qualified member to come forward and assist in making the decisions so important to the tranquility of our institution.

In closing, let this New Year be one of participation and enjoyment of every phase of Synagogue activity. Happy New Year to all.

while they stood on the side lines.

The Orthodox Jew contended that we had no right to fight for Palestine but in good time when the Messiah would come, God would lead us to the Holy Land. Most Reform Jews until recently had no interest whatsoever in redeeming "Eretz Yisrael". It was primarly the Conservative Jew who faced the issue and strove with blood, sweat and tears until the State of Israel was finally proclaimed four years ago.

This affirmative attitude represents the true Jewish viewpoint, that man should be a "shutaf", a partner with God in the "liberation war of humanity." Our own Milton Steinberg, of blessed memory, shortly after the proclamation of the State, delivered a sermon in which he said, among other things, "that this accomplishment was a greater miracle than the Exodus from Egypt, because he said, God performed the miracle of the Exodus and the miracle of the State of Israel was accomplished by the Jewish people." This time the Jewish people were doing the fighting, participating with God in this miracle of redemption.

This great lesson which comes to us from Jewish tradition and from our own recent history is a very important one for us as American Jews. Traditionally the Shofar is blown throughout this month of Elul. It is a call to us not to remain quiet but to join the fight for a "braver and a newer world."

Each one of us must, within his ability, do his best to support the great causes which constitute the foundations of American Judaism: the Synagogue, the Steinberg Memorial, United Jewish Appeal, Federation and the Seminary. I ask no one to go beyond his financial ability, but, to the extent that he is in a position to do so, everyone should support these institutions, and others

This year, at Shavuot, the Synagogue will honor both the confirmants and the graduates from the Religious School in a combined Graduation-Confirmation ceremony. The members of the confirmation class, who will also complete the five year course of study in the Hebrew Department, will receive graduation diplomas and confirmation certificates.

The students eligible for graduation or confirmation are: Alan Aaron, Jill Appleman, Susan Berns, Paul Bienstock, Sandra Cohen, Edward Curtiss, Eleanor Foa, Martin Gold, Anthony Greenwald, Stephen Heyman, Alice Heyman, Alice Helpern, David Hoexter, Robert Kaufman, Nan Krulewitch, Gary Manacher, Stanley Nemeroff, David Penner, Lee Reichman, Susanne Sheskin, Roger Waldman, Doris Wimpfheimer, and Theodore Zucker.

Religious School Opens With Record Attendence

The faculty of the Religious School expresses its thanks and congratulations to the students of the Hebrew Department and their parents for their wholehearted cooperation in a most successful reopening of the school year. The school has been in session since, Monday, September 15th with an average attendance of over 90%.

The many holidays during the early part of the school year have made it necessary to postpone the opening of the Primary Department until Sunday, October 19th. However, these students will receive tickets for the High Holy Day services at the Jewish Museum and will be invited to attend the Succot morning services to be conducted by the Junior Congregation.

The school office will continue to accept new students daily between 2:30 and 6:00 P.M. Children between the ages of 6 and 9 may be enrolled in the Primary Department which meets on Sunday morning. Older children must be enrolled in the Hebrew Department which meets on Monday and Wednesday afternoons and Saturday morning.

Members of the congregation are reminded that three years of Hebrew school education is an essential requirement for Bar Mitzvah and Bas Mitzvah in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Rabbi's Secretary Weds

Miss Mildred Saperstein who served as personal secretary to Rabbi Noveck and to the late Rabbi Steinberg, was married on Sunday, September 7th to Mr. Herbert H. Cohen of Troy, New York. Mrs. Cohen who has been with the Synagogue for seven years will now make her home in Troy. Mrs. Helen Pincus has been chosen to replace her as personal secretary to the rabbi.

Mrs. Pincus, a graduate of Barnard and the New York University School of Retailing, formerly was personal secretary to Rabbi Abba Abrams at Schiff Center in the Bronx. More recently she was in charge of programming at the Bronx YWHA.

New admissions to the Primary Department and the Hebrew Department of the Religious School are now being accepted in the school office. Parents are urged to visit or call the office any afternoon after 2:30 P.M. to register their children.

Michele Gorin Named for Teaching Appointment

The School Board announces the appointment of Miss Michele Gorin as a full-time teacher in the Hebrew Department of the Religious School for the year 1952-53. Miss Gorin will replace Mrs. Belle Miller, who is on maternity leave from the school.

Miss Gorin's experience and background make her a worthy addition to the faculty. She was born in Tel-Aviv, Israel and completed her elementary, secondary and normal school education in that city. After her graduation from normal school, Miss Gorin taught for two years in the Tel-Aviv elementary school system. In the United States she has taught Hebrew at the Flatbush Yeshiva and the Emanuel Brotherhood.

Miss Gorin has been granted the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Teachers' College, Columbia, and is, at present completing her studies at Columbia University towards a master's degree in vocational guidance.

Junior Congregation Services

High Holy Day services for the young people of the synagogue will be held, as in previous years, at the Jewish Museum, a division of the Jewish Theological Seminary, on 92nd St. and 5th Ave. The facilities of the museum have been made available to us through the kindness of Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, curator of the museum.

The services, to be held on September 20th and 21st at 11:30 A.M. and on September 29th at 11:30 A.M., will be conducted by Mr. Baruch Levine assisted by students from the Religious School.

Tickets for the services will be mailed to all students enrolled in the Primary Department. Hebrew Department students will receive tickets for the services in their classrooms.

Parents' President Extends Greetings

On behalf of the Parents' Association I would like to take this opportunity to welcome the parents of new students in the Religious School to our organization. The Parents' Association acts as a liaison between the school and the home. It sponsors an active program for both children and parents throughout the year.

The group will hold its first meeting in October. At this time the program for the season will be inaugurated. Plans for this year include a Book Fair, dramatizations of the important religious holidays to make them more meaningful for the children, and an active Workshop in which parents, under the direction of Mrs. Simon, are acquainted with the techniques used in observing the holidays with their children. The Parents' Association will also sponsor a Friday evening service sometime in January, as was done last year. Other meetings will feature dynamic speakers of current interest to the group.

We are looking forward to the completion of the new Memorial Building and better space for work and play for our children. We urge all parents to continue to support this project, for full cooperation is needed from all members to make this endeavor a success.

Abraham Geller Named as Candidate

On behalf of the entire congregation, the Board of Trustees extends to Abraham N. Geller its heartiest congratulations. Mr. Geller has been named by the Democratic party as its candidate for the Court of General Sessions.

Mr. Geller, a distinguished and active member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is a member of the Board of Trustees and also of the Men's Club.

A successful lawyer, and a leader in non-sectarian as well as Jewish charitable and civic undertakings, he came out of the slum areas of the lower East Side and the East Harlem district. Watchful parents and devoted settlement house workers helped him avoid the pitfalls of such neighborhoods. The Court of General Sessions deals with major crimes of violence, many of which originate in poverty such as Mr. Geller experienced in boyhood.

ABRAHAM N. GELLER

Mr. Geller is married and has three children, two girls and a boy. His wife, Dorothy, also has been active in synagogue affairs. A Citizens Committee for Election of Abraham N. Geller has been formed with headquarters at Room 401, 444 Madison Avenue.

Members are asked to bring their cards of admission to all High Holiday services. They are requested not to leave their seats while the Rabbi is delivering the sermon or while the Cantor or Choir are singing. Everyone is asked to remain in his seat until after the benediction and not to remove his Tallith until that time.

Congregants Receive Simhath Torah Honors

MRS. SAMUEL WIMPFHEIMER

Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer, Mr. Benjamin Abrams and Mr. Sanford H. Cohen will be honored by the Congregation for outstanding service in Synagogue, Jewish and communal affairs at the Simhath Torah service on Sunday morning, October 12th.

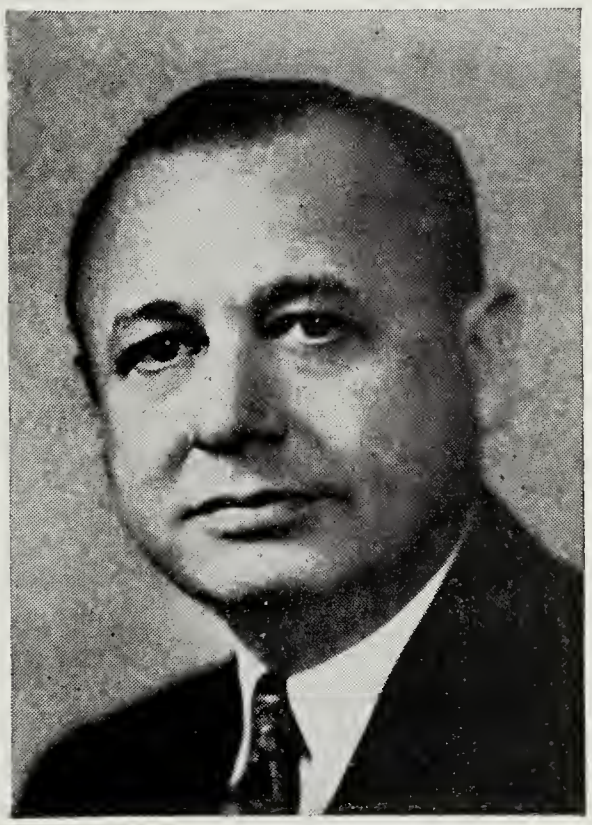

Following the Hakafot, the processional with the Torah Scrolls, Mr. Sanford H. Cohen will be called to "stand forth" as Hathan Torah (Bridegroom of the Torah).

Then Mr. Benjamin Abrams will be called to the pupit as Hathan Bereshith (Bridegroom of the Beginning), as the Torah is rerolled and the first verses of Genesis are read. Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer will be honored as Kalah Mafteret (Bride of Propretic Message) for Simhath Torah 5713.

The practice of honoring members of a congregation by designating them Hathan Torah and Hathan Bereshith originated from medieval Judaism and from a mystical thread within it.

On Simhath Torah, the last day of the Succoth festival, the Torah cycle of the year is completed and then is begun again. The last section and the first one are traditionaliy regarded as portions of importance and it is a practice to assign those portions to those individuals, who by their scholarship, peity or ser-

Senior League Hears Two Youth Delegates

On October 5th the Senior League held its first Sunday Social, for members only, in the Vestry of the Synagogue. On Thursday evening, October 9th the first Open Meeting of the season was held. Messrs. George Carter and Murray Frank, United States Delegates to the recent World Youth Assembly at Dakar, discussed "Youth's Role in World Progress" and the impact and significance of their African Journey. A social hour and refreshments followed the program.

On Sunday, October 16th at 3:00 P.M., an Autumn Dance, with music by Jeno Bartel and his orchestra, will be held in the Vestry of the Synagogue.

The Senior League is planning to form a Dramatic group and hope that members of the other Synagogue groups will join with them. Those interested in the group are requested to contact the Synagogue, and the Senior League will immediately contact them.

The League hopes that young people connected through family or directly with the Synagogue, will find their program interesting and will join the group. Please address inquiries to Mitchell Waife, Chairman of the Membership Committee, in care of the Synagogue.

Men's Club to Sponsor Theatre Party

In order to redeem its pledge of $5,000 to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, the Men's Club is running a theatre party on Wednesday evening, December 17th, 1952. The Club was fortunate in procuring a smash hit in "The Deep Blue Sea", starring Miss Margaret Sullavan; a new play by Terence Rattigan. This play opened in London last summer and received rave notices. It is an absorbing story of a warm hearted woman cheated of romantic love—a play of humor, wit, pathos and sophisticated intelligence.

Any non-members of the Men's Club who desire tickets are requested to telephone Mr. Archie I. Thurman, Chairman of the theatre party, at CAnal 6-5638. Choice seats are still available.

vice to the Jewish community, have merited public tribute. The custom of honoring a Kalah Mafteret, which was inaugurated four years ago, is a tribute to an outstanding woman member of the Congregation, for conspicuous service rendered the Jewish community.

Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer

The lady to be honored this year as Kalah Mafteret, is Helen Wimpfheimer, the President of the Sisterhood for the past two years. Prior to assuming the Presidency of Sisterhood she served as Recording Secretary and Chairman of the Program Committee of that group. As Sisterhood President she sat on the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue.

In the congregation she has also served as Chairman of the Arrangements Committee for the Seminary Brunch, and Chairman of the Committee for the Congregational Dinner. At present, she is president of the United Order True Sisters Bothia Lodge.

To all she has bestowed her warm and sympathetic personality, and merits, to the full, being named Kalah Mafteret for the year 5713.

Benjamin Abrams

To be honored as Hathan Bereshith will be Mr. Benjamin Abrams, a distinguished civic leader and philanthropist. Mr. Abrams is Chairman of the greater New York Committee of Israel Bonds. He has also served as Administrative Officer of the New York Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, Treasurer of the Joint Distribution Committee and Vice-Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal. President of the Emerson Radio Corporation, Mr. Abrams is a member of the Board of Directors of the Better Business Bureau.

In addition to his business and philanthropic interests, he has served his country as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Munitions Board in Washington, and as a member of the United States Commission for the United Nations Genocide Convention.

As an outstanding member of the congregation and the community, it is fitting that he be named Hathan Bereshith for the year.

Sanford H. Cohen

The honor of Hathan Torah will be bestowed on Mr. Sanford H. Cohen, Vice-President of the congregation and a member of the Board of Trustees for many years. Parents' Group Plan Orientation Meeting

At the opening meeting of the Executive Board of the Parents' Association, plans were discussed for a very active season.

The first event scheduled is an orientation meeting to be held on the evening of November 5th in the Vestry. On this occasion, parents will have an opportunity to meet the teachers of the Religious School. Further details will be announced in the next BULLETIN.

The Parents' Association is proud to announce that, this year, it will conduct a Seminar, not only for its members but for all who are interested in attending lectures to be given by Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman. It is hoped that these discussions will fill the spiritual needs of parents and will help enrich Jewish life on a mature level.

SCHOOL NEWS

The first session of the Primary Department of the Religious School will be held on Sunday morning, October 19th at 9:45 A.M.

Despite the necessary postponement of the opening of the first session, the students of the Primary Department have had the pleasure of joining the students of the Hebrew Department in High Holy Day services at The Jewish Museum and at Succoth services in the Vestry.

Registration in the Primary Department for children between the ages of 6 and 9 is still open. Parents are urged to call the School Office any day between 2:30 and 6:30 P.M.

Special Succoth services will be held for the students of the Religious School at 10 A.M. on each of the festival mornings in the vestry of the Synagogue.

them with a Torah scroll and a certificate to commemorate the event.

The following students are newly-enrolled in the Hebrew Department: David Alberts, Robert Berglass, Mary Brandmarker, Lawrence Eisenberg, Stephen Feig, Inez Fields, Michael Fleischer, Jimmy Fogelson, Kurt Frank, Nicholas Freud, Jay Goldblatt, Thomas Gluckman, Linda Grauer, Babette Hoexter, Stephen Jacoby, Jeffrey Joseph, Charles Kaiser, Richard Kram, Peter Meltzer, Donald Mutterperl, Richard Nalin, Alic Rubel, Murray Sadoff, Barbara Schacht, Joel Siegel, Falene Simet, Steven Smith, Robert Spiegel, Herbert Stern, Susan Swick, Eric Weinberg and Randall Weingarten.

At the Kol Nidre Service I. M. Cohen, Co-chairman of the Memorial Drive, gave in detail the financial status of the Drive. He also described to all present, in detail, the type of edifice the committee expected to erect and invited the congregants to inspect the plans at their leisure.

Mr. Cohen explained that due to unforeseen difficulties, a fund of $750,000 was necessary and that new standards would have to be set in order to achieve the approximate $400,000 deficit.

Mr. Cohen explained that the type of building and the fulfillment of the plans as originally set forth would depend upon the response of the Synagogue to the drive.

Rabbi Noveck had delivered a most stirring sermon of the Jew's obligation to his Synagogue, and one of the highlights of the Rabbi's sermon was a statement to the effect that the Jew in the Synagogue has an obligation first to see that a Talmud Torah is built even before the Synagogue is built.

The results of this special appeal for large donations were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Appleman contributed $25000 and will name the Auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H., and Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Cohen contributed $25,000 and will name the Library.

Mr. and Mrs. William Heller contributed $25,000 and will name the biblical, pictorial glass facade of the Memorial Building.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Cohen contributed $10,000 to the First Torah.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Gevirtz contributed $10,000 and will name a classroom.

The Morris, Jules and Abe Haft Families contributed $10,000 and will name a classroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lemberg contributed $10,000 and will name a classroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ostriker contributed $10,000 and will name a classroom.

Dr. and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer contributed $10,000 and will name a classroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Horowitz contributed $5,000 and will name a Pillar.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mandelbaum contributed $5,000 and will name a Pillar.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rentner contributed $5,000 and will name a Pillar.

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Ritter contributed $5,000 and will name a Pillar.

Mr. and Mrs. Tubie Resnik contributed $2,500 and will name an individual placque.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pieper contributed $2,000 and will donate the Ten Commandments.

One of the warming notes is that the Sisterhood who has pledged $25,000 and already paid it ahead of schedule, are in the process of considering an additional pledge of $25,000.

The Men's Club announced that they have increased their $5,000 pledge to $15,000 and it would not be surprising if they increase this pledge to $25,000.

The Drive is now on in full force and the entire membership will be contacted.

Eliezer Whartman to be Young Marrieds' Speaker

The Young Marrieds will hold their second meeting on Tuesday evening, October 14th, at 8:30 P.M. in the Vestry. Mr. Eliezer Whartman of the Israel Office of Information will be the guest Speaker. He has chosen as his topic, "Is There a Future for American Jews?" Mr. Whartman has an unconventional viewpoint on the subject and his discussion promises to be most provocative.

The group held their first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 16th. At that time plans for the coming year were formulated.

On Sunday, November 16th, a Cocktail Party for members and friends is to be held at the Raleigh Room of the Hotel Warwick. This function promises to be one of the highlights of season and all members are cordially invited to attend. Tickets and all pertinent information will be mailed to members. Any others wishing to purchase tickets should contact the President, Mr. Sidney Silberman, 435 East 14th Street, New York City; or the Chairman Mrs. Norman Cohen.

They drew particular attention to the need for studying and understanding these problems in the perspective of the world power balance and stressed the effect of the handling of minority problems in the United States on the quite sophisticated African population.

The League this year is particularly interested in having young Synagogue

Board Chairman Urges Prompt Applications For New Membership

During the past summer I assisted our hard working Membership Committee in interviewing applicants for membership, most of whom worshipped with us during the recent holidays. I became aware of a unique situation.

Most of the applicants stated they had been desirous of joining our congregation for years. In view of the inevitable number of vacancies that occur annually, due to removals to distant places, and deaths, each was asked what caused the delay in applying; and each answered "We were simply waiting to get around to it".

Despite this, it is disheartening to learn from members that friends occasionally report no response from the office to requests for membership. To these through their friends in the Synagogue I address this message: Please file your applications by letter with the Executive Secretary who will promptly mail you a formal blank. If you do it early you will be given priority according to time of receipt.

To all the members of the Synagogue: please express your wishes now with respect to changes desired in seating; from the Vestry to any part of the Balcony or Auditorium. As vacancies occur these changes receive first attention, and members are notified to discuss the possible change with the Membership Committee. Your Board of Trustees has directed that a democratic procedure be faithfully followed. To the best of my knowledge and belief such is the practice.

Your co-operation is earnestly solicited.

Jewish Museum Holds Arthur Szyk Exhibition

Nearly 125 works by the world-renowned illustrator and cartoonist, Arthur Szyk, will be exhibited at The Jewish Museum, 92nd Street and 5th Avenue, from October 14th until December 1st.

Among the many pieces to be shown will be works based on Bible characters, political cartoons and book illustrations, many of which are well-known to the American public. In addition to his illustrations for The Book of Ruth, The Book of Job and the Haggadah, The Jewish Museum will display items from his famous Master Race and War Satires series. Illustrations for American historical events, Andersen's Fairy Tales and the Canterbury Tales will be on view, along with artwork for the Israeli Declaration of Independence.

Arthur Szyk first gained fame in the United States in 1932, when the Polish Government sent him here to exhibit 38 paintings on George Washington's life and times at the Library of Congress. The artist came to live and to work in America in 1940 and remained in this country until his death in 1951.

Two of Arthur Szyk's hallmarks, in the opinion of his public, are his magnificent colorations and his painstaking craftsmanship. To enable visitors to see his amazingly detailed illuminations, some of which are invisible to the naked eye, The Jewish Museum will have magnifying glasses available for the public.

A visit to the Museum and to the exhibit will be of great interest and value to every member of the family.

Organist Ailing

For the first time in twenty years Isidor Geller, the Synagogue organist, has been absent from his usual place due to illness during the past two months. His artistry has been sincerely missed and it is hoped that he may have a REFUAH SHELEMAH, a speedy and complete recovery.

The Club was fortunate in procuring a smash hit in "The Deep Blue Sea", starring Miss Margaret Sullavan; a new play by Terence Rattigan. This play opened in London last summer and received rave notices. It is an absorbing story of a warm hearted woman cheated of romantic love—a play of humor, wit, pathos and sophisticated intelligence.

Any non-members of the Men's Club who desire tickets are requested to telephone Archie I. Thurman, Chairman of the theatre party, at CAnal 6-5638. Choice seats are still available.

Additional contributions are coming in for Mitzvahs. The names of the donors will be mentioned in the next issue of BULLETIN.

from the desk of the President

The High Holiday and Festival Services were conducted in a most dignified, beautiful and impressive manner. Rabbi Noveck's sermons touched a new high, Cantor Putterman's singing was superb, and the Choir and temporary Organist completed the inner circle in a most befitting manner.

The Officers, members of the Board and the Congregation filled the Synagogue to capacity and made a picture which, when viewed from the Pulpit, was highly inspiring. And the cordiality that prevailed all around thrilled the hearts of all who are interested in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

With the cooperation of the Rabbi, Cantor and Chairman of the Ritual Committee, additional honors were given to members on the High Holy days, who seemed pleased with the innovation.

The Kol Nidre Service was inspiring, including the appeal for the Steinberg Memorial Fund, so ably conducted by Mr. I. M. Cohen, in spite of his illness.

The Simhath Torah ceremonies were indeed memorable, and the honors conferred on Mr. Sanford Cohen, Mr. Benjamin Abrams and Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer were not only witnessed, but also enjoyed by a throng of their friends, well-wishers and members that tested the capacity of the Synagogue. Milton Weill's presentation of a set of resolutions to Sanford Cohen was a magnificent tribute and gave everyone a real thrill. Rabbi Noveck's presentation to Mr. Abrams and Phyllis Siegel's remarks to Helen Wimpfheimer were fine tributes and beautiful summaries of the unselfish service each has performed.

One discordant note, however, affected the holiday spirit of our Synagogue. I refer to the illnes of Mrs. Mannie Rosenthal, affectionately called "June", who is presently a patient at Mt. Sinai Hospital. Mannie and June have been loyal and devoted members of the Park Avenue Synagogue for almost a quarter of a century, and we miss June's smiling and gracious countenance around the offices and the building. Our prayers go up to Heaven for her speedy and complete recovery.

I am indeed happy to be president, but there is just a little trace of disappointment that I experience, which the officers, board and membership body can change. You, and you have it within your power to do so, and that is to attend the regular Friday evening and Saturday morning services more frequently.

If you all realized how much encouragement you lend to the Rabbi and Cantor, and how you improve the prestige of the Park Avenue Synagogue by more frequent attendance at services, and how much personal satisfaction each one of you would derive from active participation in these services, I think you would really make an effort to be present more frequently.

I am devoting considerably more time to the Synagogue in trying to develop a closer relationship among the members than I ever imagined I could possibly do. I am doing it because I feel it is for the best interests of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Won't you give me your cooperation?

I hope that the beautiful Holiday spirit that was so apparent during the High Holy day season may continue for the remainder of the year, and for all time to come.

Psychiatrist to Speak At Parents' Meeting

Dr. Louis Linn, well known adjunct of the Department of Psychiatry at Mt. Sinai Hospital, will address the Parents Association at its first open meeting of the fall season on Wednesday evening, November 19th at 8:30.
Dr. Linn who is also a teaching consultant at the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene is a speaker of ability. He has chosen for his topic: "Religious Training and Mental Health". A discussion period and questions will follow his lecture.

On this occasion, teachers of the Religious School will be present in order to give parents and teachers an opportunity to meet. A fine social evening has been planned, and it is hoped that all members and their friends will attend.

The annual Book Fair, sponsored by the Parents Association, will open on November 19th and will continue for several days. Books on Jewish life, record albums of Jewish music and many attractive gifts will be on sale.

To round out its fall program the group announces that it will also sponsor a seminar to be conducted by Rabbi Noveck. This will consist of four lectures, the first of which will be given on Monday, November 17th at 1 P.M. in the Vestry. Rabbi Noveck will open the lecture series with a talk on "The Psychology of the Jewish Child." A question and answer period will follow.

The second lecture will be given on Monday, November 24th at which time, Rabbi Noveck will discuss the controversial topic "How to teach God to your children." The third lecture will be given on Monday, December 1st and will be devoted to a discussion about "Inculcating a Sense of Values." The final lecture of the series will be on Monday, December 8th, when Rabbi Noveck will explain "How to Make the Holydays More Meaningful."

All members and their friends are invited to attend this seminar which should be interesting and informative.

The Synagogue Organist and Choir Leader, Isidore Geller, is still on the sick list. It is hoped that before long he will be able to resume his duties at the Synagogue.

Calling All Bulletins

By THEODORE and ALMA KAPLAN

The holyday season led Robert S. Copelin, contributing editor of the Park Synagogue Bulletin (Cleveland, Ohio), into a revery based upon remembered words: "Kapores" . . . I watched my uncle say the Broches transmitting all his 'sins' to a poor dumb chicken he twirled over his head. "Tashlich" . . . I watched them trudging down the muddy village streets to the polluted river. They emptied their pockets and threw crumbs — symbolic of sin — into the water. I listened to their sighs. "The Tsadik" . . . In his stocking feet, white kittel around his lean body, his tallith completely covering his head and most of his face, he stood in a corner of the synagogue on Yom Kippur, from sundown to sundown, completely detached from the rest of the congregation, a man alone in devout prayer. What special message did he receive from God?

A meaningful way of marking a Yahrzeit is noted in the Temple Israel (Great Neck, L. I.) Buletin. In memory of his father, one member acted as host at a Sunday morning Minyan (8:30), Breakfast (9:15), Study Group (9:30).

A new dinner combination appears in the announcement from the Government Street Temple (Congregation Shaarai Shomayim) in Mobile, Ala. They ran a "Father-Son-Daughter" Dinner, sponsored by their Men's Club, and call it "the best ever held".

Another issue of this congregation's bulletin carries a humorous filler, herewith condensed somewhat:

The High Cost of Heavenly Living

An artist employed to renovate and retouch great oil paintings in an old house of worship in Belgium rendered a bill for his work. The Building Committee returned it to him for detailed itemization, and this is the final bill for $49.73 as presented, audited, and paid.

Correcting the Ten Commandments ...	$ 5.12
Renewing Heaven and Adjusting Stars .	$ 7.14
Putting new stone in David's sling ...	6.13
Enlarging head of Goliath	3.39
Washing servant of the High Priest and Putting Carmine on his cheek ...	5.05
Taking spots off son of Tobias	10.30
Putting earrings in Sarah's ears	5.25
Decorating Noah's Ark	4.31
New head on Shem	3.04
	$49.73

Memorial Fund Committee Sees Pledges Increasing

Since the Kol Nidre appeal additional pledges have been coming in daily. The Memorial Committee is proud to announce that the families of O. Roy Chalk and M. Greenberg have dedicated a Pillar for $5,000.00 Mrs. I. J. Seskis, and her son Allan have dedicated an individual plaque for $2,500.00, and Herman S. Meltzer has contributed in excess of $1,000.00 which entitles him to a Memorial on the Founder's Scroll.

In the next few weeks, committees will be around to see the remainder of the Synagogue members who have not responded to this new appeal. Unless all those who have already made a contribution generously respond with increases, as was exemplified Kol Nidre evening, it will be a long way to the desired goal.

Attention of new members should be called to the project and it is hoped that when they are approached they will be as generous as possible.

From time to time volunteer workers are needed to help contact the membership for increased contributions. Those who have the time and would like to work with the committee on this worthy cause are urged to contact Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer at the Synagogue offices, SAcremento 2-8765.

"Alumni Saturday" will be celebrated by the Religious School on November 8th. The confirmands and the Bar Mitzvah boys of recent years are invited to attend and conduct Junior Congregation services for the day. A dignified service, a large attendance of alumni and an excellent kiddush will help to make the day a great one for the students and the alumni.

Miss Michele Kay and Miss Sylvia Schneider, confirmands of the class of 1951 and graduates from the Religious School, have joined the faculty of the Primary Department as student-teachers. They have been assigned to classes where, under the guidance of the regular teachers, they will observe the teaching tcchniques used in the Sunday School and, also, have an opportunity to teach some of the students.

The annual Book Fair, conducted by the Parents' Association, is eagerly awaited by the students who are busy preparing original posters which will be on display at the Fair. Prizes will be awarded to the artists who submit the winning posters.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The orientation meeting of the Judah Halevi Society was held on October 19th at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Our Synagogue group had the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with their teen-age friends from the other affiliated synagogues. Committees were appointed to make plans for future meetings and from present indications, the Judah Ha-Levi Society should develop into an active group.

The October 26th meeting, as was expected, proved to be a humdinger. Mr. Victor Herwitz, an Assistant Corporation Counsel of the City of New York who is conducting the prosecution of the policemen on trial in connection with the graft investigation, gave an interesting talk on "Courage or Compromise." A spirited discussion followed.

A mock election was held on November 1st. At this meeting, two speakers outside our group and two chosen from our group spoke on the qualifications of the presidential candidates.

And when you are jotting down dates, be sure to put these in your diary: Sunday, November 9th, at 2:30 P.M., when we will have a discussion on Academic Freedom; Sunday, November 16th, at 2:30 P.M., a Thanksgiving luncheon and square dance in the Vestry; Sunday, November 23rd, at 2:30 P.M., the second lecture in our series; and December 7th, at 2:30 P.M., when we will exhibit a film and listen to a talk on Atomic Bombs.

Further details will be announced later.

The special Friday night guest lecturers, who also are sponsored by the Adult Education Committee, are announced in other columns of the BULLETIN.

Among the faculty members who will participate in the program during November are: Cantor David J. Putterman, Miss Sara Macow, Mrs. Leonard Whortman, Dr. Hasya Cooperman, Mr. James G. Murray of the English Department at Adelphi College, Rev. Dr. James H. Robinson of the Presbyterian Church of the Master, Mr. Jerome Nathanson of the Society for Ethical Culture, and Rabbi Mortimer Waxman of the Temple Israel in Great Neck, N. Y. Additional outstanding faculty personnel are being engaged at the present time.

Young Marrieds' Affair To be Held Nov. 16th

The second annual Cocktail Party of the Young Marrieds will be held on Sunday afternoon, November 16th, at 3:00 P.M. in the Raleigh Room of the Hotel Warwick.

Mrs. Norman Cohen, Chairman of the affair, has announced that the contribution of $8.00 will entitle a couple to an afternoon of drinks, hors d'oeuvres and dancing. Reservations and checks should be mailed to her at 43 Gibson Place, Yonkers. All members and their friends are invited to attend.

The next meeting of the Young Marrieds wil be held on Tuesday evening, November 11th at 8:30 P.M. in the vestry of the Synagogue. A social evening of cards and gaames has been planned. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Samuel Fredman, Mrs. Charles Jacobson and Mrs. Marvin Robinson.

At the last meeting on October 14th, Mr. Eliezer Whartman addressed the group on the controversial subject: "Is There a Future for American Jews?" He felt that unless a full scale program of Jewish education was undertaken, both in the school and the home, American Jewry would be doomed. After his lecture, many members questioned his very positive point of view.

WHAT A RABBI CAN DO WITHOUT

The following is taken from a recent issue of the bulletin of the Central Synagogue in Rockville Center, Long Island. It was written by the Rabbi of a large eastern congregation and appeared originally in the September issue of American Judaism. Rabbi Noveck has asked that we reprint it here.

The people who will tell you they are members of your flock,
But never come to temple though they live around the block;

The parents who inform you Sunday School is such a bore
To junior and his sister who despise all Jewish lore.

The member who complains he pays far too much in dues;
Who only comes two days a year and then wants book reviews.

The trustee who will tell you every service is too long
And wants the rabbi to install a sermon-timing gong.

The education experts who've arrived at this strange rule:
If children didn't have to come they'd love religious school;

The lady who is waiting for your convalescence call,
But no one bothered to inform you she was sick at all.

The adolescent playboys in the confirmation class
Who prove that they are made of unadulterated brass.

The hypnotist, magician, and the Yiddish-speaking clown
Who draw the biggest temple crowd whenever they're in town.

The lady in the Sisterhood who makes you blush with shame
When she blurts through the crowd and blurts out "Rabbi guess my name."

The critics of the prayer book who through it daily plod
To find another reason why they shouldn't worship God;

The many invocations and benedictions, too
Which take up every evening when there's so much else to do.

The sermon that you preached and thought would really make a hit
But was so misinterpreted, it did the opposite.

It's things like these that put you in the mood to rave and shout;
They're all of them the things a rabbi could do well without.

Synagogue to Honor Benjamin Sack With Dinner for Seminary Fellowship

A dinner is to be tendered to Benjamin Sack upon the completion of his five year term as President of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The Dinner is to be held at the Belvedere Roof of the Hotel Astor on Sunday night, December 14th at 6:00 P.M. Tickets will be sold at twelve dollars per couple and an appropriate program in celebration of Chanukah will be presented.

The decision to hold the dinner was reached at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, Advisory Council presided over by the Vice-Chairman Ezra Cohen. A committee was appointed by the President, Jacob Klein, to plan the affair. Morris Joffe will head the committee which includes Isaac Liberman and Simon Rifkind, as well as the members of both Boards and other close friends of Mr. Sack.

It is no more than fitting that some recognition be afforded to Mr. Sack by his co-workers on the Board of Trustees and Advisory Council and all of the friends and members of the congregation for his devoted service to the synagogue.

This dinner to Benjaman Sack will have a second and equal significance in the establishment of a fellowship at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, where Mr. Sack serves as a member of its Board of Overseers. This fellowship will be a perpetual honor, enabling worthy students to devote their time to study and research at this institution.

Members are requested to call Mrs. Helen Pincus at the Synagogue office, SAcremento 2-8765, for reservations. Tables of ten will be arranged for the enjoyment of groups of families and friends of Mr. Sack and the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Parents Hold Classes, Luncheon, Book Fair

On November 3rd, the Parents Association greeted mothers of new children of the Religious School. Over 45 mothers of new registrants attended the luncheon which was held in the Vestry. Mrs. Herman Helpern, President, greeted the guests and outlined the aims and activities of the Parents Association. Several of those present volunteered to serve on the various Committees.

Cantor Putterman spoke of the importance of Jewish ceremonies and ritual in the home and the part that Jewish music plays in the life of Jewish children. Mr. Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School, also addressed the gathering and stressed the need of a proper family attitude towards Religious School attendance.

Dr. Louis Linn, who is associated with the Department of Psychiatry at Mt. Sinai Hospital, spoke on "Religious Training and Mental Health" at the open meeting on November 19th. His talk was unusually stimulating and resulted in a spirited discussion period. Parents had the opportunity to meet with the teachers of the Religious School and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all who attended.

The Annual Book Fair was opened on November 19th. This event, sponsored by the Parents Association, will continue for several days. Any one desiring to purchase books on Jewish life or record albums on Jewish music will not want to miss this opportunity. There will be many attractive gifts on display for those who wish to make their Chanukah purchases in advance. The display will continue for the Adult Education Classes on Monday evening, November 24th and the Sisterhood meeting which follows that week. There will be a special entertainment for parents and children of the Religious School on Monday afternoon, November 24th.

The seminar sponsored by the Parents Association got off to a successful start on Monday afternoon, November 17th. Rabbi Simon Noveck opened the series with a talk on "The Psychology of the Jewish Child". A great many attended and particiapted in the question and answer period that followed. Those who missed the first lecture will not want to

Memorial Fund Committee Requests Members' Help

Members of the Synagogue have been cooperative in responding to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund. But a substantial number of the membership must still be seen.

The committee is trying to accomplish this task through letters and through personal solicitation. The membership can help along greatly by cooperating in either responding immediately to these letters or setting an appointment for discussing the problem with the worker who has been assigned to them. To achieve this worthy goal, some members have been called upon to give not only of their money, but of their time. Those who cannot serve should facilitate the job of the workers.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

We hope we may be pardoned for boasting, but the Judah Halevi Society has reason to be proud of the high standard of its activities since the opening of its fall season.

On Sunday, November 9th, our Youth Club held a tea dance at the home of Marilyn Greenberg. An unusually large group atended this gay party. The teenagers danced to the lively music of the latest recordings after which refreshments were served.

A week later on Sunday, November 16th, the Club held a Thanksgiving Day Square Dance in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. All joined in the fun whether they were square dance experts or waltzing enthusiasts.

December 7th is a date, we will always remember. It was on December 7th, 1941 that Pearl Harbor was bombed! On December 7th, 1952, the Judah Halevi Society, in commemoration of that never-to-be forgotten day, plans to have a film and lecture on the Atomic Bomb. We are assured that it will be a most interesting event.

SCHOOL NEWS

The students of the Religious School will participate in the Jewish National Fund's Annual Tag Day drive scheduled for the weekend of November 28th. The money collected by the children in the school will help the Jewish National Fund continue its crucially important work.

The Fund has worked over a half a century for the redemption and the cultivation of the soil of Israel. Only recently the Fund has assigned 1,000,000 dunams of land for new agricultural settlements that are to be established in all parts of Israel in the coming Spring. These new settlements, when developed, will increase the agricultural output by fully one-third, going a long way toward the abolition of the current food rationing system in Israel.

The students hope to have their usual success this year in the sale of 10c tags for the redemption of the land of Israel.

Junior Congregation services are held every Saturday morning at 11:00 A.M. in the vestry of the Synagogue. The students of the Hebrew Department of the Religious School invite the members of the Synagogue to join with them occasionally, in a most inspiring service.

A major feature of the service is the congregational singing of the liturgical music which was prepared for the congregation by Cantor Putterman. The Torah service is marked by a lively discussion of the bible-reading of the week. On the Sabbath preceding Rosh Chodesh, the new moon is greeted and the congregation partakes of kiddush.

In recent years, a sermonette or a story was presented each week by a member of the faculty or by one of the students. This year, a number of guest speakers will be invited from among the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue to speak to the young congregants.

The business of the Junior Congregation is conducted by a Synagogue Council, consisting of its elected officers and two delegates from each class, who plan for a number of school functions, allocate the Keren Ami funds to worthy organizations and generally provide for the good and welfare of the students of the school.

Men's Club Arranges Card Party Evening

In response to the request from many members, the Men's Club is planning another "Card Party Evening", which, it is expected, will be as enjoyable as the one given two years ago.

On Thursday evening, December 11th, after a short business meeting, the Vestry will be transformed into a game room and the group will enjoy a social evening.

Those who have not already purchased their tickets for the Men's Club Theatre Party play, "The Deep Blue Sea" starring Margaret Sullavan, should contact the Chairman, Archie I. Thurman at CAnal 6-5638. Some tickets may still be available for the affair which takes place on Wedneday evening, December 17th.

The following one will be given on Monday, December 1st and will be devoted to a discussion of "Inculcating a Sense of Values." Rabbi Noveck will deliver the four lectures.

Details of the January meeting will be announced at a later date. On February 19th, in celebration of Brotherhood Week, Reverend Jesse R. Stitt, Minister of the Village Presbyterian Church, will be the guest speaker. Reverend Stitt has taken an outstanding part in the interfaith movement. He has turned over the facilities of his church to a Jewish congregation for its use.

On March 10th, Mrs. Tehilla Lichtenstein, an outstanding leader in the field of Jewish Science, will discuss this phase of Judaism.

Howard Kieval Appointed Adult Education Officer

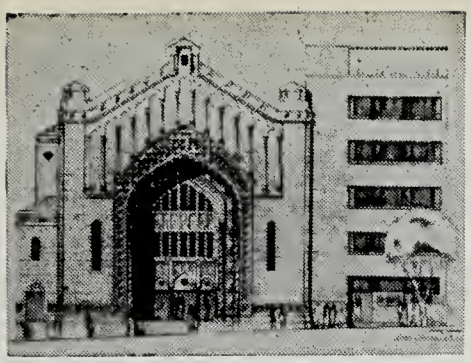

The appointment of Howard Kieval as Vice-President of the Adult Education Committee has been announced by Benjamin Sack, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Senior League to Hold Meeting December 4th

Members of the League have been doing their bit in contributing to the recent activities of the Young People's League. The honorary Chief Executive, Bernie Weinflash, has just been elected to the post of National Vice-President for the New York Region and their President, Bob Barzilay, has been devoting his spare hours to the creation of BULLETIN, the new Young People's League paper.

Congregation Mourns Isidor Geller Synagogue Organist

Rabbi Noveck, Cantor Putterman and the Synagogue have this week sustained an irreparable loss by the passing of Isidor Geller, the Park Avenue Synagogue organist and musical director. Mr. Geller, during the 20 years he was synagogue organist, never missed a Friday evening service until he became ill several months ago.

A special tribute in his honor was to have taken place this month to commemorate the completion of 20 years of devoted service to the Synagogue. He was one of the outstanding artists at the organ console.

Isidor Geller was born in Russia in 1888. At the age of 13 he was assistant to the renowned Choir Director—Composer David Nowakowsky. In 1906 he became Choir Leader with the celebrated Cantor Pinchos Minkowsky. Later he was a pupil of Clarence Dickinson and Gaston Dephier. Music critics acclaimed him for his artistic accomplishments both as a soloist and accompanist. He is survived by his wife, Bessie. Funeral services were held at the Synagogue on Friday, November 28th.

Chanukah begins on Friday, December 12th. Light the first candle on Friday, December 12th before Sundown and one additional candle thereafter each evening after Sundown until Friday, December 19th. On the last evening, light the candle before Sundown. It is appropriate to give your children a gift each night of Chanukah.

Benjamin Sack to be Honored At Chanukah Dinner Dec. 14th

Plans are being completed for the testimonial dinner to Benjamin Sack to be held on Sunday evening, December 14th at the Belvedere Roof of the Hotel Astor at 6:30 P.M. The dinner, for which tickets are available at twelve dollars per couple, will replace the annual Chanukah Party given at the Synagogue. An appropriate program in celebration of Chanukah will be presented.

A large turnout of members and friends from the Park Avenue Synagogue will honor Mr. Sack upon his completion of five years as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue.

Those who have known Mr. Sack realize the many great contributions he has made to the progress and development of the Synagogue through his years of association with the rabbi and the Board, as well as his unfailing loyalty on behalf of the spirit of the Synagogue family.

Featured on the program of the dinner will be an Eternal Light radio rebroadcast of a famous Chanukah program. This feature will include Cantor David Putterman and the noted Eternal Light radio star, Roger de Koven, who will be in charge of production.

Cantor Putterman will also light the candles and lead in the singing of traditional Chanukah songs. Mr. Alan M. Stroock, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Theological Seminary, will participate in the acceptance, a message to the congregation

To the Congregants of the Park Avenue Synagogue:

After many meeting extending over several years, the Building Committee is now able to report that in the last few months more progress has been made toward the realization of our objective than during any previous comparable period and now we are well on our way toward our financial goal. We are in a position at last to begin the construction of a building of which we shall all be proud, dedicated to the memory of our great teacher and friend —Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

The credit for the progress made in obtaining the finances for this great purpose belongs, to a large extent, to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Committee and particularly to the spectacular efforts of Mr. Isidore M. Cohen, a member of the Board of Trustees, who, in a single evening (Kol Nidre) was instrumental in raising $200,000 toward the goal of the Fund.

In the course of the next few weeks, the Building Committee will:

(1) Take up and dispose of the problem of choosing the final design of the glass facade for the new building.

(2) The building plans, already filed with the Building Department, will be carefully examined again in minute detail to make certain that no detail of structure of a religious character has been overlooked.

(3) Bids of subcontractors are now being obtained for submission to a subcommittee of builders of the Building Committee, which will choose from the bids submitted those which are considered most advantageous.

Due to the delay by the National Production Authority in approval of our steel requirements and to the advent of winter, construction will not begin until March, 1953 and will then be pursued until the building is completed—approximately six to eight months. We are hopeful that the building and all renovations will be ready by the next High Holy Days.

We cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity of anticipating your pledges and contributing whatever else you can to this great enterprise, so that we can proceed without interruption with the great task remaining before us.

Imagine a new six-story building with a magnificent facade, a renovated and enlarged vestry with a kitchen able to serve 300 guests, and containing lounging quarters, etc., a beautiful new chapel for small weddings, etc., a new heating plant, a high speed automatic elevator with entrances on several floors to the synagogue, etc. This is what we plan to build. We urge you to get behind our efforts to make it a reality. Your dollars will provide a greater Synagogue and school to serve succeeding generations of Jewish children. It is a goal which should appeal to all who have at heart the greater glory of our faith and the memory of our fallen leader, Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

Synagogue Plans Federation Drive

A committee of Park Avenue Synagogue members will meet at 11:30 A.M. Sunday, December 14th at the Hotel Croyden, 12 East 86th Street, to plan the synagogue's second annual participation in the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies current campaign for its network of medical and social welfare agencies in Greater New York. Chairmen of the committee are Sanford H. Cohen and Victor Herwitz.

The brunch is the second annual event held to mobilize the membership on behalf of Federation's $20,000,000 maintenance campaign. With Sanford Cohen as chairman last year the committeee organized the first solicitation of temple members as a tribute to Milton Weill when he took over the presdency of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. The solicitation was so successful and so many new gifts were received that it was decided to try for one hundred percent participation of synagogue members in the Federation drive this year.

"A gift to Federation means a gift to 116 medical and social welfare agencies in Greater New York," Mr. Cohen said. "Federation affiliated hospitals, homes, institutions for the handicapped and dependent, its agencies for the troubled and aged serve half a million people annually. Every synagogue member should feel a responsibility for helping support Federation, the largest local Jewish philanthropy in the country.

Park Avenue Synagogue's members include many important Federation leaders, in addition to Mr. Weill. Parents to Sponsor Chanukah Festivities For Religious School

The annual Chanukah celebrations for students of the Religious School will be conducted by the school with the cooperation of the Parents Association.

On Saturday evening, December 13th between 5:00 and 8:30 P.M., the students of the Hebrew Department will have a supper party in the vestry of the synagogue. The program will feature the Havdolah service, the kindling of the lights of the Feast of Rededication and songs and dances. The class mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Edward Joseph, will serve the dinner and distribute Chanukah gifts to each of the students.

Each class of the Religious School will have its own party on the following Sunday morning. Appropriate dancing, games and refreshments will mark these festivities. Invitations are being mailed to all members of the Religious School. Mrs. Stanley Simon, Chairman, and her Committee consisting of Mrs. E. Joseph, Mrs. A. Stengel and Mrs. Leon Klein, assisted by the class mothers, are in charge of these parties.

The Parents Association is proud of the achievement of one of its active members. Mrs. Stanley Simon, Chairman of Workshop, has just completed a pamphlet on Chanukah which is being distributed to the Parents Associations of all affiliated synagogues. This excellent booklet explains the meaning of Chanukah, the traditional observance in the home, and the appropriate decorations, games and gifts for celebrating this holiday.

The annual Book Fair sponsored by the Parents Association during November was well attended. Many parents availed themselves of the opportunity to purchase books on Jewish life and record albums on Jewish music. As a fitting conclusion to this popular event, a large group of children from the Religious School was entertained on Monday afternoon, November 24th, at which time, posters prepared by the children were on display, and prizes were awarded.

The three sessions of the Seminar sponsored by the Parents Association have proved unusually successful.

The final lecture of the series will be given on Monday, December 8th at 1:30 P.M. Rabbi Noveck will explain "How to Make the Holidays More Meaningful".

The Brochure describes the objectives of Adult Jewish Education, explains the proceedures for organizing and administering Adult Education programs in the Synagogue, deals with the problem of lifting the standards, and suggests a variety of courses that may be included in the curriculum.

Members of the Synagogue who are particularly interested in reading this Brochure should call the Synagogue office. A limited number of copies are available to members of the Congregation.

Benjamin Sack Honored At Testimonial Dinner

Close to 300 people were guests at the Benjamin Sack Testimonial Dinner held on the Belvedere Roof of the Hotel Astor on Sunday, December 14th. Members of the Board, the Congregation and friends of the honored guests were treated to an evening of interest and enthusiasm. The dinner was given on the occasion of the completion of five years of service as chairman of the Board by Mr. Sack and in recognition of his loyalty, devotion and activity on behalf of the congregation. Mr. Sack's stewardship was recognized and he and Mrs. Sack were honored for this wonderful work.

Consistent with the feeling of affection for Mr. Sack was the creation of a Benjamin Sack Fellowship at the Jewish Theological Seminary which will be a perpetual award to make it possible for students to engage in research at this institution.

A generous beginning was made towards the sum of $75,000. which is required to establish this fellowship and the committe is now at work to secure from other members of the congregation, who could not be present, their contributions which are so important to the work of the Seminary and to making this fellowship a reality.

The dinner was presided over by the Honorable Simon H. Rifkind one of the three co-chairmen of the Dinner Committee; the other two being Messrs. Morris Joffe and Isaac Liberman.

The program began with the lighting of the Chanukah candles by Cantor David Putterman who also led in the singing of the Chanukah songs. (Incidentally, the Menorah used for this ritual was an 18th century Polish model loaned to the dinner by the Jewish museum). This was followed by an invocation delivered by Rabbi Simon Noveck and the singing of the American and Jewish anthems. Grace for the dinner was led by Cantor Putterman.

Following the dinner, greetings were extended to the guests by Mr. Jacob Klein, president of the congregation, and Rabbi Noveck. At this point a highlight feature of the evening was a re-enactment of an Eternal Light radio program, "Chanukah in the Jungle". This was directed by the prominent NBC and Eternal Light artist, Roger de Koven and a distinguished group of Eternal Light actors together with Cantor Putterman and an accompanist. The setting for the show was the jungle areas of the last war.

Mr. Alan M. Stroock, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Jewish Theological Seminary, delivered the main address and was followed by Judge Rifkind who dwelt on some of the specific activities of the Seminary. Mr. Milton Weill, on behalf of the Trustees and the congregation, presented Mr. Sack with a very beautifully inscribed Bulova watch and a silver case likewise inscribed. Judge Rifkind presented Mr. Sack with an illuminated scroll testifying to the many services rendered by the guest of honor to the congregation, the Seminary and to the entire American Jewish community.

Mr. Sack in accepting this tribute acknowledged them with the modesty that is characteristic of him, thanking all of the assembled guests for himself as well as Mrs. Sack. He gave a brief but succint account of his stewardship for the past five years with due consideration and thanks to all those who worked with him to make his chores lighter.

Mr. Sack dealt extensively, too, on the many activities of the Seminary, stressing in detail, the importance of adhering to priority of giving to institutions such as the Seminary, and urged all of his frends to join in sponsoring the important program of this institution. Mr. Sack received from the guests a very deserving and hearty acclaim.

Much credit for the success of this affair is due to the chairman and various members of the committee who were mentioned in the last issue of Bulletin, with particular thanks to Mrs. Phyllis Siegel, president of the Sisterhood and her predecesor in office, Mrs. Helen Wimpfheimer.

Those members desiring to participate in this memorable tribute to the Benjamin Sack Fellowship of the Seminary may send their contributions to the office of the Synagogue, in care of Mrs. Helen Pincus.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The program of activities of the Judah Halevi Society has been unusually enjoyable and inspiring this year. One of the most interesting functions planned was the recent trip to the Israel Exposition on Sunday, December 14th at 22 West 46th Street. The boys and girls present were taken on a personally guided tour throughout the entire exhibition. This included many exhibits concerning Israeli customs, dress and products that are principally raised in the young State of Israel. It was inspiring to see what has already been accomplished by the pioneers in the land of Zion.

On Saturday, December 20th. the Society held its annual Chanukah dance in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Over 150 teen-agers attended this Y.S.O. sponsored dance. The excellent music was furnished by the "Blue Notes", a group of young musicians who really "hit the bop". The rythmic beat of the "Blue Notes" made dancing easy even for the beginners. Delicious refreshments rounded out a most wonderful evening of gaiety.

The next meeting of the Club was held on January 11th in the Vestry. A luncheon was served which was followed by an informative talk delivered by Mr. Jacob Klein, President of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The Judah Halevi Society is still looking for more members. There are many exciting events planned for the balance of the year. It is not too late to join our group!

Parents Group Gives Chanukah Parties; Names Class Mothers

Under the auspices of the Parents' Association, several parties were held during the Chanukah season for the children of the Religious School of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

On Saturday evening, December 13th, the Parents' Association sponsored a supper party for about 200 youngsters. The Chanukah lights were kindled, and the meaning of this significant phase of the holiday was charmingly portrayed by a playlet given by several children of Class 1 under the direction of their teacher, Miss Goren. Square dancing followed with Jack Landman doing a splendid job as caller. Later in the evening, there was social dancing for the older children.

Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. A. Stangel were responsible for the artistic, symbolic decorations. Refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. Bernard Grauer and her assistants.

Individual class parties were held on Sunday morning, December 14th. These featured entertainment, an exchange of gifts, and the traditional refreshments—pancakes and apple sauce. Mrs. Edward Joseph, chairman and her Class Mothers worked untiringly to make these festivities inspirational and in keeping with the spirit of the Festival of Chanukah.

The annual Book Fair sponsored by the Parents' Association was a great success due to the efforts of Mrs. George Heyman and her energetic committee.

Class Mothers have been appointed by the Parents' Association for the coming year. At all functions of the Religious School, the Class Mothers take an active part in planning and supervising parties for the children. Mrs. Edward Joseph is chairman of this branch of the activities of the Parents' Association. The following Class Mothers have been announced:

Congregational Dinner Set for January 25th

The annual meeting of the Park Avenue Synagogue will take place, Sunday evening, January 25th, in the Vestry rooms.

For the past five years, a congregational supper and get together affair has been arranged under the supervision of the Sisterhood, which this year will take place at 7 P.M.; the charge for the supper is $3.25 per person, which is considerably less than the actual cost; the difference being made up by the congregation.

We hope you will make a special effort to attend the congregational supper, so that the members may get to know each other better and meet many whom they have not known heretofore and particularly new members. One of the objects of our congregation may thus be realized, that of encouraging closer relationship and friendship in the Synagogue.

The annual meeting following the supper is a must for every member. We have only one meeting a year, in which all the members particpate and if the members show a real interest in the annual meeting, I shall try to encourage a new system calling for additional congregational meetings during the year.

I say this meeting is a must for each member, because loyalty to our congregation demands that you participate not only in the religious services, but also in its business affairs and for that reason we are most anxious that you be present at this meeting.

At this meeting, the most important business of the evening will be the election of officers for the ensuing year; the election of members of the Board of Trustees and hearing reports from the heads of all the subsidiary organizations of the congregation.

In addition each member has the right—

a—to criticize any of the officers on the Board of Trustees, if he feels aggrieved at any act of theirs.

b—to criticize any part of the administration of the affairs of the congregation.

c—to suggest such changes as he considers necessary and proper or to the best interests of the congregation.

d—to give expression to any thought or idea that he thinks may be helpful to improve the conduct or management of the synagogue or its affairs.

Won't you do your best to attend the supper and annual meeting?

There are many members whom I do not personally know and I would like to greet each one personally. If you are equally as anxious to meet your president, here is your opportunity.

A large attendance will be an incentive to the Officers, members of the Board, Advisory Council, Rabbi, Cantor and myself to further exert our efforts in all directions to make the Park Avenue Synagogue a leader in Jewish affairs.

message from the President

Exeerpts from President Jacob Klein's address at the Testimonial Dinner honoring Benjamin Saek are reprinted here.

For five years Ben Sack has devoted himself wholeheartedly, unselfishly, tirelessly, patiently and kindly, without thought of reward not only to the Park Avenue Synagogue but to the Jewish Theological Seminary and to many other philanthropic endeavors . . .

You who have had intimate and close association with Ben Sack know that he is extremely modest, but you don't know how adamant he was in not wanting any recognition for the wonderful work he has done . . .

Ben, I know that you have known Justice Cardozo, formerly Chief Justice of the New York State Court of Appeals and afterwards an associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and you, as well as we know how modest a man he was.

While Judge Cardozo was the Chief Justice of the New York State Court of Appeals, a Testimonial Dinner was tendered to him by the New York County Lawyers Association and it was just as difficult to get him to agree to a dinner in his honor, as it was to get you to do so, and after an evening devoted entirely to praising the Judge, he rose to reply and so that you, Ben, will feel at ease, I am going to read to you, the first four and the last six lines of his address.

He began as follows:

> "Only great luck or great merit could give a man such a greeting as has come to me tonight. If I know in my heart of hearts that luck is the efficient cause, I prize the greeting none the less".

Great luck was not in your case the reason for this greeting, but great merit is. And in closing, the Judge said:

> "I must close as I began, with words of greatful appreciation. Only the other day I was reading a new volume of the letters of Henry James—the letters to Edward Benson. He starts them by saying: "I am singularly accesible to demonstrations of regard".

and then the Judge goes on to say:

> "Perhaps that is a confession. Perhaps it is an avowal of weakness. I make it without shame".

We all hope you will feel the same way when this evening is over.

King David about 2000 years ago wrote a Psalm No. 128, which is so applicable to you. I want you to listen to it.

> "Happy is everyone who feareth the Lord and walketh in his way
> When thou shalt eat the labor of thy hands, happy thou shalt be and it will be well with thee
> Thy wife shall be as a fruitful vine, in the recesses of thy house
> Thy children like olive plants round thy table
> Thus is a man blessed who feareth the Lord
> The Lord bless thee out of Zion; may you behold only good in Jerusalem all your life
> May you behold your children's children, peace be with Israel".

These are among God's choicest blessings. May he continue to shower you, Freda and your family with the blessings of long life, good health and happiness.

letter to the Rabbi

Rabbi Noveek received the following letter from the Chairman of the Board of Editors of "Judaism", a new journal of Jewish life and thought. He has asked us to reprint it here knowing that a number of the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue will be interested in this type of Journal.

Dear Rabbi Noveck:

Undoubtedly you have often been concerned, as have I, not merely with the low level of Jewish religious culture in America in general, but with the fact that very often our most intelligent and sensitive laymen are lacking in a knowledge and appreciation of the values inherent in Judaism. Even those who develop Jewish loyalties are frequently caught up exclusively in the area of organizational activities, civic defense, philanthropy and other elements of Jewish life which, in the truest sense of the term, are peripheral to the heart and essence of the Jewish tradition.

In launching the Quarterly, Judaism, our purpose was to intensify the loyalty and interest of at least a significant minority of American Jews, in the religion, philosophy and ethics of Judaism, by establishing a forum for creative thought dedicated to the survival of Jewish values in America.

As you know, JUDAISM is published on a tiny budget, which allows only for a modest honorarium to writers, the Editors serving as a labor of love. In fact, we have no funds for large-scale promotion, and must depend on those who cherish the same ideals as we do.

Knowing of your deep interest in the values to which the Journal is dedicated, I am writing to you and to a small group of other colleagues throughout the country in order to ask you to obtain a minimum of fifty subscriptions, at $3.00 each, from members of your congregation and other friends who are most likely to find the Journal of interest.

I know only too well how beset we all are with countless appeals from every conceivable type of cause. But I am hopeful that you will agree with me that the time has come to heed the injunction of our Father Jacob: "When shall I do something for my own household as well?"

Fraternally yours,
ROBERT GORDIS, Chairman

The Judah Halevi Society, in cooperation with the Park Avenue Synagogue, sent two representatives to the second annual session of the United Synagogue Youth Convention that was held December 28th, 29th and 30th at the Hotel Willard in Washington, D. C.

More than 600 delegates, including 180 from the New York area ,and delegates from 15 other States and Canada attended this convention. Michele Kaye and Jonathan Freedman, President and Vice-President of the Halevi Society were among the six boys and girls who attended the convention as guests of the Synagogue.

All the representatives were enthusiastic about the conference and the friendly hospitality offered them in Washington. The convention was addressed by many distinguished speakers, headed by the keynoter Dr. Max Arzt, Vice-Chancelor of the Jewish Theological Seminary. His theme was "Standards for Jewish Youth". After hearing Dr. Arzt's address, the convention broke up into various panel groups, which discussed many topics including ritual observances, standards for democratic living, and morals and ethics. There were also social activities which included guided sight-seeing tours of Washington, a most enjoyable and entertaining experience.

"Federation Sunday" will be observed by the Religious School on January 18th. On this day, the students will complete a unit of study on "Tzedakah" with particular reference to the work of the various agencies supported by Federation. Each student will be provided with a special envelope so that he may make a personal contribution to the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York and thereby learn the meaning of actual giving.

In previous years, the Junior Congregation Synagogue Council has allotted its Keren Ami funds, at the conclusion of the school year, to many philanthropic causes including Federation. This practice will be continued in June 1953, but it was felt that the work of Federation is so significant and wide in scope that each child in the school should be familiar with Federation and should be given an opportunity to participate in its work.

Senior League to Hear Rabbi Speak Jan. 22nd

Rabbi Noveck will address the Senior League at its next open meeting on Thursday evening, January 22nd at 8:30 P.M. in the Vestry. His topic will be "What's Ahead for Jewish Youth". Rabbi Noveck has recently returned from an extensive lecture tour and his observations of youth activities in other parts of the country will be of great value to the Senior League as affiliates of the Young Peoples League Division of the United Synagogues of America.

Following a question and answer period, there will be a social hour with refreshments served. The Co-chairmen for the evening will be Ruth Katz and Bob Barzilay.

A game and dance night has been scheduled by the League for Sunday evening, February 1st, at 8:30 P.M.

Security Analyst to be Speaker for Sisterhood

Mrs. Harold Lynton, former security analyst at Standard and Poor and more recently with the investment counsel firm of Douglas T. Johnston, Inc., will address Sisterhood at their open meeting, Tuesday, January 27th at 1:00 P.M. She will discuss "An Investment Policy for Today".

In order that those who live as Conservative Jews, might become thoroughlyly informed with the practices of Orthodox and Reformed Jewry, Sisterhood has been fortunate in securing two of the most outstanding representatives of these denominations as speakers for their meetings on February 17th and March 17th. Rabbi Emanuel Rachman of Far Rockaway, one of the country's leading Orthodox rabbis, will present his theories at the first meeting and Rabbi Jacob Philip Rudin of Great Neck, one of the foremost rabbis in the Reformed group, will present his views at the second meeting. This series should prove interesting and informative.

Rehearsals are beginning for the awe inspiring "Jewish Home Beautiful" to be produced by Sisterhood at an evening meeting in April. Those who have seen this presentation before know that it is an elaborate pageant which once viewed, will never be forgotten.

Rev. Jesse Stitt to be Young Marrieds Guest

The Rev. Jesse W. Stitt, minister of the Village Presbyterian Church, 139 West 13th St., N.Y.C. will be the guest speaker Tuesday Evening, February 10th, at 8:30 P.M. at the monthly meeting of the Young Marrieds in the Vestry Rooms of the Synagogue. Dr. Stitt, occupying this role as guest during part of a Brotherhood Week Observance, will favor the Young Marrieds with his own experiences of inter-religious work, and the success of a Church which offered its facilities to a Jewish Congregation.

Four years ago, when the Village Temple was without home, Dr. Stitt offered the church to Rabbi Julian F. Fleg. Today outside the Georgian church there stand two signboards. One says: "The Village Temple. Service, Friday evening". The other says: "The Village Presbyterian Church. Service, Sunday morning".

Both congregations carry on their programs in the same building, and they often participate in one anothers' social events and, on occasion, hold joint services. Together they have inaugurated a community program for children, caring for more than a hundred youngsters, members of the Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths.

Dr. Stitt, commenting on the critics of this joint religious program, maintains that the critics have been silenced because it has been found that the two groups can work together, both understanding the basic differences, each maintaining its own traditions.

The Young Marrieds urge all members of the Synagogue to plan now to attend this special meeting as part of their own observance of BROTHERHOOD WEEK.

letter to the Rabbi

Dear Rabbi Noveck:

We are happy to extend our invitation to you and to the members of your congregation, to be our guests. The occasion is a unique interfaith event to be held at Central Synagogue, at 55th Street and Lexington Avenue, on Sunday, February 15th, at 4 P.M.

This event will be the first New York performance of a Cantata "The Songs of Amos". The text for this Cantata is taken from the Book of Amos as arranged by the Rev. Dr. John J. Moment, of Plainfield, New Jersey. The setting is to the traditional Hebrew tunes of the Sabbath and the festival ritual of the Synagogue. With this work Dr. Garden has brought the wealth of Hebrew musical liturgy to the attention of the Church and concert audiences.

Last May, the composer invited our Cantor Frederick Lechner, to sing the baritone part in the performance of this work in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church, Plainfield, New Jersey, where Dr. Garden is the organist and musical director. Mr. Leehner was so impressed by the reception which the work received and the sprit in which it was written, that he suggested we invite Dr. Garden and her choral group and their congregation to be our guests for this performance in our own Synagogue.

Coming as it does during Brotherhood Week, and constituting an original contribution in interfaith relationships, this performance should be of interest to all. Several neighborhood institutions of the Christian faith, as the Central Presbyterian Church and the Christ Church Methodist, will join us on this occasion.

We feel that many of your members will be eager to join us and the membership of participating churches in this demonstration of interfaith activity on a high level.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,
Rabbi David J. Seligson

UJA Women's Division Will Hold Opening Rally To Launch Campaign

The Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York will launch its 1953 campaign at the traditional Opening Rally on Monday morning, February 9th in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, guest of honor heads the list of notables who will take part in the Rally. A unique feature of the program will be a dramatic presentation, "Destination: Life", narrated by the famed foreign correspondent, Ruth Gruber, and with a cast of distinguished personalities from four continents.

Here is an opportunity to hear from the lips of the rescued the gripping story of UJA's life-saving activities: the struggles of Israel's people, conditions among the 240,000 immigrants still living in temporary huts, life in the ghettoes of North Africa — some of the worldwide needs that make support of UJA a "must" in 1953.

Sisterhood has pledged its cooperation to the forthcoming campaign, and Mrs. Benjamin Sack has been appointed UJA Chairman. To secure a ticket to the Opening Rally (a non-fund-raising event) give her your name and volunteer your services as a worker. And remember—when you are asked to give later on, give gladly and generously. Every gift means a Jewish life saved.

SCHOOL NEWS

Open School Week will be observed in all Religious Schools in Greater New York during the week beginning February 1st. On that day, the parents of the Primary Department students are invited to attend classes, meet the teachers and avail themselves of the opportunity to observe the work done in the class.

Hebrew Department classes will be open to the parents throughout the week, but parents are particularly urged to visit the school on Saturday morning and join the Junior Congregation in worship at 11:00 A.M.

New Year of Trees

Tu Bishevat, the New Year of the Trees, will be celebrated by the students of the Religious School on January 31st. The holiday, which marks the beginning of spring in Israel, is called Hamisha Asar Bishevat which, in Hebrew, means 15 days in Shevat. Since in Hebrew the letters of the alphabet also have numerical value, the letter Tes (T) being number 9 and the letter Vov (U) being number 6, when these two letters, TU, are put together they number 15, the holiday is also called Tu Bishevat.

Throughout the centuries, while the Jews were away from Palestine, they continued to observe this agricultural holiday, a Jewish Arbor Day. The students will remember the day by enjoying special holiday fruits: dates, figs and bokser. Each class will also plant a tree in Israel through the Jewish National Fund. Many of the students will plant individual trees in honor of themselves or their parents.

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The Judah Halevi Society is rapidly becoming one of the popular Youth Groups in the Park Avenue Synagogue. With its educational program combined with fun and entertainment for its members, this achievement is readily understandable.

On January 11th, a joint meeting of our group was held with the Halutzim, the younger teen-agers of the Synagogue. At that time, there was an interesting discussion on the observance of Kashrut. The subject was presented by Mr. Jacob Klein, President of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and the discussion was ably led by Mr. Sanford Hahn, our guidance counselor, and Andy Twersky, one of our members, both of whom acted as moderators. Judging by the many enthusiastic and thought-provoking questions asked by the avid listeners, such a meeting would be worth repeating.

On January 18th, Michele Kaye, our President, was hostess at an open-house party held at her home. All those who attended had an enjoyable time.

The scheduled meeting for the end of January has been cancelled. We realized that it would conflict with mid-year exams. (O', woe unto all students). Good luck to all of you during this trying period!

Several members have expressed curiosity concerning the origin of our name. The answer is a simple one. Last year, when the Brandeis Society was considering joining with the older group, many suggestions were made as to the name for the new Club. The names of several prominent Jewish scholars were proposed and after a long and deliberate consideration, that of Judah Halevi was chosen.

Jehudah Halevi was a great nationalistic poet and philosopher. He was born in 1086 in Spain and was regarded as a master of the Hebrew language and a learned Talmudic scholar. His skill as a physician was also recognized but it was because of his fame as a great poet that he is remembered today. His poems and songs, expressing the national spirit of Israel have won him everlasting acclaim. It is no wonder, therefore, that his name was selected for our Club.

If you have any questions, do not hesitate to send them to us. More news, next month. Meanwhile, let's see you at our meetings.

Dr. Rose Franzblau Will be Guest Speaker At Parents' Services

The Parents Association will conduct the Friday evening services at the Park Avenue Synagogue on February 27th at 8:30 P.M.

Dr. Rose Franzblau, well known psychiatrist and columnist for the New York Post, will be the guest speaker. The Parents Association has been most fortunate in securing the services of such an interesting and able speaker. Her vast experience in the field of psychiatry and newspaper work on "Human Relations" should insure a stimulating evening. After the services, a symposium will be held in the Vestry with audience participation.

Mrs. Leon Klein and Mrs. A. Stangel attended the Jewish Education Association dinner as delegates of the Parents Association. The dinner was held by Federation on January 22nd at the Commodore Hotel.

Plans are underway for a Purim Workshop to focus attention on "Purim at Home." Under the capable chairmanship of Mrs. Stanley Simon, a pamphlet is being prepared to aid in the explanation of decorations, music, food and customs appropriate to the observance of the holiday. The anual Purim carnival and class parties for the children of the Religious School will also be held. More complete details will appear in the next issue of BULLETIN.

On Saturday morning, February 7th, Nelson Ruttenberg, member of the Board of Trustees and member of the BULLETIN committee will have the maftir. He will read the prophetic portion from the 6th Chapter of the Book of Isaiah.

Rev. Stitt to be Brotherhood Speaker For Young Marrieds', February 10th

To help observe Brotherhood Week, the Rev. Jesse W. Stitt will be the guest speaker of the Young Marrieds, Tuesday evening, February 10th at 8:30 P.M. in the Vestry Rooms of the Synagogue.

Dr. Stitt, minister of the Village Presbyterian Church and well known for his participation on many religious radio and television programs, will discuss proven ways of maintaining "Brotherhood" amongst all religions. During the last four years Rev. Stitt's fame in dealing with interfaith has become widespread resultant from the major role he has played in the housing of the Village Temple under the same roof as the Village Presbyterian Church.

REV. JESSE STITT

In 1933, Dr. Stitt received his B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York City. Later the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by the College of the Ozarks, Arkansas. He has been pastor of the Village Presbyterian Church since 1939. For two years he acted as president of the Manhattan Division of the Protestant Council of New York City and is at present, Chairman of the Committee on Evangelism and Special Services, and acting Chairman of the Committee on Radio and Television for the organization.

Since the successful union of church-temple within one sanctuary in 1949 Dr. Stitt, Rabbi Fleg, Rabbi Strome and Rabbi Block have received the blessings of the presbytery and the Jewish parent body as pioneers in a great project; have been invited to lecture before religious and civic groups in all parts of the United States, an act that they perform reverently in an attempt to inform everyone of the motto they have held before them: For Isaiah said, "My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples".

The Young Marrieds extend an invitation to all members of the Synagogue to be present at this special meeting.

Abraham N. Geller Inducted As General Sessions Judge

Abraham Geller, a member of the Board of Directors of the Park Avenue Synagogue was inducted as Judge of the Court of General Sessions on January 5th.

Witnessing the induction were the seven other judges of the Court of General Sessions as well as many members and friends of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Milton Weill, President of Federation and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, delivered an inspiring talk on Judge Geller's activities for Federation and for the Park Avenue Synagogue. He read the resolution of the Trustees praising Judge Geller and wishing him Godspeed in his new endeavors.

The Court of General Sessions, where Judge Geller will sit, disposes of more than 50 percent of the criminal work of the State.

Rabbi Noveck to Hold Symposium On United Synagogue Anniversary

On Friday evening, February 13th, the Park Avenue Synagogue will officially commemorate the 40th Anniversary of the United Synagogue with a symposium on the theme "United Synagogue — 40 Years Later". George Maislen, President of Congregation B'nai Israel in Freeport, Long Island, and formerly President of the Metropolitan Region of the United Synagogue, and Israel B. Oseas, member of the Executive Committee of the United Synagogue, formerly President of the Metropolitan Region of the United Synagogue and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, will be guest speakers.

Rabbi Noveck will present the historical background of the founding of the United Synagogue in the days of Solomon Sehechter.

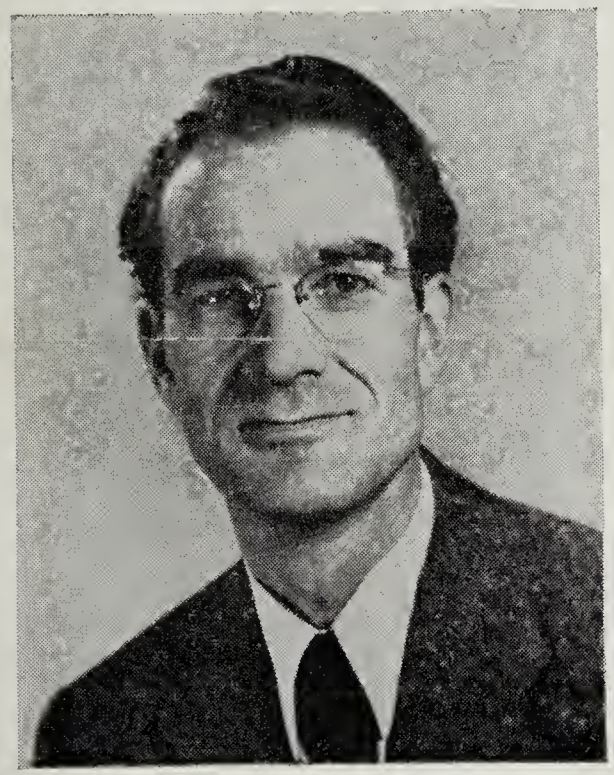

Following the formal presentations from the pulpit, there will be an open discussion in the Vestry on the Philosophy of Conservative Judaism and the relationship of the Park Avenue Synagogue to the United Synagogue.

Since the Park Avenue Synagogue is one of the members of the United Synagogue to whom many congregations, throughout the country, look for leadership the membership is urged to attend this symposium and clarify their views.

A new series of Adult Courses will commence on Monday evening, February 16th. A series of six lectures on "Reconstructionism" will be given by several well known exponents including: Rabbi Jack Cohen, Rabbi Harold Weisberg, Dr. Eugene Kohn, Dr. Ira Eisenstein, Rabbi Saul Kraft and Rabbi Elihu Michaelson.

The course, given for the first time in many years, will present an analysis of the approach and content of the Reconstructionist philosophy of Judaism on the present day scene.

At 9:00 P.M. Rabbi Noveck will resume his lectures on the Contemporary American Jewish Community which he inaugurated earlier this fall. (Further details appear elsewhere in the BULLETIN).

Message from the new Board Chairman

Thank you Rabbi Noveck and members of the Park Avenue Synagogue. I have not prepared an inaugural address, nor do I intend to deliver one. On Tuesday, there was one delivered of importance to the nation.

There are a few matters that I should like to discuss with you that I am sure are of interest to you, even though some of them may not be Synagogue matters but concern the interests and well-being of Jews in these trying times. On our foreign policy. I would request you to give your financial interest to the United Jewish Appeal because it would be heart-warming for you and every member of the Synagogue to know that you are helping to alleviate the mental and physical suffering which has been reported in the daily newspapers over the years and especially now.

On the domestic front, we at Park Avenue Synagogue have a special interest in supporting the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. Its President, Mr. Milton Weill, one of the Trustees and former Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees is giving all his time and I bespeak for him and myself your contributions to the fund-raising appeal which is now proceeding throughout the City and for which Mr. Victor Herwitz and I are acting as Co-Chairmen for the Synagogue. It is the hope of all of us that Park Avenue Synagogue will be enrolled 100% in this endeavor. It is traditional since the days of Peter Stuyvesant for the Jews of this City to take care of their own, and your contribution will help in supporting and maintaining Federation's medical and communal agencies.

Coming now to our own and principal project, we are ready to build the school next door which will be known as the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building in honor of our late Rabbi. Your financial help is still required. The edifice which is to be erected will be used for the Hebrew education of your children and your children's children and we should be aroused to its successful consummation.

There has been a succession of earnest and sincere workers who have contributed to the growth and activities of the Park Avenue Synagogue beginning with "Uncle Jacob" Friedman former President, Frederick Finn, our first Chairman of the Board of Trustees who took over the active administrative management of the Synagogue, who was succeeded by Judge Bernard Botein with Milton Weill as Vice-Chairman and to their successors Benjamin Sack, as Chairman who leaves that office tonight and who was honored at a dinner last month and Ezra Cohen as Vice-President who also retires and is our guest of honor tonight. All have given yeoman service and deserve the appreciation of our members.

For myself, I greet you and assure you of my earnest effort to continue, and I hope with more progress, the results that have been had in the past 17 years. As I take office as Chairman of the Board of Trustees, I adopt as my policy the solution of the problems that Ben Sack, in his report as the retiring Chairman, has indicated to you, are on our doorstep.

My thanks again for your confidence.

SANFORD H. COHEN

GO TO TEMPLE

If you want to be uplifted,
If you want to be in tune,
If you want to be contented
Every morning, night and noon;

If you want to love your neighbor,
If you want to be at ease,
It is very very simple
To enjoy all of these.

Do exactly what you read here,
Do it only once a week,
And you'll find that it is easy
To acquire what you seek .

Go to Temple, that's the answer,
Go to Temple, my dear friend,
And your heart will swell with gladness
When the service you attend.

How the atmosphere will lift you,
How the choir swell your heart,
How the sermon educate you,
If you only do your part.

How the prayers will overwhelm you,
As you read them line by line,
How your Soul will fill with gladness,
How you'll almost feel divine.

Try it, please, this Friday evening,
Or go Saturday at ten,
And I'm very very certain
That you'll surely go again.

All your nature will be gladdened,
And you really won't be bored,
'Cause you're praying to your Maker
And with God you're in accord.

E. H. WALLACH

Letter to the Congregation

To the Officers, Members of the Board, Rabbi, Cantor and entire membership of Park Avenue Synagogue:

In some way, I should like to say thank you for the beautiful tribute to me in the Synagogue BULLETIN which I read with a great deal of joy from my bed at Mt. Sinai. And at the same time, I do very, very, much want to say that I am so very grateful to everyone at the Park Avenue Synagogue for the many visits to me during my twelve weeks at the hospital and for the beautiful cards and flowers, but most of all for those wonderful friends who didn't come one or two weeks, but for as long as I was there at the hospital, and here at home.

If I ever needed proof of the goodness and faithfulness of all of you, it has been brought home to me time and time again, that I was so right when, eighteen years ago, Rabbi Steinberg made me one of you. I consider myself a very lucky girl to have been able to be home again, but most of all to be accepted and called a part of the Temple and to have you all as friends. I would like to send each one a special letter, but can't write as yet, and so will you all please accept my heartfelt thanks, and my love to and for each one of you.

Thanks to all of you,

JUNE ROSENTHAL

Message from the President

The fact that the Board of Trustees approved the action of the Nominating Committee in recommending me for re-election and that you have re-elected me is indeed an honor which I highly cherish. I pledge to continue to devote myself and my energies to the interests of our Synagogue.

To review the past year I have brought with me my diary. It contains 75 pages of entries which show the appointments, visits, letters, etc. etc. which took place between members of the synagogue and their families and myself.

The purpose of this activity was to try in my humble way as President to draw our membership closer together, to show our congregants that we thought of them in their joys as well as in their sickness and sorrow, and to make all our friends feel that the Park Avenue Synagogue was always ready to participate with them in the daily human events which punctuate our lives.

In all this I have been guided by my memories of our great and sainted Rabbi and friend Milton Steinberg. His humility and kindness were my constant inspiration.

One disappointing note which I feel compelled to report to you is my belief that we are gradually losing the art of attending synagogue. Two or three days a year do not meet the requirement.

We do everything possible to make our services attractive, informative, and spiritual. Imagine how discouraging it is for the Rabbi and the Cantor to look upon empty seats. They are entitled to your support — to your presence during the year. I urge you to re-examine the reasons why so many of you were absent from the synagogue last year and to resolve to give us the joy of your presence and to give yourselves the inner richness that our services can bring you.

This beautiful synagogue was erected not for the glory of any Rabbi, Cantor or individual or set of individuals. It was erected for the glory of God.

When the children of Israel marched triumphantly, after their liberation from Egypt and crossed the Red Sea, with head erect and flags flying, scriptures tells us that Moses and the children of Israel sang a song unto God with great ecstacy exclaimed,

> Zeh Eli Veauvehu, Elohay oovi, aromemhu
> This is my God, I will praise Him —the God of my fathers, I will extol Him.

God by himself, abiding in this wonderful edifice, cannot make it inspiring —but you and God can make it productive and a real house of God, which will be admired by all who come and see, and we too will be able to say with real religious ferver, this is my God, I will praise Him—the God of my fathers, I will extol Him.

Among the most satisfactory experiences for me last year, was my association with our Rabbi, who has servied the Congregation so ably and intelligently and from whom I learned much, as did those who came to hear him during the year—not only on the High Holydays. As for our Cantor, the beauty of his voice has always been recognized, and his constant service to the Synagogue, and his readiness and willingness at all times to meet the increasing demands of our large membership on his time and talents, is something I deeply appreciate. It has been a real pleasure to work side by side with both the Rabbi and the Cantor.

Altogether, however, it has been a good year. If in my small way I have contributed to the growth of the Synagogue and to a greater feeling of kinship among the members, I shall have cause to be happy, and the coming year, God willing, shall encourage me to strive to achieve even greater results. I have a sneaking suspicion that Milton Steinberg is the author of the paragraph in the Saturday Prayer Book with which I wish to close reading,

> "May nothing we do, mar the holiness of life by causing any fellow creature to lose the joy of living".

Let us resolve to keep this prayer in our hearts and minds at all times, and then we will all have cause to be truly grateful.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

Now that mid-terms are over, and we hope successfully for all of us, the Judah Halevi Society is making plans for the remainder of the winter season. The Executive Board, under the leadership of our President, Michele Kaye, hopes to announce a definite program in the immediate future. The other members of the Executive Board include Jonathan Freedman, Vice-President; Sylvia Schneider, Secretary; William Popkin, Treasurer; Martin Gelfand, Chairman of Program and David Ruttenberg, Chairman of Publicity.

All teen-agers in the 15-17 age group who are interested should communicate with and join in the fun and excitement.

Our most recent affair was held Sunday afternoon, February 1st in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. A "March of Time" movie about Israel was shown. A spirited discussion also took place in regard to the problems of our youth clubs, in which representatives of two Long Island youth groups participated.

We have received an invitation from the Brooklyn Midwood Jewish Center to attend a meeting of its youth group some week-end in the near future. As soon as definite plans have been made, we shall send notification.

Jonathan Freedman, our own "veep" has been chosen Vice-President of the Bronx-Manhattan Council of the U.S.Y. This is the organization of teen-age groups in Conservative Congregations who are members of the United Synagogues of America. Congratulations, Johnny!

There is also another teen-age group in the Park Avenue Synagogue for the 13-15 youngsters. They are called the Halutzim. Roger Waldman is the President, Lee Reichman is Vice-President, Mimi Segal and Star Kilstein are the Secretaries and Theodore Zucker, the Treasurer. Mr. Arnold Turetsky is the Leader of this group. UJA Chairman Urges Support for '53 Drive

"For hundreds of thousands of Jews in Eastern Europe, it is 1933 again. The whole treacherous pattern of anti-Semitism in Germany is now repeating itself in Russia and her satelites.

Hitler burned the Reichstag. Stalin hangs Slansky and arrests the best Jewish doctors in the land. Hitler roasted Jews in a furnace. Stalin starves them to death in Artic concentration camps. From Bible days on, dictators have known that killing Jews is a sure fire shock treatment for a population growing restless with hunger and corruption.

Even as these words are written, the Russians may already have started the trains rolling to Siberia. Already the prisons of Moscow are so full of Jews that colloquially the people call them 'synagogues'."

United Synagogue to Hold 40th Anniversary Fete

The United Synagogue of America, the Federation of Conservative congregations on this continent representing the lay arm of the Conservative Movement, will celebrate the 40th Anniversary of its founding during the weekend of February 20th to 22nd.

The plans for celebrating this anniversary of the founding of the United Synagogue are rapidly maturing. The weekend of February 20-23, has been designated as the appropriate time for this celebration because it coincides with the date of the annual United Synagogue Sabbath.

The United Synagogue is presently embarked upon three major enterprises:

1. Its National Sabbath Observance Effort — to bring back the glories of the Sabbath into modern Jewish living.
2. Its Israel Project — to establish a cultural center in Israel; to assist in the building of synagogues; and to create instruments for inter-cultural exchange.
3. Its National Leadership Program — to foster and develop new lay leadership for the Synagogue and to assure the Synagogue its proper place in the Jewish community.

from the desk of the Rabbi

On Saturday night, February 28th and Sunday, March 1st, we shall celebrate the joyous holiday of Purim. Purim marks the anniversary of the victory over Haman and the forces in ancient Persia that wanted to destroy our people. The Megillah or Scroll that we read tells the story of a remarkable Jewish woman who, risking her life and career, went before the King to plead the cause of her people. It was because of Esther's intervention that the day planned for the extermination of the Jewish people was turned into a day of joy.

In the course of Jewish history the Hamans have reappeared with ghastly regularity. Antiochus, Titus, Torquemade, Chmielnicki and Hitler, each in his own way tried to accomplish what Haman failed to do. Now exactly twenty years since Hitler came to power in Germany a new Haman has appeared. The Prague trials, the arrest of nine physicians in Moscow for alleged murder on behalf of a "Zionist plot", the severance of diplomatic relations with Israel are all but the prelude of what may become a full scale attack against the Jews of eastern Europe.

Rumor has it that daring plans are afoot secretly to rescue Jews from behind the iron curtain and bring them to Israel. Whether this be true or not, we surely cannot sit idly by during this period of crisis. More so than even in the days of Haman we need Mordecai and many Esthers to work for our people. More than ever before does the work of the United Jewish Appeal become vital and indispensable.

The Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue has always led the way in U.J.A. efforts for New York City. The women's campaign has now officially begun. The Synagogue U.J.A. Committee with Mrs. Benjamin Sack as Chairman and Mrs. William Karmiol as Co-Chairman are already hard at work.

Aside from preparing for the possibility of rescuing Jews from behind the curtain, there is the rising tide of anti-Semetic feeling in Arab lands. With violence increasing against the European quarters in Morocco and elsewhere, can the Jews be safe for long? During the coming year, 110,000 Jews already in Israel must be removed from camps to permanent homes. The tremendous program for sick and aged must continue. Children from the North African ghettos must be fed and newcomers to America must be given a helping hand.

Every woman in addition to her husband's pledge, should like Esther of old, do her share for the rescue of her people. Sanford Cohen, the new Chairman of our Board of Trustees put it very well in his acceptance remarks when he said that U.J.A. is part of the "Foreign Policy" of the Park Avenue Synagogue. I bespeak your cooperation with Mrs. Sack. Mrs. Karmiol and their Committee in this life saving activity.

UJA Women's Group Appeals for Funds

Everyone has been shocked and horrified by the new nightmare of terror that has begun for the Jews of Eastern Europe, and all want to do something to help these people in their hour of peril.

The 1953 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal Women's Division, has been put on an emergency basis because of the desperate crisis overseas. The success of this life-and-death campaign depends on immediate and all-out support.

Many more Jews could have been saved from Hitler if enough had been given, and in time. UJA must have funds to aid refugees fleeing from the Iron Curtain countries, to strengthen Israel as a haven for the persecuted and the homeless, and to step up all its world-wide life-building work.

Don't let Jewish lives be lost for lack of funds. Give to the UJA Women's Division campaign—and give more for the emergency. Help to get others to give, by volunteering as a worker.

SCHOOL NEWS

Megillah Reading

The reading of the Megillah for students of the Religious School will be held on Saturday, February 28th at 5:30 P.M. in the main Synagogue. Greggers will be distributed to all the students and the traditional hamentashen will be served at the conclusion of the service.

Parents of children both in the Primary Department and in the Hebrew Department of the School are invited to attend the service with their children.

Purim Carnival

The annual Purim Carnival will take place in the Vestry on Sunday morning, March 1st. The Vestry will be gayly decorated and the students will be dressed in the latest Shushan fashions.

A feature attraction of the morning will be a costume parade. The students, assisted by their teachers and the parents of the Holiday Workshop, have been preparing colorful and attractive costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes—the most original, the most appropriate, the most humorous and the most beautiful.

Class booths, with games of skill, will give contestants an opportunity to have much fun and win many prizes. All money raised at the carnival will go to the Keren Ami fund for distribution to philanthropic and charitable causes.

Girl Scouts

The first meeting of the Girl Scouts will be held on March 2nd. The troop has vacanciese for girls between the ages of 10 and 13. Parents who are interested are urged to call the School Office for full particulars.

Senior League to Hold March Cooktail Party

A surprise cocktail party, for members only, will be held by the Senior League at the home of Phil Winters on Sunday afternoon, March 1st at 3:30 P.M.

An open meeting was held on Thursday, February 26th in the Vestry. A formal program followed by a social hour and refreshments were the agenda for the evening.

Parents' Will Sponsor Parties for Purim, Plan Cocktail Party

The Parents' Association will sponsor a Cocktail Party on April 19th from four to seven o'clock in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The receipts derived from this affair will be contributed to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

Mrs. Edward Joseph, Chairman, and her committee, are already busily engaged in making plans for this function. There will be dancing, cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, and many attractive prizes. This promises to be a gala occasion. The membership and their friends are being given advance notice so that the date can be reserved.

Again this year, the Parents' Association hopes to make Purim a festival of rejoicing and inspiration for the children of the Religious School. Special Purim parties will be featured in the various classrooms, and traditional games, dances, and food will mark each party .

The Parents' Association is very proud of the latest achievement of one of its members, Mrs. Stanley Simon, who has prepared the pamphlet "Purim's Here". Mrs. Simon, who is Chairman for the U.P.T.A., has edited this outstanding booklet under the auspices of the Jewish Education Committee. The pamphlet, not only points out the meaning and significance of Purim, but also clearly explains directions for making Megillahs, masks, murals, and favors—so significant to the observance of Purim.

During the last week of February, Mrs. Simon and her committee conducted a Workshop in the Vestry in order to assist the mothers and children in making masks and costumes suitable to be worn during the Purim Carnival at the Synagogue.

After hearing Rabbi Rachman's analysis of Orthodox Judaism, an equally stimulating message is anticipated from Rabbi Rudin. All members and friends are urged to attend.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The Halutzim, which includes the teen-ageers between the ages of 13 and 15, has attracted a fine group of young boys and girls. They have been meeting regularly on Sunday afternoons in the Park Avenue Synagogue and have already conducted several excellent affairs.

On February 1st, the Halutzim held a dance for the March of Dimes campaign and succeeded in raising $16 which was contributed to the fight against the dreadful disease of polio. More than 35 people attended the dance and the group had a wonderful time.

With a membership of almost 40, the Halutzim was embarked on an ambitious program. On March 1st a meeting will be held in the Vestry of the Synagogue, at which time a film will be exhibited. It is called "Flight to Freedom" and is a dramatic picture dealing with the flight of the Yemenite Jews. Informal discussions are always in order and many of the members are becoming excellent speakers. On March 15th, they plan to have a discussion of the subject of Inter-Marriage, under the guidance of their Club Leader, Arnold Twertsky. If this provocative topic is a sample of the intellectual undertaking of this group, then the Halutzim is headed for great things.

The Judah Halevi Society, which consists of the 15-17 teen-agers group, is considering enlarging its activities. The Executive Board, under the leadership of Michael Kaye, our President, hopes to have a definite program of activities arranged for the balance of the season. A series of discussions on the problems concerning the "Teen-Ager" has already been planned. The first of these took place February 15th and was well received. This group meets every Sunday afternoon at 2:30 P.M. Why not come and join us?

Erection of Building To Begin in March!

The committee is happy to report heartening news in connection with the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund. There is every evidence that building will be started early in March!

Revised figures by the Building Committee also report that the finances necessary to at least make a start are available.

During the course of construction, additional embellishments can be added where the rest of the membership can match the generosity of other members who have given the support to go thus far.

Also, the manner in which the building will be furnished will depend upon the decision of some of the members who have not so far, for some reason, come forth with an additional pledge.

It is very discouraging to the Committee and rather difficult to understand that in some few cases there are members who have not made any contribution or pledge at all, and it is hoped that as they see the first spade turned in the erection of this building, they will want to feel that a little piece of this ground and building is a result of their heart and money also. The response of the different arms of the Synagogue, the Sisterhood, Men's Club and Senior League and many, many members who have answered the plea, has been encouraging. It is hoped that all will cooperate and make this wonderful dream a reality!

Rabbi to Speak At Milton Steinberg Yahrzeit Services

On Friday evening, March 20th, the Park Avenue Synagogue will commemorate the third Yahrzeit of our departed Rabbi and teacher, Milton Steinberg. As on former Anniversaries, the favorite music of Milton Steinberg will be sung by Cantor Putterman and the Choir, and the Kaddish will be recited by the entire congregation.

Rabbi Noveck who has been working for several months on a full-length Biography on Milton Steinberg will speak on the theme, "The Social Philosophy of Milton Steinberg". He will cite some of the interesting facts he has found in the course of his research and will discuss the attitude of the late Rabbi towards Jewish culture, Zionism and the future of the American Jewish community.

The Hebrew and English dates of the Yahrzeit coincide this year and all members of the congregation are urged to set aside all other commitments and come to the Synagogue that evening.

Estelle Sternberger to Occupy Pulpit On Sisterhood Sabbath March 13th

Sisterhood Sabbath will be celebrated in the Synagogue on Friday evening, March 13th. In addition to participation in the services by several members of the Sisterhood, the congregation will hear Estelle M. Sternberger, well known radio commentator and news analyst, who will discuss "Will Religion Heal Our World?"

Mrs. Sternberger is a sparkling, dynamic speaker who was formerly a columnist on domestic and international questions for the Scripps-Howard newspapers and Latin American press. She is the author of the book, "The Supreme Case."

ESTELLE M. STERNBERGER

President Roosevelt personally appointed her to be the National Chairman of the Good Neighbor League. For several years Mrs. Sternberger was the First Vice-President of the National Council of Women of the United States. She served on the Executive Board of the National Conference of Christians and Jews during its early years.

Estelle Sternberger has participated in international conferences of the United Nations and of the American Republics, and has made splendid diplomatic contact in the world capitols.

She received the Writer's War Board citation for consistent presentation of issues affecting American democracy and democracy in general. She was the first recipient, along with the late Franz Werfel and the Hon. James G. MacDonald, of the Albert Einstein Award

"HOME-BUILDER OF TOMORROW"

"OF COURSE she is just a child herself. She hasn't reached her 'teens yet. But time is fleeting and soon this child will be a young woman undertaking the responsibility of building a home.

What kind of home will it be? She will want a Jewish home. She will want to transmit to her children the spirit which she as a little girl found in her parent's home. Will she know how? Not unless she is prepared. Not unless she is given a Jewish education now.

It's an out-dated idea—this, of educating our sons and not our daughters. We today provide our daughters with general education to the same degree that we do our sons. It is just as important to do that with Jewish education.

Jewish life centers in the home. It is the woman who is the home-builder. How will she be able to create a Jewish home if she is not prepared? Have you thought of the problem in relation to your own daughter?

Are you enriching her life by giving her an appreciation of Jewish ideals and Jewish traditions. Are you educating her so that she may transmit these ideals to her children? Your grandchildren? Far more than ever in the past it is through our daughters that we will perpetuate Jewish life.

You can prepare your daughter by enrolling her in the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School. There she will learn the ideals and ideas of the Bible and of Jewish literature; the meaning of the Sabbath and of Jewish festivals; the religious customs and practices of the home. She will learn, too, something of the history of Jews through the ages, of their life in many lands, of the place of Israel today and its achievements; and of the contributions Jews have made to the history and growth of America.

Give your daughter a Jewish education. It will not only enrich her life, but the lives of her children."

Call the School Office today and enroll your child for the school year beginning in September 1953.

CULLING ALL BULLETINS

By

ALMA and THEODORE KAPLAN

Well-phrased pep talks, passed around from paper to paper, appear in several bulletins, each one careful to publish the original source. Two of these caught our eye. Voici, or rather, he-nay!

HOW TO ENJOY SERVICES

1. Come early and spend some mo ments in meditation while the organ prelude is being played.
2. Join in the readings, sing the hymns. They are chosen because of their message for you.
3. Listen to the sermon as if it were addressed just to you.
4. Exchange greetings with your fellow-worshippers.
5. Welcome the strangers near you.
6. Come forward after the services and greet your rabbi. If you enenjoyed the sermon, say so. Remember that many hours went into its preparation. No sermon is ever carelessly or half-heartedly prepared for the pulpit.

Synagogue Groups Organized for UJA

This year more than ever before the U.J.A. has taken on a new and stronger meaning. Right in our own Synagogue is substantial evidence of that fact.

It is most fitting that special recognition and appreciation be given to the Parents Association for organizing and conducting a drive among its members for the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal. Mrs. Herman Helpern, President, with her wonderful cooperation and understanding, has appointed as her chairman, Mrs. Leon Klein and a committee of ten for this very urgent life saving year.

This is the first time after a lapse of several years that the Parents Association initiated its own working group and our hopes run high for a successful campaign.

I extend special thanks also to Sidney J. Silberman, President of the Young Marrieds for his recognition of the importance of this drive and his appointment of a special committee of five young women to work with his group.

Red Cross Needs Support of Members

Among the larger Synagogues in New York, according to Red Cross figures, the Park Avenue Synagogue makes probably the poorest showing in its support of that organization. Where as comparable institutions last year donated:

Temple Emanuel	$9,717
Central Synagogue	2,435
Bnai Jeshuran	1,333

respectively, the Park Avenue Synagogue accounted for only $754.50.

We are Americans as well as Jews and the Red Cross is one of the greatest American organizations.

Please make a special effort to give your support this year through the Park Avenue Synagogue.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The Judah Halevi Society is continuing to provide its members with an interesting and entertaining program of activities.

On February 15th, "Sandy" Hahn delivered a stimulating talk on the controversial topic "The Problems of a Teen-Ager." This was the first of a series of lectures concerning a subject that is most important to us all. Grown-ups may have their problems, financial social, family, and undoubtedly many others, but if the discussion following Sandy's talk was a fair measuring rod, then their problems are small as compared to those that face almost every "teen-ager."

The following Sunday, accompanied by Sandy, we made a trip to the Jewish Theological Seminary located at 123rd Street and Broadway. We toured the buildings and were amazed to find the many exhibits and objects of interest housed there. Probably few people realize that the Seminary is not only a place for the instruction of those who intend to enter the Rabbinate but also for Teachers of Religious Schools throughout the country and communal workers who receive their training at the Seminary. In addition, the Jewish Theological Seminary conducts the Eternal Light program which is highly rated on radio. Through the Jewish Museum operated under the supervision of the Seminary, wide-spread interest and a greater appreciation of Judaism among people of other faiths are cutivated.

We lunched at the Seminary and all agreed that it was an occasion none of us would have wanted to miss.

Youth Leader

An important factor in the gradual development of the Judah Halevi Society is the splendid leadership of Mr. Sanford Hahn, our advisor. Sandy, as he is known to us, was born in New York City in 1927. For as long as he can remember, he wanted to be a Rabbi, and even in his younger days, he "Played Rabbi". As a small boy, Sandy attended the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School and paritcipated in the Junior Congregation. Needless to say, he was a brilliant student and showed great promise.

At the beginning of World War II, Sandy became guidance director of the Junior Congregation at the Synagogue. He developed this group into an enthusiastic, well-attended religious body, who conduct their services in a most creditable manner. Sandy, too modest to accept all the glory for this achievement, atributes the unusual progress of the Junior Congregation to the able supervision of Mr. Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School; but nevertheless, it was Sandy's inspired leadership that was largely responsible for the splendid work done by this group.

Sandy credits the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg and our Cantor David Putterman as the two persons most responsible for the choice of his career. In 1945, Sandy took the examination for the Seminary's pre-theological course. Although he attended Queens College during the next four years, he found time to teach at the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School and to act as advisor to the Junior Congregation. Meanwhile, he continued his studies at the Seminary and in 1949, he became a full-fledged graduate student of the Seminary's Rabbinical School.

Sandy's personality is best shown by his recent election as Placement Director of Students at the Rabbinical School and by his re-election this year.

Dr. Franzblau Speaks, Parents Participate In Sabbath Services

The Parents Association, the first congregational organization to conduct the Friday Evening Service at the Park Avenue Synagogue for the current season, did so on February 27th. Dr. Rose Franzblau, noted psychologist, counselor, and columnist for the New York Post, was the guest speaker. The following members of the Parents Association participated in the reading of the Hebrew and English prayers: Mrs. Herman Helpern, Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, Mr. Bernard Weintraub, and Mr. Nelson Ruttenberg. At the conclusion of the services, many of the congregants gathered in the Vestry where a spirited discussion followed. Dr. Franzblau was most gracious in answering the many questions asked of her. Refreshments and a social hour completed the evening.

Arrangements are being made for the Cocktail Party which will be sponsored by the Parents Association for the benefit of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund. This will take place on April 19th in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

We who celebrate Passover, the great Festival of Freedom in a land of freedom, are doubly blessed. At one and the same time, we commemorate an ancient liberation from bondage, and give thanks for our liberties. But this year, Passover has a message for us that makes all the more striking our recollection of the ancient exodus from Eqypt and all the more appropriate the presence on the Seder table of the bitter herbs.

For today, there are other Jews in bondage, and other, more powerful, pharaohs who grind them down. Passover, which ought always to be a joyous holiday, is this year a tragic one. The fact that the 2,500,000 Jews of Eastern Europe who are today's victims of oppression will not observe the Passover as we do, freely, joyously, in thanksgiving. They will observe it in their hearts only, lifted up only by the thought and the hope that we in America have not abandoned them.

The officers of the United Jewish Appeal ask, therefore, that all Jews exerywhere in the United States give serious thought to those who are trapped in Iron Curtain countries. They ask, moreover, that every American Jew resolve at the Seder table to do more and give more to his community campaign in behalf of UJA.

part of her presentation, excerpts from Peretz, Mendele Mocher, Sforim, and Sholom Aleichem, both in the original and translation.

Dr. Cooperman was born and educated in New York City. She received a Ph.D. at Columbia University. She is a member of the faculty of the New School for Social Research in New York City, where she teaches comparative literature, also a special course in American literature. She has lectured extensively on American and European literatures and on the philosophy of aesthetics.

She is the author of criticism, short stories and poetry.

Her article entitled, "The Folk Pattern of Yiddish Literature", which appeared in the October issue of Judaism, compares Yiddish literature with similar bodies of world literature (especially Spanish, Italian, and even American). This article represents a chapter of a forthcoming book to be called, "Folk Tendencies in World Literature". The materials for this book have been the subject matter of her lectures at the New School.

Appointments Announced By Chairman of Board

Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees ,announced that he has re-appointed Archie Thurman, Chairman of the Ritual Committee; Harold R. Starkman, Chairman of the Adult Education Committee; Victor J. Herwitz, Chairman of the School Board and Saul Godwin, Chairman of the Steinberg Memorial Building Committee with Isidore M. Cohen as Assistant Chairman. Nathan Appleman, Sanford H. Cohen, Samuel Lemberg and Joseph Howard Katz continue as members of that Committee. Edward Munves has been reappointed as Chairman of Art Objects and Decorations with Mrs. Milton Weill and Mrs. Milton Steinberg as members of the Committee.

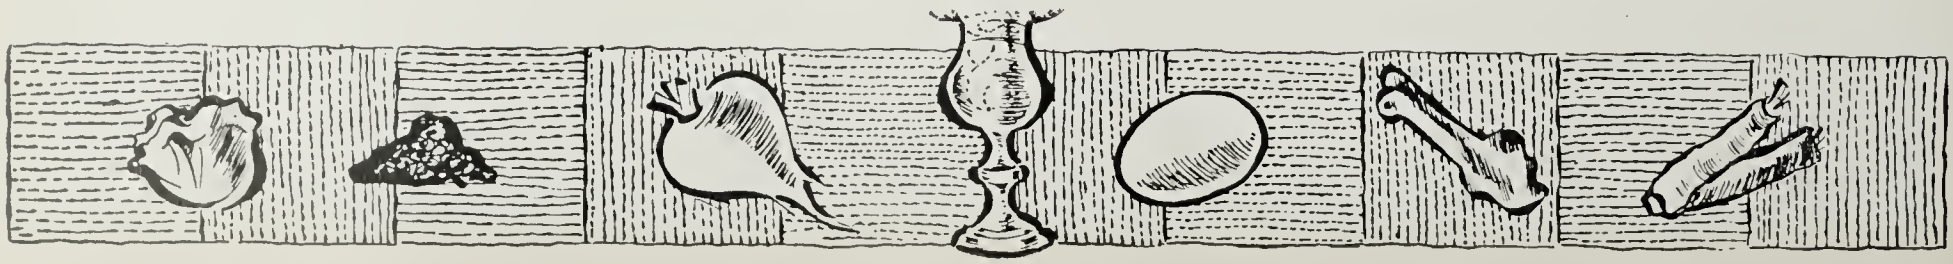

Formerly Chairman of the Board, Benjamin Sack has been appointed Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Announcement of other appointments will follow in a later issue of BULLETIN.

Head of Seminary To be TV Speaker

NBC-TV's distinguished series, "Great Men of Our Age," will feature a half-hour "conversation" with Doctor Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, at 3:30 P.M. Sunday, March 29th. Critics and public alike have acclaimed this series, which has already transmitted interviews with such world personalities as Bertrand Russell, Robert Frost and Carl Sandburg. This is a notable event for American Jewry and the entire American Community.

Another TV "must" is the Seminary's forthcoming Passover program, to be televised nationally on March 25th, from 10:30-11:00 P.M. The program is entitled "The Passover of Rembrandt van Rijn" and is a TV adaptation of Morton Wishengrad's memorable Eternal Light radio drama. Various communities—including New York City—will carry this program by delayed kinescope.

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The Judah Halevi Society and the Halutzim joined in a friendly encounter at the Synagogue on Sunday, March 15th, in debating the question: "Should Restrictions be placed on Puerto Rican Immigration into the United States."

Eleanor Foa, Martin Petroff and Roger Waldman, members of the Halutzim took the affirmative and presented able arguments in favor of imposing restrictions on such immigration. The negative was supported by Jonathan Freedman, David Ruttenberg and William Popkin, members of the Halevi Society, who advanced many reasons for unlimited immigration. The debaters showed great forensic skill, and the Halutzim group were declared the winners. Everyone agreed that the subject was ably presented, and that this was a good form of entertainment.

The following week-end, March 20th-22nd, the Youth Group of the East Midwood Jewish Center in Flatbush was host to representatives of Youth Clubs from the Park Avenue Synagogue, B'nai Jeshurun, and Temple Emanuel of Parkchester. Barbara Berzin, Hannah Cohen, Martin Gelfand, Judy Godwin, Marilyn Greenberg, Michele Kay, and Gail Kaplan represented the Judah Halevi Society. Henry Ancell, Ira Levey, Arlene Petroff, Martin Petroff and Roger Waldman represented the Halutzim.

The visitors stayed at the homes of the East Midwood members and enjoyed an unusually pleasant week-end. They started with a Friday evening service, conducted by the Youth Group, which was followed by a general discussion. On Saturday morning, the Group also held a regular service, and this, too, was continued over into a panel discussion.

A talent show and dance was scheduled for Saturday night and, needless to say, that provided a full evening of entertainment for all those who were fortunate enough to make the trip. The session ended on Sunday with a breakfast for the entire group.

Third Ramah Camp Purchased by NRC

The National Ramah Commission, the governing body of the Ramah camps owned and operated by the Conservative movement, has just acquired another camp located at East Hampton, Connecticut, according to Mr. Maxwell Abbell, president of the United Synagogue and chairman of the Ramah Commission. This is the third in a network of educational camps for gifted Jewish boys and girls from the age of seven to seventeen.

The latest camp which occupies a tract of 400 acres of land, including a private lake, a swimming pool and other up-to-date facilities, will be operated under the auspices of the New York Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue.

The camp has accommodations for 250 children and guest housing facilities for 150 adults. Like the two older camps the educational program of the newly acquired institution will be conducted under the supervision of the Teachers Institute of the Seminary. In addition to the regular recreational activities and creative arts program, stress will be placed on meaningful Jewish living.

Since this camp is ready for operations, registration for the coming summer has begun.

Parents interested in having their children spend the summer in the new Ramah camp are urged to write immediately to:

Parents Will Hold April Cocktail Party

Final plans have been completed for the Cocktail Party to be sponsored by the Parents' Association on Sunday afternoon, April 26th from 4 to 7 P.M. in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The receipts raised from this affair will be contributed to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

Mrs. Edward Joseph, Chairman, and her committee are planning a gala party with dancing, cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, and many attractive prizes. For the nominal price of $3.50 a couple, those attending will not only have a wonderful time, but will also be helping a wonderful cause.

Again this year, the Parents' Association made Passover an inspirational festival for the children of the Religious School. At the afternoon sessions on Wednesday and Thursday, March 25th and 26th, parents and children attended a Passover Workshop conducted by Mrs. Stanley Simon and the Class Mothers. The project centered around the actual preparation of the symbols displayed on the Seder table. These included the Ka'arah, the decorative platter on which are dislayed the Maror, the bitter herb; the Haroset, a mixture of apples, nuts, and wine; the Zeroa, the roasted bone; the Betzah, the roasted egg; the Karpas, the parsley; and finally the salt and water.

From the excitement and enthusiasm manifested by the children, it was apparent that they had gained immeasurably from the experience of actually participating in the preparation of these foods. The beautiful traditions of this Festival have become more meaningful and more inspirational to each child.

Synagogue Make Plans To Hold UJA Brunch

In view of the grave emergency created by the anti-Semitic terror in Eastern Europe and the desire on the part of all Jews to help in every way they can, the Park Avenue Synagogue has decided to hold a brunch for the United Jewish Appeal on Sunday morning, May 10th.

Dr. Harold A. Osserman, UJA chairman, and Gustave Yuder, co-chairman, joined with Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees to address an urgent plea to the members to keep this date open. The best and most effective way is to support the UJA in this most crucial of campaigns and to attend the brunch on May 10th. The place and time will be announced in the next BULLETIN.

In a short while the membership can also expect to receive a formal invitation to the brunch.

On Sunday, March 15th, Park Avenue Synagogue was host to Dr. Dov Joseph, Minister of State, of the State of Israel, at a breakfast at the Hotel Croydon. The function was sponsored by the Israel Bond Committee of the Synagogue with Mr. Irving Sarnoff as Chairman.

Dr. Joseph spoke of the economic problems facing Israel today. He stated that the attacks on Israel are attacks on Jews everywhere—including the United States, and that Israel can only resist these attacks if it is economically strong. In asking those present to purchase State of Israel Bonds he pointed out that the leading banks of the United States had made substantial loans to the new State because of their faith in Israel's future.

Everyone present at the breakfast purchased bonds. Mr. Sanford Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has addressed a letter to every member of the Congregation, asking them to become an owner of Israel Bonds for Israel's Fifth Anniversary.

Parents Conduct Seder For Religious School, Plan April Cocktail Party

Invitations have already been sent out for the Cocktail Party to be sponsored by the Parents Association on Sunday afternoon, April 26th, from 4 to 7 P.M. in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The proceeds of this affair will be contributed to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

The charge of $3.50 a couple will include hors d'oeuvres, dancing to an orchestra, prizes, and a gay social get-together. Mrs. Edward Joseph and her committee have worked untiringly to make this an occasion you will not want to miss.

On Sunday morning, March 29th, the Parents Association conducted a model Seder for the children of the Religious School. This project was under the auspices of the Parents Association Workshop with Mrs. Stanley Simon, Chairman, and Mrs. Bernard Grauer, Co-Chairman, ably assisted by the Class Mothers.

The Seder table displayed the traditional symbols of the Festival; the three matzot covered with the Passover ritual cloth; the roasted shank bone; the roasted egg; the bitter herb; the mixture of apples, nuts and wine; and the parsley. Even the four cups of wine were included. The significance of this symbol was explained to the children as representing the four promises that God made to their ancestors when they were freed from Egyptian slavery. To-day, these are recognized as the Four Essential Human Freedoms; freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom from want, and finally, freedom from fear.

By THEODORE and ALMA KAPLAN

Some congregations seem to have come up with "bright ideas" for enhancing family solidarity along with family-synagogue inter-relationships.

Temple Israel of Great Neck held an elaborate Family Service on a recent Friday night, with seating arranged so that families remained together as a unit. The service was scheduled to begin and end a half-hour earlier than usual as a bid for juvenile attendance and wide-awakeness. Music was by a children's choir, and the sermon was presented in story form. To make the occasion truly memorable, the names of recent birthday celebrants among the children were called off and token gifts presented to them. Most important, a warm and binding tradition was revived —that of the family pew, the joint and united worship of the family among the larger family that is the congregation of Israel.

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

A gala week-end was enjoyed by all members who attended the East Midwood Jewish Center get-together March 19th to 22nd. Michele Kaye, Marilyn Greenberg, and Marty Gelfand, representing the Judah Halevi Society, and Roger Waldman, Martin and Arlene Petroff, and Henry Ancel, participating for the Halutzim, all praised their hosts for a "job well done."

After a cordial welcome by the Synagogue leaders, the visitors were introduced to the boys and girls at whose homes the teen-agers were to stay. A delicious dinner at the homes of their respective hosts, followed by a Friday evening service at the Center.

On Saturday morning, they attended a beautiful Sabbath service which was also conducted by the Youth Group. Workshops on song and dance, and a study period followed a tasty lunch served at the Center. A Mincha service was held in the afternoon, followed by a buffet supper, heartily appreciated by the hungry "conventioneers." On Sunday morning, a brunch and a spirited discussion on Kashrut, the Jewish dietary laws, brought the week-end to a close. The Park Avenue Synagogue group was most enthusiastic in its praise of its newly made East Midwood friends.

Both of the Youth Groups from the Park Avenue Synagogue made a visit to the United Nations building on March 29th. Being Sunday, none of the U.N. Committees were in session and so the group missed an opportunity to watch the proceedings. However, the trip was worthwhile and the tour was an exciting experience.

Roger Waldman wants to remind all teen-agers of a dance to be held early in May under the sponsorship of the Halutzim.

Young Marrieds to Hold Square Dance Folk Dance Caller to Emcee Affair

Hank Greene, Square Dance and Folk Dance Expert for the Fred Astaire Dance Studios, will conduct an exciting and unique Square Dance for the Young Marrieds on Saturday evening, April 18th in the Vestry of the Synagogue from 8:30 P. M. to 1 A. M.

Mr. Greene's program for the evening will include besides the well known dances, such novelties as Circle Mixers, Country Style Party Games, a Folk Dance Exhibition with his wife and Folk Dance Instruction.

The Chairman, Mrs. Seymour Finkelstein and her committee have planned an exciting evening which will feature pop corn popping, picture taking, a midnight supper and unique prizes. Tickets are available at the nominal price of $4 per couple.

The keynote for the evening will be informality. Those attending are requested to dress in their "barnyard" attire; dungarees, plaids, pedal pushers or casual clothes.

YOUTH NEWS

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

After the Passover vacation, the Judah Halevi and Halutzim Youth Societies held a joint meeting on Sunday afternoon, April 12. "Here Comes Kelly", a rip roaring comedy, was presented to the many enthusiastic club members.

Following this enjoyable film, the teen-agers conducted a business meeting. At this time, Michelle Kaye and Roger Waldman, Presidents of the Judah Halevi and Halutzim Societies respectively, proposed a merger of the two groups. The plan was unanimously accepted. With all the members now working together as a more closely knit unit, we shall be able to plan a more extensive program for next year. Also discussed at the meeting was a possible youth service to be conducted by the combined youth groups in the near future.

A gala dance will be held on May 2, in the vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. This dance to be sponsored by the combined Judah Halevi-Halutzim Youth Club promises to be a great success. Don't miss it. The probable band for the affair will be the popular Blue Notes contingent. Get your dates now for the biggest event of the season.

In the past few weeks, in addition to the afternoon Youth Clubs at the Synagogue, there has been a Sunday morning brunch-Seminar conducted by our Rabbi, Simon Noveck. The first of the Seminars was held at the home of Gail Kaplan. The Rabbi moderated a spirited discussion on: "What The Younger Generation Knows About Its Own Bible". Three weeks later, Judy Godwin was kind enough to let us use her home for the Seminar group. Rabbi Noveck was unable to attend, but Rabbi Harold "Red" Weisburg of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism, lectured on: "What Is A Sect?" The third of these Seminars was held at the home of Hanna Cohen. "The Jewish Attitude Towards The New Testament" proved to be a very provocative topic that morning.

The group wishes to express its gratitude to Rabbi Noveck for his part in conducting these interesting Seminars. Our thanks also, to Mrs. Meyer Kaplan, Mrs. Saul Godwin and Mrs. Louis Cohen, not only for the use of their homes, but also for the delicious lunches that each served.

Some congregations seem to have come up with "bright ideas" for enhancing family solidarity along with family-synagogue inter-relationships.

Sabbath afternoons have become party-time for the children of Congregation Shearith Israel, the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue. Each week a children's Oneg Shabbat is held, lively wth songs, stories, and refreshments. A festive atmosphere prevails amid decorations and flowers.

Finally, the Park Synagogue in Cleveland, Ohio, has inaugurated a serics of gay family Oneg Shabbat by permitting all arrangements for same to be concentrated in one family group each week. Dates are assigned far in advance, and following the late Friday Evening Services, the entire congregation becomes the guests of the host-family for the evening. A woman member of the clan lights the candles and recites her usual blessing, while one of the men-folks receives the honor of opening the Ark at the Olenu portion of the service.

THE WORK

Much as the spiritual leaders of American Jewry have recognized the need of giving to our ancient sacred writings a rabbinical interpretation that befits our present day living, drawing from thc wisdom of the past to help sustain life in our time, so it is the task of the composer of music for the American Synagogue to preserve the noblest aspects of our musical Tradition and to mold them into a truly vital and contemporary idiom.

Many parts of this scrvice are based on biblical cantillation or traditional

Services to be Held By Jr. Congregation

The Annual May Service of the Junior Congregation will be held on Saturday morning, May 23, at 10 A. M. in the synagogue. The entire Sabbath service will be conducted by the boys and girls of the Religious School.

In previous years, the members of the congregation, who had an opportunity to observe and participate in the services as conducted by the students, were impressed with the attitude and the ability shown by the young people.

For the students of the Religious School, the May Service is a culminating experience of the year. For the older members of the congregation, the May Service is a stimulating emotional and religious experience.

Rabbi Noveck is compiling a list of all students in the congregation who are attending college or professional schools. Parents are urged to write or telephone Mrs. Helen Pincus, Rabbi Noveck's secretary, and give her the name, address and the university attended by their sons and daughters.

Message from UJA Chairman

I wish I could speak to each of you personally about the urgent importance of the United Jewish Appeal campaign. But time is short and our people can't wait, so I am taking this means of urging you to make your contribution.

The recent wave of anti-Semitism in Eastern Europe has taught us that danger may strike our people at any time. The Jews behind the Iron Curtain live in constant fear of renewed persecution, and their only hope is to reach safety in Israel. Your gift is needed desperately to save lives and to help Israel become strong so that it can offer a haven to the weak and the oppressed.

Please give generously—give more than ever before—and give now. We must act in time to save lives. We can't wait until Jews die before coming to their aid.

Sincerely,
FREDA SACK
UJA Chairman

Synagogue Groups Hold Final Meetings, Plan for Fall

Pediatrician to Address Parents Group in May

The Parents Association will hold its final meeting of the year on Wednesday evening, June 3 in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Dr. Lawrence Shapiro, well known pediatrician and a Fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics, will be the guest speaker. "The Role of the Synagogue in the Sex Education of Children" will be the topic of his address.

The Parents Association has been most fortunate in securing the services of such an interesting and able speaker. Dr. Shapiro, author of "My Baby is Different." has been Pediatric Consultant to the gifted children's Research Project at the School of Education at New York University, and has given many lectures on sex education at Teacher's College. An article on this subject, written by Dr. Shapiro, will appear in a subsequent issue of Parents Magazine.

For the past three years, Dr. Shapiro's courses on "Sex Education for Children" have been included in the school curriculum at Society for Advancement of Judaism. Those who have attended his lectures have been favorably impressed by the manner in which he discusses this vital topic.

The business part of the meeting will be devoted to the adoption of the new constitution of the Parents Association and to the election of officers for the coming year.

prayer modes; but the musical settings of psalms, prayers and responses by no means constitute new arrangements of old melodies. Rather, these motifs are treated as cells or nuclei from which the organic whole of the musical composition has been developed. Thus, from traditional roots a work has grown that is contemporary in spirit and structure.

This service was written at the invitation of Cantor David J. Putterman and acknowledgement is made to Cantor Putterman for transmitting to the composer some traditional chants which were utilized for the cantorial portions connecting various prayers.

The Young Marrieds will hold their final meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, June 9 in the Vestry of the Synagogue. Election of officers will be held, followed by a social get-together and refreshments. All members are invited to attend.

Book Review:

WHAT IS A JEW?

By Morris N. Kertzer

Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer. formerly Associate Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and presently Director of Inter-religious Activities of the American Jewish Committee. has recently written "What is a Jew?" This book has received excellent reviews in all the newspapers, and should make good reading over the summer.

How simple the question posed in the title of this book appears. and yet, how many of us can explore its challenge to the fullest as it applies to the customs. beliefs. and attitudes of the Jews as a people and as it involves the deepest meanings of Judaism as a religion. a eulture, a way of life? To arrive at an understanding of the question itself requires vast knowledge and profound wisdom . But to arrive at a satisfactory answer one must have at his fingertips not only keen foresight but a lifetime of meaningful experienee as well. Rabbi Kertzer, one of our most distinguished contemporary leaders, has met this challenge admirably in his book, offering the reader both a memorable experienee and a substantial outlook on Judaism.

More than a cursory or even a definitive study, this volume is in essence a guide to a living faith. Dealing with more than one hundred questions that have perplexed most of us at one time or another, this eminent rabbi offers answers that dispel our doubts by increasing our knowledge and understanding of who and what we are.

To answer this concretely. the author delves into every phase of Judaism. its history, its observances, and its people. The explanations he offers are necessarily diverse, for he considers the attitudes of all Jewish groups—Orthodox, Conservative, and Reform—as well as those of Jews who do not affiliate themselves with any organized group but who, in their own way, observe the Jewish creed.

Perhaps the best capsule description of WHAT IS A JEW? is contained in Rabbi Kertzer's own words:

"In general, this portrayal of the Jewish way of looking at things attempts to convey some of the warmth, the glow and the serenity of Judaism: the enchantment of fine books: the captivating eolor of Hasidism: the keen insights of Babylonian rabbis into human relations: the sane, level-headed wisdom of the medieval philosophers: the mirthful spirit of scholars more than sixteen centuries ago: and the abiding sense of eompassion that permeates our tradition. It is in this way—and only in this way—that anyone can give a meaningful answer to the question, "What Is A Jew?"

UJA Brunch Honors Synagogue President

At the brunch held on Sunday, May 10. at the Hotel Croyden. on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. Mr Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, presented a scroll to Mr. Jaeob Klein, President of the Synagogue.

The seroll read as follows: The Park Avenue Synagogue Division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York presents this scroll to JACOB KLEIN as a token of the deep regard and esteem in which he is held by all who have labored with him in the great task of human reeonstruction symbolized by the United Jewish Appeal.

Honored by his associates for his never-failing sympathy and warm generosity toward those in need or in danger, he has earned the profound respect of his co-workers and the undying gratitude of the Jewish people throughout the world.

His example has been an inspiration to those who sek to aid in the rescue and resettlement of homeless and endangered Jews; in the fulfillment of the heroic tasks of immigration, absorption, education and development in Israel and other demoeratic havens; in the maintenance of morale services to our armed forces and in the safeguarding and extension of human rights and demoeratic values at home and abroad.

Presented at a brunch in his honor, at the Hotel Croyden, May 10, 1953.

Samuel Hausman, Benjamin Lazarus, Abraham Levitt, Jerome I. Udell, J. D. Weiler, Chairmen.

A limited number of copies of "A Believing Jew", Rabbi Milton Steinberg's last book are available at a special price of $1.50. Those members wanting them are urged to act immediately. Contact Mr. Rosenthal at the Synagogue office.

By DAVID ALAN RUTTENBERG

The combined youth groups of the Judah Halevi Society and the Halutzim held a gala spring dance on Saturday evening. May 9 in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

All those who attended had an enjoyable time and agreed that the dance was an outstanding success. Enlivened by the "eool" bebop of the Blue Notes. the affair attracted many teen-agers from other youth groups as well as many members of the Park Avenue Synagogue's newly formed Youth Society. For those who were not Fred Astaires or Vera Ellens. the delicious refreshments and the congenial atmosphere provided a magnificent evening of entertainment.

A Dinner-Dance will be held on Decoration Day. May 30 in the Synagogue Vestry, whieh will be most attractively decorated with a "cafe" atmosphere.

The Youth Group wishes to express its thanks to Mrs. Herman Helpern, Mrs. Harry Zucker and Mrs. Bruno Foa of the Parents Association for their cooperation in the planning of this affair. It was made possible with the financial assistance of the Parents Assocation for which we are very gratefui.

The Sunday Brunches have continued to be successful. This project was undertaken by Rabbi Simon Noveck to afford the teen-agers an opportunity to get together and to discuss topics, not only on Jewish subjects but also on matters of general interest. These discussions have been of real value to all those who have attended the several sessions whieh have already taken place. The last meeting was held at the home of Marilyn Greenberg on Sunday, May 3. Prior to that, the group met at the home of Jonathan Freedman. Our thanks to Mrs. Irving Greenberg and to Mrs. Jules Freedman for making their homes available and for their tasty brunches.

This will be our last message to you for the current season. Come and join us when the fall season opens.

Parents Hold Successful Party For Benefit of Steinberg Memorial

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Cocktail Party, sponsored by the Parents Association on April 26 in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue, was a tremendous success. Over three hundred people attended, and all were most enthusiastie in their praise.

Despite its limitations. the Vestry was charmingly transformed into a scene of gaiety and good eheer with long tables laden with tasty appetizers and hors d'oeuvres. The two "bars", under the able supervision of Leon Klein, chairman, his assistants, M. Stowe, E. Foster and Albert Siegel, looked most tempting.

Jack Abram's peppy orchestra supplied the music for dancing, and those who came "just to show their good will" found themselves remaining long after seven o'clock. Many an old friend enjoyed a visit over a martini and an appetizer.

To Mrs. Edward Joseph, chairman and her committee: to Mrs. Herman Helpern, President of the Parents Association: and to Mrs. Harry Zucker, Chairman of the Exeeutive Board, go a vote of thanks for their efforts in making this affair such a splendid success.

The Executive Board also wishes to express its gratitude to Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum, ehairman of refreshments and hospitality, who was ably assisted by Mrs. M. Stowe, Mrs. Bruno Foa, Mrs. M. Gelfand, and Mrs. C. Weisberg; to Mrs. George Heyman, Mrs. Meyer Kaplan, and Mrs. I. E. Gevirtz for their efforts in eollecting the attraetive door prizes and raffles; to Mrs. Stanley Simon, Mrs. A. Stangel, and Mrs. C. Alberts for their original, attractive decorations of the Vestry, and to Mrs. Albert Siegel for obtaining sueh an excellent orchestra. Our thanks to Nelson Ruttenberg and Harry Zueker, who protected the door and kept such aeeurate accounts.

Mr. Edward Joseph did a fine job as M.C. and auctioned off the "left-overs" so efficiently that the total receipts were immensely inereased from this source.

Those charming, attractive ladies who greeted the guests, sold raffles and generally assisted were: Mrs. E. Foster, Mrs. I. E. Gevirtz, Mrs. B. Grauer, Mrs. Victor Herwitz, Mrs. Leon Klein, Mrs. Saul Levy, Mrs. Hector Ritey, Mrs. Jacob J. Rosenblum, Mrs. M. Stowe, and Mrs. H. Strauss.

Zucker, will receive certificates of graduation from the five year course in the Hebrew Department of the Religious School.

The program of confirmation studies for the year has been based upon the "Great Jewish Books" and papers on some of the outstanding books and writers in our past will be read by some of the confirmands. The students will also play an active role in the Shavuoth Service on that morning.

Mr. Victor J. Herwitz, chairman of the School Board, will present the confirmands with bibles, a gift from Sisterhood, and diplomas. On behalf of the Men's Club, Mr. Joseph Howard Katz will present the Youth Leadership Award.

In addition three $25 prizes have been donated by Mr. Jacob Klein:

$25 in honor of Mr. Klein's parents, Adolph and Rosa Klein;

$25 in honor of Mrs. Klein's parents, Abraham and Frances Bock; and $25 as a Milton Steinberg prize.

Mr. Jacob Klein will also contribute a fountain pen to each of the graduates and confirmants.

The parents of the confirmands will hold a reception in honor of the students in the vestry of the synagogue immediately after the service.

The following students have fulfilled all the requirements for Confirmation: Alan Aaron, Jill Appleman, Susan Berns, Meryl Blau, Sandra Cohen, Eleanor Foa, Sandra Gevirtz, Alice Heyman, Alice Helpern, Robert Kaufman, Gary Manacher, Doris Wimpfheimer and Theodore Zucker.

New Year Greetings

from the desk of Rabbi Noveck

It is a real pleasure to greet you all on the occasion of the New Year and to know that we shall soon be together again and renew our attachment to the great tradition we all share in common.

Ours is an age of anxiety. Never before in many centuries have men been so concerned with the deeper and abiding values of life. Never before has there been such a questing spirit about life and its ultimate meaning.

One of the great sources to which we must turn if we are to find an answer to our restless search is the synagogue and its historic teachings. If we but understand these teachings they can help us to overcome our spiritual loneliness and bind us closer to one another. They can help us emotionally to face life more courageously and add new dimensions to our being by giving us a past to which to turn and a future in which to hope.

I have been very much gratified that during the past spring and even during the summer many of you have come to me to discuss your personal problems and to seek help for the anxieties, fears and inner conflicts that at times beset even the strongest of us. There are not always answers to life's great dilemmas but the chance to talk in absolute confidence oftentimes has some value. Busy as a Rabbi is in this big city, to me no activity is quite so important as these close personal relationships. I am available at all times to those who want to see me.

May I take this opportunity to thank all of you who have written me during the summer while on vacation. Now that I am beginning my fifth year among you, beyond all the satisfactions that come to a Rabbi as preacher, teacher and administrator, the most enduring is this feeling of personal friendship I am privileged to share with so many of you. To those of you whom I have not yet gotten to know, I hope that during the coming year there will be a chance to do so. I look forward eagerly to the opportunity.

To each of you and your families may God grant a year of health, creative activity and abiding good.

SIMON NOVECK

message of the Board Chairman

As Chairman of the Board of Trustees, it is with great pleasure that I greet the members of the congregation and their families in this first issue of the 1953-1954 year.

This is an important and challenging year. The commencement of the operations for the building of the MILTON STEINBERG MEMORIAL BUILDING should be thrilling and exciting to all of us. Its completion during the year will permit the extension of our program and be a great comfort to the parents whose children are attending and will attend the Hebrew Classes and School.

Our junior and senior groups will be able to meet and gather in pleasant surroundings and will be able to avail themselves of the opportunity for the expansion of their programs.

The Board of Trustees is grateful to the members of the congregation who have made all of this possible by their financial assistance and, it is hoped, that we will have the continued cooperation of our members.

For myself, and on behalf of the Board of Trustees, I extend Holiday Greetings and good wishes for a Happy Year.

SANFORD H. COHEN

message from the Cantor

All those who worship with us are familiar with the stirring chants we sing of the B'sefer Chayim and the Hayom T'amtsenu. Let us sing then with fervor so that the lives of all of us may be truly blessed as expressed by the poetic liturgy of these prayers.

"May we be remembered and inscribed in the book of life for blessing, peace and good sustenance . . . we and all Thy people, the house of Israel. Mayest Thou accept our prayers in mercy and with favor . . . and mayest Thou uphold us with the power of Thy righteousness. Amen".

These are the prayerful hopes for the coming New Year of Amy and myself for each and all of you in our beloved Synagogue family.

DAVID J. PUTTERMAN

message from the President

"Happy New Year" is the usual greeting exchanged during High Holiday week. But I much prefer to use the traditional salution—"Leshono Tova Teekoosef".

"Leshono Tova Teekoosef," then—may you be inscribed for a good, healthy, prosperous year in the Book of Life. Not only for this year, but for many years to come.

At least one of our hopes has been realized during the year just past. Construction of the Memorial to our beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg is well under way. The building represents fulfillment of his dying request, and it pleases me to report that the work is progressing rapidly.

But we must not stop at this point. Milton Steinberg stood for much more. The memory of this great man—the most humble person I was ever privileged to know—urges us to take inventory of our life during the past year,

Synagogue Groups Plan for New Season

Sisterhood Will Hold Brunch, Theatre Party

This year Sisterhood will hold a Theatre and Brunch Party in place of their annual luncheon. The Brunch will be held at the Hotel Astor, and the show is the forthcoming Maurice Evans production, "Tea House of the August Moon". Every share booklet sold at twenty dollars and every sixty dollars worth of ads will entitle the seller to an invitation to both.

Those who wish booklets should call Mrs. Sanford H. Cohen, ATwater 9-7638. Those wishing ad blanks can contact Mrs. Saul Granetts, TRafalgar 9-8919.

There will be three Grand Prizes—a five-day cruise for two persons, four days at Grossingers for one and a weekend for one person at Marble Hall.

Sisterhood will hold its first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 22, at 1:30 P.M. A course on the United Nations will be offered to Sisterhood at its meetings this year. The first lecture at the opening meeting will be a "General Briefing on the United Nations". It will be presented by a member of the Secretariat. This meeting will be followed by a trip to the United Nations on October 20. Various aspects of the organization will be studied at subsequent meetings. Exciting speakers have been engaged. All members and friends are invited to attend this important first meeting.

Sisterhood Prexy Outlines Programs, Goals for '54

On behalf of the officers and board of the Sisterhood I wish to express to the members our heartfelt thanks for their cooperation and attention throughout the year that is closing. We hope that God will grant a healthy and happy year ahead in which we can all work towards the goals we have set for ourselves.

Sisterhood's slogan this coming year is "The Milton Steinberg Memorial becomes a reality in 1953". This is a positive statement and every Sisterhood member will see that it is a true one. To this end a gala Brunch and Theatre Party plus a Journal is planned for December 2. If everyone participates in this activity, our pledge to the building fund will be a reality in 1953.

In addition Sisterhood feels that its members are cognizant of the fact that the world we live in is on the brink of great achievement if peace can be maintained.

Sisterhood, at its meetings, is going to study the United Nations, the organization capable of leading the citizens of the world down the path to peace. By studying and understanding the full functioning of the United Nations, Sisterhood can become a vocal and informed group to help maintain our culture and civilization.

The goals and ambitions of Sisterhood for the year are in the true spirit of the Jewish Tradition. Let us pray that we will attain them.

Young Married Group Invites New Members

The Young Married group once again extends to Rabbi Noveck, Cantor Putterman and the entire Synagogue family its best wishes for a healthy, happy and peaceful New Year.

President of Men's Club Extends New Years Greetings

On behalf of the members of the Men's Club, I wish to extend my warmest greetings to all of our congregants and members of their families and to wish them a healthy and a happy New Year.

Men's Club Arranges Dec. Theatre Party

Men's Club, having recently completed five years of achievement and progress, is looking forward to its sixth and succeeding years with pleasant anticipation.

The roster has been increasing steadily, not only in numbers, but also in the participation and devotion of members.

Men of the Congregation who have not joined the Men's Club are cordially invited to do so. Their synagogue life will be enriched by meeting with other congregants on a social and cultural level. Social activities will be accented during the coming year.

Notices regarding programs and meeting nights will appear in future issues of the Bulletin.

A highlight of the current year will be the annual Theatre Party, to be held on Wednesday night, December 16.

The show is piquantly entitled "The Solid Gold Cadillac", a comedy-satire on Washington, D. C. and big business, written by George S. Kaufman and Howard Teichmann. Josephine Hull will be starred, and the play is being produced by Max Gordon.

This show promises to be a solid gold hit, considering George S. Kaufman's dexterity in writing comedy satires in the area of politics.

Proceeds will be used to meet the pledge for the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

Beth Hayeled Teaches Children Jewish Culture

The American Jewish child grows up in an environment where the family gradually loses the traditional ways of Jewish life. He has no real source for developing his feeling of belonging to the Jewish culture. Even in the home which actively practices Jewish living, the child doesn't have enough impressions of Jewishness from the world outside of his family.

To introduce Jewish values to the child is a problem that all face. The latest insight into the process of learning shows that if learning is introduced as a fully integrated, day by day way of living, then it becomes a part of the individual.

Beth Hayeled is a laboratory which tries to study and apply this modern finding in the field of early childhood education. The concern of Beth Hayeled, the House of the Child, is with the total development of the child.

The curriculum in Beth Hayeled is planned very carefully. A Jewish atmosphere is achieved through the preparation and celebration of holidays, through first hand experiences with people and places connected with Jewish interests, through Jewish songs, dances, stories and books, and through creative activities.

The group life of the children is emphasized strongly as an important part of living, and Jewish living. Appreciation of other people in the group is stressed—not through competitive methods.

The personality of the teacher is not a major concern of Beth Hayeled and it has an intensive in-service training. Beth Hayeled has become a center for teacher training and leading colleges place their pupils as student-teachers in this school.

The parents, together with the children are enrolled as an active participant in the school. Besides an active PTA program of seminars, meetings, and a PTA periodical, parents are invited as a part of the experiences in the school, as on Shabbat and holidays.

The children who went through this school are happy in their Jewishness and adjust themselves in a gratifying way to new environments.

Due to the enthusiastic and outstanding work of Ivriah and the Board of Trustees of Beth Hayeled, it is now entering its fourteenth year of its existence.

and to make plans for our behavior during the years ahead.

Have we,too, been humble? Have we been men and women of true unselfishness?

Let us ask ourselves those questions from the Reconstruction Prayer Book, based on the Book of Job:

"Have I ever begrudged a poor man anything?

Have I ever let a widow pine in want?

Have I ever eaten my food alone, not sharing it with the fatherless?

Have I ever in my pride's renounced the need of God, revealing in my wealth and boasting that my hands have gathered riches?"

Oh, how Milton loved those people who could answer those quotations truthfully, honestly and for the good of all!

May this brief searching of hearts help us to know God's will and to be steadfast in fulfilling it. I say to you again, "Leshono Tova Teekoosef".

construction commenced on the site July 6. Space has been provided in the Vestry for its field office.

Other details of operation are being provided for. Mr. Ulman of H. R. H. Construction Corp. is already on the job as supervising engineer.

The office of the Synagogue has been sheared off. The excavation work was in full process when a strike occurred involving concrete workers, sand and gravel men, etc. That strike has continued for some three weeks. When it will end is not at present known, but it is hoped that it will be shortly, in which event construction will continue.

The matter of the artistry of the Facade has caused a great deal of concern but it is on its way to solution. The matter of air conditioning the Vestry is on the agenda of the Building Committee for discussion in September. The matter of complete kitchen equipment is being handled by a special committee of ladies.

Rabbi Noveck Reports On Steinberg Research

Rabbi Noveck has been doing research during the past year on the life, activities and writings of Rabbi Milton Steinberg in the hope of writing a full length biography. Several publishers, both Jewish and general, have indicated an interest in such a volume.

The Rabbi is very anxious to see any letters members may have received from Rabbi Steinberg, particularly letters written before 1940. He will appreciate the opportunity of borrowing these letters for a short time. Also any members who knew Milton before he came to the Synagogue in 1933 and have specific reminiscences of him should contact Rabbi Noveck so he may include in his book a treatment of all facets of Rabbi Steinberg's unforgettable personality.

MRS. HARRY J. SOKOLOW

Jacob Klein, Col. Melvin L. Krulewitch and Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow will be honored by the Congregation for outstanding service in Synagogue, Jewish and communal affairs at the Simhath Torah service on Friday morning, October 2.

Following the Hakafot, the processional with the Torah Scrolls, Jacob Klein will be called to "stand forth" as Hathan Torah (Bridegroom of the Torah).

Then Col. Melvin Krulewitch will be called to the pulpit as Hathan Bereshith (Bridegroom of the Beginning), as the Torah is rerolled and the first verses of Genesis are read. Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow will be honored this year as Kalah Mafteret (Bride of the Prophetic Message) for Simhath Torah 5714.

COL. MELVIN KRULEWITCH

The practice of honoring members of a congregation by designating them Hathan Torah and Hathan Bereshith originated from medieval Judaism and from a mystical thread within it.

On Simhath Torah, the last day of the Succoth festival, the Torah cycle of the year is completed and then is begun again. The last section and the first one are traditionally regarded as portions of importance and it is a practice to assign those portions to those individuals who by their scholarship, piety or service to the Jewish community, have merited public tribute.

The custom of honoring a Kalah Mafteret which was inaugurated five years ago, is a tribute to an outstanding woman member of the congregation, for conspicuous service rendered the Jewish community.

Mrs. Harry Sokolow

The woman to be honored this year as Kalah Mafteret is Mrs. Harry Sokolow, the Co-Chairman of Sisterhood's Bruneh, Theatre Party affair this year and Federation Chairman for Sisterhood.

Dorothy Sokolow, since moving to New York fifteen years ago, has been a vital part of the Synagogue. She served as Chairman of Sisterhood's Luncheon several times. She brought the Jewish Home Beautiful to this Synagogue and she was instrumental in inaugurating the Congregational Passover Seders which are now held annually in the Synagogue the second evening of Passover. She has also acted as Chairman for the dinner each year.

Aside from her congregational activities, Mrs. Sokolow has served as President of a HIAS chapter until recently, and for two years worked every day in the HIAS Women's Division Thrift Shop.

To all she has bestowed her warm, vibrant personality and merits, to the full, being named Kalah Mafteret for the year 5714.

Jacob Klein

To be honored as Hathan Torah will be Jacob Klein, the President of the Synagogue. In the Synagogue and in the Jewish community Mr. Klein has given devoted service.

Previously a member of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism, he served for fifteen years as a member of the Board of Trustees and for three years as Chairman of the Board. One of the original contributors to the Joint Distribution Committee, now known as the U.J.A., Mr. Klein was the guest of honor this year at a Bruneh tendered to him by U.J.A. at which over $300,000 was contributed.

For many years Mr. Klein supported relief and reconstruction work abroad by contributing a proportion of his weekly income to the Joint Distribution Committee. Later when that committee instituted a campaign for the adoption of war orphans, he was the first to adopt one, and the following year he adopted a second one and paid for their support.

As one of the original members of Federation, one of the founders of the Jewish Education Association, a supporter of the American Friends of Hebrew University and Brandeis and an active supporter of the Jewish Theological Seminary, Mr. Klein has been a pioneer in Jewish community and education works.

An outstanding member of the community and the congregation, it is fitting that he be named Hathan Torah for the year.

Col. Melvin L. Krulewitch

The honor of Hathan Bereshith will be bestowed on Col. Melvin Krulewitch an active member of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue since his return from overseas in 1946.

Col. Krulewitch has long been connected in unselfish community activities both locally and nationally. His family, stemming from the medieval tal-

With each holiday there is confusion in the minds of some Jewish parents as to the regulations of the Board of Education concerning absence from school on religious holy days.

However the By-Laws of the Board of Education of New York City, Section 90, Article 5 provides that pupils are permitted to absent themselves from school "for religious observance."

mudist Tosofes Yomtov, has included for many generations members of the rabbinate, among them Rabbi Hersch Levin of Charleston, his great-grandfather, the spiritual leader of the Jews of that city during the Civil War.

Col. Krulewitch was associated with the Teachers Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary, studied under Friedlander, Davidson and Kaplan, and was associated with that Seminary for many years in secular capacities.

He served on the Jewish Welfare Board from its earliest days and succeeded Frank L. Weil as President of its New York Council.

He has been a member of the Board of Directors of the 92nd St. YMHA for over thirty years, a member of the Executive Committee of the Armed Services Division of the Jewish Welfare Board, and a participating member in the United States Committee for Sports in Israel.

A veteran of four wars, he is senior line officer of the United States Marine Corps in New York City and the holder of numerous decorations for both heroic and meritorious achievement.

As one who loves and serves his fellow man, he has been an inspiration in the community in which he serves. With these qualities of guidance and leadership, he is one whose name, with propriety, the Synagogue may begin its years reading of Scripture.

To pay tribute to the three recipients of Simhath Torah honors all members of the Park Avenue Synagogue are invited to attend the services and reception which will immediately follow in the Vestry of the Synagogue.

Parents to Open Year With Orientation Meeting

The Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue is looking forward to a very active season. Its ambitious program will begin with an orientation meeting when the parents of children attending the Religious School for the first time will have an opportunity to meet with the Parents group and learn of its varied activities.

All members with children of school age or others interested in the integration of children into the Jewish community will find the Parents Association of great help. The lack of interest which children may display towards Hebrew School is transient and the parent, through interest in the Parents' projects, may eventually rechannel the child's interest back to the Synagogue.

Mrs. Herman Helpern, President of the Parents Association, together with Mrs. Harry Zucker, Chairman of the Executive Board and the members of the Executive Board are considering a well rounded program for the coming season which will soon be presented to the membership.

At the final meeting, the following officers were elected for the current year:

President, Mrs. Herman Helpern; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. George Heyman; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Stanley Simon; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. Meyer Kaplan; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hector Ritey; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. J. Hoexter; Treasurer, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg and Chairman of Exec. Board, Mrs. Harry Zucker.

New Contributions For Building Fund

The Committee for the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund was deeply touched by the response to the appeal made on Kol Nidre evening.

315 members, some of them newly admitted, warmly and generously contributed gifts coming in the form of $300., $500., and up to $1,000.

Unfortunately, our goal of $150,000 was not reached, which means that we must still find a way, before the year comes to a close, of raising the balance of this money.

I feel confident that we can achieve this end, particularly in the light of the loyalty displayed by the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue on Kol Nidre night. In many instances the gifts came from people who had given before, and many who had given even twice before.

It is truly thrilling for Jewry to realize that the memory of Milton Steinberg lives strongly in the hearts of our people, and that his words will be carried on to posterity.

Special cognizance should be taken of the fact that Mrs. Anna Edelman has generously volunteered to make the curtains for the Ark of the Chapel in the new building. Our grateful thanks go out to her.

We received contributions from Mrs. Dorothy B. Low in honor of Mrs. Harry Sokolow; Mrs. I. Edward Gevirtz in memory of Herman H. Schloss; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer in honor of the birth of Seymour David Wimpfheimer, son of Dr. and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer.

President Reviews Nathaniel Goldstein's Law Journal Article

I think the Park Avenue Synagogue may well be proud of Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Attorney General of the State of New York and one of its valued members.

Attorney General Goldstein has distinguished himself as one of the most able lawyers that New York State has honored in electing him to the high position he now holds and has held for many years. We are indeed happy to call the attention of the members of the Synagogue to a brilliant article written by him which appears in the editorial pages of the New York Law Journal in its issues of September 22, 23 and 24, 1953, as a reprint from the Notre Dame Lawyer, the Law Review of that institution.

It is not possible, because of lack of space, to reprint this article in full in the BULLETIN, and it is next to impossible to convey to you, in the short space allotted to one, the meat and substance of this article. But I would like each and every member to try and get this article and read it, because I think it is well written, indicates a philosophical mind, shows much research and each of you will be fully rewarded by digesting its contents.

The title of the article is "That Most Remarkable Work"—The Constitution of the United States. It begins as follows: "When the Constitution of the United States was a century old, Gladstone used the phrase 'most remarakble work' in paying tribute to it." Were Gladstone alive in the year of its 165th anniversary, after nearly three quarters of a century more in the life of our constitution, Attorney General Goldstein goes on to say, "He might well utter the same words with yet greater awe. For no less than astonishing has been its elasticity in meeting the needs of the country in years of its growth. While its basic tenets remain firm, their validity and wisdom have been demonstrated over and over again, as have been the validity and wisdom of the Ten Commandments."

As I said above, the article cannot be reprinted in the BULLETIN, but you will all find it worthwhile, very stimulating and informative, if you will make it part of your reading matter.

Halley, Riegelman, Wagner, Jr. Will Address Men's Club October 20

The Men's Club inaugurates the new season on Tuesday, October 20 with the three leading candidates for Mayor of New York in the forthcoming elections as the guest speakers. Rudolph Halley, Liberal, Harold Riegelman, Republican, and Robert F. Wagner, Jr. Democrat have accepted invitations to come and discuss some of the campaign issues.

Mr. Halley, President of the New York City Council for the past two years, was born in 1913 and graduated Townsend High School (1928), Columbia College (1932) and Columbia Law School (1934). After serving as law secretary to Judge Wm. Bondy of the U. S. District Court for 3 years, he was appointed an Assistant U. S. Attorney until 1942, when he became assistant Counsel to the Senate Truman Committee investigating war frauds and its Chief Counsel in 1944.

Between 1945 and 1950 Mr. Halley was in private law practice, and from

RUDOLPH HALLEY

June 1950 to May 1951 was Chief Counsel to the Senate Crime Investigating Committee headed by Senator Kefauver.

Mr. Riegelman, born in 1892, is an alumnus of DeWitt Clinton High School, Cornell University, and Columbia Law School. Prior to his becoming Acting Postmaster of New York, early this year, he had been active for many years as a consultant and advisor to Federal, State, and Local governments in the fields of public finance, management, housing and public health.

Among other things, in 1916 he worked out the compromise between Governor Alfred E. Smith and Republican legislative leaders which resulted in the State Housing Law, the first of its kind in America. Mr. Riegelman assisted President Roosevelt in 1935, as Special Treasury Counsel, to formulate a housing and mortgage finance policy. In 1947-8, a combat veteran of both World Wars I and II, he was counsel to and advised in the organization and operation of the New York State Veterans' Bonus Bureau.

Mr. Wagner, who was elected the Borough President of Manhattan in 1949, was born in Yorkville in 1909 and has always lived here. The son of our late United States Senator, he is trying to carry on the liberal, social philosophy learned from his father.

From 1937 to 1941 he was a member of the New York State Assembly, where he introduced legislation pertaining to anti-discrimination, civil rights, housing, labor and welfare. The following four years were spent in the Army Air Corps, and when he came out in 1945 he worked a couple of years for his father, who had begun to ail. Mr. Wagner became Commissioner of Housing and Buildings in New York City in 1947 and later was appointed Chairman of the City Planning Commission.

This meeting is scheduled to begin at 8:30 P.M. All men are cordially invited to attend.

The grand vacation prizes, a delectable brunch at the Astor, and a ticket to the forthcoming Maurice Evans production of "Teahouse of the August Moon" are inducements no one can resist. They are easily earned through the sale of share booklets or Journal ads.

Members may call Mrs. Sanford H. Cohen, AT 9-7638 for share books, and Mrs. Saul Grannetts, TR 9-8919 for ad blanks.

The show which recently opened in New Haven received an enthusiastic welcome. David Wayne and John Forsythe, brought the audience to their feet at the final curtain.

The critics praised "Wayne's subtle presentation of an Oriental, Forsythe's imaginative reading of his lines, the delicate beauty of Mariko Niki, making her American debut" and the play as "unique and entertaining from start to final curtain".

The play will "undoubtedly serve as another hit for Mr. Wayne and Mr. Forsythe, both of whom will be remembered for their fine characterizations in 'Mister Roberts'."

Message from the President

To the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue:

I wish to call your attention to a dinner that is being given under the auspices of the American Friends of the Hebrew University on November 12, 1953 at the Waldorf Astoria, at which dinner ex-president, Harry S. Truman will receive the Solomon Bublick Award of the Hebrew University. And in addition there will be a distinguished gathering of prominent leaders in Jewry to participate in a "Salute from American Higher Education to the Hebrew University".

The dinner cost is $100. per plate and there will be no solicitation of funds. To those members to whom the Hebrew University means much and to those to whom it should mean a great deal, I commend this dinner, and, if at all possible, to make it almost a duty to attend so that the Park Avenue Synagogue may have a very large representation.

Needless to say my wife and I will be present and I, as President of the Park Avenue Synagogue, have been selected to meet and receive ex-president Truman.

I will personally appreciate your cooperation.

YOUTH NEWS

The Halutzim Society held its initial meeting on Sunday afternoon, October 25 in the vestry of the synagogue. The program for the afternoon was a Social and Game Party. The new ping pong table, which has been made available for the use of the club, vied with many games of "scrabble" for the interest of the members.

This event was planned, along with a tentative schedule for the first half of the year of discussion, parties, debates, lectures and dances, at a reorganization meeting held at the home of Mr Arnold Turetsky, the club leader.

The next meeting of the Halutzim will be held in the vestry at 2:30 P.M. on Sunday, November 8. All young people between the ages of 15 and 18 are invited to attend.

The members of the Executive Board who have planned the series of meetings are: Roger Waldman, Teddy Zucker, Steve Feldman, Marilyn Greenberg, Alice Heyman, Joe Tulchin, Lee Reichman, Alice Helpern, Doris Wimpfheimer, Eleanor Foa and Martin and Arline Petroff.

Scout Trip

Scout Troop #600, affiliated with the Park Avenue Synagogue, sent two of its members, Michael Freedman and Teddy Pincus, to the National Boy Scout Jamboree held at Irvine Ranch, Santa Ana, California during the month of July.

The following report on their experiences was written by the boys:

"Friday morning, July 10, the B&O special pulled out of the small Jersey City Railroad Center. It was quite an impressive sight watching over 750 Scouts and leaders departing from New York!

The trip was a wonderful one. We saw such beautiful sights as: Pike's Peak, Garden of the Gods, Grand Canyon, Muir Redwoods, and Yellowstone National Park; aside from the eight cities we toured.

But the most interesting as well as enjoyable part of the whole trip was the Jamboree itself. Here we not only saw thousands of scouts, but conversed with them as well. With many different faiths and races present, the Jamboree was truly the "UN in Short Pants". Not only the material things were beautiful, like the drawings on the tents, or the "Troop Doorways", but the feeling of unity was always apparent. Our own Troop #9 was a perfect example, one-half Negro, the other Caucasion and Mongoloid. In religion, we varied from Catholic to Protestant, to Jewish. Although the Jewish boys were a small group in comparison to the other faiths, we managed to keep Kosher throughout the trek, and also had time for Sabbath evening and morning services!

We will rave about the sights, the experiences and the values of the great THIRD NATIONAL BOY SCOUT JAMBOREE until 1955 when a World Jamboree will be held".

Senior League Discusses Israel American Jewry

The Senior League, at its first open meeting on October 8, was privileged to hear a most forceful discussion by Dr. Paul Riebenfeld on the relationship between Israel and American Jewry. This was the first in a planned series on "Three Hundred Years of American Judaism".

Dr. Riebenfeld, a former member of the Board of Deputies of British Jews, former Zionist delegate to the League of Nations, and now a director of the Palestine Economic Corp., discussed the attitudes of the world community toward Jews and the effect the establishment of the secular State of Israel has had in raising the status of Jews. Rabbi Noveck spoke briefly on the reciprocal role Jews in America can play in spurring the religious values of Israel. James Pullman was chairman for the evening.

On Sunday, October 11, the League held its first afternoon dance of the season under the chairmanship of Misses Mahl and Gershman and Messrs. Joseph and Kieval.

The next open meeting, marking Jewish book month, will be held on Thursday, November 19, All young Synagogue affiliates are invited to attend.

STUDENT-TEACHER PROGRAM: In September, 1952, The Religious School inaugurated a student-teacher program for the post-confirmands with the assignment of Sylvia Schneider and Michele Kaye to two Primary Department classes on Sunday morning. Under the guidance and supervision of the regular teachers, the student-teachers had the opportunity to observe the instruction; to assist the children with their music, dance and craft work; to discuss teaching techniques, and to teach parts of the lesson during the school year. In addition to their many pleasurable and profitable experiences, the student-teachers had the satisfaction of being part of the big program of Jewish education.

This year the student-teacher program has been expanded to permit the following post-confirmands to study and assist in the Primary Department: Meryl Blau, Sandra Cohen, Sandra Gevirtz, Alice Heyman and Doris Wimpfheimer.

BOOK FAIR POSTERS: The students of the Religious School are cooperating with the Jewish Book Fair to be sponsored by the Parents' Association. In each class, the students are preparing colorful posters which will be used to decorate the vestry during the Book Fair, which begins on Sunday morning, November 15. At the conclusion of the Book Fair, a committee of parents and teachers will judge the posters and award prixes to the most artistic, most original and most attractive posters.

Young Marrieds Plan Cocktail Party With Marine Theme at Gotham Hotel

By NAOMI JACOBSON

The Young Marrieds toast the social season with their annual cocktail party to be held on Sunday, November 15, between the magic hours of three and six. Get your Baby Sitter and plan to "sea" your friends "caper" at the Cape Cod Room of the Gotham Hotel. Please "check your fins" with Dudley Greenstein, esteemed Treasurer, who will gladly accept $8.00 per couple.

It's no fish story when we can assure you of all the cocktails you can drink and dancing to the accompaniment of a fine accordianist. There will be no "crabbing" when you see the delicious hors d'oeuvres and finger sandwiches to be served.

Olives and maraschino cherries go to Mrs. Marvin Robinson and Mrs. Seymour Finkelstein, chairman and co-chairman of the party. They have done the footwork and planning which will ensure a gala afternoon. The group also wishes to thank the members of their committee who are: Mrs. Charles Jacobson, Mrs. Nathan Schifirin, Mrs. Marvin Cohen, Mrs. Donald Schlessinger, Mrs. Dudley Greenstein, Mrs. Budd Keller, Mrs. Asa Sokolow, Mrs. Norman Blumstein, Mrs. Fred Krones and Mrs. Norman Cohen.

So Young Marrieds if you haven't sent in your checks, do so today or you'll be "angling" to be with us in vain. And we can promise you this: If you can't swim when you arrive at the Cape Cod Room, we'll see to it that you are swimming by the time you leave!

James Wechsler to be Men's Club Speaker

The Men's Club, after starting the season with a stimulating political forum evening devoted to the mayoralty election, is following up with an extremely interesting November meeting.

The guest speaker will be James A. Wechsler, Editor of the New York Post. He has chosen as the subject of his address, "McCarthyism—The Age Of Suspicion". As one of the men under attack by Senator Joseph McCarthy, who appeared before his investigating committee in a very fascinating session; as well as the editor of one of the most liberal newspapers in the United States, he is well qualified to discuss this topic.

Therefore all men are urged to reserve Tuesday evening, November 17 beginning at 8:30 P.M., to treat themselves to a program they will regret missing.

Theater Party

Members should be sure to purchase their tickets for the Men's Club Annual Theater Party being held on Wednesday evening, December 16. The play picked —"The Solid Gold Cadillac", written by George S. Kaufman; produced by Max Gordon; and starring Josephine Hull— is a delightful comedy.

Tickets can be obtained by communicating with Chairman Charles Bennet at MU 2-8867 (Office), or AT 9-8505 (Home).

from the desk of the Principal

The celebration of Jewish Book Month throughout the United States during the month of November may encourage a stock-taking of one's library to see whether it is as varied and as comprehensive as it should be. The success of the many book clubs and the phenomenal sale of the inexpensive paper-bound reprints and originals assure us that our book shelves are replete with classical and current English and American literature. However, in many Jewish homes, the shelves are bare of books of Jewish interest or culture. There may even be some homes that do not have a copy of the Bible.

The approaching Chanukah season gives me the opportunity of following in the well-worn path of our literary critics and literary magazines who publish Christmas lists of "best books." On all sides we are urged to buy a book for father from one list, for parents from another, for fisherman from a third, and, of course, a special list for our kindergarden friend. Following the accepted pattern, I have compiled the following list of Ten Jewish Books that should be in every Jewish home:

Daily Prayer Book—Joseph H. Hertz. Chief Rabbi of the British Empire. This Siddur contains a most comprehensive and literary translation of the Hebrew text in addition to an excellent introduction. and the best commentaries on the prayer book published in English.

Pentateuch and Haftorahs—Rabbi Joseph H. Hertz. This is a companion book to the Daily Prayer Book. In addition to the Hebrew and English texts, it has a most enlightening commentary based upon the scholarship of ancient and modern commentators.

Basic Judaism—Rabbi Milton Steinberg writes about the beliefs, ideals and practices that make up the historic Jewish faith. It is one of the very best presentations of the essential principles and beliefs of the Jewish people.

The Jewish Festivals — Hayyim Schauss. This is the classic presentation of the history, customs, ceremonies and traditions of the Jewish holidays.

Adventures of K'ton Ton—Sadie R. Weilerstein. A story of a Jewish Tom Thumb to be read by parents to children and to be enjoyed by both. A delightful development of the traditions, customs and ceremonies of Jewish living.

The Golden Bible—Elsa Jane Werner. This is a beautifully illustrated selection of stories from the Old Testament. The book is written for the young reader and the young listener.

The Songs We Sing—Harry Coopersmith. A comprehensive and varied collection of song material with a full and rich accompaniment, but simple enough to permit parents and children to sing together the songs that are so much a part of Jewish life and culture.

A History of the Jews — Solomon Grayzel. A complete and popular history of the Jews from the Babylonian Exile to the modern day. The Jewish people are viewed as part of the social, economic and cultural development of mankind.

Jewish Caravan—Leo W. Schwarz attempts to give a collective portrait of the Jewish people as seen in its literature. The one hundred stories in the book cover a period of twenty-five centuries.

Trial and Error, Autobiography of Chaim Weizmann. The story of the growth of Zionism and the establishment of the State of Israel as seen through the life of a great man and a great Jew.

Jewish Cookery — Leah W. Leonard. A basic Jewish cookbook for lovers of Jewish food. All the traditional recipes and variations based upon European regional differences may be found in this book.

Those members who made pledges to the United Jewish Appeal during the High Holy Days are requested to redeem them by sending in their checks to the congregation. In addition to the Survey Report, Plenary Sessions, Seminars and Workshops have been scheduled to deal with the leadership problem in all its phases.

"TAPPING NEW LEADERSHIP RESOURCES" is the overall title for a series of seminars that will delve into developing congregational leadership through Men's Club and Sisterhood; that will explore the possibility of how the School can help build leadership; that will review the potentialities of enlisting youth for synagogue leadership; and that will give particular consideration to one of the most important power resources for leadership building—the Young Married Couples Clubs that, in the past few years, have been springing up in congregations all over.

"THE PSYCHOLOGICAL FOUNDATIONS OF SYNAGOGUE LEADERSHIP" will come in for an equally thorough scrutiny. Basic requirements for synagogue leadership will be examined in a free give and take. Human and public relations problems in congregational management will be studied by professional experts and lay leaders alike; and most important of all, the democratic process in synagogue administration will receive full treatment in all its facets.

"LEADERSHIP IN ACTION" is the theme of a third round of Seminars dealing with leadership in budget planning; techniques for the congregational meeting; the membership campaign and the School Board and its functions.

Adult Education as a prime instrument for leadership building will be accorded full attention by the Convention, just as well as a review of the Ramah Camps—truly the training grounds for congregational leadership of tomorrow.

A major presentation on the relationships of synagogue and community will assume particular significance by formulating the position of the Conservative Movement on the leadership problem in the Jewish community at large.

A series of special events have been planned to balance the working program of the Convention with a variety of recreational pleasures. Both will be a boon, indeed, to all those who will share personally in one of the most challenging tasks of the Conservative Movement.

Keren Ami

The weekly contributions made by the students in the Religious School to Keren Ami aim at developing within the youth a consciousness of the slogan "All Jews are responsible for one another."

In the purposeful and educational manner, the student learns the art of participating in organized community life. He is taught to contribute a portion of his allowance to worthy causes both here and abroad. After a careful study of the needs and problems of the various Jewish agencies and funds, the children, at the end of the school year, allocate and distribute their funds through the democratic choice of their elected delegates to the Junior Congregation Synagogue Council.

During the last school year contributions from Keren Ami collections were assigned to United Jewish Appeal, the Jewish Theological Seminary, Hadassah, Hias, Israel Orphan Asylum, the Hebrew University, Histadruth Ivrit, Association for Jewish Education, and the Reed Mogen David.

Jewish National Fund

In addition to the regular Keren Ami collection, the school participates in two special fund-raising drives during the year. On the local scene a drive is conducted for the support of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies and, on the foreign scene, one for the support of the Jewish National Fund which raises money for the purchase and the redemption of land in Israel.

During the month of November, the students of the Religious School will participate in the Jewish National Fund's Annual Tag Day. In recent years, the money collected throughout the world has been used to make hundreds of thousands of acres of land available for agricultural settlement: has drained and converted swamp land from regions of waste and pestilence into productive farmland; and, through stone-clearing and terracing has helped to keep intact the corridor between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. This year, the slogan of the drive is "Conquest of the Desert" and the students hope to have their usual success in the sale of 10c tags for this cause.

Board Vice-Chairman Elected to J.E.C. Board

Joseph Howard Katz, the Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue and former President of the Men's Club, has been elected to the Board of the Jewish Education Committee of New York.

The Jewish Education Committee is the central coordinating agency for Jewish Education in New York. It serves all types of Jewish schools, communal, congregational, Orthodox, Conservative, Reform, Hebrew and Yiddish. In the New York metropolitan area alone, Jewish Education Committee serves over 500 schools and 70,000 pupils.

message from Bulletin Board

The following is an excerpt from an address delivered by Dr. Abraham A. Neuman, President, The Dropsie College, on July 15, 1952, at the Hebrew Teachers College, entitled "A Historian Views the Contemporary Jewish Scene," which should be of interest to our readers:

Most of us are the grandchildren, if not the children, of this nineteenth century Judaism. We are heirs to the riches and the spiritual diversity which the historian's art contributed to this epochal period. The startling and revolutionary events of the twentieth century have created new problems for the Jewish people. In consequence, we, too, are a deeply preplexed generation grappling with the manifold problems of spiritual survival. Our communities are weighted down with heavy burdens and ideological tensions. We are pioneering none too successfully with elementary Jewish education. We are still struggling with the difficulties of religious adjustments. Our programs of communal activities are imbalanced — often misshapen by group pressures — because we have not developed standards of evaluation that are derived from the spiritual experiences of the Jewish people. To develop such standards is the most crucial need of the hour.

We need the insight of the historian. We must recapture the art of historic perception which once distinguished the Jewish people. We must regain the intuitive judgment which is derived from conscious attunement and identification with our historic past.

In this spirit, let us review some aspects of the contemporary Jewish scene. I turn to education first because it is nearest to our hearts. Why is it that, by and large, Jewish education is subordinated in community planning to the needs of hospital expansion, homes for the aged, and other eleemosynary institutions? How is one to explain that higher Jewish education must go begging and pleading for a minimum of support to keep itself alive in this era of multi-million dollar chests of community funds? How does this attitude measure up with the sanctions and values of the long range of Jewish historic experience?

In every age, Jews gave expression to the goodness of their hearts through acts of loving-kindness. From time immemorial, Jews were trained by Biblical precept and Talmudic injunction to tend the sick, to feed the hungry, to shelter the orphan, and to protect the widow. Hostels for the wandering stranger, hospitals for the sick, homes for the aged were built by every important community on synagogue premises. These institutions were the normal features of the Jewish way of life. But no community in any of the great historic Jewish settlements of Babylon, Germany, Spain or Poland would base its claim to fame on these grounds.

The fame of Jewish communities rested on its scholars, the academies they founded, the disciples they raised, the books they composed, and the influence they wielded by their learning and wisdom. No program of social service, however vital and efficient, ranked in value with the academies of higher learning. In Jewish history, there was no ersatz for Torah.

It is in this historic light that we must view exultantly the rise of Jewish institutions of learning in this country. America is destined to become the scene of a Jewish renaissance if only American Jewry will be true to its historic calling.

As in former days, Spain succeeded Babylon, and Franco-Germany was followed by Poland and Lithuania, so now there is rising up under our eyes a potent American Jewry which is impulsively seeking avenues to express the Jewish genius that inheres within us. It is devoutly to be hoped that innate Jewish wisdom will prevail in our community councils; that our communal leaders will realize how vital our institutions of learning are for our spiritual survival as Jews. For let this warning be heeded. No Jewish community will survive in history or will be remembered a hundred or five hundred years hence, if it neglects and starves the institutions that are the reservoirs of its spiritual existence.

Chanukah, the Festival of Dedication, known also as the Feast of Lights, is celcbrated for eight days beginning on the 25th day of Kislev, which this year begins on Tuesday evening, December 1.

Chanukah is a gay holiday and is appealing to both the young and old. To develop the Chanukah spirit in your homc, involve your children in the preparations for the holiday; the making of home decorations, the buying of the menorah, the sending of Chanukah cards, the planning of parties and the cxchanging of gifts. On each night of the holiday, the lighting of the candles in the Menorah should take place in the presence of the entire family.

more than 2100 years when Judea was under the domination of a Syrian monarch named Antiochus who sought to coerce the Jews into the worship of idols. Led by the famed Maccabeans, the Jews resisted and, after eight years of guerrilla warfare, routed the enemy and rededicated the Temple in Jerusalem which had bcen desecrated by the pagans.

The story of Chanukah is recounted in the Books of the Maccabees, which form part of the post-Biblical collection of semi-sacred literature known as the Aprocrypha.

An entertaining program will also be presented. Marshall Izen, an unusually talented artist who has delighted audiences throughout the country with his sophisticated humor and piano wizardry. will entertain the guests. Mr. Izen has appeared on many T.V. programs including Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," the Kate Smith Show, Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts," where he was a winner, and subsequently on CBS-TV on "Godfrey and His Friends." Mr. Izcn has recently completed nine weeks at the Rcubam Bleu, where his act won high acclaim.

For this occasion, the Parents Association has also engaged Arte E. Johnson, a young comedian and a talented singer, who will present a varied program of humor and song. Mr. Johnson, who played in the Broadway success, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," is an artist in his field and is well known to theatre-goers.

Sr. League Launches Diverse Fall Program

The Senior League, at its last open meeting, heard Sidney L. Liskofsky of the American Jewish Committee discuss the McCarran-Walters Immigration Act and the amendments proposed by Sen. Lehman and others. His talk was most informative and thoroughly explored the provisions, ramifications and significance of the laws. The League was especially honored that night by the presence and words of the Synagogue president, Jacob Klein, who recounted the congregation's moving experience in sponsoring the Bar Mitzvah of a refugee youth from Poland.

On November 8, the League held its second fund-raising affair of the season, an evening of Hi Jinx, which, despite the limited vestry facilities, proved most successful.

Thc League also launched its study group with a discussion of the Book of Job on November 11 at the home of Barbara Lang. The subjcct was ambitious but the fourteen members who participated more than met the challenge with earnest opinions and stimulating questions which will lead to further study.

On November 19 the League heard Harry Simonhoff, author of "Under Strange Skies," at an open meeting marking the observance of Jewish Book Month. All interested congregants are invited.

Sisterhood Will Meet At YMHA in January

Sisterhood's gala and successful Brunch and Theatre Party was held on Wednesday, December 2. After brunch at the Astor, the group saw the Broadway smash hit "Tea House of the August Moon."

The subject of "Human Rights and the Status of Women" will be presented to Sisterhood by an authority on this topic at its next meeting on Tuesday afternoon, January 19.

Due to the noise of the building construction, the Sisterhood cannot hold its meetings in the Vestry Room for the next few months. In true neighborly fashion, however, the YMHA at Lexington Avenue and 92nd Street has given permission for open meetings to be held in its Kaufman Art Gallery. All Sisterhood members should make every effort to attend these meetings.

(In keeping with a new policy of reprinting material of interest to the congregation, we print below a brief digest of Rabbi Noveck's address at the United Synagogue Convention in Miami, Florida, on November 18. Copies of the full speech will be available in the near future.)

Leadership is one of the crucial problems confronting the Jewish community today. We have in our synagogues and organizations many efficient administrators, technically able. But all too often creative leadership—that rare ability to guide and teach and move every group member to do and give of his best—is sorely lacking.

What does such leadership consist of? Insights may be gleaned from the spiritual biographies and autobiographies of the great men of our day, published in such numbers in recent years. In one form or another, they describe the influences that moulded their lives and helped them to rise to leadership. In the life story of each of these personalities there was some moment of personal discovery, a decisive gestalt in which each found his direction and life goal, a sudden illumination which came without conscious effort.

Sometimes it is a poem or a book that stimulates such a luminous moment. Martin Buber, for example, visiting the scene of his childhood, picked up a book about the Baal Shem Tov, the founder of Hasidism, and he was overwhelmed: "Something Jewish awoke within me and I comprehended the idea and perceived my responsibility to teach the Philosophy of Hasidism to the world."

Sometimes it's a particular experience. Moses, wandering with his sheep in the desert of Midian, sees the burning bush and feels the call to return to Egypt and redeem his brethren. Isaiah, at the time of the death of the king, wanders into the temple and in a vision hears the call to leadership.

But on the whole in our tradition the road to leadership has taken long hard years of effort and preparation. The moment of personal discovery, the call to creative activity has come only after a long period of incubation and the gradual maturation of much thinking and living. Jewish leadership has been preeminently an intellectual and moral one. From Ezra and Hillel to Saadia and Maimonides, and even including Solomon Schechter in modern times—they were all cultural personalities who, like Plato's philosopher-kings, rose to eminence after years of study and learning.

We too in our synagogues, if we want to develop creative leaders, must give real emphasis to adult study and living. What must be the point of stress in our adult education programs if we are to produce the right kind of leaders? What areas of study shall we offer?

The first goal of adult Jewish study —and I speak of the systematic courses which every Board of Trustees is morally obligated to set up for its congregation—is to furnish a framework of meaning for our Judaism. We hear a great deal these days about the return to Jewish life, as manifested by new buildings and enlarged memberships.

What is actually happening is not a renaissance, however, but a surge of moral restlessness, a sense of longing and questing spirit. Our adult programs should be meaningful and relevant, furnishing some of the security people cry out for. They really want to know what a mature interpretation of the God Idea is, what meaning prayer has in a scientific age, what we believe about immortality. Our adult programs must interpret our tradition, and deal with the heart of the religious experience, its inner mesage and vital essence.

Secondly, the content of our adult education must emphasize the ethical aspect of our tradition. Judaism should speak out against the low moral tone of our society, the passive acceptance of and acquiescence to corruption in high places.

Why have we abnegated all social action to the secular organizations? Doesn't religion have the power to speak on peace and war, group relations, the United Nations? Isn't freedom of speech our concern, and have we nothing to say about the witch hunting that bedevils our world?

One of the great principles of Judaism, taught us by the Prophets, states that wherever there is falsehood, injustice, hypocrisy or insult, whatever be the source, it is the function of a human being who respects himself to stand erect and speak his mind to all the world. Our study programs should inculcate in us this prophetic spirit and make us react with righteous indignation and even wrath to moral lapse wherever it occurs.

Finally, our needs can be well served by studying the tradition not only for its theological and ethical content but for its psychological point of view. If we have learned anything in our "age of anxiety," in the fifty years since Freud, it is that we are not really rational creatures and that reason all too often camouflages the emotions. So many members of our congregations are living "quiet lives of desperation," outwardly tranquil but inwardly seething with conflict. There is a steadying power in the accumulated wisdom of our ancestors which we ought to try to convey. Our tradition should offer some aid in making lives whole, and bringing serenity of spirit. What does Judaism have to say about anxiety, depression, grief, the problem of self-acceptance? An adult program that overlooks this hunger of the human heart for security and inner peace is not exploring all facets of our heritage.

I do not wish to overstate the case. No intellectual approach alone, such as our adult education programs offer, can remake the human personality. But study of Judaism, based on the needs of the hour, geared to the inner cravings of our people, if it is really systematic, arranged for with care and pursued with zeal, is one of the synagogue's best methods.

Jewish leaders are not born, They have to be made. And adult study is a most useful building tool.

YOUTH NEWS

The teen-agers of The Halutzim Society have been enjoying a very successful season.

On November 8, the group welcomed back their former leader, Rabbi Sanford Hahn, who gave an extremely interesting talk on "Jewish Life of a Teen-Ager in a Small Town."

In keeping with the vigorous round of events of the Halutzim Society, on November 22, the group was host to the youths of Temple Ansche Chesed. At this gathering, representatives from both Temples debated the very pertinent topic, "Resolved: That Israel's raid on Kibya is justifiable." Those debating the "pro" side were, Joe Tulchin, Margo Weiss, Suzanne Sheskin and Roger Waldman.

For a change of pace, the group very graciously accepted an invitation from Rabbi Zackerman of the famed Hillel Foundation, to meet him at City College for a special Chanukah program on December 6. This fun-filled afternoon consisted of a discussion on Chanukah, folk dancing and refreshments.

As is customary, the group will hold its annual Chanukah dance on Saturday evening, December 12. This year it will take place at Temple Ansche Chesed, and promises to be quite a gala affair, including delicious refreshments and a new band. All teen-agers are cordially invited to join in on the fun.

For further details, phone Roger Waldman at EN 2-4334.

Parents Sponsor Holiday

The Parents Association took an active part in celebrating the Festival of Chanukah and in making the holiday inspirational and meaningful.

Parties, which featured dancing, games, and refreshments in keeping with the tradition of the Holiday, were held in the various classes of the Religious School. Mrs. Bernard Grauer, chairman, and Mrs. Emil Foster, co-chairman, were in charge of these festivities.

On Sunday evening, December 6, the Parents Association sponsored the annual Chanukah Party for the entire membership of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The invocation by Rabbi Simon Noveck and the traditional ceremony of lighting the candles by Cantor Putterman were inspirational features of the celebration.

Entertainment and refreshments followed. A vote of thanks goes to Mrs. Hector Ritey, chairman of the affair.

Why Not
Come to the Synagogue on the Sabbath?

"How to Face Grief" is Topic of Adult Classes

By ETHEL ALTSCHUL

The fourth in the Major Lecture Series dealing with Basic Problems in Personal Living was held in the Main Synagogue on Monday, November 23.

"How to Face Grief" was discussed by Dr. Marion E. Kenworthy from the psychiatric point of view and our own Rabbi Simon Noveck from the traditional theological point of view.

Dr. Kenworthy is Professor of Psychiatry at the New York School of Social Work, as well as Chairman of the Treatment Center, Psychoanalytic Society. She is also a member of the Board of Directors of the New York Psychoanalytic Society, the Board of Child Adoption Committee of the Free Synagogue and Menninger Foundation, the Citizens' Committee on Children, and the National Association for Mental Health.

Rabbi Noveck pointed out that the Jewish attitude towards grief was not a recent development, but had its roots in Biblical times. "Jewish tradition," he stated, "sets a pattern that permits the individual to express his grief and regulates his actions, thus helping to assuage his sorrow."

Dr. Kenworthy felt that religion played a great part in helping the individual master sorrow. She stated that grief is absorbed, and that religious faith aided in the acceptance of grief and sorrow. However, when this absorption and ultimate acceptance are not achieved, then there is great need for psychiatry.

from the desk of the Rabbi

(With the commencing of the third series of "Milton Steinberg Lectures in Jewish Theology" on January 4, Rabbi Noveck has selected the following excerpts from our late Rabbi Milton Steinberg's writings expressing his views on Theology.

"Teach me Thy ways." mankind demands of a silently inscrutable universe. What is this panorama that unrolls itself before man's contemplation? Is it a monstrous horror ground out by some blind chance with no more significance than a "tale told by an idiot" or is it the outward manifestation of the Phenomenology of Spirit? And man—what is his place in the whole? Is it that some poor player fretting his brief hour out into silent futility or that of some necessary part of the whole without whom the universe in its totality cannot find completion?

These are the questions to which men demand responses from their churches and to which at all times religions have given answer. No religion is worth its salt that has no food for the intellectual hunger of men. That is why every great religion has been prolific in theologians and philosophers. Job, Philo, Augustine, Maimonides, and Aquinas—all offer testimony to the fact that it is an indispensable function of churches to furnish their communicants with a philosophy of the universe, that religions must satisfy man's demand for a knowledge of the meaning of things, that they must, either through a God idea or otherwise, give him a sense of cosmic significance.

The possibility and adequacy of cosmic schemes taught by the church, the extent to which such world pictures can be disinterestedly rational, these are just now irrelevant questions. The fact is that without a theology, a religion is a jelly. The fact is also that every great church has answered cosmic questions by a philosophy.

"There is one plea", writes Will Herberg, "I would venture to make. It is an appeal for a renewal of Jewish theology". It cannot be that the ancient People of the Book possesses no religious. no theological. no prophetic Word for our time.

A need exists. a great and crying need, for just that analytical exposition of the Jewish religious outlook to which this exhortation summons us. Failing it, Judaism will be poorer and less nourishing than it should and can be . . . The quest after the truth . . . is an end in itself, a pursuit requiring no external justification for Israel to live in the fullest, richest consciousness of God and the good, for the individual Jew to be illumined by it, constitute purposes of which we may properly say what the rabbis said long ago concerning the study of Torah: for this you are created.

The following are, in my opinion, the pre-conditions for a Jewish theology equal, I think, to the circumstances of modern Jewish living or its inner necessities.

First: it must be open and receptive to all the winds of doctrine, no matter what the quarter from which they emanate . . . Second: no attempt at theologizing ought to be undertaken except on the basis of a full, intimate knowledge of Judaism . . . Third: possessing its own character, Judaism is no jelly fish of a faith, complacent towards any and all religious notions. No new insight or value, no fresh interpretation of an old one is, speaking generally, ac.

Parents' Reveal Plans, Aims, for '54 Season

As 1954 hopefully comes to life, the Parents Association reflects upon its record of achievements during the current season.

The main purpose of the organization is to bring about a closer cooperation between the home and the Religious School, and to establish a helpful bond between the parents and the teachers.

During the Chanukah holidays, parties were held in the traditional manner in all the classrooms. These were highlighted by the annual Chanukah party held on Sunday evening, December 6, and sponsored by the Parents Association for the entire Synagogue membership. Despite the rainy weather, the affair was exceptionally well attended. A belated vote of appreciation to Mrs. A. Stangel, who was chairman of decorations, and the following youngsters who helped transform the Vestry into such a festive setting for this celebration: Ronald Gurfein, Geraldine Klein, Irene Klein, Joel Siegel, John Stangel, and Elliot Zucker.

The Executive Board of the Parents Association has voted unanimously to present each child who becomes Bar Mitzvah or Bas Mitzvah with a silver Kiddush cup, as a lasting momento of this important occasion.. This presentation will commence in the immediate future.

Beyond all else there must be no effort at claiming that what is a novelty in fact has all along been present in Judaism, or to "slant" interpretations of the Jewish tradition to give a show of reasonableness to such a claim.

Men's Club Prepares For Jan. Hobby Night

The Men's Club after three serious, stimulating and provocative meetings has scheduled a change of pace for the next get together. On Tuesday evening, January 19, at 8:30 P.M., the program will be more informal and sociable.

"A Man Needs A Hobby" is the theme for the evening. Dr. Sigmund Siegel will be the moderator and after speaking briefly will introduce various members of the Club and their unusual, interesting or amusing hobbies.

Tentatively, at this writing, the following men will participate:

Saul I. Ritter—a collector of miniature furniture.

Dr. Harry Neivert—a gadgeteer.

Jacob Boorstein—a culinary and chemical magician.

Monroe Heyward—a treasure hunter.

Dr. Samuel Stern—a numismatist specializing in ancient Israel.

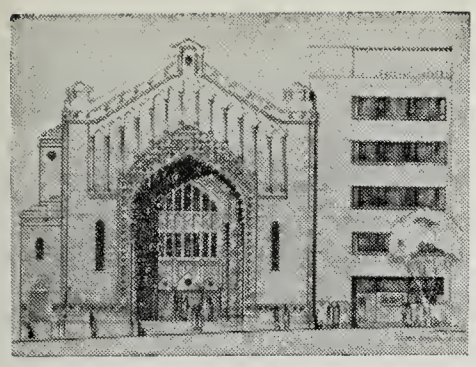

These hobbies will be on display before and after the meeting. If any other member of the Club has a hobby which would be interesting to the rest of the group and could be displayed, it is not too late to get in touch with President Milton Sivek at his office (CI 5-6793) or home (EN 9-3060).

Human Rights, Women; To be Sisterhood Topic

Sisterhood's next meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 19 at 12:30. The topic of "Human Rights and the Status of Women" will be discussed by an outstanding speaker. This is another lecture in the series on the United Nations and should be of particular interest to members, all of whom are urged to attend and bring their friends.

Since the Vestry Room cannot be used during the construction period, Sisterhood is pleased to announce that special arrangements have been made to hold this and subsequent open meetings at the YMHA on Lexington Avenue and 92nd Street.

In addition to Sisterhood's regular program, a documentary film for Federation will be shown. The film, entitled "That the Deaf May Speak," was taken at the Lexington School for the Deaf, one of Federation's agencies.

Parents' Association to Hold Services; Sidney Hook to be Guest Speaker

The Parents Association will conduct the Friday Evening Service at the Park Avenue Synagogue on Friday, January 29, at 8:30 P.M. Dr. Sidney Hook, distinguished teacher, educator, and philosopher, will be the guest speaker and will discuss: "What is an Educated Person?"

Born and educated in the City of New York, Dr. Hook received his doctorate in Philosophy from Columbia University after intensive study with John Dewey and F. J. E. Woodbridge. A University Fellow in Philosophy, Dr. Hook has twice been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for research in Philosophy in Germany and Russia. In 1945, he received the Nicholas Murray Butler Silver Medal upon his publication of "Hero in History," in which he distinguished himself in the field of philosophy and education.

DR. SIDNEY HOOK

As a teacher, Sidney Hook has had a singularly successful career. At present, he is Professor of Philosophy and Chairman of the Department at the Washington Square College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, New York University. One of the chief organizers of the Committee for Cultural Freedom, the Conference on Methods in Science and Philosophy, and the Conference on Scientific Spirit and Democratic Faith, Dr. Hook has always stood in the forefront of organized effort to preserve and extend the heritage of freedom in America.

Dr. Hook is the author of several publications. Among the best known are: "The Metaphysics of Pragmatism, from Hegel to Marx"; "Reason, Social Myths and Democracy"; "Education for Modern Man"; and "A Study in Limitation and Possibility".

In speaking of Sidney Hook's "Education for Modern Man", John Dewey, the eminent philosopher, said: "Those who desire serious understanding of present controversies, of present defects, equally with present promises of improvement, will find this book without par. We shall be fortunate if it becomes a guide-book for public understanding and public active effort."

Religious School Shows Rapid Growth

The Religious School has sought, during these many years, to meet the educational needs of our children as felt by them, as recognized by their parents, and as envisioned by the pulpit and the faculty. The cooperative efforts of each has resulted in the phenomenal growth or our school. The parents, who have sought the best type of Jewish education for their children, have helped the school maintain its educational standards, select a fine faculty and develop a valuable curriculum.

This year our Religious School has the largest enrollment in many years. Our three-day-a-week Hebrew Department is the largest in our history:

Hebrew Department — 131

The growth of our Hebrew Department may be attributed to the general acceptance by the congregation and the community that Jewish education requires more than mere attendance at a one-day-a-week Sunday School; the continued attendance of the post-Bar Mitzvah whose parents recognize that Jewish education does not end with that ceremony; and, the desire of parents to begin the Hebrew education of their children at an early age.

Lower Age for Hebrew Department

The School Board, recognizing the needs of the parents who seek a rich and Jewish education for their children, has decided to lower the age for entering students in the Hebrew Department. In September 1954, all children above the age of 9 will attend the Hebrew Department two afternoons during the week and on Saturday morning.

The opening of the school to children of nine will give the school a greater opportunity to work with the child in his more formative years when the demands of his secular school and his outside intrests have not become too burdensome. The child will have an opportunity to grow with the tradition and customs of Judaism. Educational studies, also, show that the most effective and natural language instruction is achieved when taught to the student in his earlier years.

It is the sincere hope of the School Board, the Pulpit and the Faculty that all efforts to widen our educational program will develop in our students a knowledge of a basic understanding of Judaism and, at the same time, inculcate in them an identification with and an appreciation of Judaism.

My Day

(Not the same as Eleanor Roosevelt's column, but nevertheless My Day.)

At the suggestion of one of our Board members, I am writing this column so that some of our Board members, Advisory Council and the membership body may have some idea how their President spends some of his time.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 25th—Attended services 8:30 to 10 P.M. Sent condolence letter to family of deceased member.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 26th—Attended services 9:45 A.M. to 12 Noon. Two members who celebrated wedding anniversaries were given Aliyahs and were blessed by Cantor and Rabbi. Called on June Rosenthal at the Hospital, 68th St. and 1st Ave. Called on Harry Altmark at Beth Israel Hospital.

SCHOOL NEWS

Open School Week

The students of the Religious School will play host to their parents during the week beginning January 25.

Parents of the students in the Hebrew Department are invited to observe the classes and to discuss the work of the students with the teachers. On Saturday morning, January 30, parents are urged to join in worship with the members of the Junior Congregation.

The Primary Department classes will be visited on Sunday, January 31. In addition to observing the classes, parents will have an opportunity of enjoying a special program on "The Sabbath" presented by all the students as a culmination of their recent classroom work.

Annual Pedagogic Conference

The Annual Pedagogic Conference for teachers in congregational schools was recently held, at Ansche Chesed, under the auspices of the Principals' Council of the Board of Education of United Synagogue Schools.

Teachers, representing nearly 40 schools, had an opportunity to enjoy an interesting, rich and constructive conference devoted to "The Teaching of Jewish History." A major feature of the conference were the four workshops on various phases of the subject. Martin Leichtling, principal of the Religious School, conducted the workshop devoted to "Teaching History in the Upper Elementary Grades."

Ner Tamid Award

Teddy Pincus, patrol leader of Boy Scout Troop #600, was presented with a Ner Tamid Award by Rabbi Noveck at a recent Junior Congregation service. The Ner Tamid medal is awarded to the scout who has completed the requirements of work and study in Judaism and has successfully passed an examination given by the Rabbi. Other members of the troop hope to fulfill their requirements for this award before June, 1954.

Sr. League Hears Recording Of Adult Classes Lecturer

The Senior League open meeting on December 17, featured an experiment in the utilization of part of the regular Adult Education main lecture course. The first, and rather controversial, talk given by Dr. Iago Galdston on Psychiatry and Religion was played back on the tape recorder and was discussed by Rabbi Noveck in person. Dr. Galdston's talk had finally, in fact, to be read by the chairman, but this did not diminish the audience's response to it and Rabbi Noveck's remarks.

On December 20, a seasonal party for members was held, and January 14, another study group meeting took place at Miss Ethel Drachsler's home.

The open meeting on January 21, featured a panel discussion by League members on some aspects of Israel's role in the Near East and their effect on American Jewry's attitudes and responsibilities.

Sisterhood Will Hear "Israel, Jordan Story"

Sisterhood's highly successful Open Meeting on Tuesday, January 19 was held at the YWHA at Lexington Avenue and 92nd Street. The "Y" has been most cooperative in offering its facilities to Sisterhood for this and subsequent meetings. The guest speaker, Kanleshwar Das, Officer in the Division of Human Rights of the United Nations, gave an interesting and instructive lecture on "Human Rights."

At the next meeting, to be held on Tuesday, February 16, Sisterhood is privileged to present Reuven Dafni, Consul and Chief of the Bureau of Public Information of Israel, who will tell "The Unwritten Story of Israel and Jordan."

Mr. Dafni is one of the unsung heroes of Israel. When in his teens he left Poland and went to Israel. During the British mandate he served in the army; he was a parachutist and participated actively in underground work.

Mr. Dafni will give Sisterhood Israel's side of the Kibya incident. This subject has been given widespread publicity. This is the opportunity to hear the facts.

As is customery in February, Brotherhood month, the Men's Club will celebrate with a program entitled "New Techniques of Achieving Brotherhood." Prominent representatives speakers from the American Jewish Congress, Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee will hold a symposium on the subject.

The recent course on "Basic Problems in Personal Living," sponsored by the Committee on Adult Education of our Synagogue has come to the attention of the Seminary, and a great deal of interest is being manifested in this adult educational program.

Three Courses Begin In Adult Education

At the final session of the Milton Steinberg Lectures in Jewis Theology on Monday, January 25, Dr Theodore Friedman, Chairman of the Committee on Jewish Law and Standards of the Rabbinical Assembly of America will discuss, "Can We Live By Jewish Law? —A Conservative Approach."

The following new courses will start, independently of the first semester, and registration is open to all.

"By-Paths in Jewish Literature"—Rabbi Mordecai Waxman, who will conduct this course, will take up some of the side-paths in Jewish literature in the belief that there are many things to be learned about Jewish life from this literary meandering. Extracts from the original sources will be made available to each student. These classes will start on January 25, at 8:00 P.M. At the first session "The First Detective Story"—Book of Susannah will be discussed and on February 1, the topic will be "The Globe Trotter"—The Travels of Benjamin of Tudela.

A reading on "Jewish and Christian Existentialism" will be given by Professor Albert Salomon of the Faculty of the New School for Social Research. This course will start on February 1, at 8:00 P.M. The first session will deal with Kafka's "The Castle", which illuminates the pattern of human forlorness in the hopeless search for God.

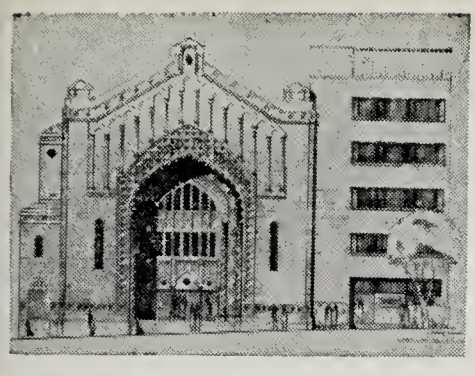

"Moral Dilemnas of Our Age" will be the subject of the Main Lecture Series, starting February 1, at 9:00 P.M. This is a series of six lectures devoted to the problem of right and wrong in our contemporary society. At each session ethical teachings of Judaism as one of the important areas of living will be presented and the applicability of these principles to our modern world will be discussed. "The Nature of Jewish Ethics" is the first topic in this series.

In addition, Cantor Putterman's Choral Group will continue, as well as the classes in Beginner's, Intermediate and Advanced Hebrew. New registrants for these classes are welcome.

Emanuel Celler Will be Guest Speaker Feb. 5

REP. EMANUEL CELLER

Congressman Emanuel Celler will bc the guest speaker at Friday evening services on February 5, at 8:30 P.M. His topic will be "Israel's New Problems."

Representative Celler who spoke at the Park Avenue Synagogue in 1951 on "The Jew in Congress," has always been in the forefront of the battle against prejudice and bigotry. He successfully pushed through his own bill which greatly liberalized the treatment of displaced persons.

As a member of Congress for more than thirty years, and Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of that body, he is thoroughly conversant with pressing political issues.

In the fall of 1948 he visited Israel for the first time and has since returned in December 1951, and November 1953. He has just completed a trip to Rome, Israel, Pakistan, India and Egypt in connection with the refugee problem and Point IV. His discussion of Israel should be one that all members will find of interest.

Over 200 Members Attend Synagogue's Annual Dinner

Over 200 members attended the annual Congregational Dinner-Meeting of the Park Avenuc Synagogue on Sunday evening, January 31, at the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Croydon.

After a full course Kosher dinner, in a warm congenial atmosphere, members partcipated in the interesting program and listened with enthusiasm to the speakers. Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman contributed to a meaningful evening.

After an address, by the President, Jacob Klein (this appears on Page 2), Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, delivered the annual Congregational Report of the Year's activities (see Pages 3 thru 6).

Officers of the Synagogue and Trustee for the Board of Trustees were duly elected and installed. A motion to increase the number of trustees from 30 to 33 was unanimously voted upon by the congregation.

School Board Head to Discuss "Lincoln" at Feb. 12 Service

On Friday evening, February 12, a special program commemorating Lincoln's Birthday will be held. Victor Herwitz, a member of the Board of Trustees and Chairman of the School Board, will speak on "The Religion of Abraham Lincoln."

Mr. Herwitz, a lifelong student of Lincoln will discuss the religious ideas of Lincoln, his attitude towards Jews and his opinions on organized religion. He will also include in his talk, Lincoln's relationship to the Jews and the Jewish community of the Civil War period.

letter to the editor

Dr. Bernard Heller, Professor of Jewish Ethics and the Philosophy of Religion, at the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, delivered the third in the series of Milton Steinberg Lectures in Jewish Theology on Monday evening, January 18, on "The Jewish Experience of God." Following this lecture, the letter which we are printing below was received.

Dear Mrs. Robinson:

I want to use the medium of your Bulletin to express my deep appreciation to the Park Avenue Synagogue and to Rabbi Noveck for the opportunity which your esteemed invitation afforded me to participate in the Milton Steinberg Lectures in Jewish Theology. It also afforded me the opportunity of seeing how an able and far visioned Rabbi in Israel is carrying out the noble tradition in Judaism—that learning is a life-long quest.

From Rabbi Noveck's addresses (an account of the substance I frequently get from friends who attend the Park Avenue Synagogue's services), from the reports of his educational work with children, young folks and adults, and from other varied activities in which I know he plays a fine role, I see in Rabbi Noveck a worthy successor to an eminent predecessor.

My most hearty congratulations to the Park Avenue Synagogue on Rabbi Noveck's outstanding achievements in face of difficulties which he has surmounted most creditably.

Sincerely yours,
Dr. BERNARD HELLER

Message of the President

The only message I have for you this evening is the one embodied in a paper I read at the United Synagogue Convention at Miami Beach last November and is entitled "What the President of the Park Avenue Synagogue Does to Make for an Interested Membership."

Not being completely unprepared, I have been giving some thought to just what it is that the President of the PAS does. I could supply the answer by giving a long list of various duties performed, and I may give you some indication of that later on. On the other hand it doesn't seem that one can divorce the acts performed from the nature of the office, its meaning and relationship to the synagogue as a whole. I think probably the better question would be not what does the President do, but what is the Presidency meant to do.

And the Presidency of a synagogue is an honor and there is a reward. I think the Presidency is an honor by definition. Its origin is to honor God, who honors His children, who in turn honor Him through the synagogue.

When I was a young man we did honor to God almost exclusively through prayer. But times have changed. Today the synagogue, like the government, is a service agency. Much as many of us may regret it, prayer alone does not seem to be enough to keep us Jews together. Therefore, we have had to revise our ideas of the synagogue, and its place in the modern community. In doing that the Presidency of the synagogue has come to have, or should have, a meaning which I think transcends the purely religious and ritualistic aspects. Thru him the synagogue can have a place in the home and in that way, the home brought to some extent into the synagogue.

This is what I mean: I think we have to start off with the premise—which, of course, has always been true—that the synagogue can exist only so long as it attracts the younger generation. There are two ways that the younger generation can be appealed to. One is group activities along lines familiar to them. The other way, and I might say that this of course, applies to all of us, regardless of age, is to appeal to them as individuals. I think most of us have come to realize today at least, that a synagogue can no longer stand on the steel and bricks which are its physical foundations. Unless our parishioners are treated as say 700 individuals, (that is our membership roster) rather than as one lump, there can be little more than a Rosh Hashannah and Yom Kippur membership.

I think that if we see the synagogue through such a light, the role of the President becomes almost automatic. After all it is his function to carry through as a layman, the social purpose of the synagogue.

If he merely attends Shul on Saturday, goes to an occasional funeral and graces the monthly Men's Club smoker, then he is doing little to buttress the steel and the bricks. On the other hand, if as a fellow member of his Synagogue and community he takes a personal interest in the individual member, something on the order of an "extra curricular uncle," then the member becomes important. In that way, and I think only in that way can the synagogue survive as a modern social force. Mind you, I am not suggesting that the President take the place or usurp the duties of the Rabbi or Cantor. There is indeed room and need for an harmonious partnership.

If we are agreed as to the importance of the personal touch, I don't think we need generalize on how the touch is to be placed. That will depend upon the individual officer. In my case, I try to personally acknowledge, on behalf of the synagogue, as a lay body and not in a spiritual sense, all of the important events which take part in the life of the individual member. Wherever possible, I try to be personally present at such events. The extent to which the individual President can do this naturally depends upon his own interest and time. I can only tell you from my own experience that every act that I do in a personal way seems to have real meaning for the recipient. In turn the gratifica-

by

SANFORD H. COHEN
Chairman of Board of Trustees

January 31, 1954

Following precedent, it becomes my pleasant duty as Chairman of the Board of Trustees to submit to you, a report of the activities of the Synagogue in the past year, with a broad pattern of the accomplishments and achievements and general information on all factors of Synagogue life.

The Board of Trustees is your administrative manager and its various committees operate under its direction and report to it. These Committees have submitted comprehensive reports but, by custom and agreement, I will summarize these reports in order that too much time may not be consumed in the recitation of each report even though they are of great interest and more detailed than I can give.

These Committees have worked laboriously and faithfully on the task appointed, and to each member, and to the respective Committees, my thanks and the thanks of the Board of Trustees for their interest and co-operation. Perhaps greater justice would be done if the Committee Chairman was called upon to render a report, but having waived this privilege I shall, nevertheless, call upon each of them to rise.

The major accomplishment of the year was, without doubt, the actual commencement of the construction of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building. It was evident that this Memorial had to begin with the raising of the funds from you, the Congregants of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The amount required looked staggering and perhaps was, but the Committee, organized as the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, with Isidore M. Cohen as Chairman, and Milton Weill, as Co-Chairman, worked diligently and received pledges of approximately $513,000., of which the sum of approximately $351,700. has been paid, leaving a balance of $163,000. unpaid.

These figures, however, still leave us short of our goal because the payment for the adjoining site and other commitments in connection with the drive require additional funds. We look especially to those who have not as yet contributed.

Special thanks is due to Mr. Isidore M. Cohen whose untiring efforts and personal appeals made the pledges possible. To obtain the balance required for the completion and the equipment of the building. I have appointed a special committee with Mr. Isidore M. Cohen as Chairman and with whom I hope you will cooperate. I ask Mr. Isidore M. Cohen to rise.

Consideration was given to and investigation made of some buildings in the area of the Synagogue to see whether they were available for use as the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building. It was always felt that a school building contiguous to the Synagogue was desirable and of great value. There was little hesitancy when the site to the west of the Synagogue was available, and after acquisition, plans were prepared and filed and ground broken on July 3, 1953. Subcontractors have submitted bids to the HRH Construction Corporation, of which our member and Trustee, Saul Horowitz, is President, and which has acted as supervisor without fee, and the walls are now beginning to rise.

This statement is an over-simplification of the trials and tribulations that beset the Building Committee. It had to contend with a 22 foot frontage where movability for operations was restricted and the old building had to be connected and tied in. Other complications necessitated increased cost in order that the full use might be obtained.

The Vestry Room of the Synagogue will be greatly enlarged, decorated and equipped with air-conditioning and a fine, new kitchen installed, all of which will result in additional income.

A new heating plant and a large automatic elevator are being installed for servicing both buildings. Entrances from the new building to the Synagogue have been provided on several floors.

The funds for a magnificent facade, with appropriate designs which will add to the beauty of the new building, have been contributed by Mr. William Heller, a member of the Board of Trustees.

There will be 10 classrooms for the School and other rooms for the use of the constituent organizations; a music room and office adjoining for the Cantor; an office for the Rabbi and a Chapel to accomodate approximately 100 persons.

That tells only part of the story. As a member of the Building Committee, and as Chairman of the Board, I want to attest to the unstinting effort and time given by Mr. Saul Godwin, Chairman of the Building Committee, in the management of this enterprise, and that is what it is because one can only realize the magnitude of the job when one has been connected with and observed it. It is with pleasure that I call upon Mr. Saul Godwin to rise.

Each year the Chairman of the Board, no matter whom he may be, always reports with a glow and pride the activities and cooperation received from the Sisterhood and its members. This year is no exception. The Sisterhood, as you know has a three part policy of service, namely, service to its members, to the Synagogue and to the community. Each of these has been fulfilled. It has had its usual meetings with a varied program of speakers, with a course in the United Nations and on vital topics of the world we live in. I shall not attempt to list all the functions in which it participates in and sponsors for and on behalf of the Synagogue, such as the Purim Party, the presentation of the Jewish Home Beautiful, the Simchat Torah reception and the Congregational Seder, which was organized by one of its members, Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow.

Having pledged an original $25,000. towards the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, which was paid last year, it made a second pledge of $25,000., on which $9,000. has already been paid, and another payment upon the balance will be presented as the result of a successful brunch and theatre party which took place on December 2nd, 1953 with Mrs. Sanford H. Cohen as chairman, Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow as Co-Chairman, Mrs. Saul Granett as Chairman of the Journal and Mrs. William Karmiol as Treasurer, which realized approximately $11,000. Due to that function and its other money-making activities we of the Synagogue know that the second pledge will be fulfilled. This total pledge of $50,000. by the Sisterhood should be a stimulant to all of us for the successful completion of the building. Sisterhood is a strong and active constituent. Its growth and development continued under the splendid leadership of Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, its President. Will Phyllis Siegel rise, and I give her the privilege of making any announcement that she may wish.

Chairman's Report

The principal beneficiary of the new building, as intended by the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, will be the Religious School. In spite of the present handicap of location and construction of the new building, continued progress has been made. The Primary Department, which meets on Sunday has a total registration of 127 students in six classes. The three-day-a-week Hebrew Department, with 140 students registered in 5 grades of instruction, is the largest in the history of the School and is one of the largest congregational schools in this area. Of the newly admitted students to the School, 60% were children of members, and the parents of the others are prospective candidates for Congregation membership.

Consideration is being given to a lowering of the age requirement for admission to the Hebrew Department to those over the age of 9 instead of 10. It has been discussed by the School Board and is being further considered by the latter and by the Board of Trustees.

There are many factors to be considered on both sides of the question and no decision will be made until the needs of the children are weighed.

A new feature has been the introduction of a student-teacher program for post-confirmands. This has already been in successful operation, which not only serves the students but offers an opportunity to the confirmands to further their own education.

On the High Holy Days services have been provided on three different levels. College students of members of the Congregation were offered and received seats for worship in the Vestry and the young teen-agers and the students in the Religious School had a choice of two services at the Jewish Museum; the use of the latter being provided by the Jewish Theological Seminary. A regular service was provided for the young people who can read Hebrew and a special service for the younger children who cannot read Hebrew.

This review of the more comprehensive report submitted by the School Board cannot give a complete understanding of what the Synagogue has done and intends to do to improve and foster the religious education of the children. Much credit must be given to our principal, Mr. Martin Leichtling and our Rabbi Simon Noveck. The needs of the children are paramount and there is continued thought for improvement wherever possible.

Upon recommendation of the Parents Association the School Board has arranged for Dr. Milton Levine, eminent pediatrician and author, to give to the students of the Religious School between the ages of 12 and 14, a course on sex education which will present the best concepts of modern psychology and the fundamental beliefs of Judaism.

A Youth Program Committee is in the process of formation for the purposes of developing a program for the teen-ager.

Having thus summarized the work of the School Board, it is my pleasure to congratulate them on their accomplishments and to convey the thanks of the Board of Trustees to them and to the Chairman, Mr. Victor Herwitz, who has dedicated himself to this work. Will Mr. Victor Herwitz please rise.

The smooth workings of the various constituent organizations are exemplified by the interest and enthusiasm with which the Parents Association cooperates with the School Board, and its activities have become an important and integral part of Synagogue life.

As I just stated, its recommendation of a new concept in the school curriculum in helping the children meet the emotional problems of the day, particularly in regards to sex, recognizes that the Synagogue as well as the home has such a responsibilty. I am certain this program will meet with success under these auspices and especially under the guidance of the well-known pediatrician and author on mental hygiene, who has been engaged. But the Parents Association has been active in other fields and has contributed from the proceeds of its Cocktail Party the sum of $1,500. to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, and sponsored the Chanukah Party of the Synagogue last month. Its work with the United Parents Association and the Jewish Education Committee has been fulfilled and it has developed a closer relationship between the home and the school and has made the holidays more meaningful for the children and has stimulated the parents' interest in Judaism. These are but a few of their activities. It is an important constituent organization and I know that it will continue to grow. Will Mrs. Lillian Helpern, Chairman of the Parents Association, please rise.

The House Committee, chairmaned by Mr. Mortimer D. Millheiser, has had a minimum program this year because of the building operations which precluded the making of any improvements, but it has under discussion possible physical improvements to the interior of the Synagogue after the completon of the new building. Will Mr. Mortimer D. Millheiser please rise.

Again I must refer to money with which the Synagogue must be maintained and its activities supported. We have had the good fortune of having, what is commonly known as "a watchdog of the Treasury." When a treasurer is so assiduous as to be in daily attendance at the Synagogue, checking receipts and disbursements, it is obvious that your Chairman of the Board is relieved of a great responsibility. Will Mr. Arthur Ochs please rise.

Mr. Ochs works with the capable Finance Committee to which is referred all matters regarding the budget appropriations. It reports steady growth and improvement in the fiscal affairs of the Synagogue. For the past fiscal year ordinary receipts amounted to $140,138. and ordinary expenses of $112,681., which resulted in an excess amounting to $27,457.00. These receipts were in excess of estimates and the disbursements were less than budgeted, which indicates careful planning. On the recommendation of the Finance Committee, and approved by the Board of Trustees, there was turned over to the Treasurer of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund the sum of $31,646., representing the net proceeds from the sale of the Westport house used as a summer residence by the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg and his family.

We are in the midst of the current fiscal year and it is expected that the financial position of the Synagogue will not be impaired. We, as a Congregation, must not, however, accept the above glowing report in a spirit that we can rest and not seek to improve our financial situation. We are going into a large maintenance program with the new building and while it is expected that income will be derived therefrom, I must be so bold as to ask all of the congregants to maintain their interest and especially their yearly contribution to the Synagogue. It has been said a Synagogue or other institution must show a deficit. I am sure that that is not necessary in the Park Avenue Synagogue. The Chairman of the Finance Committee and my predecessor as Chairman of the Board is Mr. Ben Sack, who will please rise.

It is the responsibility of the Membership Committee to pass upon the admission of new members and to recommend the annual contributing dues. The Synagogue now has an enrollment of 738, which is the largest membership ever had, and has 21 new applications for membership. It is of interest that in a new enlarged air-conditioned Vestry, seating will be increased by approximately 30%. Since elevator service wil be included, there is every probability that the Vestry will become as attractive for worship as the main Synagogue floor or the balcony. This increase of membership signifies interest in our services on the High Holy Days as planned and rendered by our Rabbi Simon Noveck and our Cantor David Putterman, with a reputation which has continued to grow over the past twenty years. This year Rabbi Noveck will have been with us for five years. The services of Cantor Putterman has paralleled that of Rabbi Milton Steinberg. We must not, however, let our enthusiasm over this increase in membership dull our activities.

The work of the Membership Committee and of the Pulpit will, of necessity, be increased. Ezra Cohen, the Chairman of the Membership Committee, has been a leader in this work and in Synagogue activities for many years. He knows the problems and I personally appreciate his and the activities of his Committee because of its importance and the sincere effort in its operations. Will Mr. Ezra Cohen please rise.

Every member of the Congregation knows of the work of the Bulletin Committe. The Bulletin is issued and should be received by you every two weeks. Its purpose is to inform you of the activities of the Synagogue and its constituent organizations and of the Pulpit. I do hope that you read these Bulletins as they are received and that you will give the Bulletin Committee the benefit of any ideas which you may have for improvement. The Bulletin Editor is Mrs. Elcanor Robinson. Her only reward for the monumental job of gathering the information and setting up the Bulletin can be the hope that you read it. Thc Bulletin Committee which sets the policy is chairmaned by Mr. Nelson Ruttenberg. I would like both Mrs. Robinson and Mr. Ruttenberg to rise.

The Law Committee plays an important part in our affairs for even a Synagogue has legal problems. It concerns itself with revisions and amendments to the By-Laws. I ask Mr. Harold H. Levin, Chairman of the Law Committee, to please rise.

Because of the interest and fine work of the women, the Nominating Committee and the Board of Trustees recommended, and will elect tonight for the first time, a woman in the person of Mrs. Freda Sack, a member of the Sisterhood, as a full member of the Board of Trustees and joins our Board with the President of Sisterhood.

The other constituents on which I am now reporting represent the younger active congregants who foster the interest of their age groups in Synagogue life and have maintained a large measure of success. During the past year the Board of Trustees has elected to the Advisory Council the Presidents of three of these constituent organizations who have served with vigor and intelligence.

The present Men's Club, of which our late Trustee and President, Dr. E. D. Friedman was one of the organizers, has served its membens and the Synagogue with credit and has established itself as an important member of the national program fostered by the United Synagogues of America with affiliated Synagogues. It maintains the interest of its members in its monthly meetings which are unusual in content, and often is a spearhead for some of the Synagogue activities. It sponsors a Men's Club Sabbath on a Friday evening each year, and last month a theatre party netted $5,500., which will go toward its pledge of $15,000. to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund. Its President this year is Mr. Milton Sivek, who has followed in thc tradition of Joseph Howard Katz, his predecessor who is now Vice-Chairman of the Board, and I want to say a wise counsellor to me and the Committee on which he serves. Will Mr. Sivek please rise.

A group which has grown and maintains its status in the Synagogue in spite of losses by reason of the removal of some members to the suburbs, is the suburbs, is the Young Married Group consisting of approximately 30 couples. Their program has stimulated the interest of their members in Jewish life and in secular problems with astonishing success. Many speakers were invited to address them, such as Meyer Levin, author and newspaper man, Rabbi Harold Weisberg of the Reconstructionist Foundation, Rabbi Morris Kertzer, formerly Rabbi of this Synagogue and now with the American Jewish Committee, Robert Sherwin and Rabbi Simon Noveck who spoke on the subject "The Role of Ritual — Past, Present and Future" with special reference to the problems facing the members of the group. Their future program will be of similar interest and their President, Asa D. Sokolow has also been named a member of the Advisory Council. Will Mr. Asa D. Sokolow please rise.

A similar organization with a different program is the Mr. and Mrs. Group which holds meetings at the home of a member and invites speakers to discuss comparative religion, which has resulted in informative and provocative discussions. The Chairman of this Group is Mr. LeRoy A. Weisburger. Will Mr. Weisburger please rise.

Last year was the 13th year of the Senior League, which had been known as the Junior League and as it was approaching that "Bar Mitzvah" year changed to ts present name. It has a strong cultural, philanthropic and social program. Included in this program is discussion on religion and psychiatry and a study on the "Book of Job." Its future plan includes a discussion of the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg's book "Basic Judaism."

The League made a second pledge of $5,000. to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund and has made contributions to the Jewish Theological Seminary Benjamin Sack Fellowship and to the United Jewish Appeal and to Federation. It has a stimulating social program and is affiliated with the Young People's League of the United Synagogue of America, having sent eight delegates to the National Convention in Chicago last year. Since they have grown into a Senior League they recommend, to which I add my endorsement, the formation of a Junior League for the late teen and early twenty age group to function on that social level. The President of the Senior League, now also a member of the Advisory Council, is Mr. Robert A. Barzilay, whom I will ask to please rise.

This year the program of the Adult Education Committee has had its greatest success, outlined, prepared and fostered by our Rabbi Simon Noveck. The attendance has established a new record for the Park Avenue Synagogue and, perhaps, for other Synagogues in the country. It has always had the principle that attendance at the lectures and discussions should not be limited to members. The time came, however, when it was felt that the program which had a budget of $3650. should in a small way be paid for by non-members. This year the experiment was begun with a charge of $2.00 for registration for the series of lectures for non-members, without loss in attendance. This resulted in an income of $433.50. The activities of the Committee have continued to reflect the increased interest in Jewish education among the members of the Synagogue and the community. It included the third annual series of The Milton Steinberg Memorial Lectures in Jewish Theology: lectures on the Contemporary American Jewish Community by Rabbi Noveck; lectures on Reconstructionism: six lectures by Professor Albert Salomon, one of our members and a member of the Adult Education Committee and of the Faculty of the New School for Social Research; and a major lecture series on "Basic Problems in Personal Living" which were held on seven Monday evenings this past Fall, wherein the discussion was on the emotional problems confronted in this age of anxiety from the medical and religious viewpoints. This series had an attendance of from 200 to 525 persons and the discussion was followed by a question and answer period which was both provocative and informative. The details of the work of this Committee are stimulating and outstanding.

Last year there was the Eleventh Annual Service of New Liturgical Music by Contemporary Composers and the performance of the world premiere of a "Sacred Service for the Sabbath Eve" by the renowned American composer, Isadore Freed. This was organized and presented under the auspices of our Cantor David Putterman who also presented courses in Cantillation and Choral Music and courses in Elementary Hebrew for adults. On the occasion of the New Liturgical Music Service recognition was given to the twentieth year of service to the Park Avenue Synagogue by Cantor David Putterman.

As previously stated, the Adult Education Program, begun by the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, has been further developed and expanded by our Rabbi Noveck, who is also Director of Adult Jewish Studies of the United Synagogue of America and has a national reputation on the subject.

To him, Cantor Putterman, the members of the Committee, the Vice-Chairman Mr. Howard A. Kieval and to the Chairman of the Adult Education Committee, Mr. Harold R. Starkman, the appreciation of the Synagogue must go. I ask Mr. Harold R. Starkman, Chairman of the Adult Education Committee, to please rise.

After a recitation of the above activities there should be no impression, that there is any neglect of our religious services which still continue on a high plane. It is axiomatic that without Sabbath and holiday observances and services a Synagogue will disintegrate, dissolve and pass out of existence. Such services are the primary purpose of the Synagogue. Each of the holidays are fittingly observed and celebrated by both adults and the children.

The Ritual Committee concerns itself, as its name implies, with the religious services and any improvements which it deems advisable. Last year it made important recommendations, some of which were suggested by the Pulpit and some on its own initiative, which lent an improvement in the general atmosphere and conduct of the services, resulting in greater enjoyment and appreciation of the services. The Chairman of the Ritual Committee is Mr. Archie Thurman, whom I ask to please rise.

Assisting at services were members of the Ushers Committee, of which Dr. Marvin G. Robinson is Chairman. I will ask Dr. Robinson to please rise.

We seek encouragement for our spiritual leaders in asking for attendance at these services. Our services are attractive and tend to give spiritual satisfaction to the modern Jew.

There were 36 Bar Mitzvahs in the Synagogue the past year and the customary presentation of the Bible to prospective brides.

Special mention must be given to our President, Jacob Klein, for his devotion and service to the Synagogue and the Congregation.

With the awareness of all of the above I beseech your support in the programs which I have outlined.

The coming year will be a challenging one for all of us. The new building will give us additional problems necessitating cooperation from you, the Congregants, the Board of Trustees, the Officers, the Pulpit and each of the constituent organizations.

Our Secretary, Mr. Emanuel Rosenthal, long devoted to the Synagogue, and the staff are available to you at all times.

I close with appreciation for the assistance I have received during the past year and with great hope for the future of the Synagogue.

Annual Seminary Brunch Given by Synagogue

The Park Avenue Friends of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America held its annual Seminary Breakfast on Sunday morning, January 24, at the Hotel Croydon. Morris Joffe, Chairman of the Seminary committee, presided.

On this occasion, Saul Horowitz, member of the Advisory Council of the Park Avenue Synagogue was honored for his distinguished record of service to his community and congregation. Mr. Horowitz is supervising the contracting of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building. Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board, of the Synagogue, presented a scroll to the guest of honor.

The program for the breakfast featured a talk by Dr. Simon Greenberg, Vice-Chancellor of the Seminary, who was introduced by Rabbi Simon Noveck. Dr. Greenberg took his topic, "Standing Where Our Fathers Stood," directly from the latest Seminary film, "And The Bush Was Not Consumed," which had just been shown to the audience. Joel W. Schenker, the Semnary's national campaign chairman and a member of its board of overseers, also spoke on "A Layman's View of the Seminary."

Active on the Seminary Committee were: Archie Thurman, Co-Chairman Ezra Cohen, Mrs. Lillian Helpern, Jacob Klein, Rabbi Simon Noveck, Israel Oseas, Benjamin Sack, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, and Sidney Silberman.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Friends of The Seminary helps to maintain the program of this institution which prepares students for the rabbinate, the cantorate, and the field of Jewish education.

President's Message

tion for me is boundless. Therein lies the honor. To the extent that we of the synagogue executive, working with the Rabbi and Cantor can honor the individual member, we honor ourselves and our God. It is what I try to do. It is I think, what the President of a synagogue is meant to do.

SCHOOL NEWS

Sex Education

The School Board and the Parents Association have long recognized the need for the education of the pre-adolescent in the knowledge and understanding of wholesome relationship between men and women. The education of the pre-adolescent will prepare the child to more readily meet the physical and emotional changes of adolescence. Parents, books, pamphlets and the assistance of the experienced physician all play a significant role in the family life education of the youngster.

Dr. Milton I. Levine, assistant professor of pediatrics at Cornell University-New York Hospital Medical Center and eminent author and lecturer in thc field of sex education, has arranged to give a series of talks to the boys and girls, ages 12 to 14, beginning on February 10 and continuing through March 10. The first two lectures will be open to the youngsters and their parents.

Students enrolled in the Religious School, will be invited to attend the talks. Cangregants, whose children between the ages of 12 and 14 are not in the school, may call the school office to arrange for invitations to the course.

Men's Club Celebrates Brotherhood Month

The Men's Club, in commemoration of Brotherhood Month is presenting a symposium on the subject "New Techniques of Achieving Brotherhood." This will take place at the next meeting to be held on Tuesday, February 16, at 8:30 P.M.

This year the emphasis is on the methods of the Jewish group regarding interfaith and the club has invited a prominent representative of the American Jewish Congress, the Anti-Defamation League, and the American Jewish Committee, to participate in the symposium.

Nathan Perlmutter, of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, is a lawyer with broad experience in political and social areas on the national scene. He is a frequent contributor of articles to national political and social publications. Since affiliating with the Anti-Defamation League, he served as Civil Rights Director of its Mountain States Regional Office.

Mr. Perlmutter is now Assistant to the Director of the National Community Service Division of the A.D.I. His duty is to co-ordinate the activities of the League's 28 regional offices.

All members are asked to reserve the following two dates as well: Friday, March 5—Men's Club Sabbath and Tuesday, March 16—Father and Son (Son-in-Law or Grandson) Sports Night. If this latter meeting is as entertaining as January's "Hobby Night" it will be a most enjoyable evening.

Young Marrieds' Social To be Held at YMHA

The Young Marrieds will gather on Tuesday evening, Feb. 9 to socialize. The meeting will be held at the Y.M.H.A. at 92nd Street and Lexington Avenue and old time movies and games are planned. The social evening will give the group an opportunity to eschew and digest the last discussion on the Kinsey Report so aptly led by Robert Sherwin.

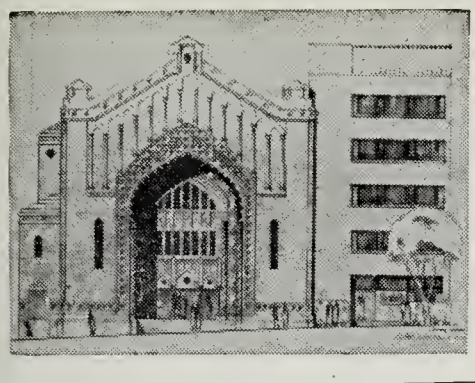

On March 9, the Young Marrieds will be addressed by Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer. He will lecture on "What is a Jew," elaborating on the different philosophies of Judaism, namely Orthodox, Conservative and Reform Judaism.

Rabbi Kertzer is no stranger to the group, as he was associate Rabbi of this temple until 1949. At the present time he is the Director of the Interreligious Activities Division of the American Jewish Committee. He also is Chairman of the Social Commission of the Synagogue Council of America and is President of the National Association of Jewish Chaplains. Rabbi Kertzer is a popular lecturer and has written two books, "With an H on my Dogtag" and "What is a Jew."

Rabbi to Edit Pamphlet Series On "Conservative Judaism"

During the past month Rabbi Noveck has undertaken to edit a series of pamphlets on "The Beliefs and Practices of Judaism—A Conservative Approach." He has invited several leaders of the Conservative movement, including Dr. Simon Greenberg, Dr. Jacob Kohn, Rabbi Mortimer Cohen, Rabbi Ira Eisenstein and others, each to write a pamphlet of five thousand words on a particular phase of Conservative Judaism. Thus far six pamphlets have been commissioned and several other writers have indicated their interest in this project.

Ten thousand copies of each pamphlet are to be published early this fall and distributed among the 425 Conservative congregations in America. Rabbi Noveck will edit and write an introduction for each of these pamphlets, which may eventually be published in book form.

from the desk of the Rabbi

The following article in the NEW YORK TIMES Sunday, February 14, contains a summary of a sermon delivered by Rabbi Noveck in the Synagogue on February 13.

Persons whose work fails to give them "a sense of achievement" were urged by Rabbi Simon Noveck to take part in community enterprises.

This would be a good way "to make the commemoration of Lincoln's Birthday a real part of American religion," the rabbi said in a sermon at the Park Avenue Synagogue. He is a director of the National Academy of Adult Jewish Studies and of adult education in conservative congregations.

"One of the great aspirations of every human being is to derive a sense of satisfaction and contentment in life," he said. Many seek it, he added, in "the religion in which we believe, the encouragement of friends who believe in us and the respect of our families."

But, he emphasized, speaking of the Jewish traditional concept of the dignity of labor, "no aspect of our tradition is more relevant to the times in which we live than this emphasis on the role of work."

Dissatisfaction Is Noted

"Most people," he said, "are dissatisfied with the work they do and therefore with their lives. Most of us work long hours and do not feel the zest and the exhilaration that comes from enjoying our work, whether in the upper reaches of society or in the ordinary walks of life.

"We may appear outwardly successful but not have the inner sense of divinity.

"Our work should give us a sense of achievement, a sense of pride. We ought to feel we are producing something and have pride in the quality of our output."

Describing the "sense of expressing one's self" as one of the most precious of experiences, the rabbi declared.

"People in the guild system of the Middle Ages had a feeling of special satisfaction. But in our machine age relatively few people can participate in creating anything."

The ideal solution, he went on, would be to "humanize industry and our technical system so as to allow more people to participate in making decisions in our social life."

"We should choose our daily work and influence our children to choose their daily work on the basis of anticipated future satisfaction," Rabbi Noveck counseled. Otherwise, he indicated, a balance must be sought by "seeking other types of work, in spare time."

Rabbi Noveck and the Synagogue's Seminary Committee respectfully urge all members of the congregation who have not yet done so to send in their pledges to the Seminary. Please send all contributions to Morris Joffe or Rabbi Noveck c/o the Synagogue.

Dear Rabbi Noveck

I can not begin to tell you how much I was moved by your wonderful speech at my bar-mitzvah. I am sure I will remember it all my life. My parents and I are agreed that the funds which I did not spend on a large party should be distributed in a worthy fashion. I am therefore sending you the enclosed to be used for such purposes of the Temple as you may deem best.

Sincerely
Daniel B. Penner

of view of the Bible, Talmud and Jewish tradition towards medical practice. Based on original research, Mr. Green will deal with such issues as the Jewish point of view on autopsy, euthanasia (mercy killing) and abortion.

Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, recently elected member of the Board of Trustees and well-known Obstetrician and Gynecologist, and Dr. Milton Helpern, Deputy Medical Examiner of the City of New York and eminent pathologist and authority on forensic medicine will draw upon their vast medical experiences and discuss the ethical basis of medical practice. Covering such questions as termination of pregnancy, abortion, etc., they will deal with these and other ethical dilemmas which confront the modern medical practitioner. And they will indicate whether, in their opinion, modern medical practice could be based on Jewish ethical principles.

On March 8, George Horowitz, of the well-known Horowitz-Margareten family, a practicing attorney and author of a recently published, comprehensive work on "The Spirit of Jewish Law", will sum up the point of view of the Bible, Talmud and Jewish codes of jurisprudence. Israel Oseas, member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, Vice-President of the United Synagogue of America, and also a practicing attorney, will present his point of view on the whole area of legal ethics.

At 8 P.M. there is still a choice of interesting classes which may be attended, which includes Professor Albert J. Salomon's course on "Jewish and Christian Existentialism", Rabbi Waxman's course on "By-Paths in Jewish Literature", Cantor Putterman's Choral Group and Hebrew classes.

The Congregation is requested to reserve Sunday evening, March 28, 1954 for a most unusual concert dedicated to the Cantors Institute of the Seminary.

Complimentary tickets will soon be sent to all of our members.

During this time, he was actively associated with many leading social agencies, including the National Probation Association, as regional director; the Mass. Conference of Social Work, as president; the John Howard Society, as trustee and the Habit Clinic for Child Guidance as president.

Discussing his appointment as dean, Dr. Johnson declared that "if freedom and security are to prosper in our society, the maladjustments which our technical age has helped create must be treated promptly, sympathetically and capably if they are not to overwhelm us."

Hebrew Department Party

The Synagogue Council of the Junior Congregation will hold a dance for the students of the Hebrew Department in the Vestry on Sunday afternoon, February 28. Peter Bienstock, president of the council, has announced that arrangements have been made for the serving of refreshments and for the calling of the square dances by a professional caller.

Visit to Spanish-Portuguese

During the month of February, the three upper classes in the Hebrew Department attended Saturday morning services at the Spanish-Portuguese Synagogue. The students were impressed with the dignity and the beauty of the service and, at the same time, observed the many differences between that service and the service at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Rabbi de Sola Poole welcomed the students at the kiddush that followed the service and complimented them on their ability to participate in the sepharadit service.

Boy Scout Sabbath

Troop #600 of the Boy Scouts of America, affiliated with the Religious School, culminated its observance of Boy Scout Week by conducting the services at the Junior Congregation. Maurice Malin, scoutmaster, and Teddy Pincus, patrol leader were assisted by some of the following scouts: Ronald Gurfein, John Wolf, Harry Pincus, David Savitz, Jay Goldblatt, Joseph Weintraub and Stephen Stowe.

Rabbi Noveck to Lecture At Colorado University

Rabbi Simon Noveck has been invited by the University of Colorado and the Hillel Foundation in Boulder to serve as guest lecturer on Judaism and the Jewish Religion during "Religion and Life Week," February 22 through 25.

The Rabbi will lecture to the Anthropology class on "Religion and Social Structure in the Jewish Community," deliver two radio talks on "Religion and Community Life" and participate in University Seminars on "Bible," "God, Heaven and Hell," "Church and Communism" and "Interfaith Marriage."

In addition he will meet with the Jewish members of the faculty of the University and address the Board of the local B'nai B'rith.

Parents Plan Parties, Workshops, for Purim

On January 29, the Parents Association conducted the Friday Evening Service at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Dr. Sidney Hook, noted author, lecturer, and Professor of Philosophy at New York University, delivered a very interesting and enlightening lecture on "What is an Educated Person?"

Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum, Mrs. Stanley Simon, George Heyman, and Bernard Weintraub participated in the reading of the English and Hebrew prayers. Several Bar Mitzvah boys served as ushers. Following the service, a large number of congregants participated in a stimulating question and answer period.

Again this year, plans are under way for a Purim Workshop under the chairmanship of Mrs. Stanley Simon and her co-workers, Mrs. J. Pincus and Mrs. A. Stangel. On Sunday morning, March 7, and on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, March 8 and 9 from 3:30 to 5:30, there will be an exhibit in the Vestry of various objects pertaining to Purim. These will include the Torah scroll, felt character masks, and other traditional felt fancies symbolic of the Purim festival. Instructions for making these, as well as pamphlets on the home observance of Purim, will be available to parents and youngsters.

The annual Purim parties will again take place in the class rooms of the Religious School and in the various homes. Mrs. Bernard Grauer and the class mothers will have charge of the arrangements for these festivities.

In conjunction with the School Board, the Parents Association has arranged for a series of lectures on Sex Education for boys and girls from 12-14 years of age.

The first two of these lectures were given on February 10 and 17 when Dr. Milton I. Levine, well-known pediatrician and associate attending pediatrition of the New York Hospital, Cornell Medical Center, addressed the children. Both lectures were unusually well attended by an alert group of youngsters who asked Dr. Levine many pertinent questions. Subsequent sessions will take place each week until Dr. Levine has completed his course on Sex Education for the pre-adolescent child.

Message From the UJA

The daily-increasing pressures against the people in Israel by their hostile Arab neighbors—blockade and boycott, border raids, an all-out propaganda war—have heightened the urgency of the 1954 United Jewish Appeal campaign, and have made support of this vital cause a "must."

Cargoes of food and other vital supplies for Israel's people are blocked from passing through the Suez Canal . . . A paralyzing Arab boycott is in effect not only against the Jews of Israel, but against firms which do business with Israel—even firms which employ Jews of any nationality . . . More than 400 Israeli men, women and children have been casualties of Arab border raids during the past two years . . . AND King Saud of Saudi Arabia has called for the destruction of Israel, even at the cost of ten million Arab lives.

Israeli's survival is threatened—and with it, the security of Jews throughout the world—unless we do our share. Through UJA we can and must help the immigrants establish themselves on the land and make themselves and the country self-sufficient, so that they will be able to withstand these terrible pressures. And through UJA we can also help Jews in danger and distress everywhere.

In 1954 we must do more, work more, give more to UJA so that Israel and our people can find peace. For their sake and ours, they must not stand alone!

Talmudic Encyclopedia V. Released by World Academy

The fifth volume of the Talmudic Encyclopedia, published by the World Academy for Higher Jewish Studies in Jerusalem, in conjunction with the World Mizrachi Organization, was just received in the New York office of the World Academy, 122 West 76th Street.

The Encyclopedia Talmudith is a digest of Halachic literature from the Talmudic period to the present time, alphabetically arranged. A large number of outstanding scholars are on the editorial board, with Rabbi S. Y. Zevin as Editor-in-Chief.

The editors and contributors of the Encyclopedia spare no efforts to assemble, summarize and interpret each item, with references to same scattered throughout the pages of Talmudic literature from the time of Mishnah down to the current era.

Every code of law, which is intended to help regulate the life of a people, must necessarily be fully understood and definitely interpreted before the people can obey it and be guided by its precepts. Each article before it is accepted for publication in the Encyclopedia, goes through many stages of thorough research and expert editing.

The fifth volume just published, deals with the letter "gimel." The most outstanding articles in it are those dealing with "Goy" (Nation and Gentile) and "Get" (bill of divorcement). The article "goy" covers nearly eighty pages and is an exhaustive research of the real definition of the term and clarifies many of the laws regarding same which are scattered through the entire gamut of Jewish Halacha.

The article "Get" covers nearly a hundred pages and provides a comprehensive discussion of the subject. It is also accompanied by a number of photographs of bills of divorcement dating from the Gaonic period, and a Hebrew translation of the bill of divorcement, which is invariably written in Aramaic.

Seminary Establishes New History Center

Another outstanding contribution to the American Jewish community has been made by the Jewish Theological Seminary with the establishment of its new American Jewish History Center.

This research institute, devoted to gathering material on the history of Jewish life in the United States, will be directed by Professor Moshe Davis of the Seminary faculty and Professor Allan Nevins, famous historian at Columbia University.

The third Work Conference of the Moral and Spiritual Resources Project of National Conference of Christians and Jews was held on Tuesday, February 16, at Roosevelt Memorial Lecture Hall, American Museum of Natural History, New York City.

The NCCJ Moral and Spiritual Resources Project emphasizes moral and religious values which are essential to the solution of today's crucial human problems.

The February 16 NCCJ Work Conference was but one in a continuing series. The first identified main social problems of the city that test common moral and spiritual resources. The second dealt with the specific issue of housing. The third concerned itself with "Changing Neighborhoods: Tensions of a Shifting Population." Dr. Luther Glick, City Administrator, keynoted this meeting with an address, and brotherhood citations were given to Father Charles Keenan, S. J., Rabbi Edward Klein and Canon Darby Wood Betts, the devoted co-chairmen of the League of West Side Organizations, a group vitally concerned with changing neighborhoods.

Purim Parties

An extensive Purim celebration is being planned by the students of the Religious School in cooperation with the class mothers and the Parents Association.

The holiday celebration will be highlighted by a series of individual class parties to be held on Sunday morning, March 14. The students are preparing costumes, masks and favors for the parties and are planning appropriate entertainment and games. The students in the Hebrew Department will hold their class parties on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 16 and 17.

Megillah Reading

The reading of the Megillah for students of the Religious School will be held on Thursday afternoon, March 18 at 4:30 P.M. in the Synagogue. Greggers will be distributed and the traditional hamentashen will be served at the conclusion of the service.

Parents of children in the Primary Department and in the Hebrew Department are invited to attend the service with their children.

Hebrew in High School

Prospective June graduates, from elementary and junior high schools, who hope to attend the High School of Science or the High School of Music and Arts are urged to select Hebrew as a major language for study. Students may register in these Hebrew classes by designating the language on the application for admission. Parents should note that Hebrew is taught at 28 high schools in New York City and is accepted for admission by most of the colleges in the country.

YOUTH COLUMN

by Marilyn Greenberg

During the past month, the teen-agers comprising the "Halutzim Society," decided that the time had come for a change in the program policy, if the group were to continue successfully.

The meeting of February 7, was devoted to a discussion of the question: "What Should a Synagogue Group mean to Us." We came to the conclusion that since ours is a United Synagogue Youth Group, we should devote the majority of our future activities towards attaining more of a Jewish consciousness through our progarm. Therefore, we shall no longer function as a purely social group, as we realize that our facilities do not enable us to compete with other social organizations.

The executive board has planned to set aside the next four meetings to a series of provocative discussions on Jewish interests. The main topic will be "What Does It Mean to be a Good Jew." and from this question will arise the first two discussions on "Can a Person be a Good Jew without observing Ritual," and "What is the Jewish Conception of God."

The executive board hopes that this new program will be heartily accepted by all the young people of the group.

Purim

The Megillah tells the story of Ahaseurus, King of Persia, Hamen, the Persian Prime Minister who wanted to exterminate all the Jews in the 127 provinces of his Empire, and of Mordecai and his lovely niece, Hadassah or Esther, who were able to save their people from the plot being staged against them. Hamen's conspiracy to destroy the Jewish people is thwarted by the heroism of Esther, the beautiful Queen, who risked her own life to save her people.

Puerto Rican Situation Studied by Sr. League

Following a rousing open meeting in January which featured a panel of Senior League members discussing Israel's role in relation to American and Near East policies, an equally stimulating meeting on February 25, dealt with the current Puerto Rican picture. Miss Carmen Miranda, social worker with the New York City Department of Welfare, gave a thorough and revealing talk on conditions in the island and in the Puerto Rican community here. A successful "Beaux and Arrow Dance" filled out the February program. The next open meeting, vestry conditions permitting, will be held on March 25.

The Senior League Study Group would like to buy or borrow several copies of Rabbi Steinberg's "As A Driven Leaf," which is now unfortunately out of print, and not easily available from the library. A card or call to Robert Barzilay, 333 West 86th Street, with information on the availability of the book would be greatly appreciated.

H.R.H. Construction Corporation, General Supervising Contractors of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building, require the exclusive use of the Vestry on and after May 1, 1954.

The Vestry will not be available for any purpose after that date until the completion of operations.

Mr. and Mrs. to Hold Meeting on "Buddhism"

The Mr. and Mrs. Group continues its comparative survey of religions. At its last meeting, which was held on February 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hoexter, the Group considered Hinduism and Jainism, and was addressed on these subjects by Mr. Satyendra Jain, a native of India, now studying in the United States.

The next meeting of the Group will be held on March 30, at 8:30 P.M. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Selig, 170 West 73rd Street, New York City. The Group will be addressed on the subject of Buddhism, by one of the outstanding priests of that religion in this country. A very interesting and informative evening is assured.

The Young Marrieds' Sabbath will be held on Friday evening, April 2, and Rabbi Noveck will speak on "Is Jewish Ritual Necessary for Mature Living?" He will discuss the religious, psychological and sociological values of Jewish ritual and ceremonials.

He will also deal with the responsibilities which the modern Jewish family has in creating a pattern of observance in the home, as well as the impact that these patterns have on child development.

Following the Service there will be a provocative symposium on the subject of the sermon led by Mrs. Charles Jacobson and Fred Krones, members of the Young Marrieds. All members of the congregation are invited to participate in this symposium.

Members of the Young Marrieds will also participate in the reading of the Services. They include: Norman Blumstein, Marvin Cohen, Dudley Greenstein, Lonis Heller, Mrs. Fred Krones and Mrs. Donald Schlessinger.

Mrs. Wm. Sporborg to be Sisterhood's Speaker At Services March 26

Sisterhood Sabbath, on March 26, will be highlighted this year by three noteworthy events. First and foremost is the guest speaker, Mrs. William Dick Sporborg. This charming and erudite woman has so dynamic a personality that the calls on her time are more numerous than she is able to accept; and the fact of her presence in itself is an indication of how highly the work of this Sisterhood is regarded on the local scene. Mrs. Sporborg's vast and varied experiences in Jewish, communal and international activities pressage an evening of stimulating and provocative thought for the congregation.

In addition five of the Sisterhood officers will lead the reading of the Service; and finally, the Synagogue Choral Group, completing a season of coaching with Cantor David Putterman, will augment the regular choir and provide the liturgical portions of the evening.

Excerpts from the Rabbi's Sermon

The renowned philosopher Santayana once defined piety as "cultivating the sources of one's being." In this remark Santayana caught the spirit of the religious or pious person. For such a person is not merely one who engages in religious exercises, rather he is the kind of human being who recalls from time to time the great moments of personal discovery when he first realized what he was to do with his life, who remembers, with gratitude, the men and women who early in life helped him along life's way, and who looks back to the great tradition in whose spirit he has been raised —and draws from it the inspiration to face the future.

As it is with the individual, so it is with the institution. For as Plato put it in his "Republic", an institution is but an "individual writ large". An institution which has reached maturity must pause from time to time in the midst of its activities and recall the sacred moments of the past which gave it strength and the impetus to move forward. It must pay tribute to the pioneers who laid the foundations and to the great tradition in whose name it has labored.

This is the purpose of this celebration and this is what gives it significance. We look back tonight to an important moment in the development of this institution which, if it had not taken place, may have altered the whole history of our Synagogue. The keynote tonight is unity and the strength which comes from unity. I am sure that something will be said tonight about both parties to this merger whose Silver Anniversary we celebrate, and about the fine relationship which has existed through the years between them: for not only were two institutions amalgamated 25 years ago, but two groups of people came together and some very warm friendships have developed . . .

Now it is my privilege to introduce the first of our speakers for this evening. He literally brings you greetings from the past. Rabbi Clifton Harby Levy was rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue, or rather the 86th Street Temple, back in 1890, and is, therefore, probably the oldest and best authority on our Synagogue.

25th Anniversary of Merger Feted By Members at Special Services

letter from Jacob Friedman

(The following is a letter by Jacob Friedman, Honorary President, read by Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.)

To my dear friends, members of the Park Avenue Synagogue:

The letter informing me of the celebration in honor of the 25th anniversary of the Park Avenue Synagogue and the 82nd Street Temple reached me just as I was ready to leave for Palm Sprngs. It is a great pleasure to send you greetings on this important occasion, particularly to the original members of both the Park Avenue and the Atereth Israel Synagogues who made this union possible. My sincere Mazel Tov to all of you.

The Park Avenue Synagogue dedicated its present imposing structure on Sunday, March 27, 1927 with a very colorful and impressive ceremony participated in by Mayor Walker, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Bishop William Manning and other celebrities. But despite its new building the Synagogue was in a very poor financial condition and we needed help. We, therefore, welcomed the possibility of a merger between the 82nd Street Temple and our institution. The negotiations lasted several months and it was primarily because of the efforts of the Weill family and Albert Fisch that the amalgamation succeeded. Early in 1929 the Atereth Israel voted to amalgamate with us.

The service in honor of the amalgamation took place on March 1, 1929 and it was an occasion I shall always remember. Two weeks later we held our annual meeting which had been deferred until the negotiations were brought to a happy conclusion.

Because of the merger I felt so encouraged and so optimistic that I gave a very glowing and rosy report, although we were financially still in a weak position. With the almagamation we gained about 60 members thus giving us a total of approximately 300. With the new members from the 82nd Temple and the funds they brought with them, we were able to pay off a loan from the bank which relieved me of a great deal of worry.

Year after year I pleaded for a special tax to be levied on each member in order to reduce the interest charges. The Board of Trustees, however, felt that I ought to make a strong appeal for donations on Kol Nidre and during the year.

Thus the Park Avenue Synagogue, like most institutions, had its share of difficulties. But I never lost faith that sooner or later our Synagogue would be recognized in the community if we could find the right leaders. The Good Lord heard my prayers and sent us the right officials who eventually brought us to where we stand today.

Though far away from all of you I am very happy to know that the Park Avenue Synagogue, the institution for which we labored, has made so much progress.

May you who are devoted to this Synagogue keep on working and may all your dreams in connection with the Synagogue come true.

I thank you, dear friends, for the honor you still bestow on me by remembering me at every occasion.

Sincerely,
UNCLE JACOB

message of the Board Chairman

(Remarks by Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.)

Mr. Jacob Friedman, who, as we affectionately know as Uncle Jacob, was President of the Synagogue until approximately 15 years ago and as the letter indicates, is deeply interested in its progress. He still retains that interest.

Board Chairman

It was during his administration that the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg and Cantor David Putterman came to our pulpit.

The activities of our religious and Hebrew School have been developed and broadened.

Our program of adult education, commenced nearly 20 years ago, has been expanded and became nationally known under the able guidance of our Rabbi Simon Noveck.

Cantor Putterman's leadership in his field has enhanced our religious services and the various courses given by him.

I trust that you, the members of the merged Synagogues, and our new members will show continued interest and activity in behalf of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

(Cantor Putterman introduced the Choir who rendered an appropriate psalm.)

Reminiscences by Milton Weill

In order to help me in my reminiscing, I went to the Synagogue last Sunday to look at the old scrap books—at the old minute books, copies of some of Jacob Friedman's speeches to refresh my memory.

Temple Atereth Israel was a little congregation on East 82nd Street, made up of a small group of ardent, devoted Jews, mostly German, French and Alsatian background, who were banded together for worship and prayer. Worship to them was not a duty—it was their way of life. There was no pretense or show about them—they were just a warm "gemutlich" group. There was nothing modern in their approach to services or Jewish education. This small band through Conservative Planning—a bit of real estate—the acquisition of cemetery grounds in Mt Carmel and Machpelah—never spending what they did not have—built up a net worth of some $150,000. With that "wealth" came ambitions to move out of the old neighborhood and build a new House of Worship. There were some from that congregation, I included, who felt that a merger with an existing congregation would be a more favorable step. Many dramatic sessions of the Board and of the membership were held and finally on December 19, 1928 a vote was taken that unanimously favored a merger. A committee was appointed to meet with other congregations on both the westside and the eastside, and the merger with the Park Avenue Synagogue was recommended.

I recall vividly the early meetings of the Board. There was difficulty to get a quorum together. Attending the Board meetings meant endless problems, often meant giving contributions to meet the current payroll, but through it all Uncle Jacob Friedman never got excited. He always was hopeful, and calmly tool refuge in his constant comfort "Gott wirt helfen."

I recall the $250,000 mortgage and the refusal of the bank to renew that mortgage unless all trustees went on the bond personally.

I recall how all of us sighed with relief when through the help of Joseph Lubin and Sam Lembert, the mortgage was transferred to the Williamsburg Bank and the personal guarantee eliminated. Since then the mortgage has been practically paid off.

After a few years of joint operation came the move to revitalize the Synagogue. As a result of that move our beloved Milton Steinberg became the Rabbi of the Synagogue. His close associate, Cantor Putterman had been invited to become the Cantor just a few months before.

Together, after the stormy difficult days, they brought peace, progress and growth, and helped, with a constant growing membership, to make the P.A.S. the important center in the conservative movement that it is today.

Parents Group Active In Purim Celebration

Again this year, the Parents Association took an active part in the celebration of Purim. On Sunday morning, March 7, and on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, March 8 and 9, Mrs. Stanley Simon, assisted by Mrs. A. Stangel and Mrs. J. Pincus, conducted a Workshop for the students of the Religious School at the Park Avenue Synagogue and for their parents.

There was a fine demonstration of the Torah scroll, costumes and masks, as well as instruction in regard to creating many Purim fancies. Pamphlets explaining the songs, games, stories, and food symbolic of Purim were available for all who attended.

On Sunday morning, March 14, the class mothers of the Parents Association, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Bernard Grauer, supervised the Purim parties held in the various classrooms. Refreshments in keeping with the Purim holidays were served to the youngsters.

Through the efforts of Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School, an excellent color film was shown to all the children. The movie, "Sons of Liberty", featured Claude Rains in the stellar role.

Eleazar Lipsky, son of Louis Lipsky, distinguished Zionist leader, will address the regular monthly meeting of the Young Marrieds on Tuesday evening, April 13, at the Y.M.H.A. at Lexington Avenue and 92nd Street.

Mr. Lipsky was an Assistant District Attorney in New York County for four years, and has since returned to private practice. He initially achieved prominence in Jewish affairs through the publication of a series of provocative articles dealing with the position of the Jews in Europe and the building of the Jewish homeland in Israel.

He is a former editor of the New Palestine Magazine, a member of the Executive Committee of the Zionist Organization of America, and a much sought after lecturer on Zionist and Jewish themes.

A novelist by avocation, Mr. Lipsky's most recent book is the popular "Lincoln McKeever", a Literary Guild Book Club selection.

Amy and David Putterman want to express their sincere appreciation for the many good wishes and expressions of friendship that they received during Amy's recent illness.

Although it would be impossible to answer individually the many hundreds of messages that have poured in, Amy and David were deeply touched by these expressions of love and affection and wish to take this opportunity to express their heartfelt gratitude to the members of the congregation.

Passover
The Festival of Freedom

(Condensed from Festivals of the Jewish New Year by Theodor H. Gaster.)

The festival of Passover is known in Jewish tradition as the "Season of Our Freedom." Its central theme is Release. On the seasonal plane, it marks the release of the earth from the grip of winter. On the historical plane, it commemorates the exodus of the Children of Israel from Egypt. On the broad human plane, it celebrates the emergence from bondage and idolatry.

In Judaism the story of the Exodus has long since been lifted out of a purely historical context. The Jewish attitude toward it stems from the premise that events transcend the moments of their occurance—that anything which happens in history happens not only at a particular point in time, but also as part of a continuous process and therefore involves as its participants not only a single generation but also—and more important—all who went before and all who follow after.

It is this ideal Exodus—this Exodus detached from a mooring in time—that is really celebrated in the traditional Seder service on the first two evenings of the Passover Festival.

The Seder—the word means simply "order of service" or "formal proceedure"—is at once a substitute for the ancient paschal sacrifice and a fulfillment of the Biblical injunction (Exod. 13:8) to retell the story of the Exodus to one's children.

The principal feature of the ritual is the eating of various foods traditionally associated with the departure from Egypt. These are: Matzoh, or unleavened bread; bitter herb (horse-radish), taken to commemorate the bitterness of servitude; and Heroseth, a mixture of chopped apples, nuts, raisins and cinnamon, which symbolizes the mortar in which the Israelites labored while they built the store-cities of Pithom and Raamses (Exod. 1:11). Moreover the meal is introduced by the consumption of parsley dipped in salted water. During the course of it, a minimum of four cups of wine must be drunk, recalling the four expressions used in Exodus 6:6-7 to describe God's deliverance of Israel. In addition, besides the food actually consumed, the shankbone of a lamb and a roasted egg have to be placed on the table. The former symbolizes the paschal offering, while the latter is, in all probability, a later importation from pagan custom and like the corresponding Christian Easter Egg, exemplifies the beginning of life in spring.

There is a strict religious protocol about the manner in which the ritual foods are to be eaten. The Matzoh, for example, consists of three cakes placed one above the other and popularly known as "the Priest, the Levite, and the Israelite." At the beginning of the service, the celebrant breaks the middle cake in half and sets one of the halves aside, wrapping it in a napkin. This, known as "afikomin," is subsequently distributed among the company and constitutes the last thing eaten at the ceremony. The bitter herbs, in addition to being eaten separately, are also served in a "sandwich" between pieces of matzoh, thereby carrying out to the letter the Biblical commandment (Exod. 12:8) which enjoins that unleavened bread and bitter herbs be eaten together as an accompaniment of the paschal meal. At the conclusion of the supper, an extra cup of wine is filled for the prophet Elijah who, it is believed, will come on Passover night to herald the final redemption of Israel. The main door of the house or apartment is flung open for a few moments to permit his entrance.

Those present at the Seder Ceremony are expected to adopt a casual, reclining posture, symbolizing that of free-men at ancient banquets. In some parts of the world, however, everyone appears in hat and coat, with satchel on back and staff in hand, thus re-enacting the Departure from Egypt.

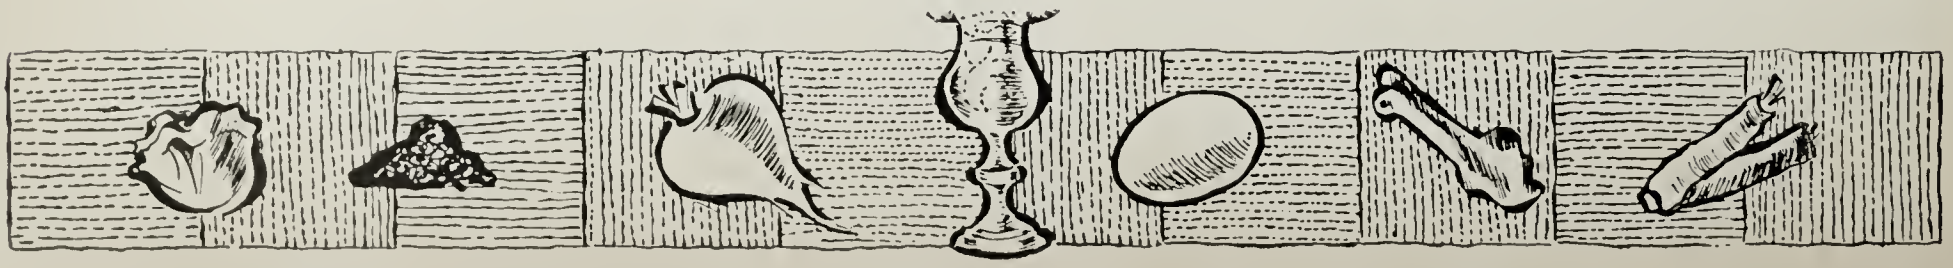

The narrative portion of the ceremony is known as the Haggadah, or Recital, and consists in a repetition of the Scriptural story of the Exodus, embellished by rabbinic comments and elaborations and rounded out by the chanting of psalms, hymns and secular songs.

The narrative is introduced by a series of questions (Mah Nishtanah), asked by the youngest member of the company: Why is this night different from all other nights?" All that follows is regarded as the answer.

High points of the Haggadah are: the "Section of the Four Sons", the "Litany of Wonders", and the chanting of "Hallel."

Properly understood, the Seder ceremony is no mere act of pious recollection, but a unique and inspired device for blending the past, the present, and the future into a single comprehensive and transcendental experience. The actors in the stories are not merely the particular Israelites who happen to be led out of bondage by Moses but all the generations of Israel throughout all of time. In an ideal sense, all Israel went forth out of Egypt, and all Israel stood before Sinai; and all Israel moved through darkness to the presence of God, in the wake of a pillar of fire. Whenever the trumpets sound in history, they sound for all ages; and when the bell tolls, the echo lives on forever.

Rabbi Noveck will be the guest on Estelle Sternberger's radio program, Monday, April 12, at 5:15 P.M. over Station WLIB. The subject discussed will be "The Soul and Mind of the American Jew" as related to adult education plans.

MODEL SEDER

The model Seder will be conducted by the students of the Religious School under the guidance of Rabbi Noveck, on Sunday morning, April 11, in the vestry of the Synagogue.

Each class in the school will be responsible for the decoration of its Seder table. Many classes have planned appropriate holiday centerpieces which have both a traditional and a modern significance. The reading of the Haggadah will be led by the students from the Hebrew Department. The students in the Primary Department will join in the singing of all of the Passover melodies.

Mrs. Bernard Grauer and her committee of Class Mothers, with the assistance of the members of the Holiday workshop, have arranged for the preparation and the serving of the food at the Seder.

SPRING RECESS

The Spring Recess of the Religious School will take place during the Passover week. School will close on Saturday, April 17, and re-open on Monday afternoon, April 26.

Laymen's Conference

The Board of Education of the Metropolitan Council of United Synagogue recently held a buffet-supper conference on "The Laymen's Role in Building the Congregational School." Two hundred men and women, representing forty-two congregations in Greater New York, met to discuss problems dealing with the function of the School Board, the School Board and the faculty and the relationship between the School Board, the Parents Association and the community. The exchange of ideas and experiences of the speakers at the various seminars was most stimulating and provocative. It was particularly interesting to note the rapid growth of congregational schools throughout the city and in the suburbs.

Edward Kaye, Martin Leichtling, Bernard Weintraub and Mrs. Harry Zucker represented the Park Avenue Synagogue at the conference. Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. Joseph Pincus, with two ladies from the Socicty for Advancement of Judaism, arranged for the buffet-supper that was served to the delegates.

Holiday Workshop

The Parents' Association Holiday Workshop, under the guidance of Mrs. Stanley Simon, has played, over a period of years, an important role in the education of the children and their parents.

However, the task performed by the workshop before Purim, this year, was so unusual and so impressive that the faculty and students of the school wish to publicly express their thanks to Mrs. Simon, Mrs. Abraham Stangel and Mrs. Joseph Pincus. The more than one hundred parents, who visited the workshop, individually expressed their words of appreciation for the exhibit.

Sisterhood to Discuss Puerto Rican Problems, Arranges Visit to Blind

On Tuesday, April 20, Sisterhood will hold an open meeting and dessert luncheon at the YMHA, Lexington Avenue and 92nd Street, at 12:30 P.M. The guest speaker will be Dr. J. Cayce Morrison, Director of Education and Adjustments of Puerto Ricans in New York.

Dr. Morrison's study is conducted as the result of a grant from the Ford Foundation in connection with the Board of Education. What Dr. Morrison has to say on "Pathways to Puerto Rican Integration" should be of interest to all.

The popular radio concert master, Bertram Hirsch, of Gustave Haenschen's orchestra—Album of Familiar Music, a violinist of outstanding merit, has most graciously volunteered to perform at Sisterhood's Spring Party at the N. Y. Guild's home for the Jewish Blind on April 27.

The program will feature Elizabeth Kurz, a top flight classical pianist, and the beautiful and talented lyric soprano, Laura Manning, who will render several popular numbers.

Members are requested to call Helen Luebeck, TR-7-0959, so that car seating can be arranged.

Parents Group Plans Family Night; Humorist, Magician Will Perform

A Family Party Night will be held under the auspices of the Parents Association on Wednesday evening, April 14, at 8:15 P.M. in the Vestry of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Extensive plans are underway for this social evening to which all members of the Congregation and their families are cordially invited.

The well-known humorist, Irving Davidson, will entertain the audience with his interpretation of the stories which most clearly express the character of the Jewish people. A graduate of the College of the City of New York and of the Fordham Law School, Mr. Davidson is a lawyer whose hobby has been to collect stories of Jewish wit and humor. He is often called the "Jewish Ripley" because of his lectures on Jewish historical oddities. Many members of the Park Avenue Synagogue will remember Mr. Davidson as a former principal of the Religious School under the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

ABRAHAM HURWITZ

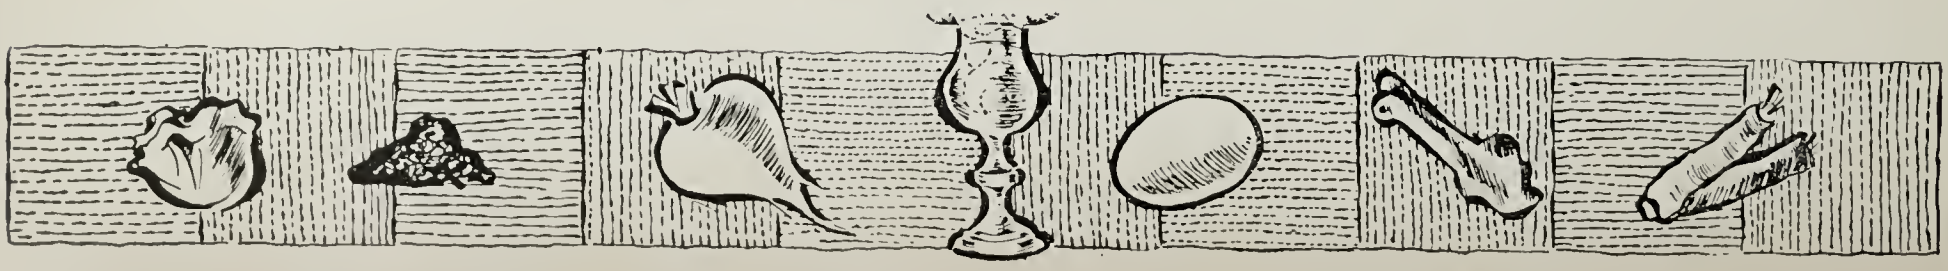

"Peter Pan, the Magic Man" best describes Professor Abraham B. Hurwitz, who will entertain with his "Magic with a Message." Dr. Hurwitz, who has been a College instructor for eighteen years in the field of recreational, creative education, has also conducted the Magic School of the Air, WNYC. Known as the "Million Kid Magician," Dr Hurwitz is the originator of the use of magic as a medium of Jewish education. His articles on the "Psychology of Entertaining Children" have appeared in many publications. Recently he was awarded the Supreme Knight Jewel for outstanding contributions in Magic Art.

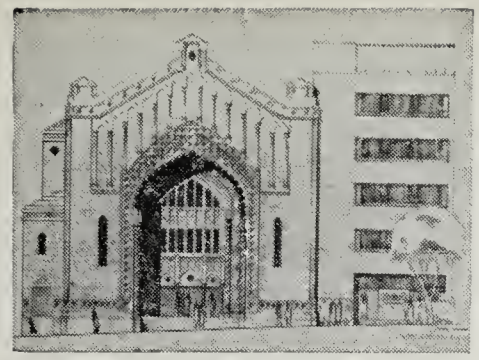

IRVING DAVIDSON

Under the supervision of their teacher, Mrs. Kaplan, several youngsters from the Religious School will entertain with musical selections. The Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts of the Park Avenue Synagogue will also take part in the program, and a group of boys and girls of the Religious School will act as ushers during the evening.

Another feature will be a Passover Workshop conducted by Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. A. Stangel. The traditional symbols of the Passover table will be on display. There will also be many suggestions which will help to create a fine holiday atmosphere in the home. Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum will be in charge of refreshments.

Help Stabilize Economy In Israel Through UJA

The words "Scorpion Pass" and the date of March 17, have become household phrases of horror to countless Jews all over the world. The murder of the eleven men, women and children in the bus on the main highway through the Negev to Elath has piled extra tension on the already critical situation in Israel.

This Arab-pattern of ambush and massacre is all too well known. Their determination to destroy Israel by economic and political pressures imposes additional burdens on our over-burdened people.

It imposes, too, an even greater responsibility on us to make the 1954 United Jewish Appeal campaign a success. Only through economic stability can Israel win peace from the Arabs.

UJA Chairman Sends Report from Morocco

Excerpts from a letter sent by Mrs. A. Louis Oresman, Chairman, Advisory Board, to Mrs. Albert S. Liebers, Director, Women's Division.

Morocco was fantastic . . . let me tell you about the Jewish quarter of Casablanca and Marrakech. No words can convey the degradation of the Mellah—you have to see it and smell it. Can you imagine a human being living in a dog kennel? That's the size of some of the human habitations. Or picture a sixteen year old Jewish boy living in a village in the valley of the glorious snow-clad Atlas Mountains . . . who never can feast his eyes on the exquisite beauty that surrounds him. Why? The JDC arrived too late to save his sight.

The three T's—tinea, trachoma and tuberculosis—curse the Jews in Morocco. They are caused by poverty and the horrors that poverty breeds—filth, malnutrition and apathy.

But the great work of Joint Distribution Committee surprised and enchanted me. To visit the schools, the dispensaries, the religious schools, the agricultural and vocational set-ups and the feeding stations, is to make the heart glad. It is as if you were taking an elevator that lifted you from the fifth to the twentieth century. Eyes to the blind, health for the disabled, knowledge to the illiterate, and most of all—shedding human kindness—that is JDC.

But some are neglected—there is not enough money to care for all the children in the Mellah. There would be if more Americans could see the horror—and then the hope. I yearned to tell our women what I had seen, for I felt sure they would respond with added contributions. Tell them to take my word—that what our money is doing for the despised and poverty-stricken of the Mellah is wonderful.

Egon Fink, the dynamic, warm JDC worker who guided us, stopped a little girl. She looked clean and smiling, proud of her ribboned hair. She was a pupil of the Alliance School, coming home to the Mellah. He asked her name and I was shocked to hear that my maiden name was hers. Of Sephardic origin, she had landed after centuries in the Mellah, while I—All men are brothers—could I have had a better example?

Tell the women to give more, especially the leadership who have hearts and understanding.

SCHOOL NEWS

Registration Month

The Jewish Education Committee has designated this month as REGISTRATION MONTH. During the month, Religious schools in the Metropolitan area will register all new children who will be coming to the school in September, 1954.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School educational program provides for:

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 6 through 9. The school, which meets on Sunday morning, aims to familiarize the child with Judaism; its history and its cultural expressions. It develops within him a sense of loyalty and pride in Judaism.

HEBREW DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 9 through 15. The school, which meets on two afternoons and on Saturday mornings, aims to prepare the child for an active and constructive participation in Jewish life. Instruction in Hebrew, Bible, history, customs and ceremonies and religious worship in the Junior Congregation develop in the child an understanding of the religious concepts, the ethical values and the ritual forms of Judaism.

Parents Elect Officers At "Family Party Night"

The final meeting of the Parents Association was held on the evening of April 14, in the Park Avenue Synagogue. The Vestry was attractively decorated under the supervision of Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. A. Stangel and their committee.

The affair was appropriately called "Family Party Night", and was attended by many parents and their youngsters. Mrs. Herman Helpern. President of the Parents Association, cordially greeted those present, and, after the business part of the meeting was completed, turned over the entertainment program to Peter Bienstock, a student of the Religious School, who acted as Master of Ceremonies. Peter did a fine job as M.C. and had the situation well in hand. The youngsters were most enthusiastic in their appreciative applause of the performances throughout the evening.

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 600, sponsored by the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue, participated in the festivities, as well as representatives of the Girl Scout Troop, who inducted several new initiates into the Troop in an interesting ceremony.

"Peter Pan, the Magic Man", as Professor Abraham B. Hurwitz is often called, delighted the audience with his many magic tricks, and ended his entertaining performance to the joy of the children by even producing a live rabbit. His talented daughter also presented a ventriloquist act which proved her unusual theatrical ability.

Irving Davidson, the well-known humorist, entertained the audience with stories of Jewish wit and humor. Many present remembered Mr. Davidson as a former principal of the Religious School under the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

Ice cream, cookies and punch were served under the supervision of Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum and her committee.

The following officers and members of the Executive Board were elected for 1954-1955. This slate of officers was recommended by Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, on behalf of the Nominating Committee:

President, Mrs. Herman Helpern; Chairman of Exec. Bd., Mrs. Harry Zucker; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. George Heyman, Mrs. Stanley Simon, Mrs. Adolph Stangel; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hector Ritey; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Leon Klein; and Treasurer, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg.

Members of the Executive Board are Mrs. Abram Blau and Mrs. Henry Howe, Honorary Members; Mrs. Sam Deutsch, Mrs. Bruno Foa, Mrs. Emil Forster, Mrs. I. E. Mrs. Joseph Pincus, Mrs. Joseph Rubinstein, Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum. Mrs. Albert Seigel, Mrs. Michael Stowe. Mrs. Hugh Strauss, Mr. Bernard Weintraub and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer.

The Parents Association wishes to express its appreciation to Mrs. Bernard Grauer, chairman of Class Mothers, and to her splendid group of Class Mothers, for their excellent work in making the recent holidays more meaningful and inspirational to the children. At all functions of the Religious School and at all holiday festivities, the Class Mothers took an active part in planning and supervising parties. Among these were the annual Chanukah celebrations, the Purim parties and the Passover service. Mrs. Stanley Simon, Mrs. A. Stangel and Mrs. J. Pincus deserve a vote of thanks for their holiday workshops which featured fine demonstrations of the traditional costumes, food, games, as well as pamphlets on the home observance of these festivals.

Federation Honors Weill With Testimonial Dinner

A testimonial dinner was tendered to Milton Weill on April 14, 1954, at the Hotel Plaza, upon his retirement as President of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York.

More than 500 business, industrial, civic and community leaders attended the dinner to honor Mr. Weill, former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, for his leadership of 116 member health and welfare agencies of Federation, which annually serve 575,000 New Yorkers of all races and faiths. As a gift to Mr. Weill, a group of friends established a $1,000 scholarship fund in his name with the privilege of determining the manner in which it will be distributed. An inscribed gold desk clock was also presented to Mr. Weill.

In a message read at the dinner, Governor Thomas E. Dewey said that Mr. Weill's "administration of the office of the president of Federation will have left a permanent impression on the progress of medicine and human welfare in New York City. Our community is the richer for having had the benefit of his devoted services."

Senator Herbert H. Lehman said that he derived " great satisfaction in honoring Milton Weill, who has served not only Federation, but many other charitable and civic activities with rare devotion and ability for many years. He has placed the community under a great debt of gratitude to him, which I am very happy is recognized, in small part, by this dinner in his honor."

In his presidential farewell, after serving as president of Federation for three years, Mr. Weill thanked the community for the cooperation his administration had received. He predicted that Federation in the years ahead would play an even greater role in strengthening community services. He envisioned an increase in the number of contributors to the organization and an increase in the number of Jewish-sponsored agencies coming under the banner of Federation. Presently Federation maintains agencies providing 85 per cent of all medical and welfare work performed by Jewish voluntary agencies in New York City. He said that this would make for a stronger, more united community, better able to cope with the health and wel-

Shavuoth Yesterday and Today

By Rabbi Asher Block

Little Neck Jewish Center

(Condensed from article issued by United Synagogue)

In studying the history of Judaism, one readily observes that, at various stages, it has undergone great and important changes. These changes enabled it to adjust to new conditions and made for continuous survival. The story of Shavuoth is most illustrative of the progressive development of our religion from earliest times to the present day.

Our story begins with the original account found in Leviticus, 23. The convocation referred to in that passage is that of the festival Shavuoth. It is one of the three Pilgrimage Festivals of the Jewish calendar.

Shavuoth, literally "weeks" is so called because of the seven weeks' counting. Hence, it is known as the "Feast of Weeks."

It seems that the entire period between Passover and Pentecost was one long harvest season, beginning with the barley which ripened first, and ending with the wheat. The harvest season may actually have taken seven weeks, or this number may have been deliberately chosen, since it has a peculiar significance for our ancestors. Sabbath was the seventh day; Sh'mitah, the Sabattical, on the fiftieth year. Moreover, the Biblical Festivals are seven in number: Sabbath, Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, Pesach, Shavuoth, Sukkoth, and Sh'mini Atzeres; and they all occur during the first seven months, with the seventh month monopolizing four of them.

As to the offering of first fruits, historians inform us that this custom might have been borrowed from the Canaanites. At first, the Israelites were a wandering, pastoral people, but when they settled Canaan they turned to agriculture. Now, it was the custom of the Canaanites and similar ancient tribes to offer the first portion of their produce to the gods, probably to solicit their good graces for the coming year. The Israelites seemed to adopt this practice along with their new agriculture, but instead of offering the first-fruits to the tribal gods, they offered them to the God of Israel.

As a result the ritual took on advanced religious meaning and ethical value. During the time of the Temple, the bringing of the first-fruits was a very beautiful and impressive ceremony and there is every indication that our ancestors had a wholesome appreciation of beauty and nature. And as time went on, this ceremony became more formalized and also more spiritualized.

With the destruction of the Temple and the dispersion that followed, the Jews ceased to be an agricultural people. Logically, the agricultural holidays should have ceased as well. But somehow the Jews refused to be logical; they refused to let their festivals die.

Almost unconsciously they began to think of Shavuoth in different terms. The emphasis gradually shifted from the natural to historical aspects of the festival. The incident which they ascribed to Shavuoth was the giving of the Decalogue on Mount Sinai. This was a plausible narrative which introduces the Ten Commandments shortly after the Exodus from Egypt. Moreover, this juxtaposition lent itself to inspiring homiletics. It was pointed out that mere physical freedom is worthless without spiritual emancipation to give it meaning.

The Torah was so dear to our ancestors that they conceived of it as a wedding-ring with which God has betrothed them to Himself. In this light, they pictured their early days in the Wilderness as a period of courtship, and their later acts of transgression as those of a wife unfaithful to her husband. In this spirit, too, they interpreted Solomon's Song of Songs as a love-dialogue between God and Israel. To our ancestors of old there was no greater love than their love for God and His Torah.

Their devotion showed itself in yet another and more concrete manner. It was their custom to bring a young child to Heder or Hebrew School for the first time on Shavuoth. There he would be given candies and sweets, to indicate to him how pleasant it is to study Torah, and there his parents dedicated his life to the pursuit of learning.

It is to be expected that Shavuoth—a Torah Festival—should enjoy or suffer the fate of Torah generally. And this was, in truth, the case. At a time such as during the Middle Ages, when the study of Torah was in its prime, this Holiday naturally called forth a full measure of religious inspiration. But then, toward the end of the eighteenth century, came the period of Enlightenment and Emancipation. Political, economic, social and cultural conditions were basically changed. Torah then ceased to be at a premium and Jews turned hungrily to the new world which was unfolding about them. Old loyalties weakened and Jewish festivals lost their former appeal.

It soon became evident that Jewish life was facing an unprecedented situation, and that unless proper and immediate adjustment were made, even as in the time of the Destruction of the Temple, Jewish values would be seriously endangered.

The first to attempt such adjustment were the Reformists, who radically revised traditional ideology and ritual. The measure of their success is a matter of debate. However, with regard to Shavuoth, one cannot overlook a worthwhile contribution which the Reform movement has made to Jewish life—the Confirmation Service.

Confirmation is the initiation of Jewish youth into the faith. Boys had always been "Bar Mitzvah," but girls were confirmed for the first time in Berlin in 1817. At first, like most innovations, it met with opposition, but soon it became an established Shavuoth ceremony in Reformed congregations.

In America, confirmation exercises were introduced through Temple Emanu-El, and other congregations in New York, around 1850. Since that time, most Conservative and other progressive synagogues have adopted this impressive ceremony.

Confirmation was the first official recognition of women as members of the synagogue.

Shavuoth Holiday

An altogether different kind of development is at present taking place in Palestine. There it has been possible to revive the agricultural observance of the Holiday as well. The modern harvest bears its Bikkurim once again, as in the days of yore. Thus, with ever new and creative applications of the hallowed spirit of this Festival, our story does not really come to a close.

A Dedication Message

By Sanford H. Cohen
Board Chairman

In my greetings last year to the members of the congregation, I included a short report about the breaking of ground for the new building — then named the "Milton Steinberg Memorial Building"—and its expected completion during the year. I can now report that the prediction then made has been fulfilled; Milton Steinberg House is now an inspiring reality.

This five story building is unique in that its facade is sheathed entirely with a stained glass mural—making it the first known building in the world with such a facade. It was constructed as an extension to the Synagogue to honor the memory of Rabbi Milton Steinberg, the congregation's spiritual leader from 1933 until his untimely death in 1950.

The building will answer some long-felt needs of the Synagogue. There are adequate facilities for the educational, cultural and social activities of the congregation, including a small synagogue, administrative and pulpit offices as follows:

Basement—Lounge, Auditorium (400 capacity), kitchen.

1st Floor—Lobby, offices, small synagogue at rear seating 90.

2nd Floor—Library, school and miscellaneous offices, 2 classrooms.

3rd Floor—Large classroom seating 35; 2 classrooms seating 20 each; with folding door separation between the rooms affording flexible arrangements.

4th Floor—Rabbi's study; 3 classrooms.

5th Floor — Cantor's studio; Music Room, 2 classrooms with playground facilities on roof.

Automatic elevator to all floors.

Air-Conditioned areas: Small synagogue, offices, lounge and assembly hall; classrooms may also be air-condition-

from the desk of Rabbi Noveck

The Dedication on September 19, of our new educational edifice will represent an important milestone in the development of the Park Avenue Synagogue. It will climax a decade of searching, planning and cooperative effort on the part of the leaders of the Congregation.

In its own modest way, this new structure should be of special significance to all of us. It is, first of all, part of a great movement of synagogue building and expansion which has taken place in the American-Jewish community within the past few years. The synagogue has always been the symbol of our way of life, of our faith in the future, and of our vision of a better world. It is to the glory of American Jewry that the synagogue in this land has become not only a place for prayer, but also a center for education and learning, and a rallying point for Jewish cultural and social activities. It is my sincere hope that the Milton Steinberg House will enable us to become such a Synagogue Center, sponsoring an expanded program of Jewish living.

The new edifice is, secondly, a wonderful example of what the ancient rabbis called "hiddur mitzvah", by which they meant the embellishment of the religious act, the extra adornment and emphasis on beauty that indicate the devotion of the builders.

Through the medium of modern abstract art, we can now see depicted on the panels of stained glass, Jewish holidays and other motifs of Jewish history in an original and unique fashion. While it may be difficult at first for some of you to interpret the symbols and understand what each panel represents, I plan soon to prepare a detailed explanation which I hope will make it meaningful. This experiment should represent a real contribution to the development of synagogue art and architecture in America.

Finally, this building will serve as a memorial to a great religious teacher in American Israel. Jewish tradition teaches us, "ain oseen nefashos latzadakim maasayhem hame zichronum" — "one does not set up monuments for the righteous, their words are their remembrance." It is my fervent prayer that the new building will be a living Center from which the teachings of Milton Steinberg and those of all the great minds of the contemporary Jewish world may be disseminated. We hope to enlarge and improve our Religious School, set up a well-planned Youth Program, an detend our Adult Education Program even beyond its present scope.

On September 12, the Tercentenary celebration of the coming of the first Jews to America was officially launched. The Park Avenue Synagogue could have made no finer contribution to this great celebration than by furnishing the rapidly growing Jewish community of New York's upper East Side with this new educational edifice dedicated to the survival of a great tradition, to creative Jewish study, and to the memory of a unique spirit in Jewish life.

May God grant each of you and your families a year of health, happiness and joyous participation in the activities of the Park Avenue Synagogue and its Milton Steinberg House.

Reprints of "As A Driven Leaf" by Milton Steinberg (Behrman House, Inc.) will be available for purchase September 19. This volume is a special edition in conjunction with the Dedication Ceremonies.

message from the President

Another New Year! Is it not wonderful to think that we have come along through another year? We have had our joys and sorrows. Our fortunes too have been mixed. But regardless of our individual circumstances, we all stand together on these Holy Days. This unity that we feel for each other as we stand shoulder to shoulder in the Synagogue, carries its own New Year's message.

The physical and spiritual closeness of these few special days are hardly characteristic of the days of the year passed. On the contrary, our modern life finds too many of us working over time setting up barriers to unity, to closeness, to individual and community fulfillment. We start by fencing in ourselves from ourselves. From there we too often go our own way. There are even those who say that we should not show our feelings, we should keep our emotions to ourselves. So we live a life of fences, keeping others at arms length, limiting contact, trying "not to be bothered". We fence ourselves in from our families, our friends, and of course, our synagogue. But on New Year's, we briefly lower the barrier. We climb from the shell. We participate together. For brief moments, the fence is down.

Let us hope that this new year will find those fences staying down even beyond the Holy Days. We at the Synagogue are fortunate in having a symbol of brotherhood in our beautiful Steinberg House. It knows no barriers. In helping to create it, all of us let the fences down so that through it we could stand together as one in living what our great leader gave his life for. Let us pray that in the New Year we can increasingly find the time to be more at one with each other, with our synagogue and with the spirit and meaning for which it stands.

New Youth Group Convenes

The new Synagogue Youth Group held its first meeting of the season on Sunday, September 12, at the home of Michele Kaye. The program for the evening included a showing of three interesting documentary films.

message from the Cantor

I pen these sentiments with gratitude to our Building Committee and officers as well as to all who labored and contributed to the realization of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building. For seventeen years it was my privilege to be the co-worker, colleague and bosom friend of Rabbi Steinberg. We planned and worked together side by side serving God, our congregation and community. As my life was enriched by this association, so too may his love of God, Torah, Israel and the Jewish people long permeate every nook and corner of the new building dedicated to his blessed memory. May all who pass its threshold become imbued and inspired with a fervent passion and zeal for knowledge, faith, love and understanding as exemplified by Rabbi Steinberg in his search for goodness, beauty and truth. May the New Year bring health, happiness and peace to all mankind.

High Holy Day Service For Young Children

"The Synagogue School", a national magazine, published by the United Synagogue of America, for rabbis, principals and teachers in religious schools describes, in its recent issue, "An Experimental High Holy Day Service for Children Five to Eight" as conducted last year at the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Baruch Levine, the leader of the service, was faced with the problem of conducting a service for fifty children, between the ages of five and eight, who could read no Hebrew and only the simplest English. He decided that the service should be essentially dramatic, so that the children could be active and have an opportunity to exercise their imagination. The approach was to construct a "patterned" service by introducing symbols from the Synagogue environment, explaining them and utilizing them, one by one, with the children.

The children entered the Synagogue to an accompaniment of piano music and were seated in a semi-circle around the leader. Starting with the song: "We're going on a Long, Long Voyage", the children were introduced, in the song, with the Tallit, the Siddur, the Torah and the Shofar—objects which were explained and later used in the service. During the serivce, the children learned the first five words of Mah Tovu, the Barekhu and Shma Yisrael. They wore a Tallit; held a Siddur; examined the open Torah; called T'ki'ah for the blasts on the Shofar; listened to the story of Eli and Samuel and sang Ein Kelohenu. The service lasted one hour and Mr. Levine writes, "The response was very warm."

A copy of the article has been sent by United Synagogue to all conservative congregations in the United States and Canada with recommendation for its incorporaton in High Holy Day services for children's congregations.

While the building is a separately functioning unit, it is joined with the Synagogue for easy acceses. Having been designed for use as a religious and community building and also as a memorial, the artist, Adolph Gottlieb, has depicted holidays and traditions of Jewish life in the murals for the stained glass facade. There are ninety-one individual window panels covering four floors of the facade, one-third of which contain twenty-one individual abstract paintings on imported antique glass from Europe, portraying the religious holidays and traditions, and each of the latter is repeated at different points against a background of diamond shaped stained glass which compose the remainder of the design and consists of American marine antique glass. The small synagogue is wood paneled with the Ark doors and Menorah of sculptured bronze by the artist, Calvin Albert.

The religious school will now have facilities comparable with other such schools in the area. The Auditorium (vestry) has been completely renovated with a new platform and an adjoining lounge, which will be elegantly furnished, and which may be used as a reception room for the Auditorium (vestry) and for small parties and meetings.

A detailed description cannot really give one the adequate picture that a visit makes possible. Nor does the above measure the effort and attention that were required toward the fulfillment of the project.

In further tribute to Milton Steinberg, the publishing firm of Behrman House will bring out a memorial edition of "As a Driven Leaf", Rabbi Steinberg's novel, in time for the dedication of the building.

I know that the Board of Trustees joins me in special thanks and appreciation to Saul Godwin, a member of the Board and Chairman of the Building Committee, for his untiring efforts and almost daily attention during the progress of the work. The funds which have been pledged up to this point were obtained under the able direction of the Chairman of the Fund Raising Committee, Isadore M. Cohen, with the assistance of Co-Chairman, Milton Weill.

Young Marrieds Plan For Program Meeting

The Executive Committee of the Young Married Group will offer, for acceptance, its proposed program for the year 1954-55, at the initial meeting of the season to be held at the Y.M.H.A., 92nd Street and Lexington Avenue, N. Y. C., Tuesday evening, September 21, at 8:30 P.M. Having been in session several times during the summer, the Executive Committee is prepared to offer an inspiring program, which among other things, includes observance of the American Jewish Tercentenary Celebration.

Samuel G. Fredman, President of the Young Marrieds, in entending Rosh Hashanah greetings to the congregation suggests that a good way to start the New Year would be to make sure that all who should be, become members of the Young Marrieds. "We plan a great year, we welcome new members and if anyone knows of such potential members please communicate with the Chairman of the Membership Committee, Mrs. Harold Fischer, 430 E. 86th St., N. Y. C.

Senior League Group Announces New Officers

This new year is, in a very real sense, a year of dedication, not only of a new building, but to the idea of a synagogue and especially to the ideals of a great teacher. The Senior League is proud to be a part of this community undertaking. We hope we may continue to contribute to, as well as learn from, this reciprocal investment of time, energy and spirit. We extend to the congregation our good wishes for the season and our best hopes for the year.

The Senior League officers for the new year are: Robert Barzilay, honorary president; Philip Winter, president; Leah Goldman and James Pullman, vice presidents; Robert Kieval, treasurer; Jacqueline Fischer and Shirley Lipsky, secretaries. The League is planning a full program of philanthropic, social and cultural activities and will be happy to welcome all young people from the synagogue family or friends.

The annual political forum will be held in October and, thanks to the enlarged and improved facilities in the Vestry, a gala ladies night in November.

Men of the Congregation are urged to join the Men's Club. Please communicate with the Synagogue office should you desire to join.

President Milton Sivek announces the appointment of the following committee chairmen: Programs, Monroe Heyward; Projects, Henry Koch; Publicity, Louis I. Heller; Membership, Dr. Sigmund Siegal; Fund Raising, Charles Bennet and Hospitality, Julian Jacobs.

message from the Men's Club Prexy

With the successful completion of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Building, the observance of the High Holy Days assumes special significance in the hearts of our congregants.

Our Men's Club joins with all of the affiliated arms of the Synagogue and its members in recognition of this thrilling achievement.

For myself, and on behalf of the members of the Men's Club, I extend to each of you my warmest wishes for a year of health and happiness.

Parents' President Outlines Group Aims

On behalf of the Parents of the Religious School, I wish to extend greetings for the New Year. After a summer of fun and relaxation, it is appropriate that we turn our thoughts to the future and prepare to meet the challenge of the coming year.

This marks the end of a long uphill struggle for the Parents Association; at last our dream is being realized and the new school building has become a reality. We hope to fulfill our responsibility to the children, their parents and the Jewish Community.

Our plans envisage a closer relationship between the instruction offered by the Religious School and the influences at home, with a view toward developing an integrated child able to cope with the conflicts of his social environment. By instilling a strong sense of identification with the Synagogue and a respect for Jewish values we hope to become a link in his emotional maturity.

To further our objective the Parents Association strongly recommends an extensive Youth Program to meet the diverse needs of our children on all levels.

I am confident that this will be a good year for all of us; and so with humility and optimism I wish to extend New Years Greetings to our members and friends.

Religious School to Hold Opening

Two Teachers Appointed To Religious School

The School Board announces the appointment of Allan Blaine as a full-time teacher in the Hebrew Department and Mrs. Marilyn Shirion as a teacher in the Primary Department of the school.

Mr. Blaine, a graduate from DeWitt Clinton High School and New York University, is a rabbinical student at the Jewish Theological Seminary. His training in Hebrew and Pedagogy was acquired at the Herzeliah Hebrew High School, the Teacher's Institute and in study in Israel on a Student Fellowship. Mr. Blaine comes to the school from the East Midwood Jewish Center where he taught for two years.

Mrs. Shirion earned her Bachelor's degree in Boston and her Master's degree, in early childhood education, at Columbia University. In addition to teaching in the United States, Mrs. Shirion was a co-founder of the Beth Hayeled in Jerusalem. This school, also called the Model American Kindergarten, was operated under the auspices of the Hebrew University and the Israeli Department of Education and was financed by the National Council of Jewish Women.

The Board, also, expresses its thanks to Murray Lehrer and Mrs. Yvette Davis Benjamin for their work with our children in past years. Mr. Lehrer has resigned from our staff to teach in a school nearer to his home. Mrs. Benjamin, a confirmand of the Park Avenue Synagogue and a teacher for many years, has moved to Stamford, Conn. where her husband will engage in the practice of internal medicine.

New admissions to the Primary Department and the Hebrew Department of the Religious School are now being accepted in the school office. Parents are urged to visit the office any afternoon after 3:00 P.M. to register their children.

GREETINGS

The Principal and the Faculty of the Religious School look forward to a year of educational achievement in the Milton Steinberg House. We wish our students, their parents and all congregants a year of health and happiness.

Junior Congregation To Conduct Services At Jewish Museum

High Holy Day services for the young people and the children of the Congregation will be held, as in previous years, at the Jewish Museum, 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue. The facilities of the Museum have been made available to the Park Avenue Synagogue through the kindness of Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, curator of the Museum.

Services for the students in the Hebrew Department will be conducted by the members of the Junior Congregation under the direction of Mr. Irving Spielman, a Seminary student. Special services will also be conducted for the younger children, ages 6 to 9, who attend the Primary Department. This service will be particularly appealing to the children who cannot read Hebrew.

Tickets for the services will be mailed to the students in the Primary and Hebrew Departments of the Religious School. Parents may secure tickets for children not enrolled in the school by writing to the school office.

The schedule of services at the Museum is:

September 28 and 29: 10:15—11:15 A.M.—Younger children. 11:30—1:00 P.M.—Junior Congregation.

October 6: 5:30 P.M.—Kol Nidre—Junior Congregation.

October 7: 11:30—1:00 P.M.—Junior Congregation. 1:30—2:30 P.M.—Younger children. 5:00 P.M.—Ne'ilah—Junior Congregation.

School Will Re-Open After Dedication

The Religious School of the Park Avenue Synagogue will hold its opening session shortly after the dedication of the Milton Steinberg House on September 19. Students, who attended the Primary Department or the Hebrew Department of the school last year, will receive their new class and room assignments by post card. New students must register for the coming school year in the School Office any afternoon after 3:00 P.M.

The Primary Department of the school holds sessions on Sunday mornings for children from the ages of 6 through 9. The Hebrew Department, for children up to the age of 15, meets on two afternoons during the week and on Saturday morning. A major feature of the Saturday morning session is the Junior Congregation where the students have an opportunity to worship together and to develop an understanding of the religious concepts, the ethical values and the ritual forms of Judaism.

The instruction of the children is in the hands of a well-trained and experienced faculty who use modern classroom techniques. The program is also enriched by the use of music, arts and crafts, dramatics, dance, visual aids, field trips and a full holiday program sponsored by the Parents Association.

Bar Mitzvah and Bat Mitzvah for boys and girls comes at the age of 13. In accordance with the recommendations of the United Synagogue Commission on Education, a minimum of three years of instruction in the Hebrew Department is required for Bar Mitzvah and Bat Mitzvah in the Park Avenue Synagogue. Confirmation—Graduation from the school takes place at the age of 15 in an impressive ceremony at Shavuoth.

New congregants and parents of children of school age are urged to begin the formal religious education of their children immediately. Register today in the school office for the year 1954-55.

Beth Hayeled School Holds Anniversary

Beth Hayeled School, "House of the Child", is celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of its establishment as a bicultural school for children ages 3-9. Through tested modern methods, the school helps integrate the American-Jewish child into the American culture of which he is a part, while at the same time giving him an understanding and an appreciation of his own cultural heritage.

Outstanding educators have helped determine its policies. Among members of its Advisory Board are: Dr. Ruth Andrus, former Chief of the Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education in New York State; Jesse Stanton of the staff of the Bank Street College of Education; Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, Teachers College; Dr. Israel S. Chipkin, Vice-President of the Jewish Education Committee. Mrs. William Heller, of the Park Avenue Synagogue, member and active in Ivriah, the school's sponsoring organization, is on the Advisory Board. The teaching staff is certified both by New York State and the Jewish Education Committee.

On Tuesday, June 15, at 8:15 PM, the school held an open house in partial celebration of its anniversary. A movie depicting some of the activities of the school and its approach to early childhood education was part of the evening's festivities.

Congregants Receive Simhath Torah Honors

Joseph Howard Katz, Samuel Lemberg and Mrs. Anna Edelman will be honored by the Congregation for outstanding service in Synagogue, Jewish and communal affairs at the Simhath Torah service on Wednesday morning, October 20.

Following the Hakafot, the processional with the Torah Scrolls, Joseph H. Katz will be called to "stand forth" as Hathan Torah (Bridegroom of the Torah).

Then Samuel Lemberg will be called to the pulpit as Hathan Bereshith (Bridegroom of the Beginning), as the Torah is rerolled and the first verses of Genesis are read. Mrs. Anna Edelman will be honored this year as Kalah Mafteret (Bride of the Prophetic Message) for Simhath Torah 5715.

MRS. ANNA EDELMAN

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ

SAMUEL LEMBERG

This practice of honoring members of a congregation by designating them Hathan Torah and Hathan Bereshith originated from a mystical thread in medieval Judaism.

On Simhath Torah, the last day of the Succoth festival, the Torah cycle of the year is completed and then is begun again. The last section and the first one are traditionally regarded as portions of importance and it is a practice to assign these portions to those individuals who by their scholarship, piety or service to the Jewish community, have merited tribute.

Simhath Torah

The custom of honoring a Kalah Mafteret which was inaugurated six years ago, is a tribute to an outstanding woman member of the congregation for conspicuous service rendered the Jewish community.

Mrs. Anna Edelman

The woman to be honored this year as Kalah Mafteret is Mrs. Anna Edelman, a member of the executive Board of Sisterhood and a vital member of the Building Committee. Her late husband Morris Edelman served as a member of the Board of Trustees from 1930-33 and as Vice-President from 1933-37.

Anna Edelman is responsible for all the magnificent embroidery and sewing on the Ark Curtains and Torah Covers in the Park Avenue Synagogue. She contributed all the material and her services to this project. All proceeds were given to Youth Aliyah.

As a member of the Building Committee she is working on the Ark Curtains and Torah Covers for our new Milton Steinberg House.

As Board member of Sisterhood, she has been active in their project.

To all she has bestowed her warm friendly personality, and given devoted service to the congregation and merits, to the full, being named Kalah Mafteret for the year 5715.

Dedication

30 was sung by Cantor Putterman. Judge Botein read a letter from Jacob Friedman, former President of thc Synagogue, who was instrumental in bringing Rabbi Steinberg to the Park Avenue Synagogue. Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Attorney General of New York, and member of the Synagogue, read a letter from Govcrnor Thomas E. Dewey.

The Cornerstone and Dedication was made by Rabbi Noveck, and Jonathan and David Steinberg who left the Synagogue to unveil the cornerstone and facadc accompanied by Jacob Klein, President of the Synagogue.

letter from Mrs. Edith Steinberg

I am sure everyone in the Park Avenue Synagogue understands the strenuous ordeal Jonathan, Davd and I had to live through on Sunday, September 19th. However, if we had to do so, it was as beautifully conducted a Service as anything we had ever experienced. Something Milton would have appreciated—quiet, simple, genuine, eloquent, and dignified. If we had to pay tribute to Milton Steinberg again officially four years later, this was just right. But in addition—to the people on the program who made the day a memorable event in our lives, there were so many others behind the sccnes who worked for years to make the event possible.

May I, at this point, thank the members of the three Committees in addition to the Board of Trustees, members of the Congregation who participated in their way, and the office staff for their work in making the Milton Steinberg House a reality. The three Committees I refer to specifically are the Fund-Raising Committee, the Building Committee, and the Dedication Committee. To everyon concerned my sincerest thanks.

With best wishes for a Happy New Year.

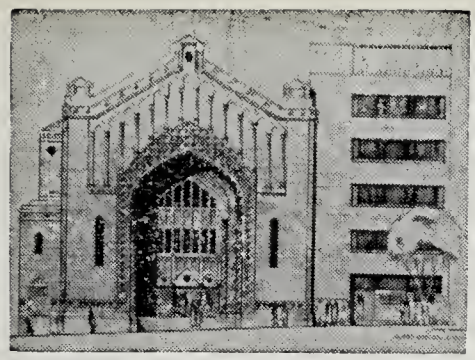

EDITH STEINBERG

Mrs. Milton Steinberg wishes to thank all the people who sent her kind greetings for the High Holidays and expresses her appreciation of their thoughtfulness.

SUCCOTH SERVICES for the students of the Religious School will be held in the Milton Steinberg House at 10:00 A.M. on each of the festival mornings.

VOL. 9 No. 3

letter to the Editor

(We are pleased to reprint this editorial from the October 1, 1954 issue of The Reconstructionist.)

Some years ago, when members of the Park Avenue Synagogue were proposing to erect a new synagogue building, their rabbi, Milton Steinberg, discouraged them from tying up too much money and energy in unproductive brick and mortar. He did, however, urge the erection of a building that would offer much-needed enlargement and improvement of the congregation's educational and cultural facilities. Not long thereafter, Rabbi Steinberg died at the early age of 46.

On September 19th, the building that he had projected was dedicated. It was appropriately dedicated as a memorial to his name, being called Milton Steinberg House.

The congregation is to be commended for thus having carried out the intention of their late rabbi and having reverently made of it a shrine to his memory. May the spirit of Milton Steinberg live again through the activities which this building will house, the spirit of piety and faith, of loyalty and love of sincerity and truth, of learning and culture.

Those who did not receive their first two BULLETINS should notify the office immediately so that the situation may be remedied. Call SAcremento 2-8765.

Junior Congregation

Synagogue worship is a major feature of the educational program of the Park Avenue Synagogue. On Saturday morning two separate and individual Junior Congregation Services are held at 11:00 A.M. by the students of the Religious School.

The three entering classes in the Hebrew Department conduct Junior Congregation services on the fifth floor of Milton Steinberg House. These students, under the leadership of Allan Blaine and Shulamith Scherman, are developing their own Sabbath morning services. They are becoming familiar with the synagogue and its ritual; they are learning the meaning of prayer; and they are participating in congregational singing. At the conclusion of the school year, the students will be invited to lead the services for the upper classes in the school.

The students in the second, third and fourth year of the Religious School join in Sabbath morning services in the new synagogue auditorium. A major feature of the service is the congregational singing of the liturgical music which was prepared for the congregation by Cantor Putterman. The Torah service is marked by a lively discussion of the bible-reading of the week. On the Sabbath preceeding Rosh Chodesh, the new moon is greeted and the congregation partakes of Kiddush.

The students in Class 5, who are eligible for confirmation and graduation in June 1955, join the congregants in the Main Synagogue at 11:00 A.M. In addition to participating in the services, these students also write a short analysis of the sermon and have an opportunity, in their mid-week classes, to discuss the basic ideas expressed by Rabbi Noveck.

JACK BRASS

After the end of World War II he was Commanding Office of the liberated Bergen Belson Concentration Camp. Later he was a member of Haganah Intelligence and, during the Israeli war a Captain in its Army. More recently he was appointed Public Relations Officer to the Hebrew University. In this capacity he made an extensive lecture tour throughout Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

At the suggestion of a great many noted American visitors to Israel, Jack Brass has come to the United States with his inimitable personality and captivating collections of folk songs, ballads and anecdotes.

from the desk of the Editor

The following review of Rabbi Noveck's latest publication in Adult Education appeared in the November issue of "The Jewish Spectator." We are happy to reprint this as one of the best reviews that has thus far appeared of this manual. Copies of the book are available through the Synagogue office or by calling the National Academy of Adult Jewish Studies at the Seminary.

ADULT JEWISH STUDY

"The how of adult Jewish education has been widely discussed," observes Rabbi Simon Noveck in his introduction to SUGGESTED COURSES FOR ADULT STUDY. "But," continues the director of the National Academy for Adult Jewish Studies, "what should be taught remains less clearly articulated."

By way of articulating this what and thus to provide guidance for leaders of adult Jewish study groups, Rabbi Noveck projected the publication of the Suggested Courses manual, which lists and outlines hundreds of courses and lectures timely and suitable for institutes, lecture series, study courses, etc. The general headings under which the courses and topics are listed are: Doctrines and Beliefs of Judaism, Customs and Ceremonies, Jewish Ethics, Judaism and the Personal life, Judaism and the Home, The Bible, General Jewish History, The American Scene, with the subdivisions of a) The Tercentenary and b) The American Jewish Community, Jews in Israel and Other Lands, The Jewish Mind: Literature and the Arts. Each of the courses and lectures listed was "tested" and presented at one of the Synagogues or Jewish Centers that cooperated with Rabbi Noveck. The name of the Synagogue and of the instructor of each course are given and it may be taken for granted that novices in quest of guidance for a particular course may feel free to write for information to the instructor who initiated this course. The Manual also has an excellent bibliography of "Teaching Aids for Adult Jewish Study," and gives precise information on where and at what price items may be obtained.

Suggested Courses for Adult Jewish Study is the most comprehensive and most useful manual of its kind thus far. It should be on the reference shelf of every Rabbi, Jewish Center director, program chairman and educator. It is replete with new suggestions and novel ideas of how to make Jewish study more relevant and more interesting, and it proves that it can be done! Adult Jewish study can be put across. Indeed, none of the courses was attended as well as it deserved and it is very likely that but one or two per cent of the total membership of a Congregation or Center enrolled for the course offered by their Rabbi and guest lecturers. But even if only one half of one per cent of the membership of the United Synagogue participated in Adult Jewish Study, analogous to the one half of one per cent of the membership of B'nai B'rith who attended the Summer Institutes, the effort was well worthwhile. At a recent Conference of B'nai B'rith Hillel Directors, Dr. Lellyveld said that if only two students on each campus where a Hillel Foundation functions study the Bible and the Talmud, the sum total is over 400. Although American Jewry numbers in the neighborhood of 6 million, its "saving remnant" is pitifully small. But for salvaging this "saving remnant" no effort must be spared. Rabbi Noveck and his co-workers, especially Mrs. Lili Edelman who collected and edited the material of Suggested Courses for Adult Jewish Studies, are to be warmly commended for an invaluable contribution to Jewish literacy in America.

Chairman Announces Nominating Committee

Sanford H. Cohen, Chairman of the Board has announced the appointment of the Nominating Committee of the Board of Trustees.

Members include Hon. Bernard Botein, Ezra Cohen, Harry Halbren, Harold H. Levin and Nelson Ruttenberg.

Mr. Cohen has also announced to the committee that he will not be a candidate for reelection as Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Chairman's Letter Urges UJA Pledges

Dr. Harold A. Osserman, United Jewish Appeal Chairman for the Park Avenue Synagogue, has sent an urgent appeal to those who contributed during the recent High Holy days, and also a plea for contributions from those who have not yet given. On Yom Kippur, the UJA collection totaled $16,347.

In a letter to the BULLETIN he said:

"On Yom Kippur Day, Rabbi Simon Noveck made a stirring appeal on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal.

There is very little that I can add except to point up once again the urgency of your all-out support. The Arab boycott, blockade and raids against Israel have created a most serious problem. And too, the anti-Semitic uprisings in North Africa have created a crisis of a grave nature. The lives of tens of thousands of our people are at stake.

If you haven't made your gift yet, won't you please advise the synagogue of the amount. And if you have already given, won't you please try and give a little more. Cash is so desperately needed."

Mrs. Osserman New Prexy

Mrs. Harold A. Osserman has been appointed President of the Infants Welfare League Camps Inc. Camp Poyntelle, one of the outstanding camps for underprivileged children, is owned and operated by this League. She is the first woman ever to assume this office.

After a delicious luncheon, Mrs. Herman Helpern, President of the Parents Association, greeted the guests and outlined the aims and purposes of organization. Rabbi Simon Noveck, Cantor David Putterman, and Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School, also addressed the gathering.

The 8th Annual Book Fair, sponsored by the Parents Association, will begin on Wednesday, December 1 and will continue through Tuesday, December 7. Mrs. George Heyman, chairman, has arranged an extensive display of books on Jewish life and thought aimed to increase pride in the rich treasury of Jewish literature. The Meaning of Chanukah

(Adapted from WHAT THE JEWS BELIEVE by Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein.)

Chanukah is an historical and deeply spiritual holiday. It commemorates the Jewish nation's successful struggle against oppression by Antiochus IV. This Syrian ruler was one of those who inherited part of the empire of Alexander the Great. Zealous Hellenist and unifier, he sought to impose Greek ways on the people whom he ruled. Some of the Jews yielded to the blandishments of the pleasant Greek customs or to curry favor with the King. However, the Hebraic genius sensed the fatal danger in this process and expressed itself in a revolt of the common people. Led by Mattathias, an elderly priest in the town of Modin and later by his son, Judah the Maccabee, they strove to cast off the oppressive yoke. At first shouting, "Whosoever is zealous of the Law, let him follow me," Mattathias led the attack on Jews who were disloyal to their faith. Then Judah, apparently a military genius, organized his loyal followers into bands which carried on successful guerrilla operations against the foreign oppressors. The odds were against them for they were ill-equipped and vastly outnumbered. But they were fighting for their homes, their faith and their freedom. As the months passed, as early defeats were transformed into victories, they demonstrated the historic validity of Zechariah's promise. "Not by might, not by power, but by My spirit, saith the Lord."

By the early winter of 165 B.C. they delivered the last decisive blows to the demoralized armies of Antiochus. Judah marched victoriously into Jerusalem. A single undefiled cruse of oil was found. Tradition has it that this single flask provided enough oil to burn not for one, but for eight days.

Ever since, the Jews have celebrated in the Hebrew month of Kislev the festival of Chanukah—which means dedication. The Book of Maccabees is read. Special prayers of rejoicing are sung for the wonders God wrought for His people. Jewish homes are gladdened with eight nights of celebration and gift giving. Candles are lit, one on the first night, two the second—until finally eight are kindled on the last night.

The basic issue of the Maccabean struggle was religious freedom. The Jews fought for their right to worship their God in their own way. This struggle apparently is never completely won. We have learned this again in our generation. It is interesting to speculate on what this victory of the spirit has meant in human history. If Judaism had been destroyed in the second century before Jesus, would Christianity have come into the world, or Mohammedanism? Both were products of Judaism; both derived sustenance from the living Jewish people.

The Jews have understood that not only their survival as a people, but their faith, the Jewish soul, was at stake. For this reason, perhaps, the Hallel, stirring psalm of praise, is chanted on Chanukah but not on Purim which commemorates also the deliverance of the people. The Gerer Rebbi, once renowned Chassidic leader of Eastern Jewry, thus explains the greater importance of Chanukah. "On Purim we were saved from the attempt to destroy the body of the Jew; but on Chanukah we were rescued from the decree that would have destroyed our soul."

Chicago Urban League. He also delivered the invocation for three National Democratic Party Conventions.

The following Friday, Dr. Paul Friedman will discuss the psychological approach to "The Need to Belong." Dr. Friedman is a member of the New York Psychoanalytic Society, the American Psychiatric Society and an Associate in Neuro-Psychiatry at Beth Israel Hospital. Rabbi Noveck will present the point of view of Jewish tradition on this topic.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow each of these lectures.

Chanukah Gift Display

Chanukah may be celebrated this year with unique gifts from Israel as well as traditional modern and miniature menorahs lighted by multi-colored candles from Israel.

Gifts for the young people include, key rings, money clips, tie clasps, lockets, bracelets and magnificently colored large dreidels. Other games and books for the whole family may be purchased at the book fair. Menorahs and candles may be purchased any time through the Synagogue office or by calling Mrs. Milton Heller, ATwater 9-5500.

The attractive display in the lobby of Milton Steinberg House was created by Mrs. Heller, Chairman for Sisterhood of Ceremonial Objects.

Brunch, Theatre Party Given by Sisterhood

On Wednesday, December 8, Sisterhood held its annual Brunch and Theatre Party.

The Brunch which was held at the Hotel Astor featured a delicious menu. Colorful red and white floral decorations on the tables were so designed that each flower was a boutonniere. The red and white color scheme was further carried out in the strawberries on the fruit cup and on the ice cream. Useful, unusual souvenirs were distributed to each guest.

"Fanny," the musical starring Ezio Pinza and Walter Slezak, was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and the day was acclaimed a social and financial success.

The next Open Meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 18. The next BULLETIN will give further details.

Sr. League Plans Dec. Events

The Senior League will hold an afternoon dance on Sunday, December 12 from 3 to 7 P.M. in the newly decorated Auditorium of the Synagogue. All young people are invited to attend.

On December 16, the group will hold its monthly meeting in the Auditorium of the synagogue at 8:30 P.M. The speaker and topic have not yet been chosen, but cards will be sent to members.

The Senior League is open for new members, and for that purpose a Membership tea was held on Sunday, December 5. Those who were not able to attend the tea and are intcrested in joining the group may contact the president, Philip Winters, by writing or phoning the synagogue office.

Dr. Bela Fabian to be Young Married's Guest

As their third offering along the general theme of the Tercentenary, the Young Married Group will have as their guest speaker on Tuesday, December 14, Dr. Bela Fabian, former member of the Board of the Budapest Jewish Community and former president of the Independent Democratic Party of Hungary. A victim of both Nazi and Communist persecutions, survivor of Auschwitz, Oranienburg, Sachsenhausen and Ohrduf concentration camps, and currently a political exile from Communism, Dr. Fabian will speak on the topic "Jews Behind the Iron Curtain", a subject on which he was recently called upon to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The importance and prominence of both speaker and topic give every indication of a large turnout from the entire Synagogue. In view of this, the group's business meeting will begin promptly at 8:30 P.M. and will end in time for Dr. Fabian to begin his discussion at 9:00 P.M., at which time all persons are invited to be present. Questions and a collation will follow.

Mr. & Mrs. Group Holds Tercentenary Lectures

The Mr. and Mrs. Group is marking the Tercentenary of the first Jewish settlement in New Amsterdam, by conducting a survey of American Jewish History. The first meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Selig, on the evening of November 22. Dr. Arthur Hyman spoke most interestingly on the role of the Jews in the American Revolution, and his talk was followed by a spirited discussion.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Brin, 300 Central Park West, New York City, on December 21, beginning at 8:30 P.M. An outstanding speaker will discuss Judah Touro and Mordecai Emanuel Noah, and the Rise of Jewish Philanthropy.

Members of the Synagogue and their friends who are interested in joining the Group, are invited to contact Rabbi Noveck or Franklin M. Simet, this season's Group President, for further information.

Men's Club has invited Frances W. H. Adams, Police Commissioner of the City of New York, to be the speaker at the forthcoming meeting, Tuesday, December 21, at 8:15 P.M.

Undoubtedly Mr. Adams needs little or no introduction to the readers of the BULLETIN for his name is continually before the public as a result of the forceful and fearless way he has been performing the duties of his office. This meeting will be a most interesting, stimulating and informative one.

The Honorable Abraham N. Geller, Judge of the Court of General Sessions, and a member of the Men's Club, has been chosen to present Commissioner Adams to the group. All men of the congregation are urged to attend and to bring their friends.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

Maurice Samuel to be Guest Speaker At Second Friday Lecture Series

On Friday evening, January 7, the Committee on Adult Education will launch its second series of lecture-forums, following the regular Friday Evening Services, on the theme "Religious Affirmations in Modern Literature." These lectures will bring to the Park Avenue Synagogue such outstanding literary figures as Maurice Samuel, Ludwig Lewisohn, Professor Israel Efros and Charles Angoff, each of whom will discuss a phase of contemporary literature and some of the great moral affirmations that flow from it.

On January 7, Maurice Samuel will deal with the subject, "What Yiddish Literature Can Teach Us." He will discuss the world of Sholom Aleichem, Peretz and Mendele Mocher S'forim, and give readings from the works of these authors with a commentary. Mr. Samuel has been giving such interpretive readings at the 92nd Street "Y" with overwhelming success.

For more than thirty years Maurice Samuel has devoted the major part of his talents as writer and lecturer to the transmission and interpretation of Jewish values to the English-speaking world. In his books and lectures he is concerned with the world of today, and with the past only as it manifests itself in actual, living forces which are moulding the future. Apart from translations of contemporary Jewish writers, Mr. Samuel has written a number of orginal works, among them Harvest in the Desert, The Gentleman and the Jew and Prince of the Ghetto.

On January 14, Professor Israel Efros will speak on "Spiritual Values in Modern Hebrew Literature," dealing with the quest for God and self in Hebrew creative writing today. He will read from his own translation of Bialik, Tschernichovsky and Lamdan and other immortals of our time.

Professor Efros is Associate Professor of Hebrew at Hunter College. He served as dean of the Baltimore Hebrew College, professor of Semitics at the University of Buffalo and as visiting professor at the Jewish Theological Seminary and Dropsie College. He is honorary president of the Histadruth Ivrith and vice-president of the American Academy for Jewish Research. Among his most recent writings are "Zahav," a prize-winning epic, a translation of Hamlet and Shakespeare's "Timon of Athens" into Hebrew, and a new collection of Hebrew poems "Goral u Fitom" (Destiny and Suddenly).

These lecture forums will take place following the Services which begin promptly at 8:15 P.M. It is a full Service conducted by Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman. The combined Service and adult program has attracted the largest attendance at Friday night Services during recent years.

Hebrew Courses In Higher Education

(The following information is a condensation of an article that recently appeared in an issue of the Reconstructionist and may be of great interest to many readers of the BULLETIN.)

One of the most significant cultural achievements of New York City Jewry in recent decades is the study of Hebrew in the public schools and in the City Colleges of New York.

As the fruit of many years of unremitting effort by the Hebrew Culture Council, an affiliate of the Jewish Education Committee of New York, and its director Judah Lapson, the study of Hebrew was introduced into 31 New York High Schools. The colleges within the framework of the College of the City of New York have also instituted similar courses of study, and have recruited brilliant teachers to instruct their students.

In time, the study of Hebrew began to spread into the public high schools of several large cities throughout the nation. Soon, there was a very important increase in the number of colleges and universities which accepted Hebrew in fulfillment of entrance language requirements and even introduced their own courses in the subject.

These very substantial achievements opened up vast opportunities for the study of Hebrew in the public schools and colleges on a scale unprecedented in the three hundred year history of American Jewry. Since June 1953, Hebrew has been introduced into fifteen additional junior high schools, bringing the number of junior high schools now offering Hebrew to the total of 28. Parents should discuss with their seventh-grade children, the advisability of studying Hebrew. Many parents may not know that a junior high school which does not offer Hebrew at present will introduce that subject if a minimum of thirty-five students request it. This is an additional opportunity, especially for pupils not now attending Hebrew schools.

On the collegiate level, students in New York City enjoy an unexcelled opportunity to begin or continue their study of Hebrew under inspiring teachers, prominent scholars and creative writers and poets. A listing of only the heads of college departments of Hebrew constitutes a galaxy of Hebrew fame: Professors Efros at Hunter College, A. Halkin at City College, Katsch at N.Y.U., Wallenrod at Brooklyn College; also Professor Mendelsohn, who teaches in the Semitics Department at Columbia, and Mr. Gartner at Queens College. Hebrew may be studied in fulfillment of the language requirement for the bachelor's degree, or it may be taken as an "elective" to meet general requirements for college graduation.

It sometimes happens that, after years of estrangement since Hebrew school, a college student in an elective course "discovers" the values of Hebrew literature and awakens to the impact of the Hebrew genius. Eventually, few other courses may turn out to have been more meaningful and personally helpful than these Hebrew courses taught in the free and expansive atmosphere of the liberal American college.

On Friday evening, January 21, the Parents Association of the Synagogue will sponsor a lecture by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as part of the regular Friday Evening Services.

Catering Dept. Opened At Bar Mitzvah Dec. 11

During the weekend of December 11 and 12 our brand new kitchens were used for the first time by a caterer for catered functions.

On Saturday, December 11 Mr. and Mrs. Martin Levine celebrated the Bar Mitzvah of their son Laurence, which took place in the Synagogue early that morning. Everyone enjoyed a very happy and gay smorgasbord Kiddush.

The Levine family as was the case of several other families who in recent weeks have had dinner parties outside of our Synagogue in connection with Bar Mitzvahs, regretted the fact that the Synagogue was unable to assure them months ago that it would have been in a position to cater parties as early as this fall.

Many families with Bar Mitzvah celebrations coming up in the spring have begun to make arrangements for dinner parties at the Synagogue directly following the Religious Services.

Persons wishing to make arrangements for parties should call the office of the Synagogue ENright 9-2600 and make their arrangements with the Executive Director, Sidney R. Katz.

The first lecture on January 10 will be given by Rabbi Mordecai Waxman of Temple Israel, Great Neck, who will talk on "The Life Cycle of the Jew." He will discuss the teachings of Judaism in handling the crucial moments of our lives: marriage, death, the birth of a child and Bar Mitzvah, presenting the origin and background to these important ceremonies. On January 17 Rabbi Noveck will discuss "Judaism and Democracy."

Details about Professor Albert Salomon's course on SOCIOLOGY AND RELIGION, will be given in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

Library Reopens Exhibit

In response to public demand, the New York Public Library will reopen on January 3 its Tercentenary Exhibit which was on display at the Library from September to December. Fifty of the Seminary Library's rarest and most valuable objects are featured in the exhibit.

Teen Age Club Events

By STEPHEN JOSHUA HEYMAN

The Synagogue's Teen Age Club for 1954-55 is now in full stride. With three meetings behind us, we are able to report on our activities that are already under way, and those planned for the future.

At the December 5 meeting, a Nominating Committee was selected by the group to present a slate of officials. The slate prcsented at the last meeting was unanimously approvcd. New officers are Doris Wimpfheimer, President; Theodore Zucker and Michael Friedman, Vice-Presidents; Alice Heyman, Recording Secretary; Theodore Pincus, Corrcsponding Secretary and John Kogan, Treasurer.

The club held a dinner-dance on December 18, in the new auditorium of Milton Steinberg House. This was one of several dances planned for the months to come.

Two basketball teams were organized and met their first competition on December 26 in a tournament with three other Metropolitan teams. After the game a dance was held at Temple Anche Chesed.

On December 27, eleven representatives from the group left for a conference in Boston organized by the United Synagogue of America. The following delegates represented the Synagogue at the convention: Cecily Falkenstein, Michael Friedman, Alice Heyman, Susan Jacob, Geraldine Klein. Stephen Stowe and Doris Wimpfheimer.

Sisterhood to Celebrate Tercentenary Jan. 18

An outstanding program has been planned for Sisterhood's Open Meeting on Tuesday, January 18.

An original production, "We Built America Too," will be presented in observance of American Jewish Tercentenary. The entire production was written, staged, and produced by the talented and capable Mrs. Cecil B. Ruskay.

Those who were privileged to see Sisterhood's presentation of the "Jewish Home Beautiful," will remember the brilliant job done by Mrs. Ruskay.

The cast has been chosen with care. Three of the members are members of an acting group that give performances of a high professional standard. Blix Ruskay is known for her work as a monologist and as a gifted artist in her chosen field of "The One Woman Show." Other members of the cast include: Nina Graboi, Adele Gross, Mildred Strauss, Georgette Levy, Joan Tarter, Harriet Redstone, and Ruth Schnitzler.

The business meeting will begin promptly at 12:30 P.M. to be followed by the play. A reception and tea to the cast will follow the presentation.

Wedding in Steinberg House

Sunday, December 19 not only marked the first night of Chanukah, but also marked the first wedding party to be held in the Synagogue as a catered affair since Milton Steinberg House was completed.

Congratulations to our members, Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. N. Frankel, parents of the bride and the happy newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Frechtman.

Jewish Art Exhibit Opens

Art in the Hebrew Tradition, an Exhibit of Jewish Ceremonial Objects, will open January 20, at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Fifth Avenue and 80th Street, New York City. The exhibit, which has been arranged by Francis Henry Taylor, Director of the Metropolitan, will be on display for six weeks.

Composed chiefly of objccts from the permanent collections of the Jewish Museum of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, the loan exhibit commemorates the Tercentenary. The selection and arrangement of objects was made by Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, Jewish Museum curator.

Young Married Group To Hear ADL Director

Benjamin R. Epstein, National Director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, will discuss "Threats to Freedom On The American Scene" when he addresses the Young Married Group on January 11, in the auditorium.

An actual observer of the early manifestations of Nazi Tyranny, Mr. Epstein is eminently qualified to discuss the different guises under which Fascism could easily infect America. In 1934, as a student in Germany, Mr. Epstein entered this into his diary: "This thing can come to the United States. I'm going to do everything in my power to fight it."

Five years later, he joined ADL as head of its Foreign Language Department and has since held the positions of New England Regional Director, Eastern Regional Director and Assistant National Director until his election as National Director in 1947.

Before his association with ADL, Mr. Epstein was chief investigator for the Philadelphia Public Defender and served with the N. Y. Federation of Jewish Charities and the Greater New York Fund.

In March of last year he visited Germany as a guest of the Federal Republic to study civil rights and is co-author (with Jacob Alson and Nathan C. Belth) of the report "Germany—Nine Years Later."

Eleanor Roosevelt to be Guest Speaker, Jan. 21

The Parents Association is proud to announce that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be its guest speaker at the Friday Evening Services on January 21, at the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Since 1952, the former First Lady has devoted herself to gaining support, understanding, and interest for the United Nations. She has travelled throughout the country on speaking tours to bring to Americans from coast to coast the U. N. story.

Following Mrs. Roosevelt's address, there will be a symposium in the Auditorium and an opportunity for the audience to participate in the discussion.

Again this year, Chanukah celebrations for students of the Religious School were conducted with the cooperation of the Parents Association. On Saturday evening, December 15, from 5:30 to 8 P.M. a supper party was held for youngsters of the Hebrew Department. The program featured the kindling of the Chanukah lights, square dancing, and games. From 8:30 to 10:30 P.M., the teen-ages enjoyed a fine social evening with a buffet followed by dancing. Both festivities were well attended.

On Sunday morning, December 19, individual class parties, planned by teachers of the Primary School, assisted by mothers from the Parents Association, were held under the supervision of Mrs. B. Grauer, chairman. Candles were lit and the traditional latkes, apple sauce, and cider were served.

One of the most valuable activities of the Parents Association is the Holiday Workshop which has attracted the interest of many mothers.

Mrs. Stanley Simon, chairman, and Mrs. A. Stangel and Mrs. J. Pincus, co-chairmen, conduct a Workshop previous to the celebration of each Jewish Holiday. This features demonstrations of costumes, foods, games, and songs appropriate for the traditional observance of such Festivals. This season, Mrs. Doris Lee Carr and Mrs. Shirley Zabor have volunteered to serve on the committee in charge of home decorations. Other mothers who will assist in the cataloguing and distribution of pamphlets and books pertaining to these celebrations are Mrs. Elsie Pincus, Mrs. Sarah Ober, and Mrs. Renee Rosenblatt.

letter from the President

Many of our members are content to be passive members, and prefer to let others conduct the affairs of the Synagogue.

I don't think it amiss to call your attention to the fact that the Synagogue can only be fully effective when every member participates.

We have a Chairman of the Board. Officers, 30 Trustees, 24 Advisory Council, a Rabbi, a Cantor, an assistant Cantor and the various officers and members of the Synagogue's subsidiary organizations, and the office staff, who all give of their time, service and money so that the Park Avenue Synagogue can function most effectively for the membership body and the Jewish community as well, and you may well appreciate that it is not an easy job to run an institution like the Park Avenue Synagogue with a membership of upwards of 700 families.

That all who are active in the administration of the Congregation affairs are doing their utmost to make each individual member feel happy and a part of this great congregation is evidenced by numerous letters the office receives.

I therefore think you will be pleased to read extracts from some of these letters which I have selected at random from hundreds.

Bar Mitzvah

"I want to thank the Park Avenue Synagogue for the lovely letter that it sent—I am going to keep it for my Bar Mitzvah scrapbook."

"Mrs. ..... and I wish to thank the Park Avenue Synagogue, the officers, Rabbi, Cantors and members of the Congregation for the privilege afforded us to have our son prepare for his Bar Mitzvah—for the inspiration and pleasure we all received on his Bar Mitzvah. We are enclosing our check for $200 as a token of our thanks."

"All of us were touched by the thoughtfulness which prompted the Park Avenue Synagogue to write us on our son's Bar Mitzvah. It is about as sweet a letter as I have seen and it makes us all feel very happy. I just wanted the Park Avenue Synagogue to know how much I appreciate it."

"I wish to thank the Park Avenue Synagogue for all it has done to make my Bas Mitzvah what it was. The letters which you have sent me have given me much courage in continuing to study the Jewish way of life."

Anniversaries

"We are indeed grateful for the kind thoughtfulness of the Officers, Chairman and members of the Board and the entire membership body of the Park Avenue Synagogue on the occasion of our 20th anniversary. Your thoughtful remembrance so heartfully expressed added immeasurably to our happiness."

"We are overwhelmed by the wonderful wishes of the Park Avenue Synagogue on our wedding anniversary. Our warmest thanks to the Board, the Rabbi, Cantor and Sisterhood for remembering us so kindly."

"The very warm congratulations of the Park Avenue Synagogue on the occasion of our 50th wedding anniversary have made so deep an impression on us that I find it somewhat difficult to express the gratitude for such thoughtfulness which we both feel."

"To receive such a lovely letter from the Park Avenue Synagogue after so beautiful a service on Saturday at which my husband and I received the blessings for a 25th anniversary was a little too much joy and so I tried to keep the memory of same with me for a few days before I attempted to answer it."

"Thank you for the good wishes; also the Officers, Chairman and members of the Board, the Rabbi, the Cantor and the membership body. We hope all your good wishes and prayers are answered and that all links of all families be together for a long long while."

Condolences

"We want to thank the Park Avenue Synagogue for its many kindnesses. We shall always remember the constant attendance at services by representatives of the Park Avenue Synagogue, the kind letters to all the members of our family and the many other little attentions."

"Thanks so much for your kind letter in behalf of the Congregation. Its really a comfort to have the Park Avenue Synagogue respond so warmly to each member and make each feel as part of the family in the Synagogue. Consider myself lucky to be a member of the Synagogue family."

These are just short extracts of a few out of hundreds of letters that the office has received and I am sure you must feel a certain real attachmnt for the Park Avenue Synagogue particularly after reading the above.

"Are you an active member? The kind that would be missed, or, are you just content to have your name on our list?"

How wonderful it would be if there were no more passive members.

Will you try? If you find time, answer me, please, or give me your reactons.

Cordially,
JACOB KLEIN

Mr. & Mrs. Group Hears Rabbi Seligson Speak

The Mr. and Mrs. Group continues its survey of American Jewish History at the meeting, which was held on January 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Simet, 575 West End Avenue, New York City.

Rabbi David J. Seligson spoke on "Isaac Mayer Wise and the Rise of the Reform Movement in the United States." Rabbi Seligson is a most interesting speaker and is eminently qualified on this subject. In accordance with the Group's custom, Rabbi Seligson's talk was followed by an open Forum on the subject.

Lewisohn Lectures

Israel in 1925, through the publication of The American Jew: Character and Destiny in 1950, his voice has been one of the outstanding voices of English-speaking Jewry, recalling that Jewry to higher Jewish dignity, to deeper faith in Jewish destiny, to higher achievements in the realm of general civilization.

from the desk of the Executive Director

Sometimes being near a person or an object makes it difficult to get a true perspective of the worth or importance of the person or institution to which you are very close.

The other day, it was our pleasure to entertain Mr. Stuart Preston. Art Editor of the New York Times, with whom we ambled through the building while he critically looked us over. It was with pleasure that we read in the Sunday Times of January 2nd a delightful, impressive, even though terse description of an art critic's reaction to what we hold so dear. Here is what Mr. Preston said.

"Designed by Adolph Gottlieb, the stained glass facade of the Milton Steinberg House, a school and office annex of the Park Avenue Synagogue, 50 East 87th Street, is said to be the largest such concentrated area in the world. It masks the whole height and width of the five story building, giving no clue of the disposition of rooms behind it and, when lighted from behind in the evenings, creates a glowing spectacle in the dingy side street."

"The over-all design is a regular one, made up of colored glass panels, both opaque and transparent, that depict in semi-abstract terms symbols of Jewish thought and ritual as well as key episodes from the Old Testament. This is visual education indeed."

The other evening it was my pleasure to visit with the Parents Association Executive Board. One cannot help but be impressed by the seriousnes and devotion which marked their discussion on most subject matters which came up. It was also a welcome experience because It was unusual to see men actively serving on the Parents Association Board. Usually this kind of activity in many Parents Association groups is classed as "women's work."

The officers and the members of the Parents Association Board are an excellent training area starting with devotion to their children and Religious School, which if carried through over the years, will undoubtedly develop into a keen and loyal devoton to every phase of Synagogue and Jewish life that the Park Avenue Synagogue has to offer.

By DORIS E. WIMPFHEIMER

From December 28 to 30, seven representatives from the Park Avenue Synagogue joined one thousand young people from all over the United States and Canada for the Fourth National Convention of United Synagogue Youth at Boston, Mass.

The main theme of the convention was "Youth and the Synagogue." Many interesting ideas and views were discussed by the young people present at the panels and plenary sessions. Some of the panels our members participated in were: The Synagogue as a House of Worship; Workshops on Programming and Administration for Youth Groups; The Synagogue as a House of Study and Assembly; Year 'Round Programming; The Development of the Synagogue in the United States; and Opportunities for Learning in the Synagogue. These panels were divided into small discussion groups.

The next meeting will be Sunday, January 30, and a discussion will be held on the problems of dating and the relationships between parents and young people. Dr. A. Linn prominent psychiatrist will guide the discussion. All teenagers are invited to attend.

Folk Music Program Planned For Young People January 30

A near-record turnout of some fifty or sixty people helped make the recent cocktail party of the Young People's Group one of the most successful events ever undertaken by the club, according to Irwin Spiegel, its president. Mr. Spiegel also announced the party helped increase membership of the organization.

At the next meeting of the group, to be held on January 30 from 3-5 p.m. in room 200 of the Milton Steinberg Building, a program of American folk music will be presented featuring Clarence Cooper, rccording artist for Elektra Records.

Asher Levy of New Amsterdam

The Jewish Theatre for Children will mark the observance of the American Jewish Tercentenary with a special revival of its three act play, "Asher Levy in New Amsterdam." The students of the Religious School are invited to attend the performance on Sunday afternoon, March 13 at the Joan of Arc Playhouse, 154 West 93rd Street. Tickets are 75 cents and may be purchased at the school.

Artistically presented with dances and music, the production dramatizes the fight against discrimination waged by the early colonists in what is now New York City. The play reconstructs the story of Asher Levy, a Jewish colonist of New Amsterdam, under whose leadership the small minority groups, Quakers, Jews and Catholics, struggled unyieldingly to secure civil and religious rights as free citizens.

Junior Congregation Council

The student-government of the Religious School is vested in four officers elected by the entire student body and a Synagogue council with two representatives from each of the classes in the Hebrew Department. The Synagogue Council conducts the Junior Congregation services on Saturday morning; plans for social events for the school; and seeks to develop an extensive extra-curricular program.

In a closely-contested election, marked by enthusiastic campaign oratory and colorful campaign posters, the following officers were chosen for the year 1954-55: President, John Stangel; Vice-President, Jon Waldman; Secretary, Joseph Weintraub and Treasurer, Martha Stein.

BOARD CHAIRMAN RESIGNS

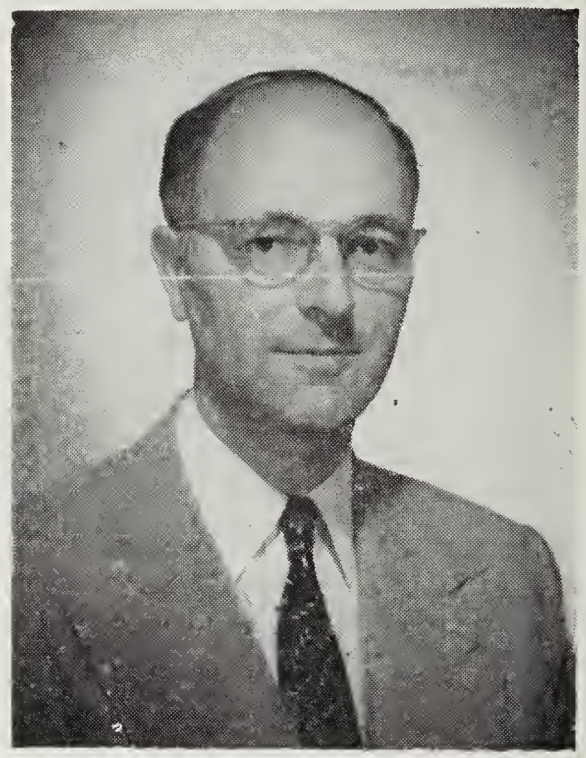

Judge Sanford H. Cohen has tendered his resignation as Chairman of the Board. In his letter Judge Cohen said . . .

"Gentlemen, at the November meeting of the Board after appointing a nominating committee, I caused to be read a statement that I was not a candidate for nomination or election as Chairman of the Board. Conditions are such that I find it appropriate to resign as Chairman of the Board, and I hereby do so effective immediately."

Joseph Howard Katz as Vice Chairman will fill out the remainder of the present term.

Rabbis Harry Halpern, Jack Cohen To Debate New Jewish Marriage Law

What has begun as a raging controversy in organized Jewish life, will receive a full-fledged airing at the forthcoming Symposium scheduled by the Men's Club on Tuesday, January 25, at 8:30 P.M. at the Synagogue. Rabbi Harry Halpern of the East Midwood Jewish Center in Brooklyn and Rabbi Jack J. Cohen of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism will discuss from somewhat different points of view the modifications on the marriage contract recently authorized by the Jewish Theological Seminary. Under the subject heading of "Rabbi and Layman: Their Roles in the Development of Standards of Jewish Life," there is expected to emerge in the discussion the varying approaches to the question of the right of the modern Jew to effect changes in Jewish law.

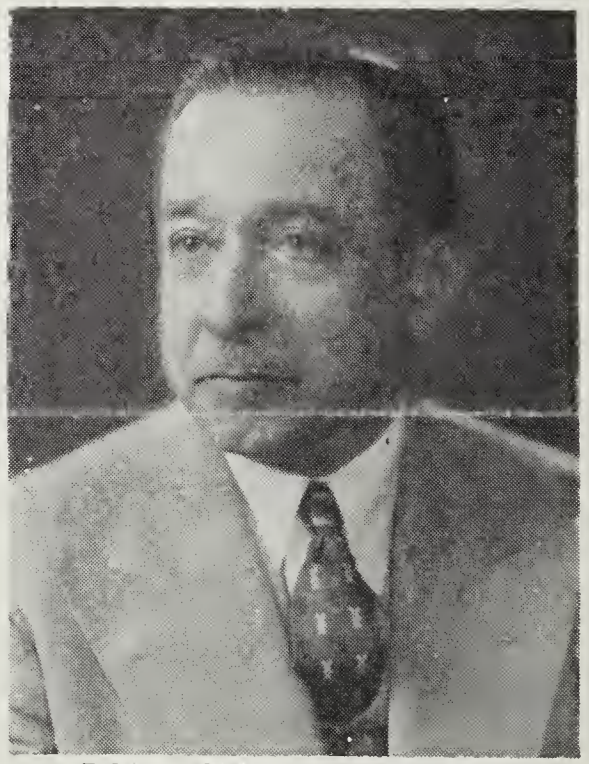

RABBI JACK J. COHEN

It was the issuance of the modifications of the Jewish marriage contract which produced the explosion, particularly by Orthodox Judaism, against any changes what-so-ever.

Joseph Howard Katz, past President of the Men's Club and currently the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, has been named by Milton Sivek, Men's Club President, to preside over the debate and symposium.

Rabbi Harry Halpern of the East Midwood Jewish Center, is President of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, a member of the Rabbinic Cabinet and a national co-chairman of the Seminary's Planning and Scope Committee. He has served in positions of leadership in B'nai B'rith, the Zionist Organization of America, Jewish Sanitorium for Chronic Diseases, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies and Brooklyn Jewish Community Council. In his name there has been established at the Jewish Theological Seminary, by his congregation, the Rabbi Harry Halpern Scholarship in Talmud.

RABBI HARRY HALPERN

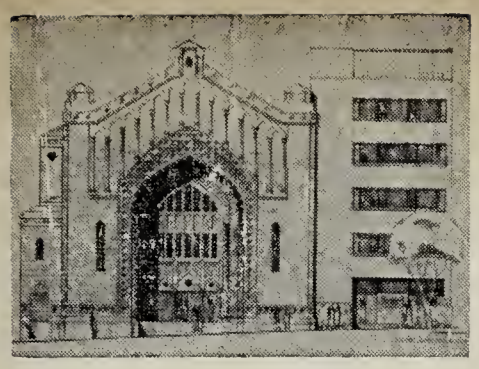

Rabbi Jack J. Cohen, of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism, serves as Associate Editor of The Reconstructionist and of The Synagogue School. He has written many articles and books including "The Creative Audience" (with Rebecca Imber), "The Religion of the Jewish Prayerbook" and "Zionism Explained". Vice Chairman of the Placement Commission of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, he formerly served as executive committee member of that body. Because of the universal interest of the topic, ladies are invited to attend.

Secretary of Eisenhower Cabinet to Speak

On Friday evening, February 11, Maxwell Rabb, Presidential Assistant in Washington and Secretary of President Eisenhower's Cabinet, will launch the third series of lecture courses under the general theme of Moral Dilemmas of Our Time. He will discuss the topic "Ethics and Politics." Rabbi Noveck will participate in this meeting, interviewing Mr. Rabb with a series of specific questions evolved after several conversations with the guest speaker.

MAXWELL RABB

Mr. Rabb served as Secretary to Senator Lodge of Massachusetts for six years, commencing in January, 1937, and as Secretary to Senator Sinclair Weeks, now Secretary of Commerce.

He was one of the original leaders in the Eisenhower movement, and helped to organize the first headquarters. In 1951 and 1952, during the pre-convention campaign and at the Chicago convention, he served as executive secretary to United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., the Eisenhower campaign manager. Mr. Rabb was alternate delegate-at-large from Massachusetts.

Mr. Rabb is the outstanding Jew in the Eisenhower Administration. He is presidential advisor on minority problems and is in constant consultation with leaders of American Jewry.

Following the formal public interview, the audience will be given an opportunity to put questions to Mr. Rabb. Rabbi Noveck has indicated that since the pulpit takes no stand on political parties or candidates this will not be a partisan presentation. The evening will be devoted to the general problem of ethics and politics, and not to the specific policies of the Eisenhower Administration. The interview and discussion will take place in the auditorium of the Synagogue, following the services.

Mr. Rabb is making a special trip from Washington in order to participate in this lecture series, which is sponsored by the Committee on Adult Education. The Congregaton is urged to attend and take part in this unique Friday evening symposium.

Charles Angoff to Close Lecture Series, Feb. 4

Charles Angoff, well-known writer and editor, will bring to a close the second series of Friday night adult education lectures on the theme Religious Affirmations in Modern Jewish Literature, on February 4. He will discuss the topic "Man's Search for Himself in Contemporary American Literature", giving a survey of contemporary novels, short stories and plays dealing with Jewish characters, including the writings of Herman Wouk, Clifford Odets, Irwin Shaw, James Yaffe and others

Mr. Angoff has had a dual career as creative writer and editor. For years he was associated with the old American Mercury. Author or editor of some fifteen books, Mr. Angoff has also had two plays produced in "little" theatres and has contributed poems and stories to more than two dozen magazines. Bar Mitzvah Reflections

The Bar Mitzvah ceremony is one of the few institutions in American Jewish life which has successfully withstood the onslaught of changing conditions. Sabbath, the dietary laws, the holidays have all succumbed in varying degrees to "the times". But the Bar Mitzvah ceremony remains impregnable, a great rock in a weary land. Indeed, so strong is its hold upon the Jewish imagination and emotions that synagogues have been able in recent years to impose a series of requirements as a precondition for the Bar Mitzvah Ceremony, and to get them accepted. Thus many institutions have made a minimum of three, four or five years of Hebrew School training a prior condition; others have demanded the taking and passing of a preliminary examination; still others have required regular attendance at services. For all these elements, for the Bar Mitzvah ceremony itself, synagogues, rabbis, educators and Jewishly dedicated parents ought to give daily thanks. They have in their hands a lever which fits Archimedes' description and which is capable at least of moving the Jewish world.

Unhappily the lever works only up to the moment of the Bar Mitzvah ceremony and not an hour beyond. And for this we must offer tears. I am not referring to the fact that Jewish education ends with the Bar Mitzvah, just when it ought to begin. Nor am I bewailing extravagant Bar Mitzvah celebrations. The Latin epigram spoke the final word on the matter 2000 years ago,—"there can be no dispute about taste", and everyone enjoys a party. But there is room not only for sadness but for indignation in the fact that so many of the Bar Mitzvah parties which follow the ceremony completely contradict the spirit and words of the ceremony itself.

Bar Mitzvah literally means "a son of the Commandments." The ceremony with its call to the Torah, with its chanting of the Haftorah, with the charge of the rabbi, is designed to impress upon the mind of a young boy, at a turning point in his life, that there is a Jewish way of life, a Torah and a set of observances and precepts. He is called upon to say amen to all these. He does answer amen. And then, all too frequently, even in Conservative and Orthodox congregations, he sets off for a Sabbath afternoon party which systematically violates the whole series of commandments.

These parties violate the Sabbath by providing smoking, music and dancing. The Sabbath is a day which is supposed to be devoted to the contemplation of the end-values of life; the rhumba, the samba and the mambo are obviously devoted to the contemplation of different ends. They violate the dietary laws by providing such old-world Jewish delicacies as lobster salad and butter along with the non-kosher meat.

This is not a protest against parties, dancing or music. It is a plea that they be held at the proper time. It is not a protest against food; it is merely a plea that no matter what the regular family pattern, a religious ceremonial should be celebrated in the right spirit and with kosher food.

It is a bitter irony that we spend years preparing a boy to become a "son of the Commandments," only in the moment of fruition to make him party, party-wise to a violation of these self-same commandments.

ERRATUM

An omission was made in the last issue of BULLETIN of the names of those who attended the Fourth National Convention of United Synagogue Youth in Boston. Those who attended were: Michael Freedman, Cecily Falkenstein, Alice Heyman, Susan Jacobs, Geraldine Klein, Steven Stowe, Doris Wimpfheimer and Youth Leader Hy Sankel.

from the desk of Executive Director

A visit to the Board meeting of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue, my first, was an inspiring experience. What impressed me more than anything else about the entire meeting was the frequency with which subjects were discussed in terms of how this or that had been done 10, 12, 16 or even 18 years ago. One got a feeling that this is a group of people whose devotion to the Park Avenue Synagogue was anything but superficial; that their activity or certainly the activity of many of them can be measured in terms of decades and that over the years their service to the Synagogue has been invaluable.

I know of any number of large organizations which would consider it a major achievement to have raised as much funds as the Sisterhood did at their recent annual luncheon. The Sisterhood Board members talked of that luncheon with pride. In fact, an almost casual pride as if to indicate that of course such successes are to be expected.

It was a thrill to see at the Sisterhood meeting one of its Board members, whom I knew only by name, and who had given some young married relatives a full membership in our Synagogue as a Chanukah present! A gift like that is sometimes like planting a tree. It could bear lots of wonderful fruit.

Just in case you missed it, the Sunday News of January 16 had better than a one-half page color photograph showing the stained glass facade of the Milton Steinberg House. This also adds to our list of visitors, a Scarsdale business man whose Italian chauffeur insisted he look us over.

On the subject of interesting visitors to our Synagogue, it was with pleasure that we welcomed two college students from Argentina. Fortunately, our Executive Secretary, Emanuel Rosenthal, was able to converse with them alternately in Spanish and French. But it was possible for me to figure out that they said that they would not have come to New York and have missed seeing our building.

Tercentenary Celebrated At Jewish Museum

In keeping with the theme of the American Jewish Tercentenary, the exhibit at the Jewish Museum until May 1955 is entitled "Under Freedom" and depicts in graphic terms the record of participation in American life that American Jews have recorded on the pages of history the last 300 years.

The exhibit includes manuscripts, documents, reproductions, art and ritual objects, medals, and models of homes and institutions. Included in the exhibition is the actual foundation stone of "Ararat", envisioned as a Jewish state within American freedom, which was dedicated in 1825 by Mordecai Manuel Noah. A special room has been set aside to depict the colorful, pulsating life on New York's East Side at the turn of the century.

The exhibit may be viewed free by the public from 1:00 to 5:00 P.M. Mondays through Thursdays and from 11:00 to 6:00 P.M. on Sundays. Our Religious School students are planning to visit the Jewish Museum on Sunday, February 13.

Young People Meet Feb. 27

The February meeting of the Young People's Group of the Park Avenue Synagogue will be held on February 27, on the fifth floor of Milton Steinberg House from 3 until 5 P.M. Tentative plans call for a guest speaker.

Meanwhile it was announced by Irwin Spiegel, club president, that arrangements are being made to have youth groups from neighboring temples join the Young People's Group in several meetings. An invitation has already been extended to Temple Rodeph Sholom's Junior League.

Tubie Resnick Testimonial

Tubie Resnick, a member of the Advisory Council to the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, was honored at a testimonial dinner held January 27, at the Waldorf Astoria by the Liquor Industry Foster Alumni Committee for Brandeis University.

Mr. Resnick is a member of the Brandeis Board of Fellows which acts as advisory group to its Board of Trustees.

The Sewing Committee of the Sisterhood, which meets every Wednesday from 10:30 to 3 o'clock in the Auditorium of the Synagogue, is currently engaged in sewing wrappers for the children of Israel. Those women who are interested in sewing for this worthy cause are cordially invited to meet with the committee.

Young Married Members To Conduct Symposium

For its next meeting February 8, the Young Married Group is planning a program apart from its usual format instead of an "imported" speaker. The group will call upon three of its own members to give a short presentation on a subject of interest to the group.

William Riemer will discuss the pros and cons of direct mail advertising, explaining the relative values of those letters which come addressed "Occupant, Local Delivery Route".

Dr. Nathan Schifrin will discuss the advances being made in the medical field concerning Polio, its causes and treatments.

Mortimer Matz will unveil a few of the mysticisms surrounding the production and distribution of one of New York's daily newspapers.

The evening promises to be most enjoyable, and, as usual, the group invites the congregation to come down and join in the discussions and be a witness to this trial symposium.

Members Visit B'nai Jeshurun

Replying to a warm and cordial invitation from Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, one of the oldest Synagogues in the Unitd States, to join with them in celebrating their 130th Birthday, the Park Avenue Synagogue on Saturday, January 8, sent an official delegation to participate in their anniversary Sabbath Service. Those attending included: Jacob Klein, Synagogue President, Z. Harry Altmark, Nelson Ruttenberg, Milton Sivek, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sokolow.

Youth Leadership Award

The Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue, in cooperation with the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, is again sponsoring the "Youth Leadership Award."

This award, a sterling silver medal and a certificate, is presented at Shavuoth to a boy or girl between the ages of 13 and 17, who has shown the "greatest aptitude for leadership in Jewish life." A committee, consisting of the Rabbi, the Principal and the President of the Men's Club, usually selects the winner of the award from among the members of the Confirmation—Graduation Class.

Scouting Groups Organized

Scouting activities are well underway at Park Avenue Synagogue. On Tuesday, January 18, an organization meeting was held. All interested parents in Cub Scouting and Brownie Girl Scouts showed their enthusiasm. A Brownie Troop, with girls from 7-10, was formed and two capable persons volunteered to take the training course given by the Girl Scout leaders.

The Cub Scouts were also well represented. A well trained Cub Master is ready to assume his duties. A meeting of the Cub Scout Troop Committee was held Tuesday, January 20. The Den Mothers graciously volunteered and will be ready to start within the week.

Record Audience Hears Eleanor Roosevelt Speak

A record capacity crowd filled the Park Avenue Synagogue at the Friday Evening Services sponsored by the Parents Association on January 21, to hear Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt speak on "Education for Peace through the United Nations." Because of the unusually large attendance, many people had to be turned away.

Rabbi Noveck and Assistant Cantor Friedman conducted the services, assisted by the following members of the Parents Association: Mrs. Herman Helpern, Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, who read prayers in English, and Nelson Ruttenberg, Bernard Weintraub and Harry Zucker, who read prayers in Hebrew.

In an inspiring address from the pulpit, Mrs. Roosevelt stressed the need for a better understanding of the peoples of the old world through the process of education offered by the various agencies of the U.N. She pointed out that world leadership requires that one should possèss the understanding of the peoples of the world, their religion, their culture, their civilization, and their way of life; only by education, patience and a desire to understand, can this be accomplished.

The American Association of the United Nations, known as the A.A.U.N. is engaged in this worthwhile task of educating the American people to properly understand this problem. As a tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt and an expression of our grattitude to her for her presence at the Friday Evening Service, many of our congregants have joined the A.A.U.N. Those who are interested, should send their check to Mrs. Helen Strauss, at the Synagoguc, for $3 payable to the order of the A.A.U.N. for membership.

Four Members to Participate In Feb. Medical Symposium

On Friday evening, February 18, Drs. Morris Bien, Oscar Glassman, Samuel Orgel and Harry Wechsler, all members of the Park Avenue Synagogue, will participate in a symposium on "Morals and Medicine," as part of the Synagogue's adult education program. The symposium will take place in the auditorium immediately following the regular Friday Evening Services.

After a brief introduction by Rabbi Noveck on "Morals and Medicine" from the standpoint of Jewish tradition, each member of the panel will be asked questions by Rabbi Noveck and will be given an opportunity to present his own point of view on some of the medical dilemmas of our time. Some of the questions which will be covered are: Shall the doctor tell the patient the truth? Is there a moral right to try and overcome childlessness through artificial insemination? Does society have the right to foreclose parenthood through sterilization? Are there any circumstances when euthanasia is justifiable? Shall government assistance be enlisted to maintain an adequate supply of doctors? What can the patient do to help stop the practice of fee splitting? Shall we adopt compulsory medical care insurance?

Dr. H. Wechsler

Dr. O. Glassman

Dr. M. Bien

A very stimulating and controversial discussion among the panel members is expected on these important medical problems, and an opportunity will be given for questions from the audience.

Dr. Bien is Associate Attending Anesthesiologist at Mt. Sinai Hospital. He is a Fellow of the American College of Anesthesiology and a Diplomate of the American Board of Anesthesiology.

Rites for Judge Miller

Funeral services for former Supreme Court Justice Julius Miller, a distinguished member of the Congregation, were held at the Park Avenue Synagogue, on Sunday, February 6.

A large gathering of friends, including prominent City officials and members of the judiciary, attended the services, which were conducted by Rabbi Noveck, assisted by Cantor Putterman. Rabbi Noveck also delivered the eulogy.

Justice Miller served as State Senator from 1919 to 1921, when he was elected Manhattan Borough President. He held that office until 1930, when he was elected to the Supreme Court of the State of New York and served until 1950, when he reached the statutory retirement age.

Rabbi Noveck referred to the many civic achievements for which Mr. Miller was responsible during his regime as Borough President, including the West Side Highway, which was originally named for him. "He lived a full and complete life with all the satisfaction that can come to a human being," Rabbi Noveck added.

The officers, members of the Board of Trustees, and members of the Congregation extend their heartfelt sympathy to the Miller family.

Annual Report to Congregation

by

SANFORD H. COHEN
Chairman of Board of Trustees

In accordance with the By Laws of the Park Avenue Synagogue and following custom, I do hereby report to you a survey of the activities of the Synagogue during the past year and up to January 12, 1955, the date when I resigned as Chairman of the Board of Trustees. I have caused to be filed the reports of the following Committees listed here alphabetically:

Adult Education Committee, Harold Starkman, Chairman; Building Committee, Saul Godwin, Chairman; Bulletin Committee, Nelson Ruttenberg, Chairman, Eleanor Robinson, Editor; Catering Committee, Nelson Ruttenberg, Chairman; Finance Committee, Benjamin Sack, Chairman; Fund Raising Committee, Isidore M. Cohen, Chairman; House Committee, Mortimer D. Millheiser, Chairman; Membership Committee, Ezra Cohen, Chairman; Men's Club, Milton M. Sivek President; Ritual Committee, Archie Thurman, Chairman; Sisterhood, Gertrude B. Karmiol, President; School Board Committee, Victor Herwitz, Chairman; Youth Activities Committee, Melvin L. Krulewitch, Chairman and Young Married Group, Samuel D. Fredman, President.

Each of said reports is comprehensive and sets forth the activities of the various arms of the Synagogue, but unfortunately they are voluminous and time and space prevent them from being included in this report.

The crowning achievement during this administration was the completion of the Milton Steinberg House. While the interest of the members of the congregation was concentrated upon the actual building operations, the greatest thrill undoubtedly was the unveiling of the cornerstone and dedication ceremonies on September 19, 1954. The Committee of Arrangements that day being Chaired by Hon. Bernard Botein. When summer came, some may have had misgivings as to the completion of the building before the scheduled dedication services. Your Chairman spent 3 and sometimes 4 days each week during the early morning hours, at meetings and conferences with contractors and subcontractors to accomplish our purpose and to press completion of the job. Jonathan and David, the two sons of our late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, unveiled the cornerstone aided by our President, Jacob Klein, and the dedication address was delivered by Rabbi Noveck. Judge Botein was introduced as presiding officer after an address by your Chairman, and a musical rendition by Cantor Putterman. Other speakers were Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Dr. Abram L. Sacher President of Brandeis University, Mrs. Ogden Reid publisher of the New York Herald Tribune, Dr. Simon Greenberg Vice-Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and Mordecai Kedron of the Israeli Government. A word of praise should be mentioned here of Saul Horowitz one of the Trustees and the President of H.R.H. Construction Company without whose help our new building would today not be a reality. Thereafter the Building Committee proceeded with furnishing the magnificent structure whose facade of stained glass is the only one of its kind in the world. The auditorium and the adjoining kitchens were completely rebuilt and refurnished so as to be now available for wedding parties, Bar Mitzvahs, and for other festivities where observance of the dietary laws are maintained. The Rabbi's study and the Cantor's music room and study have been newly furnished; likewise all the schoolrooms now lend proper space, atmosphere and surroundngs for the children of our religious school. There is also a library and a small synagogue or chapel for ceremonies seating approximately 90 persons. Your Chairman takes pride in this accomplishment and in those that follow, in all of which he was ably assisted by the other officers of his administration.

This year the Board of Trustees undertook to fill an urgent need long felt by those who have occupied the post of Chairman of the Board. We expanded our staff to add a full time, lay, professional Executive Director. Not only did our Synagogue's expanding activities more than justify this step but it should be noted that few if any congregations of our size lack an Executive Director while many smaller, have a full time Executive. In our choice of Sidney R. Katz to fill this post, we feel that we have a person with a rich Jewish background, an understanding of Jewish communal and congregational life growing out of years of professional experience. I know that you will be gratified to learn that Manny Rosenthal, our Executive Secretary, and Sidney Katz are hitting it off very well as a team of coordinate and cooperative effort.

Martin Leichtling, Principal of our religious chool and Advisor to the School Board, had the difficult task of providing facilities in the new building for the beginning of the school year in October 1954. He accomplished his job with dispatch and perfection and deserves public commendation.

The School Board reports a school registration of approximately 300 students with three classes in Hebrew 1, and five members of the graduating class are continuing their education in Hebrew 6, and two other graduates are assisting as student teachers in the Primary Department. The regular junior congregation service at the Jewish Museum was continued this year and a special service for young children who are unable to read Hebrew was prepared and presented. Your Board of Trustees has also before it for study, the advisability of establishing a nursery school. The details of all the work being accomplished by the School Board are contained in its report on file.

The Adult Education Committee reported the innovation introduced this past Fall for the specific purpose of increasing the attendance of Friday evening services. It came to the attention of your Chairman that attendance at such services as well as Saturday morning services, had fallen off considerably and your Chairman recommended to Rabbi Noveck and the Committee that a series of lectures which previously had been held on Monday evenings, be made part of the regular Friday evening service. Rabbi Noveck and the Committee adopted this suggestion and I am happy to say attendance on Friday evenings has thus far increased. Whether this same policy ought to be followed in the future is a matter which should be given serious thonght by the new Chairman of the Board. The other Monday evening classes and lectures have been continued as planned by and under the direction of Rabbi Noveck together with the Hebrew courses and cantillation and choral music conducted by Cantor David Putterman.

Chairman's Report

The Membership Committee reports that we now have a total membership of 753 families with a few new applications pending.

To prepare for the use of the auditorium, your Chairman appointed a new Catering Committee consisting of Nelson Ruttenberg as Chairman, Freda Sack and Dorothy Sokolow. This Committee prepared and worked out a plan for caterers and for the use of the auditorium and other parts of the building for festive occasions. The result should be very successful socially and financially.

It is always a pleasure to mention the work of Sisterhood. The service rendered by this body of women, particularly its officers, is always commendable. This past year under the Co-Chairmanship of Mrs. Tubie Resnick and Mrs. Milton Sivek, and Chairman of the Journal, Mrs. Saul Granetts, and Treasurer, Mrs. Sigmund Segal, there resulted a profit of approximately $9,800. from the Sisterhood luncheon and theatre party. This accomplishment is reported by its President, Mrs. William Karmiol, and the earnings will go toward the payment of the balance of the total pledge of $50,000. to the Milton Steinberg Fund. Sisterhood has continued with its program of previous years with service to its members, the Synagogue and the community.

Parents Association has increased its activities this year under the leadership of its President and has cooperated in the activities of the Synagogue. It has conducted its own program with knowledge of its responsibility to the Jewish community and the children in our school.

The Bulletin which is mailed periodically to members of the congregation has continued under the same editorship as in previous years. Mrs. Robinson as Editor does an excellent job with the material furnished and the limited space provided.

Now to turn from affiliate organizations led by the ladies of the Synagogue, mention must be made of the fruitful activities of the Men's Club, ably led by Milton Sivek. They have held their inspiring monthly meetings for members, interspersed with meetings to which ladies were invited. Their annual Political Showcase has become a regular feature, as well as their annual Youth Leadership Award presented during the Shevouth holiday to the outstanding student of our religious school. The entire congregation is now looking forward to the Men's Club theatre party scheduled for March 14, 1955.

The Young Married Group has become an organization whose purpose is for its members to come closer to the Synagogue and to Judaism. It has and is developing a program for husband and wife to receive religious and cultural enrichment. Each year its program is enlarged with greater interest to its members.

The Youth Activities Committee was appointed by your Chairman after the Board of Trustees had deemed it advisable to establish youth activities under a separate committee so as to present an integrated and coordinate program for the youth of the Synagogue. A paid Youth Director, Hyman Sankel, was engaged to create a program for children between the ages of 7 and 13 and to encompass a Scout program as well as a teen age program. The work of this Committee headed by Col. Krulewitch will be presented as it develops during the coming year.

The Finance Committee which is so ably headed by Benjamin Sack, our former Chairman of the Board, continued this year to grapple with the numerous budgetary and financial problems confronting the Board. In its quiet, unobtrusive fashion, it has done a yeoman job.

The Fund Raising Committee, of which I. M. Cohen is Chairman, has continued its activities this year. Your Chairman has devoted a good deal of time with Issy Cohen to bring the campaign to a successful conclusion. It should be reported that the funds of the Synagogue are presently being used to pay the contractors pending the payment of the pledges made to the Milton Steinberg Fund. In this fashion, the placing of a mortgage on the new building or otherwise borrowing money from a lending institution was eliminated.

The Ritual Committee continued to function under the leadership of Archie Thurman. From its annual report of its monthly meetings, your Chairman can assure you that all phases of our religious activities have been thoroughly examined, debated and established.

This report would not be complete if I did not make some mention of Arthur Ochs, retiring from the office of Treasurer. He has given of his time and his efforts unstintingly and his devotion to the organizational end of our Synagogue will be greatly missed by all of us. We wish him good health and happiness for many years to come.

Likewise, my personal thanks and good wishes to Joseph Howard Katz upon his retiring from the office of Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees. He has been a loyal and devoted executive and his help to me and to the Synagogue has been immeasurable.

And at this time I wish to welcome Ezra Cohen as the new Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Ezra needs no introduction to any of you. He has been a pillar of our institution for most of his adult lifetime. I wish him a successful administration and the enjoyment of good health and happiness during his term of office.

In conclusion, I should like to observe that the responsibility of running the Synagogue rests alone in the hands of the Board of Trustees by virtue of the Religious Law of the State of New York. I urge the Board to guard that responsibility zealously and not to permit any individual member or group to usurp or defy that responsibility. I should like further to observe that the primary objective of a Synagogue must be its religious services. In order that the preeminence of the Synagogue be established, too much emphasis must not be placed upon its secular activities. It follows therefore that our religious life must be enriched and strengthened. To accomplish this end there must be adequate spiritual leadership so that all members of the congregation may be sufficiently interested to attend religious services regularly on the Sabbath and on holidays. We realize that this may be difficult for some, but the Pulpit will be greatly encouraged and inspired if members will make an attempt to attend services at least once a month. Your Board of Trustees has for a long time considered the advisability of engaging the services of an additional Rabbi. It has now finally been resolved that an Associate Rabbi is to be acquired as soon as possible and a Committee has been appointed for the selection of such Rabbi—one who we expect will possess the necessary training, experience and ability to join our Pulpit for the greater benefit of the religious and spiritual life of our congregation.

SANFORD H. COHEN
Chairman of the Board of Trustees

Annual Report of the President

For your information, provisions in the By-Laws of the Park Avenue Synagogue indicating the duties of the President, are

(1) that he may preside at all religious functions and

(2) that he preside at the annual meeting of the Congregation

Your president has assumed and performed considerable other services not sanctioned by the By-Laws and which, although not specifically approved by the Board of Trustees, are not objected to and while I have just completed my third term as President, no attempts have been made by anyone to interfere with this line of service that the President performs.

Thus to give you some idea of that service, the President

(1) is at the office of the Park Avenue Synagogue daily between the hour of 9 and 10

(2) He attends Friday evening services, services Saturday A.M. as well as on all Holidays and Holy days

(3) Attends at times various meetings of all subsidiary organizations

(4) Visits the Hebrew and Sunday schools

(5) Attends all funeral services of members who have passed on

(6) Attends at house of mourning and on occasion conducts the services

(7) Visits all members who have notified the office that they are ill—either in their homes, in private rooms or wards in hospitals

(8) Assists in the designation of all appointees for Aliyahs on Saturdays and on all Holidays and Holy days

(9) Sends letters of congratulations

(a) to all parents of Bar or Bas Mitzvahs

(a) to all who celebrate anniversaries, engagements, weddings, births, and birthdays

(c) to Bar Mitzvah boys and Bas Mitzvah girls

(d) to the parents of all Confirmands

(e) to all Confirmands

and a considerable amount of correspondence in connection with all spiritual matters concerning the Congregation and its members, such as letters of condolence and letters of comfort in cases of illnesses.

Now your President does all this and is happy to render these services but the least the Officers, members of the Board, and the membership body could or should do is their bit to cooperate.

It is not the pleasantest thing for the President to telephone 20 people to try to get one person to act as a Gabbai on Friday night or Saturday morning.

It is also distressing, to say the least, to be present at each service and find the Officers, members of the Board and the great body of members conspicuous by their absence.

The Park Avenue Synagogue is under a terrific expense—it furnishes a Rabbi, Cantor, Choir and a large staff as well as all that goes with the conduct and operation of a great Synagogue and all that is asked of the membership is to appear at services occasionally, if not weekly, and weekly is spelt weekly and not weakly.

I wonder how many who are here this evening would be willing to give their assurance that they will attend more regularly. You can signify your willingness by raising your hand.

In conclusion, I would like to ask if there is anyone present, who would like to make any suggestions

(a) as to improving our services

(b) as to what your President has left undone

(c) as to what he can do. that should be done and

(d) in what way the President hasn't met with your expectations

(e) what, if anything, you would like him to do

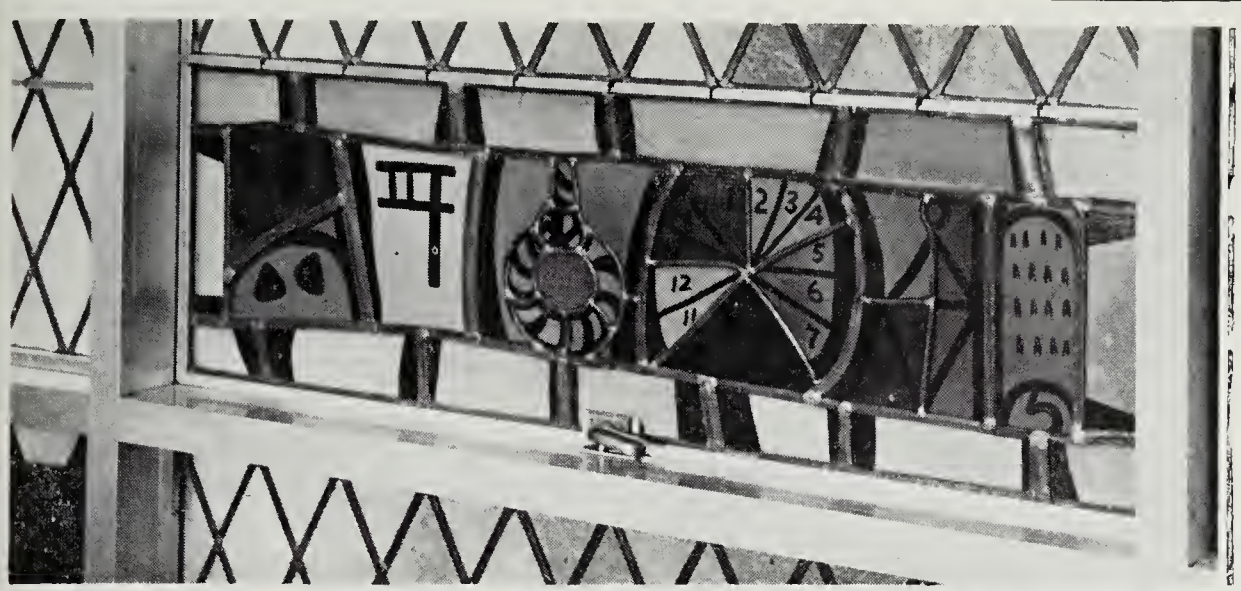

I am here to serve you—not to be served and if there is anything within reason you want me to do, I am at your service.

But, please, please, make us all feel. the Rabbi. the Cantor, the Board and myself, that you are all happy to be part and parcel of the Park Avenue Synagogue and that each one of you will do your bit.

I close with the prayer Oseh sholom Bimromov Hu jaahse sholom oolaynu, ve al Kol Yisruel: translation

May He who created harmony in the Heights Create harmony among us and all Israel and let us say. Amen.

PURIM WINDOW OF STEINBERG HOUSE

World Publicity Given To Steinberg House

The Officers and Committee Chairmen of the Park Avenue Synagogue, its Congregants and many contributors would undoubtedly be thrilled to learn about the world-wide promotion which the Milton Steinberg House of the Park Avenue Synagogue is receiving by the United States Information Agency of the State Department in Washington.

In a letter recently addressed to the Executive Director, the Chief of the Press Service of the United States Information Agency wrote to Mr. Katz, that the artistry and craftsmanship of the Milton Steinberg House "serves to correct the impresion of the American worker as a robot on a mass-production assembly line."

They further advised Mr. Katz that as part of the Federal Government's promotional activities a description of our building including photographs was sent to 77 countries for use by newspapers, magazines, radio stations and private groups.

Space does not permit us to carry a full account of the government story but the following paragraphs are quoted directly from the feature story which among other things praises the craftsmen who carry on the ancient art of stained glass work.

> "An interesting example of the new trends was recently unveiled here at the Milton Steinberg House, a school for biblical studies adjoining the Park Avenue Synagogue in New York City."
> "The building planned as a memorial to the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, spiritual leader of the congregation, has a facade completely fabri-

from the Desk of the Executive Director

In this section of the current issue of our BULLETIN you will note the interesting correspondence I have had in encouraging the promotion of the Milton Steinberg House as a building whose fame is now reaching all corners of the earth.

The pane illustrated above was one of Adolph Gottlieb's 21 abstractions. This particular one as you might note, symbolizes the Hangman's Noose, the Lottery Wheel, and other images which were associated by the artist with Purim. The Megillah this year will be read Monday evening, March 7.

Some people seem to have all the luck. Not only does the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue have a competent and pleasant method of conducting their annual fund raising event but somehow manages to hit this year what promises to be an extraordinarily successful play. If advance notices are to be trusted, the Ethel Barrymore Theatre on Monday evening, March 14, will witness a sell-out house full of persons brought there by the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue watching "The Desperate Hours."

One can learn all of this, that is, about the luck of the Men's Club, by attending as I did the last couple of meetings of their Board of Directors. There you will find earnest, conscientious and hard-hitting debate on the big as well as the little things in life that manage to get on to the crowded agenda. When the smoke is cleared after an intense debate and the newcomer feels that at least ten people will never talk to each other again, everybody is back where they were before, in the spirit of fraternalism and warmth which seems to characterize all Men's Club proceedings.

A visit to the Senior League was a full-fledged surprise. One did not quite expect the seriousness with which the young men and women in the Senior League discussed Jewish problems and their interest in the affairs of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

"Who is that man Steinberg?" was a question asked by an overwhelmed young couple who socially met the late Rabbi Steinberg one evening, and the next day when the host gave them the answer to that question found them at the Synagogue applying for membership. That path to our Synagogue door brought with it another visit only last month from the same, this time young looking couple, who were interested in having their daughter-in-law make her wedding arrangements at the Milton Steinberg House of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Tickets have been distributed to all members of Men's Club for the Theater Party on Monday, March 14. The play, "The Desperate Hours," by Joseph Hayes, recently opened, and those who want tickets should contact Chairman Charles Bennet for tickets. His telephone numbers are:

Rector of St. James Address Sisterhood

At their regular Open Meeting on Tuesday, February 15, Sisterhood commemorated Brotherhood Month with a talk by The Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, D.D., rector of St. James Church, on "Religion and Relationships." It was a very stimulating afternoon for all present.

On Monday, March 7, Sisterhood will act as hostesses for the Synagogue at a Purim party. An original pagaent based on Jewish history will be presented. Watch the BULLETIN for further details.

Prof. Albert Salomon To Open Adult Course

Professor Albert Salomon, of the Graduate Faculty of the New School for Social Research, and a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, will conduct a course on Sociology and Religion beginning on Monday, February 21 at 8:30 P.M. and continuing for successive Mondays through March 28. This course will present a revolutionary turn in western thought—the revolution of science against all the traditions of past philosophies and religions.

The first part of the course will deal with the revolutionary philosophic thought which tries to establish a new philosophy of history and which includes a new philosophic religion as contrasted with the religions of the Jewish and Christian faith. The second part will deal with the transformation of sociology and the philosophy of history into a scientific discipline. This scientific discipline has made important contributions to our understanding of the continuous changes in religious patterns according to the influence of environment and science. It is the main concern of the course to point out that the great institutions of Jewish and Christian religions are able to integrate the achievments of science and philosophy without destroying belief in the God of Creation and the God of Immortality.

Professor Salomon's recently published book "The Tyranny of Progress" will be used as a text for the first part of the course.

NAACP'S Head to be Speaker at Men's Club

The February meeting of the Men's Club will be devoted to a discussion of the topic "Segregation in Schools—Will It Be Eliminated?" Roy Wilkins, Administrator of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be the guest speaker.

Chairman for the program on Thursday, February 24, will be Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer, who has helped to organize the Men's Club and has been a member since its inception.

During the evening the whole problem of implementing the decision of the United States Supreme Court, outlawing segregation in the schools of the nation, will be aired.

Mr. Wilkins was one of the men personally engaged in presenting the case before the Supreme Court last year. He has been affiliated with the NAACP since 1931 and was Editor of The Crisis, the monthly magazine of the Association from 1934 through January 1950.

At the time of the formation of the United Nations in San Francisco in May 1945, Mr. Wilkins was one of the NAACP consultants to the American delegation. In addition he is known nationally because of his many radio, television and lecture appearances as well as through the pamphlets and magazine articles he has written on various aspects of race relations.

This will be a meeting not to miss. It is being held on Thursday evening, February 24, instead of Tuesday, at 8:30 P.M.

Young Marrieds Hear Three Members Speak

A unique symposium was held at the last meeting of the Young Marrieds meeting Tuesday Evening, February 8. The speakers for the evening were three members of the group, William Riemer, Mortimer Matz and Dr. Nathan Schifrin.

Mr. Riemer spoke about Direct Mail advertising, and his talk included samples of the latest premiums, give aways and devices used by manufacturers to promote their products.

Dr. Schifrin discussed the newest development in the fight to prevent polio with emphasis on the Salk vaccine and gamma globulin.

Mr. Matz led the group through the picture department of The News. He gave the background of some of the biggest scoop pictures the News has published including the Snider electrocution, the Hindenberg crash and others.

"The facade consists of a checkerboard pattern of 91 individual window panels set in an aluminum frame. The pattern repeats at intervals 21 different abstract compositions called "pictographs," derived from traditional symbols pertaining to the Jewish ritual."

"The compositions are executed in rich, vivid colors and are set against a background of diamond-shaped panels of pale amber, yellow and green, selected to give a warm, neutral light to the interior classrooms. The entire wall is 30 feet (9 meters) wide and 55 feet (16.5 meters) high."

Several aspects of our Synagogue program have given me great encouragement of late and made me feel that we are making real progress in our congregational life.

First is the dramatic success of our Religious Schools. The enrollment this year is over 300 students, with 165 in the three day a week Hebrew School. But more important than the large registration, is the great joy with which the children attend and the wonderful spirit that is prevalent throughout the school. The small homogeneous classes, the imaginative teaching, the art work in puppetry and copper, the songs and dances in the classroom, the visits to the Jewish Museum—all contribute to a satisfying emotional experience for our young people. Even the student teachers have caught the spirit and teach with enthusiasm and devotion. No wonder the consultants of the Jewish Education Committee who have visited the School lately have given us such a favorable rating.

Secondly, there is the expanding youth program under the direction of Mr. Hyman Sankel, principal of a public school in the Bronx. The teen-age group which he organized during the past couple of months now attracts between 70 and 90 young people every Sunday afternoon. Eight of its members attended the National Convention of United Synagogue Youth held in Boston at the end of December and came back inspired to develop a fine Jewish program. The boys and girls are gradually learning to recognize that they are part of a national Jewish youth movement. Organization of Brownie and Cub Scout groups, as well as regular Boy and Girl Scout troops, and the opening of the Game Room and the Art Club help to attract more youngsters to our buildings than ever before. Much of the credit for this expanding youth program goes to the Youth Activities Committee, under the chairmanship of Colonel Melvin L. Krulewitch, and the sympathetic understanding of the Board of Trustees.

Thirdly, and perhaps most important of all, have been the Friday Evening Lecture Series and symposia which have almost doubled Synagogue attendance over last year. While not every lecture is on the same level, we have had, without doubt, some very exciting and stimulating intellectual experiences this winter. Dr. Paul Friedman's discussion on "The Need to Belong," in which Leo Schwartz, the well-known Jewish anthologist, and Dr. Alfred Marrow, lecturer in Social Psychology at the New School and member of our Congregation, participated, kept the audience interested until long after eleven o'clock. Dr. Louis Linn's presentation on "The Need to Believe" created a great deal of discussion for a week after it was given. Many of the papers have been edited and I hope to publish them together with the best talks of last year's series so that those of you who could not attend may have a chance to read them.

Mrs. Roosevelt's appearance in our Congregation, Charles Angoff's comprehensive, enlightening and entertaining lecture on Jewish-American literature, Maxwell Rabb's response to my questions on "Ethics and Politic," and the enjoyable evening given us by Drs. Bien, Glassman, Orgel and Wechsler on "Morals and Medicine," were to me all delightful experiences.

That our membership is now larger than it has ever been, that the financial structure of the Congregation is sound and that we are moving forward in our activities, our Services and programs, all indicate a bright future for the Park Avenue Synagogue.

What has been so gratifying for me in all these ventures has been the spirit of cooperation of the members of the Congregation and the willingness of almost everyone I have approached to participate in our programs. That, added to the friendship and encouragement displayed by so many of you in recent months, the increasing numbers among you who have come to discuss personal and family problems, the opportunities you have given me to share in your joys and sorrows, all help to make the Rabbinate at the Park Avenue Synagogue a gratifying experience.

vice-chairman of the Board, and for many years, he has been chairman of the Membership Committee. He also served as chairman of the School Board.

In addition to the election of Ezra Cohen as chairman and Harold R. Starkman as vice-chairman of the Board, the following officers were elected: Jacob Friedman, Honorary President; Jacob Klein, President; Archie Thurman, 1st Vice-President; Saul Godwin, 2nd Vice-President; Nelson Ruttenberg, Treasurer; Milton Sivek, Associate Treasurer; and Emanuel Rosenthal, Executive Secretary.

The following were elected to the Board of Trustees for a three year term: I. M. Cohen, Hon. Abraham N. Geller, Saul Godwin, Victor Herwitz, Saul Horowitz, Morris Joffe, Mrs. William Karmiol, Samuel Lemberg, Dr. Harold Osserman, Benjamin Sack and Harold R. Starkman.

Rabbi Simon Noveck and Cantor David Putterman also graced the dais. In installing the officers and members of the Board, Rabbi Noveck congratulated each with an admixture of humor and seriousness, with words of praise and welcome. Jacob Klein, re-elected as President, also addressed the meeting. His message appeared in the last issue of the BULLETIN.

In accepting the gavel from the acting chairman, Ezra Cohen delivered his message to the Congregation (see Chairman's message).

In closing the meeting, Mr. Joseph H. Katz, the retiring chairman, said a few words (see J. H. Katz Message).

The meeting closed on a warm and cheerful note when Mrs. William Karmiol, president of Sisterhood presented a check for $6,000 to Ezra Cohen, the newly elected chairman, as an additional contribution to the Milton Steinberg House.

of Christians and Jews and the National Jewish Welfare Board.

Her activities on the local scene as well as throughout the country encompass a wide variety of interests, including among many others, employment, labor management and civilian defense. A reception and Oneg Shabbat will follow these services to which all members of the Congregation are cordially invited.

Message of the Chairman

"Rabbi Noveck, Cantor Putterman, Fellow Members:

One cannot help but feel flattered by your very complimentary remarks, Rabbi. I am deeply moved by your analogy but, nevertheless, very much disturbed because of the burden it places upon me. If I can eventually merit just a minute percentage of the comparison with my ancient namesake, my personal gratification will be quite complete.

All of you who are attending this meeting tonight entered this auditorium through the Milton Steinberg House, but on hundreds of other occaions you entered through the doors directly in the rear.

You may have noticed a number of marble slabs just as you came in. Each one is commemorative of some event. The largest one, dated in the Hebrew Calendar 5664 and in the Gregorian 1904 commemorates a complete renovation of the Synagogue which was then on the north side of 86th Street between Lexington and Park Avenues. It was completed in that year, a somewhat similar operation to the one we have just consummated but on a smaller scale.

You have just elected a list of officers and trustees for the ensuing term. I should like to read off to you a list of officers and trustees of another day. These are the names on that marble slab: Ezekiel Plonsky, President; Herman Zadek, Vice-President; Simon Schwesenski, Treasurer, Edward Barcinski, Secretary.

I personally knew these men with the possible exception of two or three whom I may not remember. I doubt if there is another person in the entire congregation who can attest to the same.

Most vividly I recall the zeal, the energy and the unselfish devotion with which these men conducted the affairs of this synagogue. As a mere youngster it made such a lasting impression on me that I think it has been a dominating influence through all the years of my life.

These men were devoted to an ideal. The preservation of the Synagogue was their duty. They were given that trust. Exactly who would come after them was not their immediate concern but they made it their business to see that it would be possible for others to succeed them in this Synagogue.

Since that time these names have almost been forgotten. They and their families have faded into oblivion and I doubt if there are any evidences of descendants in the membership that is here today. They have all gone, but this Synagogue is still here. It is here because in each period of its existence there were always those who assumed the trust. There were always those who had faith.

I have seen evidences of outright heroism in this Synagogue. It was during the depths of the depression. The affairs of the Synagogue were at a low point. There were fewer than one hundred members. The closing of the doors for good was a real threat.

It was necessary to raise a loan of staggering proportions. The loan was raised. I personally witnessed twenty men, who constituted the Board at the time, step up to a table and sign a bond, a guarantee, pledging everything material they owned and which would even affect the comfort and safety of those dear to them. They did not falter. They did not hesitate. When the test of backbone came they stood up to a man. They were trustees. The fate of the Temple depended upon them and the doors remained open.

A short time later it was Divine Providence which sent us Milton Steinberg and David Putterman and you all know what happened from then on.

The strength of this institution lies in the families which constitute its membership. That means all of the families.

No family is expendable. No family can be counted out—and certainly none of those who have unselfishly given of their time, talent and resources. It is this family spirit that has kept this institution alive. It is this spirit which made possible the Milton Steinberg House. It is this spirit which will carry on to greater accomplishments in the future.

Isn't it a pity that there should have to be a diminution of activity on the part of Sanford and Mary Cohen who have made so many contributions to the welfare and benefit of this congregation? And that goes for Joe Katz, also.

It is the solidarity of purpose of the

UJA Message for Women

In a recent news interview, Faris el-Khoury, prime minister of Syria, publicly proclaimed that Syria would use American shipments of arms to attack Israel, even if specifically forbidden to use these arms for aggressive purposes.

"American arms should be accepted and Israel should be attacked with them at a propitious hour," the prime minister said. "I guarantee that I shall be able to justify this attack before the Security Council and even the International Court of Justice, if necessary," he continued.

Faris el-Khoury's boast proves what we all know. Israel must, to protect herself, spend more and more money for defense purposes. It means that she has less money to spend on other important things. It also means that she must rely more and more on the United Jewish Appeal to aid the 30,000 immigrants erpected to arrive from North Africa in 1955 and to help those recent immigrants who have not yet been absorbed.

We must help Israel in her hour of need. We can do this by working and contributing to the United Jewish Appeal at this crucial time. Enlist as a worker and HELP UJA MEET ITS 1955 GOAL OF ALMOST $100,000,000.

Synagogue families, the good will, the cordiality and the friendships which have been the bulwark of this institution. They must be preserved. Every effort will be directed to that end.

The Rabbi and the Cantor are the spiritual leaders of this congregation. They should never be embarrassed with any of the functional participation which is rightly the province of committees and affiliate organizations. Consultation — yes. Advice — Yes. Participation — No!

Even though we who are here now will eventually be gone, others will take our places as has happened in the past. Someone will always be here to see that our heritage is preserved for the future.

If a specific policy is needed it will be implemented. In so doing we will proceed modestly, quietly but firmly. Thank you for your trust in me."

Message of Joseph H. Katz

"Until a few hours ago I had every intention of taking my seat immediately following my reading of Judge Cohen's report, thus making my departure from the position of Vice-Chairman of the Board which I occupied these past two years.

But during these last few days I have received calls from many friends who have asked me to comment on the matter that has never been discussed publicly in this auditorium but which has been the topic of conversation in the home of every congregant this past year. I refer, of course, to the controversy surrounding Rabbi Noveck.

I am mindful of the fact that monologue alone is insufficient in human affairs. If discussion is to be fruitful, a quarrel settled, men must not merely talk at one another or about one another. They must talk to one another; they must meet face to face. Several of our Trustees, however, have made the specific request that such public airing should not take place here this evening, and I ask you to respect and honor their wishes.

Some agree with one side of the controversy; some with the other; some have no opinion because they haven't heard all the facts; others have heard all the facts but refuse to express an opinion. I feel certain that the conscience of every member of this congregation, no matter where he stands, has been disturbed, and no one can be proud of this episode in our Synagogue history.

My concern on leaving the Vice-Chairmanship is the future welfare of our congregation. I have been brought up to believe, and I have expressed that opinion heretofore, that the Synagogue is bigger than any of us, bigger than the Pulpit, bigger than the Board of Trustees and its officers, bigger than any individual member no matter how important he may be, and bigger than any group of members.

When, therefore, I see our Synagogue tottering and floundering like a ship without a rudder, friends no longer on speaking terms, dissension within our families, members reulctant to attend services, I am truly apprehensivc of the future of Park Avenue Synagogue.

This institution has functioned these past decades as a national shrine in Judaism. To many of us it has meant Jewish survival through its worship and instruction. We must not let it down. We must think of our present crisis and the prime requisite for thinking through it, is to adopt the moral realism of the great Prophets and not to flinch at the gruesome task of becoming aware of what's wrong with our people and our leaders.

When you leave here tonight, I ask you to return to our old ways of family unity. It is our beloved Synagogue which is in jeopardy. We must not let it down.

And now, if you will permit me a few additional words as a personal tribute to our retired Chairman of the Board, which I borrowed from the poet Virgil, who expresses it much better than I can hope to do:

'Ever shall thy honor, they name and thy praises endure.' "

Professor Albert Salomon's course on SOCIOLOGY AND RELIGION, will be held on Monday evenings at 8:30 P.M., through March 28. The classes in Elementary and Advanced Hebrew will also be held at 8:00 P.M. through March 28.

Congratulations to the young writers Rose Brown, age 7½; Debby Fein, age 7; Lois Finkel, age 8; and to their teacher, Mrs. Belle Miller.

Tribute To Teachers

During Open School Week, the many parents who visited the classes and observed the instruction expressed words of praise for the Milton Steinberg House as a school building and for the work done by the teachers and the children.

A number of parents wrote to the school and we reprint this letter of appreciation by a parent of one teacher as a tribute to all of the teachers in our Religious School.

"This is my daughter Nan's first year in religious school and we are so happy that she is privileged to attend Park Avenue Sunday School. Mrs. ..... is a rare teacher—one who loves her work and the children. She is giving them such a happy and enthusiastic introduction to Judaism—one so much broader than we received. We wish to thank you for this opportunity to visit with you."

It was held on Sunday morning, February 27; and on Monday and Tuesday afternoons, February 28 and March 1 from 4 to 5:30 P.M. in Room 200 of the Milton Steinberg House.

An unusually fine exhibit of costumes was on display. These will eventually be used to start a costume wardrobe to be made available for use for pageants, plays, and parties to be given at the Religious School. Mrs. A. Stangel was in attendance to give complete instructions on costume making to mothers and children.

The exhibit also included various ceremonial traditional objects pertaining to Purim, pamphlets with instructions on home observance, recipes for traditional food, decorations, and games. The Workshop added another feature this year for the "Do It Yourself" enthusiasts.

TORAH COVERS

Mrs. Anna Edelman has just completed nine Torah Covers for the new Synagogue in the Milton Steinberg House. Those interested in having these beautiful Torah Covers dedicated in their name or in memory of a loved one, should communicate with Rabbi Noveck. The proceeds from the sale of these articles will be contributed to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

The guest speaker at the March 15 Open Meeting will be Enid Kaufman, who will speak on "The Artist and His Models." Mrs. Kaufman, an artist of renown, will exhibit sketches of several of her portraits of famous Americans and will explain how she came to do each.

Mrs. Kaufman has had many one-man shows in Paris, Montreal, New York, and many other cities in the United States. She is also the co-author of "American Portraits," with Dorothy Canfield Fisher who wrote a brief biography to accompany each portrait.

This promises to be a most unusual and stimulating afternoon, and all members of Sisterhood, members of the congregation, and their friends are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Following the meeting, Rabbi Simon Noveck will personally conduct a tour of the Milton Steinberg Building for those who have not yet seen the new building and wish to do so.

Megillah Reading

The children of the Primary and Hebrew Departments of the Religious School will participate in the reading of the Megillah on Monday, March 7, between 4:30 and 5:30 P.M.

In addition to the traditional reading of the Book of Esther, the Hebrew Department will present for the first time a Purim Cantata, written by Frances Davidson with music by Charles Davidson, a member of the faculty.

Students and their parents are urged to come to this reading of the Megillah and help to create a mild form of pandemonium at the mention of Haman's name.

Each child will receive a gregger, hamantashen and a bag of candy.

Camp Ramah

The Religious School endorses the Ramah Camp Program which is operated by the United Synagogue of America in cooperation with the Teachers Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

At Ramah Camps, all activities, including athletics and water sports, are conducted in Hebrew. Study and discussion groups in Judaism and subjects of current interest are conducted daily.

Last year five of the Religious School students attended Ramah—three for the second year. At the present moment six boys in the School are enrolled for the coming season. Applications for the three Ramah Camps—Wisconsin, Connecticut and Pennsylvania—may be procured from the National Camp Ramah Office, 3080 Broadway.

All the families who are part of the Congregation of the Park Avenue Synagogue or are affiliates and friends of the Congregation, have been invited to join in the Congregational Seder which will be held on the second night of Passover, Thursday evening, April 7 in the new Auditorium. The Synagogue evening services will be held at 6:00 P.M. At 6:30 P.M. will begin one of the most significant and impressive ceremonies of the Jewish holidays. from the desk of the President

(Many of the congregants who attended the Friday Evening Services sponsored by the Parents Association are still acclaiming the inspiring address delivered by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. It may be of interest to members of the congregation to read the following correspondence between Jacob Klein, President and Eleanor Roosevelt.)

Dear Mrs. Roosevelt.

I should like to add to what Rabbi Noveck said to and about you last Friday evening at the Park Avenue Synagogue.

On behalf of the Officers, Chairman and members of the Board, and the entire membership body of 750 families, as well as in my own behalf, I want to congratulate and compliment you on the very fine talk you delivered on the subject of Education for Peace through the U.N. on Friday evening, January 21st, 1955.

It was inspiring, informative, intellectual and spiritual and it was delivered in the presence of the largest gathering that any speaker at the Park Avenue Synagogue ever attracted and you certainly could not help but notice with what attention your audience listened to every word you said. Although, I, as well as undoubtedly some others, were familiar with a few of the instances you referred to, yet, I am sure we all profited by the way you brought them to our attention.

I hope you won't think it presumptuous on my part to quote to you the following, which appeared in the Spectator for November 6, 1711.

> "Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress, no crime can destroy, no enemy can alienate, no despotism can enslave; at home a friend, abroad an introduction, in solitude a solace and in society an ornament. It chastens vice, it guides virtue, it gives at once grace and government to genius. Without it, what is man? A splendid slave, a reasoning savage".

I have always felt that summed up. "Education" is beautiful, and yet, and yet.

See what happened in your lifetime and in mine with the educated Germans whose culture was supposed to be the highest and most enlightened; two world wars and millions of people killed, enslaved and degraded.

The Jewish people always believed in education—and we are referred to as "The people of the book". I don't know whether you know it or not, but in the daily prayers of the Jew, there is a prayer which we recite of the various ethical concepts of a Jew's duties and this prayer finishes with this statement "and the study of the Torah (world knowledge) is equal to them all". And I think the Jew has suffered more than any other peoples, despite all he does to educate himself.

There is a prayer that the Jew recites about every woman every Friday night. It is entitled "Esches Chayil," variously translated, either "A woman of worth", "A woman of virtue" or a "woman of valor" and I will not give you the whole prayer, but will quote the following:

> "Many daughters have performed worthily
> But thou excelleth them all"

I feel this applies with great force to you, Mrs. Roosevelt.

We are all very proud of you and that you are respected, honored and loved by all the people is attested in some degree by the large audiences you are able to attract.

I hope Education for Peace through the U.N. will be the greatest factor in procuring world peace and if it is, great credit will be given to you for your wonderful humanitarianism.

With deep reverence and the prayers of all our people for your continued good health and long life and with deep personal affection from Mrs. Klein and myself

Cordially,
JACOB KLEIN

Dear Mr. Klein:

Thank you very much for your kind letter and for bringing the fine quotation from the Spectator to my attention.

I am very glad you felt my remarks were worthwhile and I deeply appreciate your writing to tell me so.

Very sincerely yours,
ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

ice. In order to ssure the success of the affair. Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees appointed Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer, Seder Chairman.

Mrs. Wimpfheimer, who will be ably assisted by a Committee of Mrs. Fannie Reiff and Mrs. Harriet Winnick, acting co-chairmen with her, expects the Committee to be enlarged with additional help.

A delicious full course dinner will be served and the cost will be $8.50 per person. To encourage the participation of children, the subscription for youngsters under thirteen will be $4.25 per child.

It is hoped by the Chairman and her Committee, that the Seder will be a real family affair. Members should respond as quickly as possible with their checks and lists of guests. Make checks payable to the Park Avenue Synagogue, 50 East 87th Street, New York 28, N. Y.

Much enthusiasm and interest have been shown in the Seders. Rabbi Noveck when interviewed said: "That beyond any question the most dramatic ceremony in the Jewish Calendar is the

YOUTH ACTVITIES

On Sunday, February 13, the Youth Group undertook its first celebration of Brotherhood Week. The program which was composed of two excellent pictures was very impressive. The first movie, "The Aaronsberg Story" dealt mith a small Lutheran church in Pennsylvania that was built by funds contriputed by Aaron Levy, a Jew, for whom the town was named. The second entitled "The Toymaker" prcsented the meaning of brotherhood in a very documentive form.

The most recent meetings of the club have been devoted to organizing committees and to planning for the large April dance. The plans call for refreshments and a dance band. The receipts from the dance will be turned over to the United Jewish Appeal.

A third Seder will be held in the Auditorium on April 9 with the group playing host to members of five Jewish Youth Groups in New York City. Many of the major parts in the service will be conducted by members. Some of the more ambitious members have entered a national sermon contest under the auspices of the same group. The prize for the lucky winner is a trip to Israel.

On the agenda for the meeting of March 13 was a question and answer period conducted by Rabbi Noveck. The questions that will be posed to the Rabbi will concern, "The Jew in the American Community."

Boy Scouts

Troop 600 of the Boy Scouts of the Park Avenue Synagogue meets evcry Wednesday evening. This group carries on a full scouting program. They have been on overnight hikes, rallies and a full day hike. Their latest project consists of cutting out pictures of the Milton Steinberg House from the Daily News for mailing to organizations and members. The next event is a swimming meet in which they expect to carry away all the honors.

Scouting

The new Brownie Scout Troop has finally been chartered by the Girl Scouts of America and it began its meetings under the very able leadership of Mrs. A. Sherr, Scout Leader. The Brownies are open to girls betwecn the ages of seven and ten. They meet Fridays at 3:15 P.M. There are several openings in this newly formed Troop.

The Intermediate Girl Scout Troop which also meets on Fridays under the capable leadership of Mrs. Stanley Simon will consider girls for membership betwecn the ages of 11 and 14.

Ping Pong Tournament

The long awaited and long planned for ping pong tournament of the teenage group finally took place on Sunday, February 27. Steve Helpern was the able organizer of this event. After the first round, quarter finals, and semi-finals, Jeff Wechsler and Steve Helpern emerged as finalists. An exciting and thrill packed game followed and Jeff Wechsler was crowned champion.

SCHOOL NEWS

Sabbath Program

Class 1 of the Primary Department has added a very personal aspect to its study of the Sabbath. Each Sunday a pair of parents are invited to set a Sabbath atmosphere in the classroom with white tablecloth, shining candles, silver Kiddush cup, golden challos and savory gefilte fish. The mother repeats the blessing over the candles; the father chants the Kiddush; they sing simple "zmiros" and enjoy a fascinating Sabbath story.

This Sabbath Party, as inaugurated by Mrs. M. Shirion, the teacher of the class, is an experience in Judaism for the child within the school framework. At the same time, it acts as a point of identification for the parents with the school curriculum.

Keren Ami

Throughout the school year the Religious School students make their contributions to Keren Ami with the knowledge that, in June, their elected representatives in the Synagogue Council will allocate sums to many worthy philanthropic causes.

Martha Stein, treasurer of the Synagogue Council, recently submitted the following report on an unusual project that will receive the support of the students:

"This term the school of the five main synagogues of the mid-Manhattan area, Anshe Chesed, B'nai Jeshurun, Kehilath Jeshurun, Society for Advancement of Judaism and the Park Avenue Synagogue got together and decided on one project which all of them would aid. Since all over the United States, organizations and private citizens have contributed to almost the same causes, we decided to be different and use our combined efforts to support Recreation in Israel. Our money would be used to provide games, art supplies and athletic equipment for recreation centers used by children in Israel.

Since some synagogues have more pupils than others, the contributions from the different schools should vary. The quota for our school at this point is $70. Please contribute to Keren Ami this year to help the children of Israel enjoy some of the things that we in the United States take so much for granted."

Noted Artist Speaks At Sisterhood Meeting

Sisterhood's Open Meeting on Tuesday, March 15, featured Enit Kaufman. a prominent artist, who spoke on "The Artist and his Models." Mrs. Kaufman exhibited sketches of several of her famous portraits in connection with her talk.

On April 7, Sisterhood is sponsoring a Seder at the Synagogue. Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer is chairman of this event.

Tuesday, April 26 is Sisterhood's annual night meeting, to which the men are invited. An original pageant, "A Cavalcade of Jewish Women," will be presented. Watch the BULLETIN for further details.

Young Marrieds Tour Jewish Museum Mar. 29

The next meeting of the Young Marrieds will be held on Tuesday, March 29, at 8:30 P.M. at the Jewish Museum, Fifth Avenue and 92nd Street.

Mrs. Marvin Robinson, a member of the group, will conduct the tour. It should be interesting, as well as educational to all. At the conclusion of the tour the group will repair to a nearby restaurant for refreshments.

The Jewish Museum has been completely renovated and the new exhibits entitled "Under Freedom" commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of Jewish settlement in the United States. Individual exhibits include a reproduction of a typical Synagogue in 1799, and a display on Jewish life at the turn of the century and others.

Parents Group Sponsors Play on "Family Life"

The Parents Association will hold an open meeting on Monday evening, April 4 in the auditorium of the Milton Steinberg House.

The highlight of the evening will be a play on family life, "Point of Beginning", written by Nora Stirling and presented by the American Theatre Wing Community Players, a group of professional actors.

The story, which revolves around parents and their 10-year-old son and the 17-year-old son of a neighboring family, gives a graphic picture of the influence of a family's standards and values upon its children. "Point of Beginning" stresses not only the responsibility of parents to bring up responsible citizens in a community, but also emphasizes the need for religious faith in building family security.

After the presentation, there will be a symposium during which Rabbi Simon Noveck will act as moderator. The play, undoubtedly, will provoke many stimulating questions from the audience.

Refreshments and a social evening will follow. Members, their families, and their guests are invited to attend.

Men's Club to See New Film March 22

The men of the congregation are in for a treat at the next monthly meeting of the Men's Club which takes place on Tuesday, March 22, at 8:15 P.M.

A special film, which has not been shown publicly, will be viewed at the meeting. It pertains to the life story of a well known personality, and goes into all the details. This is definitely a program "for men only", which should not be missed.

Prior to the movie, a short business meeting will be held for a report on the Theater Party and by the chairmen of all the standing committees. There will be ample opportunity for open discussion by the members present, who may wish to offer suggestions, criticize or express their desires regarding the functioning of the club.

Cantor Putterman remarked: "Each festival of the Jewish calendar year brings with it music which is symbolic and descriptive of the occasion. Passover is the richest in musical significance particularly at the Seder where from the very beginning with the chanting of the Kiddush to the closing gay and melodic Chad Gadyo the yom-tovdic spirit predominates."

Observing Passover

MAOT HITTIM ("money for wheat")

Before Passover we are all obliged to contribute money to a fund which will enable the poor to obtain Passover necessitics.

TAANIT BECHORIM ("the fast of the first born son")

On the night that the first born of the Egyptians were slain, the first born of the Israelites were saved. In commemoration of that event, the first born son in Jewish families fast on the day preceeding Passovcr. Jewish practice, however, provides that following the morning Service, every synagogue has a Siyum (conclusion of a tractate of the Talmud) which is traditionally the occasion for a Seudah Shel Mitzvah, a repast which is part of a religious function. Onc need not fast if he attends such a feast.

SEFIRATH HAOMER ("the counting from the Omer-measure")

Jewish tradition teaches that all of man's earthly possessions come to him from God. This teaching we find translated into actual living when the Jew fulfills the commandment to give a part of his wealth to God—e.g. sacrifices. "For all things come of Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee."

Thus, on the second day of Passover the Jewish people brought a measure (Omer) of thc newly harvested grain to the Temple as an offering. This harvesting of the Omer was cause for great festivities. From this day on, we count seven full weeks—49 days—the 50th day is Shavuot. This counting we call Sefirath Haomer.

SCHOOL NEWS

Passover Recess

The spring recess of the Rcligious School will take place during the Passover Week. School will close on Wednesday, April 6 and re-open on Sunday, April 17 at 9:45 A.M.

Passover Services

The Junior Congregation will hold holiday Services in the auditorium of the Synagogue on the First Days of Passover and the Second Days of Passover. Irving Spielman, who conducted High Holy Day Services at the Jewish Museum, will supervise the services on the mornings of April 6 and 7 and on April 13 and 14.

All students are urged to participate in the worship and to enjoy the holiday refreshments that will be served on each of the holidays.

Model Seder

Thc model Seder will be conducted by the students of the Relgious School, under the guidance of Rabbi Noveck, on Sunday morning, April 3, in the Auditorium of the Synagogue.

This year the parents of the students are invited to attend the Seder and join with the children in sitting around the Seder table and participating in the service. Each class in the school will be responsible for the decoration of its Seder tablc. Many classes have planned appropriate holiday centerpieces which have both a traditional and a modern significance. The reading of the Hagadah will be led by the students from the Hebrew Department. The students in the Primary Department will join in the singing of all of the Passover melodies.

Mrs. Bernard Grauer and her committee of Class Mothers, with the assistance of the mcmbers of the Holiday workshop, have arranged for the preparation and the serving of the food at the Seder.

Israeli Pen-Pals

In Autumn of 1955, Class 1A of the Hebrew Department initiated its first "Pen-Pal" project with Israel. With the cooperation of the Jewish Agency for Israel and the Keren Hayesod, the children were supplied with colorful introductory picture post cards written by Israeli school children and containing crushed flowers gathered in the hills of Galilee and Judea.

The project has just begun to bear fruit. Letters arrive weekly from all parts of Israel—Jerusalem, Tel-Aviv, Haifa, "Kibbutzim" in the Galil and farming settlements in the Negev. Each describes the experience of living in Israel—celebration of festivals, school life, life in the city and on the Kibbutz—all through the eyes of children.

The most recent letter describes the Tu B'shevat planting ceremony in the "Forest of the Marrtyrs." At present word is eagerly anticipated from our distant friends regarding preparations for Passover in Israel.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

Third Seder

On March 20, "The Continentals," a talentcd musical group received their first audition with the Park Avenue Synagogue Youth Group. They were so successful, that they were engaged to play for thc Third Youth Seder—April 9, 1955.

The band consists of; Stephen Redikcr—Saxophone, James McCormick—Piano, Richard Carpenter—Drums, Lenny Popkin—Accordian and Violin, Stephen Botein—Guitar and Banjo. The leaders of "The Continentals" are Synagogue Youth members.

"The Continentals," are looking forward to playing at other Park Avenue Synagogue Youth affairs.

Game Room

HAGADAH AND "KNADELS"

From all indications the Synagogue Auditorium on Thursday night, April 7 will "have everything". One of the most beautiful community Seders is due to take place with Rabbi Noveck, Cantor Putterman and the Choir assisting. Those who have attended Seders in the past in our Synagogue know that they are lots of fun as well as in keeping with the finest Jewish traditions.

As for "Knadel", the food promises to be all that one anticipates on a Passover table in fine array and excellent quality.

Just to play safe, make your reservations no later than Friday, April 1.

ALL HONOR TO JACOB KLEIN

To a great number of persons their day starts off on a cheerful pleasant note owing to the thoughtfulness of Jacob Klein, President of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The Jewish Theological Seminary with assistance of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Ezra Cohen, has selected Jacob Klein as the Guest of Honor at the Sunday, April 17 Brunch.

What an excellent opportunity for all of us to honor he, who has honored so many of us with the pleasant courtesies for which Jacob Klein has become a byword! Note: Morris Joffe will be Chairman of the Brunch.

FOR ONE DOLLAR YOU TOO CAN ENJOY IT

The March 1955 issue of Art News had a wonderful spread about the Park Avenue Synagogue's Milton Steinberg House with particular emphasis, of course, on the stained glass facade. It has some very fine black and white photos as well as a most excellent color reproduction. Subscription, $1 per issue.

Visitors and groups continue coming to our building apace. During the month of March, there have been in addition to individual visitors, three group lectures. The Sisterhood women heard a talk on the facade by Rabbi Noveck. A city-wide UJA women's group heard a talk by Mrs. Julia Katz, the wife of yours truly.

The group which had the most fun of all was a class of fourth grade youngsters from the Ramaz Day School who were positively perspicacious in the way they helped each other and Mrs. Katz in figuring out the stained glass designs.

On Saturday, April 2, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weintraub whose son Joseph is being Bar Mitzvah in the Synagogue during the morning Services, are arranging for a large catered party in the new air-conditioned Auditorium.

The following evening, Sunday, April 3, a Synagogue wedding will take place. The bride is Vera Kurte, daughter of Frank Kurte. The groom is Murray Burton. The wedding party will also be catered in the Auditorium.

Emanuel Rosenthal Book To be Published in May

There is hardly a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue who has not been greeted by Emanuel Rosenthal, our genial Secretary, at one or more of the religious services held at the Synagogue.

But few probably are aware of his work outside of the Synagogue. A new book, "Elements of Machine Design", to be published in May by the McGraw-Hill Book Company was written by Emanuel Rosenthal, affectionately called "Manny", who has been teaching at the Brooklyn Technical High School for many years, in conjunction with George P. Bischof of the East New York Vocational High School.

This new treatise approaches the subject of machine design by the "problem approach". The authors have simplified the subject to meet the needs of students in technical institutes, technical high schools, and trade schools. It includes a survey of the metals used in industry as well as the problem of applied mechanics, power transmission, and design stresses for dynamic loadings.

This book will undoubtedly become a key authority as a textbook, because of the simplified approach to this complicated subject. Our congratulations to "Manny" on this unusual achievement.

Rabbi to Discuss Questions on Judaism In Sermon, April 15

On Friday evening, April 15, following up on the Passover theme, Rabbi Noveck will discuss the questions that Jews have asked throughout the ages, during the Talmudic period and Middle Ages, with particular reference to those that have caused controversy in the Jewish community.

He will also deal with the questions that modern Jews are asking, with emphasis on those that have been put to him most frequently during the past six years since he has been at the Park Avenue Synagogue. These will include, "What Is Conservative Judaism?" "The meaning of the Kaddish," "How shall we cope with our children's doubts?" "How much do we owe our parents?" "The significance of the Mogen David," "Are Jews in favor of proselytes?" "Must Jewish children be named after deceased relatives?" and "Why do Jews wear hats in Synagogue?"

Rabbi Noveck urges the members of the Synagogue to send to him any questions they would like answered. He will be happy to include them in his sermon on April 15.

Comments on the Jewish Publication Society's 1955 Book List

The Jewish Publication Society's list for 1955 offers eight titles, which will appear in ten volumes, of diversified Jewish reading matter. Continuing with the publication of books bearing on American Jewish life in connection with the Tercentenary, the Society has in process two volumes of excerpts on very interesting American Jews of the 18th and 19th centuries (Memoirs of American Jews, by Jacob R. Marcus).

Another title consisting of two volumes will be a translation of a travelogue in the United States, exactly a hundred years ago (Three Years in America, by Benjamin II). A Rumanian Jew by the name of Joseph ben Israel, gave himself the nickname Benjamin II (Benjamin I lived in Tudela in the 12th century and was also a traveler), and set off on a journey to the United States at the beginning of the 1860's.

Most interesting of all from the point of view of Americana for Jews connected with synagogues is a third work which deals with the architecture of the American synagogue (The American Synagogue), by Rachel Wischnitzer, architect by training and achaeologist and art critic by choice, has compiled this very important discussion of what our synagogues have looked like. She at least poses the question whether there is a synagogal architectural style.

Of general works in the Jewish field, the current list begins with a continuation by Professor A. J. Heschel's important and profound work A Philosophy of Judaism. Another title of general interest is an imaginative, dramatic portrayal of Jewish experience under the Nazis. Only a poet can get to the heart of that tragedy and Soma Morgenstern has dealt with the theme in a truly remarkable fashion. This is fiction, drama and apocalypse combined.

The volume on Jewish Ceremonial Art, prepared by Stephen S. Kayser and Guido Schoenberger of The Jewish Museum of the Jewish Theological Seminary, is a thing of beauty which every Jewish home ought to have.

Finally, the list contains a juvenile, Stories of King Solomon, by Lillian S. Frechof, paralleling the book Stories of King David, which the Jewish Publication Society published two years ago.

Of course there is always the American Jewish Year Book, the best Jewish reference book available.

Dr. Albert Salomon's Book Dedicated to Rabbi Steinberg

Dr. Albert Salomon has written a new book "The Tyranny of Progress" which is dedicated to the memory of Rabbi Steinberg.

The dedication to Rabbi Steinberg is in Latin inscribed "To the spirit of the most illustrious noble and loving man, Rabbi Milton Steinberg, a token of lasting admiration, dedication and love."

Dr. Salomon is a member of the congregation and the Adult Education Committee of the Synagogue. His book has been published by the Noonday Press.

Over 200 Attend Passover Seder

Two hundred and twenty five members and friends attended the fourth Annual Seder held at the Park Avenue Synagogue on Thursday evening, April 7, the second evening of Passover, in the newly decorated Auditorium.

Mrs. Helen Wimpfheimer, Chairman of the affair regrets that, at the last moment, some members who called for reservations had to be refused, but the caterers were not prepared for the late deluge of reservations.

A true family seder filled with warm spirit and friendship was conducted in the traditional manner by Rabbi Noveck, Cantor Putterman, Cantor Friedman assisted by the choir.

The tables were decorated with original centerpieces of colorful flowers and Israeli blue candles. The committee also arranged to have matzoh covers and wine decanters at each table. Hand painted place cards of a kiddush cup were provided by Mrs. Fanny Reiff.

AJC to Pay Tribute To American Army

This April marks the tenth anniversary of one of the most poignant experiences in Jewish history—the liberation of the Nazi concentration camps by the American and allied armies and our reunion with those of our fellow-Jews who survived the Hitler extermination.

In New York City, this anniversary will be marked at a public meeting on the night of April 19, at Town Hall, 123 West 43rd Street, sponsored by the American Jewish Congress. On that occasion, we shall pay our tribute to the American Army which played a major role in the liberation, to our Government for its role in rehabilitating the survivors, to the State of Israel, which absorbed most of the displaced persons, and to the agencies which brought them relief and comfort. The meeting will be addressed by distinguished Jewish spokesmen, leaders of the former DP's and representatives of the American Army.

This is Our Life

The Jewish Theological Seminary of America

In the charter of The Jewish Theological Seminary of America, passed in 1902 by the Governor, the Senate and Assembly of New York, this phrase appears:

"For the perpetuation of the tenets of the Jewish religion; the cultivation of Hebrew Literature; the pursuit of biblical and archaeological research; the advancement of Jewish scholarship; the establishment of a library, and for the education and training of rabbis."

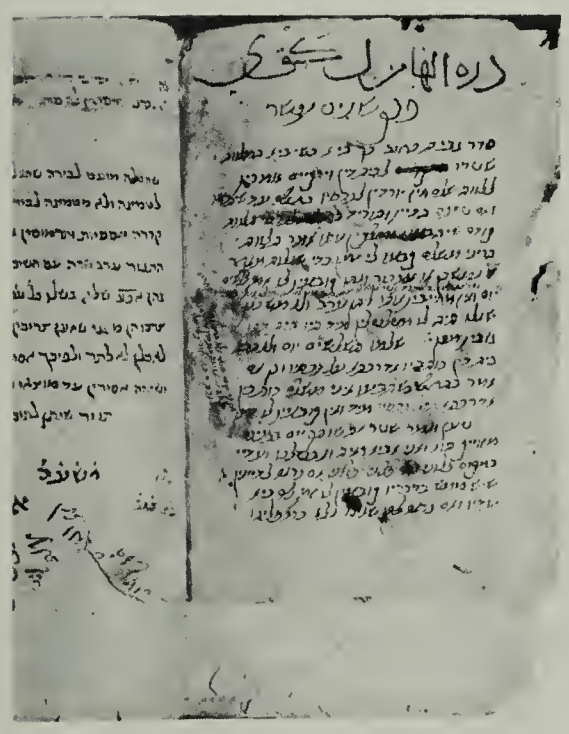

Now, more than fifty years later, when the largest Jewish settlement in all history resides in America, the Seminary, the world center of Conservative Judaism, has become an even more imposing citadel of scholarship and learning than, perhaps, its founders ever dreamed. Yet the basic aim of the Seminary, from its founding in 1887 and its incorporation in 1902, remains the same. Each department of the Seminary, every activity which is part of its program is directed toward the advancement of Torah which is "our very life and the length of our days."

Study is a fundamental part of Judaism. As children learn good moral habits one by one, rather than all at once, the tenets of Torah can be learned only if they are studied minutely, their myriad and basic truths constantly interpreted and illuminated by the great rabbis and scholars who have gone before.

The Seminary's Rabbinical School, its Teachers Institute, its Colleges of Jewish Studies and Jewish Music, its Cantors Institute, Seminary School and University of Judaism in Los Angeles: all these have programs of formal study which prepare young people for the rabbinate, the cantorate, for teaching and for wise community leadership.

The several research programs at the Seminary, the books regularly published by its scholars, are all part of a single effort to understand more of the vitality and meaning of the Jewish tradition and the light shed by Judaism on the problems of our day.

The "Eternal Light" and"Frontiers of Faith", the Seminary's radio and television programs on NBC, with their dramatic presentations of great moments in Jewish history, ancient and modern, bring to millions of Americans of all faiths an appreciation of Judaism's ethical and moral principles applicable to modern life. They also help the individual Jew to orient himself to his tradition.

Autograph of Maimonides, whose 750th birthday falls this year. (From the Seminary Library.)

Brass menorah, made in Poland, c. 1800. (From the Seminary Jewish Museum.)

Maimonides spoke a great truth when he said: "When one does not study, he not only adds nothing new to his knowledge, he even forgets what he previously knew." As the heart of Conservative Judaism, the Seminary, with an increasing aggregation of learned scholars, great teachers and dedicated laymen and women, strives to convey to each person, in every walk of life, the truth of Torah. Through all available channels, it seeks to reveal to every man his own need to devote part of his day to Jewish thought, a study, and deep communion with his God. It is essential to his individual welfare and happiness; it is necessary to his honorable and constructive relationships with his fellowmen.

Only thus, Judaism teaches, can the wisdom, faith and power of the ancient heritage of Israel continue to enrich and strengthen the modern heritage of America.

YOUTH ACTIVITIES

On behalf of our youth group, let us remind you to save April 23 for the gala semi-formal benefit dance.

This year the theme is centered on "Aid To The Needy In Israel." All proceeds are going to the United Jewish Appeal.

During the past two months we have all worked together organizing the different committees to head our dance. We wish to express our thanks to Judith Kleeblat who has helped us greatly. Also to Carol Phillips and Robert Cogan, Publicity chairmen; David Hoexter and Margie Hyman, Entertainment chairmen; Caryll Rubin, Raffle and Door-prize chairman; Helene Harlem, Decoration chairman; Stephan Helpern, Door chairman and especially Doris Wimpfheimer our youth group president. Our sincerest thanks go to Hy Sankel our leader. Without his unending guidance and help we would have never been able to organize our dance. Thanks Hy, from all of us.

In closing we would like to say, "Don't pass up this opportunity to help our fellow Jews" and don't pass up this opportunity of having a wonderful time which promises to be a highlight of your teenage years.

Thanks once again to all the members of our youth group and all of those who have given their cooperation and service. Remember 8:30 P.M. April 23, 1955.

Hoping to see you all!

New Chairman of Ushers Enlarges Ushering Committee

Dr. Sol Winnick, the newly appointed Chairman of the Synagogue Committee on Ushering, indicated that the initial response of persons to ushering was very much to his liking.

Dr. Winnick however, indicated that he was far from satisfied. He was interested in building up a large core of ushers.

Ushering at the Park Avenue Synagogue has been a signal honor for many years according to Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board.

Men's Club Sabbath will be held on Friday evening, April 29. The guest speaker will be Reuven Dafni, Consul of Israel in New York. The members of the Men's Club who will participate in conducting the Sabbath Services are: Dr. Morris Bien,, Harry A. Dubin, Dr. Herbert M. Felner, Monroe H. Heyward, Franklin M. Simet, and Samuel S. Wick.

ing the past year. In the belief that the Synagogue membership would enjoy receiving the impression of members of the Young Married group on their beliefs on this subject, Sidney J. Silberman, chairman of the evening's activities, has announced that the specific topics to be discussed under the abovementioned general heading will include "Is the Young American Jew Sufficiently Represented in the American Jewish Community" and "Is the American Jewish Community Sufficiently Represented in the American Community." A general forum on the topics discussed will follow the symposium.

The symposium will take place in the Auditorium of the Synagogue immediately after the conclusion of the regular Friday evening service. Members of the Group will assist in the actual service itself with readings both in Hebrew and in English.

The Young Married group hopes that a large number of members of the Synagogue family will attend its service and partake of the opportunity to hear some of the opinions of members of the Group.

These lent an air of festivity to the affair.

SCHOOL NEWS

School Re-Opens

The Passover Recess of the Religious School will end on Sunday morning, April 17 at 9:45 A.M. when the Primary Department holds its regular sessions.

The Hebrew Department will re-open on Monday afternoon, April 18 at 3:30 P.M.

Religious School Awards

The Board of Education of the Metropolitan Council of United Synagogue has recently announced a change in the rules governing the Annual Awards Project and the Keter Torah. These awards are given to honor students in religious schools throughout the metropolitan area and culminate in the highest honor to graduating students, the Keter Torah Award.

The students in our school have participated in the awards program since its inception in 1948. Last year many of our students received honor awards and two members of the graduating class, Cecily Falkenstein and Marilyn Schneider, were accepted in the Keter Torah Society. This year the names of our award winners will be submitted in May so that students may be honored at a special assembly.

"Talks With Parents"

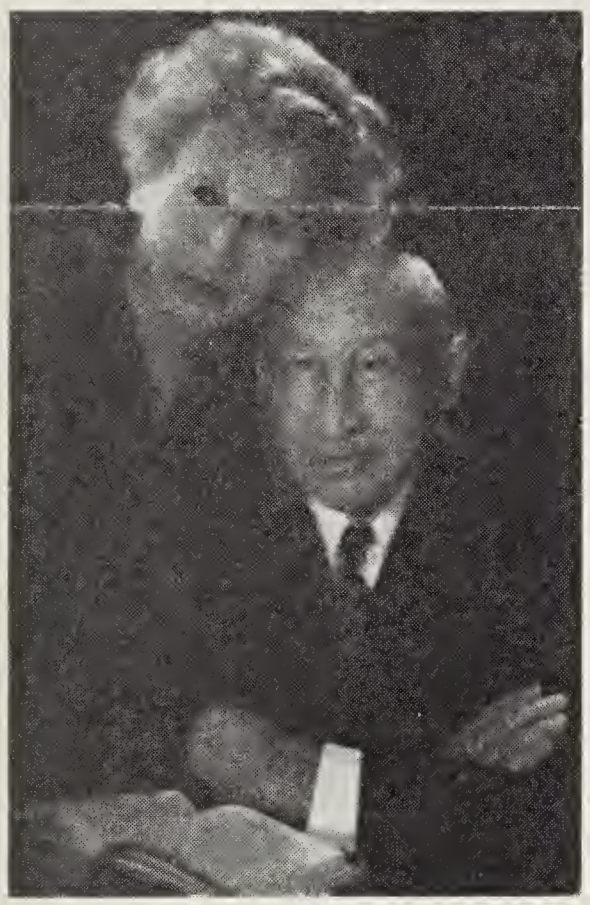

In a pamphlet recently published by the United Synagogue Commission on Jewish Education, Dr. Azriel Eisenberg, director of the J.E.C., tells succintly what the Hebrew School is trying to achieve, describes the difficulties under which it operates, and indicates the relationship between school, parent and child. Parents will find it interesting and profitable reading.

Copies of the pamphlet may be secured in the School Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Friedman to be Honored by Sisterhood at UJA Tea

The Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue, of which Betty Friedman is Honorary President, will sponsor a tea in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal, on Wednesday. April 27, at the home of Mrs. Edward Peiper, 525 Park Avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Friedman on the occasion of their 50th wedding Anniversary.

From his early youth, Jacob Friedman was a singular example of devotion to people. ideals, and an intelligent belief in the Almighty. There are many parallels in the initial heartbreaking events that led to the organization of UJA and the staggering amount of humanitarian. self-sacrificing work that has been poured into this effort from its inception to the present time, and the career of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Friedman.

MR. & MRS. JACOB FRIEDMAN

Throughout the years. Uncle Jake and Aunt Betty. as they are affectionately referred to, have had a sincere feeling for human beings. That was manifested significantly in the outstretched hand of friendship which never failed to give financial aid to artists in the musical world. It would require volumes to adequately catalog the practical assistance of Jacob Friedman in the development of musical culture in New York City. It was he, who introduced the concerts at the Lewisohn Stadium prior to the present era of Stadium Concerts. The creation of a musical atmosphere in his home and the warmth with which struggling musicians were made welcome contributed greatly to the fame and success which these artists later achieved. In all this, Betty played a vital role.

The qualities of gentleness, his determination to follow a course once adopted, were towers of strength during Uncle Jacob's Presidency of the Park Avenue Synagogue. But for his initiative and vision, this Synagogue might never have had Milton Steinberg. Although serious illness in 1937 removed Jacob Friedman from active participation in the affairs of the Synagogue, both he and Betty continued their keen interest in every event in the life of our institution.

At a testimonial dinner tendered to Mr. Friedman in 1937, after serving as president of our Synagogue for 20 years, our late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg said of Uncle Jacob:

"We thank you for the beauty which you have loved and which you have enhanced, for the faith which you have had in us as human beings, for the leadership that you have given our religious life, and for the example you have set of sweetness, honor, and kindness in religion and in all the days of your life. Our tribute this evening is in the last analysis an expression of gratitude."

Mrs. Benjamin Sack, UJA chairman of the Women's Division of the Park Avenue Synagogue, in welcoming the participation of all the members of the Synagogue in this worthy tribute, said:

"My Committee is unanimous in expressing the feeling that in honoring Jake and Betty Friedman on their Golden Anniversary, we have a golden opportunity to aid UJA, and in this fashion continue the pattern of helping others, a tradition in the lives of this lovable pair."

Board Honors Judge Cohen, Joseph Katz, Arthur Ochs

The Board of Trustees, at its meeting held on April 21, paid tribute to Judge Sanford H. Cohen, Joseph Howard Katz and Arthur Ochs, former officers of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Judge Cohen, a member of the Synagogue for more than 22 years, has served it in various capacities. as a member of the Membership Committee, the Law Committee, 1st Vice-President. and finally becoming Chairman of the Board of Trustees in 1953, which office he held until late in 1954, when he resigned to accept appointment by Governor Dewey as a Justice of the City Court.

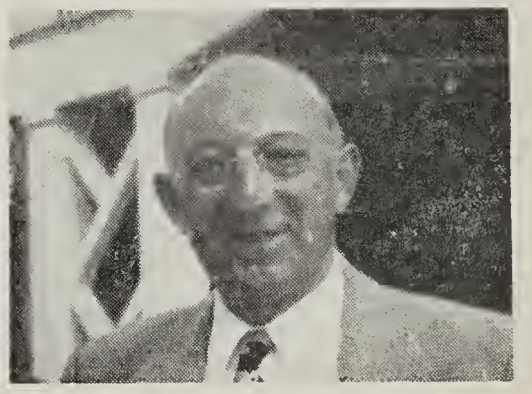

SANFORD H. COHEN

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ

It was during the administration of Judge Cohen, that the construction of the Milton Steinberg House was started and finally became a reality. His devotion to this project and his indefatigable efforts in its behalf were a source of inspiration to those who labored to erect this memorial to our late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg, of blessed memory.

ARTHUR OCHS

In referring to Judge Cohen's services, Ezra Cohen, the Chairman of the Board, said:

"He has been the driving force in raising funds, and the inspiration that culminated in the final completion of

message from the President

I want to thank the membership body for the wonderful turnout last Sunday, April 17, at the Brunch, in which I was the Guest of Honor, that was given for the benefit of the Seminary. It was most heartening to see so many of you present, as well as to receive so many generous responses.

I missed many of you, and you can have your absence excused by sending me a contribution for the benefit of the Seminary. Anything you do will be appreciated by the Seminary as well as by myself.

Cordially,
JACOB KLEIN
President

Ex Treasurer is Active

When Arthur Ochs was permitted to step down from the office of Treasurer of the Park Avenue Synagogue, a position he held for more than a decade, his associates felt that he had earned a much needed rest from his arduous labors.

However, Artie still continues to come to the Synagogue office almost daily to give his help and advice whenever necessary. Perhaps, no one in the Synagogue has a greater knowledge of its affairs than Arthur Ochs. That explains the happy greeting that meets him whenever he comes into the office.

Don't break the habit, Artie, you are a valuable asset to the Synagogue.

Grandpa's Brunch

By JUDY GOLDSTONE
(Age 8 years)

We come in and see Hilda, Grandma, Grandpa. I discuss with daddy why we wear hats in Synagogue. Answer: It's a custom. Everyone talks. We meet each other. We rise. Blessing—we say it in Hebrew and in English. We drink juice, we eat. Now we sing songs in Hebrew.

Mr. Joffe introduces Rabbi Halpern, who makes an amusing speech. He says he is glad to see us because he is always glad to see people who get up early on Sunday morning. Then he says very nice things about Grandpa. He says that the Jewish religion is different from any other one because the Jew is not a spectator but participates in the actual Service.

If a Jew is reading the Bible and the doorbell rings, he must close the Bible before answering the door. Also, if he drops a book of learning he must kiss the book when he picks it up because the book has been bruised. When a book is too old to use, it must be buried in a cemetary. He talks mostly about education through books. He explains the work of the Seminary. Made an appeal for funds.

Richard and I present Grandpa with a gift of luggage, also a scroll presented by Milton Weill. Grandpa thanked everyone for coming and accepted the gifts. Then he devoted himself to stressing the importance of supporting the Seminary.

"Frontiers of Faith" Series To Interpret Bible Stories

The Seminary TV series "Frontiers of Faith," on Channel 4 from 2:00 to 2:30 P.M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, will present on Sunday, May 1, "The Bible Detective of the Holy Land" by Marc Siegal. The true story of how Dr. Nelson Glueck used the Bible as a source for the discovery of King Solomon's copper mines.

On Sunday, May 8, the series continues with "The Second Commandment" by James Yaffe. A dramatic reading which explains in dramatic, amusing, and simple-everyday language the meaning of one of the most frequently misunderstood passages in the Bible.

the Milton Steinberg House."

In addition to his many activities on behalf of the Synagogue, Judge Cohen has been identified with numerous communal enterprises, including the 92nd Street YMHA, where he has served as a member of the Board of Directors for the past 30 years. Ezra Cohen, on behalf of the Board, presented him with a gold grandfather's locket.

Joseph Howard Katz, also a member of the Board of Trustees, served as Vice-Charman of the Board from 1953 until he became Acting Chairman, at the time of the resignation of Judge Cohen. There is hardly a Committee of the Synagogue, on which he has not served, including the Ritual Committee, the Membership Committee, the Building and Dedication Committee, to all of which he gave his time, devotion and leadership.

Outstanding in his service to the Synagogue, was his successful achievement in acquiring the adjoining property upon which the Milton Steinberg House now stands. His unusual talents and knowledge of the legal complications involved in the acquisition of this property made it possible for the Synagogue to secure a valid title to this parcel, overcoming what seemed to many to be an insurmountable task.

Joseph Katz served as president of the Men's Club from 1949 to 1953 and brought to that organization a dynamic leadership that has made the Men's Club an outstanding arm of the Synagogue and a leader in the Federation of Men's Clubs. As Ezra Cohen remarked, in presenting him with some luggage: "Joe Katz was the motivating spirit in the Men's Club."

Despite his efforts in Synagogue affairs, he has also found time to serve on many other civic, communal, and philanthropic boards, including the Jewish Education Committee, Camp Ramah, and the B'nai B'rith.

Arthur Ochs, also a member of the Board of Trustees, served as Associate Treasurer and then as Treasurer of the Synagogue since 1941. When he asked to be relieved of his duties at the last election, it was with great reluc-

Young Married Group Holds Meeting May 3

The next meeting of the Young Married Group, Tuesday evening, May 3, will be a business meeting.

On April 22, the Young Married Group conducted its annual Sabbath Evening Service, featuring a symposium in the vestry following the services. In charge of presenting the theme: "Where is the American Jew After 300 Years?" were Asa Sokolow and Fred Krones.

Mr. Sokolow's topic was "Is the Young American Jew Sufficiently Represented in the American Jewish Community." Is the American Jewish Community Sufficiently Represented in the American Community" was discussed by Mr. Krones. A general forum on the topics discussed followed the symposium.

tance, that the Board of Trustees permitted him to go. However, his interest in the welfare of the Synagogue, not only brings him to the office almost every day, but there is hardly a Sabbath morning Service that he does not attend.

His identity with Park Avenue Synagogue goes back so many years, that the name of Arthur Ochs is almost symbolical of the growth of our Synagogue for almost a quarter of a century. He was the conservative balancing influence when financial matters were concerned. During the precarious years, it was most fortunate that the fiscal affairs of the Synagogue were under his supervision. Finances and the Finance Committee were the main forte of Arthur Oehs. In paying tribute to him, Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board, truthfully said, "Arthur Ochs performed his duties with unusual skill and rare ability." He, too, was presented with a gold grandfather's locket as an expresson of respect and gratitude from the Board.

Following the business meeting, the members of the Board remained to enjoy some refreshments and participate in an enjoyable spirit of friendship.

Parents to Repeat 'Sex Education' Series By Noted Pediatrician

The Parents Association, in conjunction with the Religious School, will again this year sponsor five lectures on "Sex Education," to be given by Dr. Milton I. Levine, well known pediatrician and associate attending pediatrician of the New York Hospital, Cornell Medical Center.

This course is being repeated because of the enthusiastic demands of the parents whose children attended the lectures last year.

On May 4, at five P.M., Dr. Levine will deliver the first lecture of this series, which will be open to boys and girls of the Religious School in the 12-14 age group. Parents of youngsters are invited to attend this session and the two following lectures, the dates of which will be announced later.

Rabbi Noveck wishes to extend a cordial invitation to all members of the Synagogue to visit his new study (on the fourth floor in the Milton Steinberg House) which has been so beautifully and tastefully furnished by the Building Committee of the Synagogue.

The Rabbi also wants the members of the Synagogue to know that he is available for appointments and consultations in his study on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 2:30 to 6:30 P.M. Since Rabbi Noveck is sometimes called away, it is suggested that members call his secretary, Mrs. Trachtenberg, at EN 9-2600, for an appointment.

Seminary Brunch for Jacob Klein, Prexy

More than a hundred persons attended the Brunch which was held Sunday, April 17, in the Park Avenue Synagogue Auditorium in honor of Jacob Klein, president of the Synagogue.

The Brunch was held on behalf of the Jewish Theological Seminary and over $20,000. was raised in contributions for the work of the Seminary. Morris Joffe, chairman of the Committee expressed his gratitude to those who were present, as well as the many who had sent messages, for their generous support of the Seminary. Rabbi Simon Noveck and Cantor David Putterman participated in the ceremonies.

Rabbi Harry Halpern, president of the Rabbinical Assembly, was the main speaker. He paid tribute to the dedicated and devoted service rendered by Jacob Klein to the Park Avenue Synagogue and to the members of the Congregation. In discussing the work of the Seminary, Rabbi Halpern pointed out that the measure of a people's civilization can be determined by the priority it gives to education. In this respect, the Jewish people occupy an outstanding position, for they have always regarded the study of Torah as preeminent, and the Jewish Theological Seminary represents a great institution in Jewish learning.

Milton Weill, a former president of Federation, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, also spoke of the spiritual leadership that the guest of honor had given to the Synagogue as its president. He presented a scroll to Jacob Klein, expressing the appreciation of the members and officers of the Synagogue for his untiring efforts and zeal, and for the warmth and personal relationship that he had brought to the office of the presidency.

A fine piece of luggage was presented to Jacob Klein by Judith and Richard Goldstone, his grandchildren.

In his usual humorous and friendly manner which has endeared him to the hearts of all, Jacob expressed his humble thanks and appreciation for having been privileged to carry on his work. He also acknowledged the great help that he had received from his wife, Gertrude, for her understanding and devotion in having enabled him to give so much of his time to the needs of the Congregation and to his other communal activities.

Israel Anniversary

Those who attended the Sabbath Evening Service of the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue were privileged to listen to an inspiring address delivered by Reuven Dafni, the Israel Consul in New York.

The occasion marked the seventh birthday of the creation of the State of Israel. Despite the border clashes and the disturbances that have been publicized recently, world Jewry has much to rejoice and may point with pride to what has been accomplished by those who have held fast to the faith of their fathers in the restoration of Zion.

May we bring to the attention of our readers, the following excerpt of an editorial that appeared in the current issue of "The Reconstructionist."

"Israel this week observes its seventh birthday. That occasion is worthy of celebration not only in Israel but throughout the Diaspora, for it marks astonishing progress in the realization of a dream that our people have cherished through the ages.

We marvel at all that has been accomplished. at the barren land reclaimed, the croded hills made green, the desert pushed back. the disease and pestilence vanquishd, cities built, farms established. the schools, industries, scientific advances and all of the other astonishing feats performed in so short a time. That such a dream could come truc, and come true against such odds, is a shining vindication of faith—faith in the indomitability of man's aspirations supported by Divine Providence.

And yet, in the midst of our rejoicing. we are aware of the sober fact that the nation's existence is still imperiled. Hemmed in by boycotts and blockades, fighting off a relentless border war, threatened with annihilation by her rapidly arming neighbors and being slowly isolated by the West, Israel faces a precarious future.

The possibility that total war against Israel may break out again cannot be overlooked. But that prospect should not dampen our enthusiasm; rather, it should spur us on to urge our Government to throw its full weight behind the effort to bring peace to the area. It is fitting at this time that American Jewry and Israel should examine ways in which the two communities could grow closer together and enrich each other by the unique contributions which each is able to make to the perpetuation and advancement of Jewish life.

Wc join today with the rest of world Jewry in saluting the young state and wishing it hazak v'ematz. May it be strong and of good courage, and may it go from strength to strength."

From the Desk of Executive Director

This Friday evening past, at the Men's Club Sabbath Servces which I attended, I was inspired by the kind of religious services conducted on Friday nights. Members of our Congregation who have missed this opportunity have denied themselves a positive rcligious experience.

What added to the Service itself, was the phenomenon of the Israel man in the person of Reuven Dafni. After listening to Mr. Dafni talk and after having met an occasional Israeli citizen it seems to me that it is an inescapable conclusion that the Jewish people in the process of building the state have also created a new and better man. It was inescapable in listening and observing Mr. Dafni that here we were witnessing proud patriotism without chauvinism, bravery in the face of tremendous hardship with no mock heroism and a statement of Israel's problem as a problem of the conscience of mankind both Jew and non-Jew.

There seemed to be in Mr. Dafni's exposition a breath of fresh air that comes with frankness, maturity and accomplishment without pomp. He very well symbolized the new State of Israel.

The Friday night before was a very different kind but equally interesting evening. Here the Young Marrieds themselves arranged their own program on the topic of "Where is the American Jew After Three Hundred Years?" While I missed the better part of the presentation, the interplay during the question and answer period demonstrated the unchallengable competence. skill and earnestness of the Young Married leadership.

It is also demonstrated that therc are lots of problems facing the Jews of our country which call for the serious attention of all Jewish leadership no matter when they got married.

This month witness the first Synagogue wedding in our brand new air-conditioned unique Chapel. We shall have more to say about our Chapel at a future date, but at this time must announce that those who have not yct seen it are missing looking at what will undoubtedly become a tourist attraction for many visitors to New York City.

While you could get married in the Chapel it is not necessary to do that in your visit to it. Our Congregants will enjoy seeing this latest, almost entirely completcd. new achievement of the Milton Steinberg House.

Religious Schools Raise Funds for Israel Youth

The five mid-Manhattan religious schools, Park Avenue, S. A. J., Kehilath Jeshurun, B'nai Jeshurun and Anche Chesed, recently completed a most successful Keren Ami project. Delegates from each of the schools held regular meetings during thc school ycar and planned a vigorous campaign to raise funds in their schools for recreational activities in Israel.

On Sunday, April 22, John Stangel, the President of the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School Student Council, presented a check, on behalf of the five schools to a representative of the Israeli Ministry of Education. The funds will supply five youth centers in Israel with kilns and supplies for ceramic work.

The presentation ceremonies were attended by three hundred students from the participating schools. Everyone enjoyed the program of songs, films, folk dances and refreshments and thc feeling of pleasure that comes from the successful culmination of a worthwhile project.

Junior Congregation

It is difficult to measure the achievements of any religious institution in exact terms. Usually, an educational program is evaluated by means of examinations, standardized tests and surveys made by professional educators. All of these techniques have a place in determining the achievement and accomplishments of a school.

However, the members of our congregation, who attended the Sabbath morning services on May 14, had an unusual opportunity to judge the work of the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School.

On that morning the students in our school conducted the services in the main synagogue with a dignity, sincerity and an emotional fervor that brought smiles of pleasure and appreciation to the faces of all the congregants. The sixteen, well-poised boys and girls on the pulpit, dressed in their black gowns, led the congregation in a service whose beauty was heightened by the spirit of the congregational singing, the charm of the young voices and the feeling of sincerity which pervaded the synagogue.

During the reading of the Torah, five young men, former confirmands and graduates from the school—John Roth, Michael Bornstein, Hugh Straus, Theodore Zucker and Michael Rosenblum—were each given an Aliyah. As they walked to the pulpit and recited the blessings, one had a feeling that there was a continuity in our synagogue life that carried on from the school through young and adult life and into the future. There was a feeling that our students had a strong attachment to the Park Avenue Synagogue and through it to Judaism.

When the time came for the sermon, Rabbi Noveck introduced the principal of the school, Martin Leichtling, as the spiritual force behind the growth of the school and its significant influence on the children of the congregation.

Since becoming principal of the Religious School in September 1948, Mr. Leichtling has been responsible for the implementation of the new school policies and the development of the educational program. With the 5-year school course, it is now possible for boys and girls who have become bar and bas mitzvah to continue their religious studies to graduation—confirmation.

Mr. Leichtling spoke to the congregation on "A Feeling of Pride and A Sense of Responsibility." He described our pride in the achievements of our students, the pride of all Jews in their 300 years of accomplishment in America, and the greater pride that we Jews have in our contributions to the civilization of the world.

In reviewing the contributions made by Jews to world civilization, he said: "Greek civilization may have been important in the development of our modern art, literature, politics, philosophy and science, but the Greeks failed to imbue all this with a respect for the little man and the warmth and understanding of a God of justice, mercy and compassion. For this we are indebted to the Hebrew.

The Hebrews have further given us the Bible as a source of learning and morality; the Sabbath as a day of rest; the Prophets as preachers of social justice in a world of oppression and inequity; the responsibility of man for his brother; the story of Moses to inspire all fighters for freedom and liberty for the individual; and the promise of the Messianic Age when all the family of the earth, at last at peace, will live united in brotherhood and happiness.

But, this feeling of pride may rightfully be enjoyed only by those of us who are willing to assume our responsibility for keeping our heritage fresh and alive. We must respect our heritage; we must study it; we must teach it; and, we must live by it.

We, at the Park Avenue Synagogue, have accepted our responsibility willingly. The synagogue has constructed a school building which exemplifies both the traditional and the modern aspects of our life. The parents have created a Jewish home and have given the school the opportunity to help in the education of their children. The children come to us with open minds and eagerness to learn the traditions and culture of their forefathers.

The acceptance of the responsibility to keep alive the heritage of Judaism by the synagogue, the parents and our children will make the Milton Steinberg House live and assure the continuance of the Jewish way of life."

Those who participated in the Junior Congregation Service were: John Stangel, Susan Jacob, Charles Kaiser, Joseph Weintraub, Jon Waldman, Joan Rubenstein, Steven Kohn, Michael Freedman, Stephen Feig, David Reichman, Elliot Zucker, Fred Sapirstein, Joel Grantz, Leona Giat and Alan Mehlman.

Ushers were: Jay Greenblatt, Joel Shapiro, Leon Weisberg and Richard Fread.

For those who plan to be away over the summer, we would like to publish the dates of the High Holy Days for 1955, (5716). ROSH HASHANAH, Saturday, September 17 and Sunday, September 18; KOL NIDRE EVE., Sunday, September 25; and YOM KIPPUR DAY, Monday, September 26.

May we, the members of the BULLETIN staff, in our final issue of the season, take this opportunity to wish you a wonderful summer holiday. See you next fall.

Psychologist to Probe Minds at Parent Group's "Family Party Night"

A Family Party night will mark the final open meeting of the Parents Association on Wednesday evening, June 8, at the Auditorium of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The Parents Association has been fortunate in securing Dr. Stanley Jaks, the fascinating psychologist from Zurich, Switzerland, who will entertain the audience with his exciting lecture, "Curiosities of the Mind." The guests will be invited to share in the unusual and unexplainable experiments and demonstrations performed by Dr. Jaks.

Many are the admirers of this amazing mentalist. John F. Royal, Vice-President of the National Broadcasting Company, wrote of Dr. Jaks, "Profound thanks for your wonderful experiments at my home last evening." From the Agha Khan: "Dr. Jaks has amazed and hugely entertained my family and guests many times." Former President Harry S. Truman, calls Dr. Jaks, "Simply remarkable!" Dorothy Kilgallen, columnist of the Journal American and TV star, refers to Dr. Jaks as the "Modern Nostradamus!"

Members of the Boy Scout Troop and representatives from the Girl Scouts will also participate in the festivities. Refreshments and a social evening will follow the meeting.

The Nominating Committee, of which Mr. Bernard Weintraub is chairman, will submit the proposed slate of officers and members of the Executive Board for the coming year. The following slate has been recommended: President, Mrs. Herman Helpern. Chairman of Executive Board, Mrs. Harry Zucker; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Hector Ritey, Mrs. Adolph Stangel and Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sam Deutsch; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Michael Stowe; Treasurer, Mrs. Leon Klein; and Honorary Member, Mrs. Abram Blau.

Men's Club Elects Officers for '55 At Dinner-Meeting

The Men's Club closed the season on May 17 with the Annual Meeting and Dinner, held in the Synagogue Auditorium. The evening started off with cocktails and hot hors d'oeuvres, followed by a full course dinner.

At the meeting which succeeded the dinner, the slate presented by the Committee on Nominations under the chairmanship of James J. Leibman was elected and installed. The new officers for the 1955-6 season are:

President, Milton M. Sivek; First Vice President, Charles Bennet; Second Vice President, Dr. Harry Neivert; Treasurer, Lawrence A. Meyers; Recording Secretary, Jacob W. Boorstein and Corresponding Secretary, Louis I. Heller.

The members elected to the Board of Directors for a term of three years expiring in 1958 are: Julian Jacobs, Hon. Maxwell Shapiro, Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel, and Dr. Samuel J. Stern.

Elected for a one year term on the Board of Directors is David Altschul.

From the Desk of Executive Director

It takes some people a long time to make up their mind and there are circumstances when Park Avenue Synagogue can feel proud for a little bit of slowness by some of our members.

We received a letter the other day from a member who moved to Scarsdale three years ago and finally decided that their Synagogue association with Park Avenue Synagogue must be severed and wrote "This decision is a hard one to make because of the love for the Synagogue and the wonderful services and it has taken us two years to make up our minds to take this step."

They describe our High Holiday Services as something which they "really love and enjoyed over the many years," and promised to worship with us whenever they are in New York over the Sabbath.

Our forthcoming High Holidays

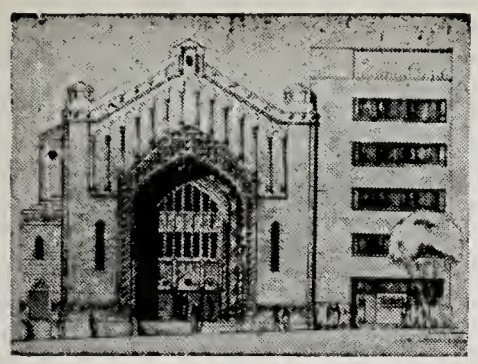

This very logically brings to mind the High Holidays for the coming year. Our members will shortly find in their mail the customary communications and High Holiday seat reservations. So many of our members are prompt and confirm their reservations almost by return mail. This practice is of great assistance to the Synagogue and is of help to the Membership Committee in resolving adjustments which are sometimes necessary and of course in acting upon new applications for membership.

HIGH HOLIDAY SERVICES BEGIN FRIDAY NIGHT, SEPTEMBER 16

NEW YEAR GREETINGS

FROM:

EZRA COHEN

Chairman of the Board of Trustees

In behalf of the Officers and Board of Trustees of Park Avenue Synagogue, cordial New Year's greetings are extended to members of the Synagogue and their families.

Rosh Hashanah is celebrated as a rededication to the good life. The holiday coincides in time with the resumption of the year's activities both in the Synagogue and out of it.

May I urge all of our members and their families to avail themselves of the gratifying and fruitful opportunities to participate in the varied activities of Synagogue life.

This will give its leadership and officers the encouragement and continued determination to maintain our institution at the high level of services which all Jewry has come to expect of us.

EZRA COHEN

JACOB KLEIN

President, Park Avenue Synagogue

Hearty wishes for a very Happy New Year this coming Rosh Hashanah and for many, many years to come.

New Years and the Day of Atonement have been likened to business procedure to some extent. The business man at the end of each year takes an inventory of his assets and liabilities. If his assets exceed his liabilities, he is solvent; if they are in excess, he has made a good profit and is happy, but if his liabilities should be greater than his assets, he is in bad shape and has cause for worry.

On the High Holy days we take an inventory of our conduct during the past year. If we have done anything that right minded people would not countenance, we list them among our liabilities. On New Years day, when we total our assets and liabilities, we can well be happy, if our assets are far in excess of Yizkor (Memorial Services)	3:00 P.M.

The High Holy Day Services will be conducted by Rabbi Simon Noveck and Cantor David J. Putterman, assisted by the Synagogue Choir and organist, George Crook.

Park Avenue Synagogue will usher in the Jewish New Year on Friday evening, September 16th at 6:00 P.M. with the Rosh Hashanah Maariv Services. The two days of Rosh Hashanah Saturday and Sunday, September 17th and 18th respectively will witness High Holiday Services at the Synagogue in both the main section of the Synagogue and in the Auditorium (Vestry). The Services will be conducted as in the past by Rabbi Simon Noveck and Cantor David J. Putterman assisted by the Synagogue choir and the organist, George Crook.

While still maintaining the concept of one Service for both the main Synagogue and the Auditorium (Vestry), this year will contain an innovation. Park Avenue Synagogue has obtained the services of an added Rabbi for the High Hoidays. Rabbi Joel S. Geffen. Rabbi Geffen is National Director of the Department of Field Activities and Community Education of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Rabbi Noveck and Rabbi Geffen will each deliver separate sermons. On the first day of Rosh Hashanah Rabbi Noveck will preach in the main Synagogue, Rabbi Geffen in the Auditorium. On the second day of Rosh Hashanah the arrangement will be reversed. Similarly on Yom Kippur. The musical portions of the Services by Cantor Putterman and the choir will as in the past be simultaneously available to the main Synagogue and the Auditorium. The Rosh Hashanah sermon of Rabbi Simon Noveck will be "Hopes for Modern Man." Rabbi Joel Geffen will speak on "The Case for Hope." On Yom Kippur, Rabbi Noveck will talk on "Survival Is Not Enough" and Rabbi Geffen will discuss "New Dimensions For American Jewish Living."

our liabilities. But if the reverse is true, we should not only pray for forgiveness but more important, try to right the wrongs we have committed, and ask God to help us live according to his teachings.

This coming year, as well as in the years to come, we ought to try and have a philosophy of life, with ideas, that will stand the test of time

"Better to die for an idea and live forever
Than live for nothing and die forever"

Our ideas should be pure, clean and thoughtful and be concerned mainly with the improvement of mankind.

I had the extreme pleasure of visiting Israel last June and the thrill that I got on entering the promised land, which thrill and privilege was denied to Moses, is one of the most exciting of my lifetime.

God said the promised land would be one where milk and honey would freely flow. It did flow freely at the beginning, but ceased to flow for many centuries. Today, Israel is again a land flowing not only with milk and honey, but rich in everything it was poor in, only a short time ago.

Where there was desert and wasteland, you now find blooming gardens, fine orchards, tremendous building activity, manufacturing business thriving and a great spiritual desire to make Israel a country the Jews may well be proud of, and although I contributed nothing except money that my limited means permitted, I was proud to see what Israel has accomplished. The Jews are on the march and nothing, no not even the Arabs, can stop them.

May all of us be inspired on these coming High Holy Days and may we all be spiritually uplifted to do God's bidding with a full heart and a pure soul.

Men's Club

Milton M. Sivek, President of the Men's Club of Park Avenue Synagogue extended his warmest wishes for a year of health and happiness. In announcing his New Year greetings, Mr. Sivek stated: "We in the Men's Club look forward to a year of continued service to the Park Avenue Synagogue. It is with pleasure that we look back upon our past year of achievement including the ability of the Men's Club to complete payment on its $15,000 pledge by a $2,000 remittance to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund. We also voted to contribute a lectern for use in the Auditorium and two flags for the Boy Scouts."

Mr. Sivek also announced that Mr. Monroe Heyward had been named Program Chairman for the coming year and that Dr. Sigmund Siegel was reappointed Chairman of Membership with Louis I. Heller also continuing responsibility for publicity.

Mr. Sivek concluded the statement by inviting all men in Park Avenue Synagogue families to join the Men's Club and come to its meetings on the fourth Tuesday of every month.

In accordance with the request of the Men's Club, Yahrzeit candles will be lit four times a year when Yizkor (Memorial Services) are held as well as on the Yahrzeit of each of the young men whose name is memorialized on the World War II Tablet in the Synagogue.

from the desk of Dr. Noveck

One of the great lessons of the High Holy Day season is the impetus it gives us for growth and personal development. Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur urge upon us a continual increase of our individual powers, a widening of horizons, a releasing of new and undiscovered powers so that we may live our lives on the highest level. Plato wrote many centuries ago that a community is but an "individual writ large." An institution also must grow and develop, experiment with new programs, undertake new projects and constantly widen its horizons, if it is to provide a rich and meaningful program for its members.

The Board of Trustees, the Synagogue committees and the affiliated groups have many plans for the coming season which will soon be brought to your attention. As I begin my seventh year among you there are several aspects of this year's program to which I am looking forward with particular interest:

First, High Holy Day services of dignity and beauty that will be meaningful for all who attend. This year every effort is being made to render the services in the auditorium or Vestry on the same high level as in the main Synagogue. Rabbi Joel Geffen, director of community services at the Seminary will share the preaching assignments with me during the holidays. It is a pleasure to welcome him to our midst.

Second, the reconstitution of the daily Minyan. It was my privilege to conduct Sabbath services together with Cantor Friedman in the new small Synagogue throughout the month of July. All who have worshipped in it are agreed that it is an inspiring little sanctuary. A daily Minyan held in this new chapel will represent a much needed addition to our Synagogue's religious program.

Third, a series of sermons which I plan to deliver at our late Friday evening services on great Jewish personalities through the ages and their contribution to Jewish survival. The personalities to be considered will include: Moses, Josephus, Spinoza, Baal Shem Tov (the founder of Hassidism) Freud (with emphasis on his views about religion and Judaism) Brandeis, Ben Gurion and others. In each case the most recent biographies will be reviewed, and the contribution of these personalities to the great moral and social issues of our time will be discussed.

Fourth, the selection during the next few months of an associate Rabbi to join me in the spiritual leadership of the Synagogue. It is my fervent hope that a candidate agreeable to the pulpit committee, the Board of Trustees and the congregation will soon be found, and that he will join our staff in the very near future.

Fifth, the appearance in book form of the lectures on Judaism and psychiatry delivered in our synagogue during the past two years as part of our Adult Education program. These lectures have attracted attention throughout the country and several congregations have repeated this series. I know many of you will want to read these papers on basic problems in personal living.

Sixth, publication of the biography on the life and work of Milton Steinberg. During the past summer, I have completed the first draft which now runs to 400 pages. I am hoping during the coming months to make the necessary revisions, and that the book will appear before the end of this religious season.

Finally, ("acharon acharon chaviv"—the last is the most important) the opportunity of getting to know each of you, to share your joys, bolster your hopes and alleviate your sorrows. The Board of Trustees, through the building committee, has set up for me a very beautiful study, very tastefully furnished, on the fourth floor of Steinberg House. I plan to be in my study most afternoons from 2:30 to 6:30 and it will give me a great deal of pleasure if you will drop in when you are in the vicinity. The door will be open at all times.

May you and your dear ones be inscribed in the book of life for a year of health, personal happiness and creative achievement. "L'shonoh tovah tekosayvu".

New Year's Greeting from Hazzan Putterman

(The following supplication, composed by a humble Hazzan in the Middle Ages, reveals the fervor and humility with which our forefathers prayed on these Days of Judgment. May we recapture its beautiful spirit of sincere piety and earnestness.)

"Behold, in deep humility
I stand and plead before Thee, God on high,
Great Lord who are enthroned above all praise,
O hearken and give heed unto my prayer.
Though unworthy of my sacred task,
Though imperfect, too, and filled with awe,
I bow before Thy holy Presence here,
To crave compassion for my erring folk.
O God of Israel's Patriarchs,
Their children's children send me as their voice
To supplicate Thy pardon and Thy grace,
To ask Thy mercy, Thy continued love.
Though unworthy of my mission, Lord,
Though I stand not flawless in Thy sight,
Condemn Thou not my people for my faults,
Consider but their virtues, Righteous Judge.
Forgive us our iniquities,
And turn Thou our afflictions unto joy.
Thou great, exalted God who hearest prayer,
Hear ours, and bless us all with life and peace."

A Happy New Year to all.

Daily Minyan Begins Sunday, October 9

At the suggestion of the Ritual Committee of the Park Avenue Synagogue, the Board of Trustees has decided to authorize the institution of a daily Mincha and Maariv service.

The daily Minyan is scheduled to take place at 6:00 P.M. It will begin on Sunday, October 9 at the end of Simhath Torah.

Members have been asked to attend this Service as frequently as they can.

Youth Group

By LEONARD B. STERN

Last year the Park Avenue Synagogue initiated a "Youth Group" for teenagers whose parents were members of the Synagogue. Since that time it has undergone a phenomenal growth. At present they number over one-hundred and thirty. Members of the Synagogue are invited to send their children or personally see a meeting in action. Meetings are held every Sunday from 3:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M. in the Milton Steinberg House.

The "Youth Group's" debating team, in their initial season of United Synagogue debate, faltered in their final engagement, succumbing for the championship to Queensboro Hill Jewish Center. After four recounts in scoring, a two point misnomer was uncovered which broke a tie. "Should Jewish Education for American Jewish Living Be Extended to the High School Level?" was the topic of discussion. The team was captained by Leonard B. Stern and Ted Pincus. Temple Anche Chesed was handily beaten for the Bronx-Manhattan championship.

Lorraine Buchbinder, Ted Pincus, Susan Sankel, and Leonard B. Stern represented the Youth Group of the Park Avenue Synagogue at a one week conclave at Camp Ramah at East Hampton, Connecticut. A concentrated convention it included daily seminars, discussions, debates, and Hebrew lessons. These highlighted the week's proceedings. Its aims were to revivify Hebrew culture.

Religious School News

By MARTIN LEICHTLING, Principal

Sunday Sessions Begin

The first session of the Primary Department of the Religious School will be held on Sunday morning, October 16 at 9:45 A.M.

Despite the necessary postponement of the opening date of this first session, the students in the Primary Department have had the privilege of joining with the students of the Hebrew Department in High Holy Day services at the Jewish Museum. These students are also invited to join in the Succoth services conducted by the Junior Congregation.

Registration in the Primary Department for new students between the ages of six and nine is still open. Parents are urged to call the School Office any day between 2:30 and 6:30 P.M.

Succoth Services

Special Succoth services will be held for the students in the Religious School at 10:00 A.M. on each of the festival mornings in the Chapel of the Milton Steinberg House.

The services, to be conducted by Mr. Irving Spielman assisted by the students, will include the ceremonial of the lulav and the esrog as well as refreshments in the Succah.

Hebrew Regents

Michael Slote, a student in the Religious School, received a mark of 97 per cent in the three-year Hebrew Regents examination in June 1955. This examination is conducted by the University of the State of New York for students who have studied Hebrew for three years in the high schools in New York. Michael, a student at Collegiate School, has studied Hebrew in our school and under the instruction of Mr. Alex Kaplan, of our faculty, was granted special permission to take the examination.

Congratuations to Michael for his excellent scholastic achievement.

Teacher Licensed

The Board of Education of the City of New York recently granted a permanent license as a teacher of Hebrew in the Junior High Schools to Mr. Alex Kaplan of our Religious School faculty. The Board, also, announced that Mr. Kaplan was rated first on the competitive examination offered to the candidates for the license.

Mr. Kaplan has been a most successful teacher in our school these last four years and we are happy to extend our congratulations to him.

Teachers Discuss Jewish History

A two-day seminar on "The Teaching of History in the Congregational Schools" was recently held by the teachers of five mid-Manhattan religious schools. The problems and techniques of teaching history to children of different age levels were analyzed and discussed with specific application to the teaching of Jewish history in our afternoon Hebrew schools.

The discussion leaders and discussion speakers at the Seminar were Miss Lillie Rubee, Jewish Education Committee consultant; Rabbi Jack J. Cohen, Society for the Advancement of Judaism and Martin Leichtling, principal of our Religious School. Mr. Leichtling described the modern methods of teaching history to students on the ten to fourteen year age level with emphasis on the continuity of our history in which the student finds a place for himself, as an American-Jew, in the general stream of Jewish history.

Consecration Service

Consecration Services honoring the new students who have entered the Hebrew Department of the Religious School will be held at the Synagogue Sunday evening, October 9, as part of the Simhath Torah service.

The students, who are enrolled in three first-year classes in Hebrew will be presented to the Rabbi by Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, Chairman of the School Board and by the Principal, Martin Leichtling. Rabbi Noveck will bless the students and give each of them a miniature Torah scroll and an inscribed certificate to commemorate the event. Refreshments and holiday flags will be distributed to all the students in the school who attend the services.

The following newly-enrolled students will be honored: Bram Andrews, Joel Bergman, Anthony Bourg, Beth Brown, Jeffrey Clyman, Barry Cohen, Alel Chernowitz, Abby Drukatz, Roger Einiger, Gail Fread, Harry Falkenstein, Stanley Goldring, Stephen Gore, Amy Granowitz, Simeon Grater, Seth Helpren, Steven Hulsh, Pascal Kaplan, Roger Kline, Jill Kogan, Georgia Kingson, Bruce Merrit, Scott Miller, Joseph Mishkin, Martha Obers, Samuel Paskin, Phyllis Pollner, Kenneth Perlman, Victor Sapirstein and George Shapiro.

Archie I. Thurman

Archie I. Thurman, a graduate of Boston University, a member of the Massachusetts Bar; President of the Acadia Co., Inc., cotton converters; a Vice-President of the Men's Club at its inception and during the years in that office he helped considerably in the growth of the Club. For several years he was Chairman of the Club's Theatre Party Committee and almost single handed carried the burden of that office. Since having been elected as Trustee of the Synagogue, he has served on the School Board, the Pulpit Committee and for three years was Chairman of the Ritual Committee. He was 2nd Vice-President of the Synagogue for two terms and is presently its 1st Vice-President.

He is also an Honorary Trustee of Temple Israel, Long Beach, L. I.

In addition to all of the above, one of the most important reasons for being named as "Hathan Torah" for the year 1955 is the fact that Mr. Thurman is in every sense of the word steeped in Jewish tradition and learning.

Mary (Mrs. Sanford H.) Cohen

Mary (Mrs. Sanford H.) Cohen has been an active, untiring, devoted and dedicated member of the board of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue for twenty years.

She has been one of the founders of the "Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York" and at their twenty-fifth anniversary in November 1942, was awarded a certificate of honor.

It is truly said of her, "What doth the Lord require of thee; only to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God".

She has served with distinction as Chairman of Sisterhood luncheons and as Chairman of Bazaar Canteen, as well as on many other Sisterhood committees.

She has served as one of the co-chairmen of Manhattan Organizations for United Jewish Appeal, Women's Division, as well as on many of their Committees.

She has served for three years with the Jewish Welfare Board canteen at Temple Emanu-El during the war. She also served as Chairman of the Serve-a-camp Committee, a part of the Jewish Welfare Board, for the Sisterhood, during the war.

It is with real pride and pleasure that we name this devoted and inspiring and generous woman, our Bride of the Prophetic Message for Simhath Torah 5716.

Mr. Horowitz is also very active in the United Jewish Appeal, being Director, a Division Chairman and a guest of honor of the Builders and Contractors Dinner in 1953. He was the guest of honor of the Builders and Contractors in 1951 for the Joint Defense Appeal. He is the Division Chairman for Israel Bonds. He is the Chairman of the Building Committee for the Albert Einstein College of Medicine. He was the Chairman of the Builders Division for 1952 for the United Hospital Fund. Mr. Horowitz is a Trustee of Park Avenue Synagogue and was the contractor who erected the Milton Steinberg House.

For all of his communal activities, his devotion to Park Avenue Synagogue and to Judaism, the Ritual Committee has nominated him as Hathan Bereshith for the year 1955.

Dr. Noveck will deliver the first of a series of sermonic discourses on GREAT JEWISH PERSONALITIES THROUGH THE AGES. This series will include such figures as Jeremiah, Josephus, Spinoza, Freud, Brandeis and Ben Gurion. In each case Dr. Noveck will discuss the philosophy and outlook of the man, his contributions to Jewish survival and to the great moral and social issues of our time.

In his first talk, Dr. Noveck will speak on the theme of "Moses and Monotheism" discussing the views of Sigmund Freud on this subject and the contributions of recent archeological discoveries on the origins of early Judaism. The discourse will also include the political and social views of Moses and his relation to the great social issues of our time.

Religious School News

By MARTIN LEICHTLING, Principal

Junior Congregation Services Begin October 15

The students of the Religious School will hold their opening Sabbath morning service on October 15, 1955. These services will be held at the conclusion of the regular Saturday morning classes of the Hebrew Department.

Congregational worship is a major feature of our educational program. On Saturday morning we have two Junior Congregation services for the students in the school. The three entering-classes in the Hebrew Department conduct a service for students who are beginning their study of Hebrew this year. The students in the upper grades of the school have their own congregational services.

Class V has planned a special class project based upon the Friday Night service in the main synagogue during the latter part of the school year.

Primary Department to Open Sunday, October 16

The first session of the Primary Department will be held on Sunday morning, October 16 at 9:45 A.M. Postcards have been mailed to each of the students who are registered in the shool.

Registration in the Primary Department will end on October 31. Parents of children, between the ages of six and nine, are urged to call the School Office between 2:30 and 6:30 P.M. to enroll their children.

Students Visit Israel

Leona Giat, a student in a class 5, and Eugene Roth Jr., a post-confirmand who has continued his Hebrew studies in our school, spent a major portion of the summer visiting in Israel. Eugene traveled with a group of New York City high school students and Leona accompanied her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Aaron Giat.

Eugene and Leona speak in glowing terms of their experiences and their pride in the accomplishments of the State of Israel.

New Hebrew Students

The Religious School is proud to announce that the following entering-students in the Hebrew Department were honored at Simhath Torah services. Each of the students received a small Torah scroll and a Consecration certificate to commemorate the event.

In addition to the names listed in the last issue of the BULLETIN, we record:

Bar Mitzvah Requirements Re-Stated

Bar Mitzvah and Bat Mitzvah for both boys and girls occurs at the age of 13.

In addition to the preparation for the Bar Mitzvah ceremony, the Religious School teaches the candidate what it means to be Bar Mitzvah. He studies the Hebrew language: he participates in worship; he learns some essential facts about our peoples's faith and history; he begins to appreciate the Bible; and, in general, he cultivates an understanding of the contributions of the Jew and of Judaism to world civilization. Secure in this knowledge, he can then hope to assume his role as a Jew in the American-Jewish Community.

With a full recognition of the importance of Jewish education as a prerequisite of Bar Mitzvah, the Park Avenue Synagogue adopted, a number of years ago, the recommendation of the United Synagogue Commission on Education that a minimum of three years of instruction in the Hebrew Department of the school is necessary for Bar Mitzvah and Bat Mitzvah in our Synagogue.

"SLYDINI" THE MAGICIAN

"Is There A Jewish Vote?" And A Magician Too! Tuesday, October 25

By LOUIS HELLER

The Opening Meeting of the Men's Club will take place on Tuesday evening, October 25. While the main emphasis of the program will be one of sociability and relaxation, a short symposium on the topic "Is There a Jewish Vote?" will be held.

Nathan B. Kogan will present the affirmative view and Harvey Glasser will express the opposing opinion. Monroe H. Heyward will act as moderator, and there will be a brief discussion period following.

It is hoped that all men in the congregation, whether members of the Men's Club or not, will attend this meeting with their friends. In addition to the above, a rare treat is in store in the presence of that international favorite "Slydini", the magician. This master of legerdemain will amaze and thrill everyone.

But, that is not all that is planned. There will be other surprises as well, and even special refreshments. So—— men, come down and see for yourselves on Tuesday, October 25, starting at 8:30 P.M.; and be sure to bring your friends. They will enjoy it too!

Milton Sivek is Men's Club President.

Program Planned by Parents Association

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

At the first meeting of its Executive Board, the Parents Association outlined plans for a very active season.

Its ambitious program will begin with a luncheon in the Auditorium on Tuesday, November 1, at 12:45 P.M. in honor of mothers of children who are entering the Religious School for the first time. The Executive Board looks forward with pleasure to greeting all new comers.

Mrs. Hector Ritey, Chairman, and Mrs. J. Rubinstein and Mrs. George Heyman, Co-Chairmen, are planning an interesting program to take place following the luncheon. This will afford a splendid opportunity to all new mothers to meet the Parents group and to learn of its activities.

Again this year, in November, the Parents Association will conduct the Book Fair under the supervision of Mrs. Leon Klein, as Chairman. This will feature an exhibit of books on Jewish life and thought as well as record albums on Jewish music.

The first open meeting of the Parents Association in November will be an orientation meeting at which teachers of the Religious School will be present to meet the parents. Arrangements are being made to have an outstanding lecturer on that occasion.

On Sunday evening, December 11, the Parents Association will conduct the annual Chanukah party for the entire membership of the Synagogue. Mrs. Hector Ritey, who has been designated Chairman of this affair, together with Mrs. A Stangel and Mrs. A. Schoenbaum, her Co-Chairmen, are planning a gala function.

The Class Mothers of the Religious School will supervise a Kiddush ceremony every other Saturday at the conclusion of the Junior service. They also plan to have class room parties for the children in celebration of the various holidays. Further details of these events will appear in subsequent issues of the BULLETIN.

Hosiery History Traced

Book Review

Milton N. Grass, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is the author of a new fall book which traces the development of the dress of man and the origin of hosiery from prehistoric to modern times. Entitled, History of Hosiery, it is being published by Fairchild Publications, who describe the book as "a labor of love, representing many years of research in this country and abroad."

Especially interesting is the fact that Mr. Grass has woven into his documentary many Biblical references to the early practice of weaving and spinning. In tracing the origin of clothing, he has contrasted the concepts of mythology, science, and the Bible. He also points out that the Hebrews. unlike other ancient peoples who credited pagan deities with specicfic crafts, remained true to monotheism, even in this instance. They attributed their skills "in all manner of workmanship" to "Our Lord, Our God."

Frankel-Shipley Wedding in Synagogue

The Park Avenue Synagogue is pleased to announce that Linda Sue Frankel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frankel, members of the Synagogue and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rentner, member of the Advisory Council of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is being married at our Synagogue on Friday afternoon, October 14 to Thorne Shipley of New York.

Congratulations

Dr. and Mrs. Harold Osserman—30th Wedding Anniversary—October 1.

Hon. and Mrs. Nathaniel Goldstein—Engagement of daughter Lois Elaine to Jerome Lowenstein.

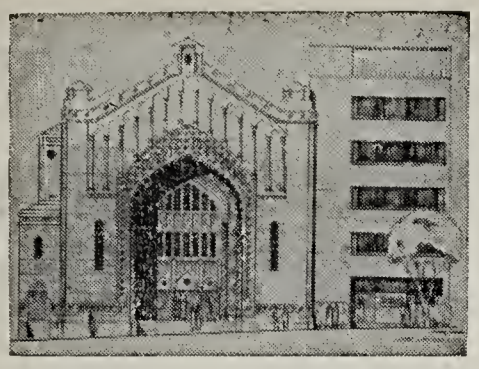

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meltzer—Birth of grandson.

"Button, Button, Who's Got The Homburg"?

It all started innocently enough. Eddie Kaye, one of the members of the Advisory Council of Park Avenue Synagogue, during the High Holidays reported that his brand new Homburg without initials, just arrived from Cavanough's somehow seems to be misplaced. When the Holiday was over there was still no sign of the Homburg. Then somehow, there appeared a spare Homburg just like Eddie Kaye's with the initials marked F.E.H. so we pursued this hot lead to one of our members named Frank E. Howard, who it turns out had among his hat boxes an empty hat box because last year—not this one, he couldn't find his Homburg after the High Holidays. So of course Mr. Howard's Homburg is now on its way to rejoin his family of hats after a one year of absence. However, Mr. Howard finds now that he has a brown Homburg which doesn't belong to him without initials and is on its way back to the Synagogue.

But who has Eddie Kaye's hat?

Would You Like a West Point Cadet For Dinner?

As your guest, that is. Through the sponsorship of the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue, the Jewish Choir consisting of cadets at the West Point Military Academy, is going to assist in the late Friday evening services on Friday, December 9.

While the Men's Club felt that it would be easy and simple to arrange for a dinner out that evening for the 32 members of the Jewish Choir, Milton Sivek, the Men's Club President, nevertheless believes that our membership would prefer to act as hosts and hostesses in their own homes and entertain at dinner one or more of the Jewish West Point cadets directly prior to their appearance at the Synagogue that evening.

The cadets arrive at the Synagogue at 6:00 P.M. for a quick short on-the-sccne rehearsal by Cantor Putterman. With the promptness which characterizes their work, you can be assured that the cadet or cadets who would be assigned to you upon your request, would arrive at your home no later than 7 P.M. However they must be back at the Synagogue at 8:15 but that should not be too difficult.

There are only 32 cadets to divide amongst all of our members. We are sure there are many eager and willing hosts and hostesses. This hospitality is in the best Jewish tradition.

The cadets will appreciate the hospitality of our members and we are equally certain that those whose homes they will grace will find the Jewish West Point cadets young men of interest.

To make your arrangements, please call Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director during the daytime at ENright 9-2600, the Synagogue office. This does not include overnight accommodations which is being provided for them by the Men's Club at a nearby hotel.

Dr. Syrkin Speaks Friday Evening, October 28th

Dr. Marie Syrkin, noted educator and writer, will be the guest speaker at the Friday evening service on October 28, sponsored by the Committee on Adult Education. She will speak from the pulpit on AMERICAN JEWRY AND THE STATE OF ISRAEL.

DR. MARIE SYRKIN

Dr. Syrkin has frequently visited Israel. She is the author of "Your School —Your Children" and "Blessed is the Match: The Story of Jewish Resistance." She is now Associate Editor of the JEWISH FRONTIER, Anglo-Jewish publication of the Labor Zionist Movement and is a contributor to many periodicals. She appeared regularly as a member of a weekly symposium on THE ETERNAL LIGHT radio program during the summer of 1949. In 1950 she was a lecturer in the Department of Humanities at Brandeis University in Waltham, Massachusetts.

On Friday, November 4, Doctor Noveck will deliver the second of his sermonic discourses on GREAT PERSONALITIES THROUGH THE AGES. He will talk on JEREMIAH, PROPHET OF SORROWS, discussing the meaning of the Prophet's message for modern times.

VOL. X No. 4

From the Desk of the Executive Director

Before the High Holidays becomes a memory one feels impelled to record a few observations of his first High Holiday experience at our Synagogue.

The Services of course were all the fine things that our members and friends had lead me to believe it to be. There was dignity, solemnity and an atmosphere conducive to prayer and introspection.

Preparations for the High Holidays demonstrated the enormity of our Congregation and the multitude of problems involved in satisfying in so far as it was humanly possible the requirements of our members, their families, and yes, even some of their friends as well as last minute visitors from out-of-town. Fortunately, there were not many in the latter catagories.

Patience and forbearance is perhaps the best way to characterize the kindness and thoughtfulness with which most members presented to the Synagogue their requests for seat changes or other adjustments. Complying with these requests no matter how nicely they are put is probably one of the most difficult administrative matters in the conduct of the affairs of the Synagogue. For those whose requests we were unable to satisfy, our public thanks and appreciation. And this is said without in any way wishing to invite requests,—seat adjustments, if asked for at an early date are sometimes just a bit easier to handle than a request for a change which comes almost with the blowing of the New Year Shofar.

Many of our members will undoubtedly be glad to know that the fame and renown of the Park Avenue Synagogue is such that, (at least so it seems to me) almost everyone who is stranded in New York during the High Holidays feels that they would love to attend Services at our Synagogue. Some of these requests we found it possible to accommodate such as a girl from Barnard whose daddy just landed in New York from Europe on his way back to Oklahoma . . . the business man who just got off the boat from South Africa . . . the lady from Jacksonville who just couldn't be stranded in New York without hearing Cantor Putterman . . . the woman from Boston who showed us she had a ticket for Services there but couldn't arrange to get back to Boston . . . and a host of others.

What is particularly nice when this is all over is to be able to quote from some of the letters (many of which came with token contributions). "I was alone in the city and it was wonderful of you to let me share the warmth and comfort of your Religious Service. This was one of the more memorable experiences of my life." . . .

"Dr. B. and I would like to thank you and the Synagogue again for extending us your hospitality during the Holiday season. In appreciation we are perhaps giving more than we can afford but less than we would like to give to the Synagogue." . . .

"My appreciation for your cooperation in providing a seat for my son who just came back from the army." . . .

We know that our members who contribute so as to make this Synagogue possible are glad that we can in our small way bring a measure of joy to the stranger within our midst.

Carter to Address Young Married Nov. 8th

On Tuesday evening, November 8, the Young Marrieds will hold their next meeting. They will present as their guest speaker, Commissioner Elmer Carter. Mr. Carter has headed the State Commission against discrimination since 1945 when the passage of the Ives-Quinn bill created the commission.

As a distinguished graduate of Harvard, Mr. Carter has had multifarious experience in civic affairs. He is on the Executive Board of the Greater New York Council of Boy Scouts. He has worked as an Executive of the Urban League. During the war years, he was a member of the New York State War Council. He is a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Young Marrieds feel that the November meeting will prove to be one of the most outstanding they've had. They look forward to many other such interesting meetings and hope that anyone interested in joining the group or hearing Commissioner Carter will attend.

Minyan Beginning to Take Hold

Jacob Klein, Synagogue President, who has been very dutifully sponsoring and attending the Synagogue Daily Minyan at 6:00 P.M. every evening along with a few other stalwarts is beginning to feel encouraged by the attendance at the Minyan.

Mr. Klein indicated that so far every evening we have managed to get the requisite minimum number of ten males plus a few additional persons now and then. However, Mr. Klein wishes to urge through the BULLETIN that all persons interested in the Minyan had not relaxed their vigilance and that those who have not attended should make every effort to do so.

Congratulations

School News

"World Over," a Magazine for Boys and Girls, is received by children of our religious school from the nd of October to the middle of May. So important a place does this excellent magazine occupy in the curriculum that the attention of parents is called to it here for the purpose of obtaining their assistance in getting it read regularly.

World Over meets supremely well the need of inducting the child into Jewish life and affairs the world over. Beautifully and skillfully edited, it contains news items, biographical and historical data of current interest, stories, articles, games, cartoons, puzzles—all that a children's magazine ought to be. Long wanted, here it is—eagerly read by many of our children and appreciated by many. Parents can help by reading it themselves and bringing home and school close together.

World Over rests upon the peragogical theory that Jewish life today, as in ages past, is a reservoir of values upon which the individual draws for guidance, inspiration, and enjoyment. Judaism, we say, is a way of life which had its beginning long ago and far away but leads to our own land and time. World Over is more than so much pleasant extra-curricular home-reading; it represents one of the principal aims and objectives of our School, namely, initiatian for the purpose of ultimate participation into the precious ways of living, thinking and believing of a particular people — the Jews — "your child's people."

The third date to mark down is Men's Club Sabbath on Friday, December 9. A treat is in store as the West Point Jewish Chapel Choir will conduct the Sabbath service in conjunction with Cantor Putterman and the Synagogue Choir. 8 P.M.
American Jewish Family in the Mid-Twentieth Century

—DR. SIDNEY KOSOFSKY

This course was carefully planned by a special committee consisting of Saul Godwin, Dr. Bertha Gold, Howard Kieval, Dr. Hector Ritey and Dr. Jesse Zizmor, who met with Dr. Noveck and Dr. Sidney Kosofsky to arrange a course that that will meet the needs of the members of our Synagogue.

Dr. Kosofsky, a former rabbi and now a practicing psychologist is coming in from Trenton, N. J., specifically to give this course. Major Jewish Agencies Represented in Adult Education Series

The philosophies of Jewish living of the major national agencies will be considered during the next three sessions of the adult education program of the Synagogue. On Monday, November 14, Mr. Milton Himmelfarb will deal with "The Ideological Foundations of the American Jewish Committee"; on Monday, November 21, Mr. Isaac Toubin will speak on behalf of the American Jewish Congress; and on November 28 Rabbi Arthur Gilbert will talk on behalf of the B'nai B'rith.

The purpose of these presentations will not be to consider the practical program of each agency, but rather the underlying premise and ideology of the group. Among the questions to be considered will be: Is there a Jewish community in America? What features of Jewish community life need to be changed? What should be the relationship of American Jewry to the State of Israel? Is unity in

Friday Evening Sermonic Discourses Continue

On Friday evening, November 11, Dr. Noveck, continuing the series on GREAT JEWISH PERSONALITIES THROUGH THE AGES, will deal with the life and philosophy of Philo, the famous Hellenistic Jewish philosopher. He will discuss Philo's interpretation of the Torah, his theological and philosophical views, and deal also with his political theory. During the course of his talk Rabbi Noveck will review the biography of Philo by Norman Bentwich, as well as the two volume study of Philo by Professor Harry Wolfson, indicating the influence of Philo on western thought down to Spinoza and our own times.

The life and times of Rabbi Hillel, Akiba and the great sages of the Talmud will be the subject of Dr. Noveck's talk on Friday evening, November 18. He will deal with the social philosophy of the Rabbinic Age and the relevance of these teachings for our own time.

Albert Einstein Medical School Dedicated

The recent dedication of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University was a matter of national significance.

This new medical school is the first medical school to be established in the United States under Jewish auspices. In fact, it is the first new medical school that has been started in New York State in nearly sixty years.

Although founded under Jewish auspices, the new school is non-denominational. Both students and faculty are selected on the basis of scholarship, character and ability, without regard to race, creed, or national origin. The fifty-six students who were admitted last month to the first class at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine are from widely varying racial and religious groups and from all parts of this country and abroad. As Marcus D. Kogel, former Commissioner of Hospitals of the City of New York, and dean of the College, has said, students are expected to have "a background of broad liberal education as a safeguard against irrational prejudices and suspicions of other races and cultures".

At the dedicatory ceremonies, former State Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein, chairman of the board of overseers of the college, and a member of our Synagogue, read a message from President Eisenhower, in which the Chief Executive said: "The dedication of this new medical college is of vital significance for the health and welfare of the nation. This increase in the nation's medical teaching facilities is particularly welcome in the face of the mounting health needs of a fast growing, longer living population and the ever-expanding opportunities presented by the medical gains of the last several decades".

Religious Holiday Observances in Public Schools?

The Joint Commission on Social Action of the United Synagogue of America in a memorandum issued last week reminded its congregations of the stand of the Conservative movement and in general of the organized Jewish community in strong opposition to the observance of religious practices in public schools.

The approaching Christmas and Chanukah observances focus attention on these problems. The essence of the position which the Conservative movement supports states that: "the maintenance and furtherance of religion are the responsibility of the synagogue, the church, and the home, and not of the public school system, the time, facilities, funds, or personnel of which should not be utilized for religious purposes", according to a resolution adopted more than five years ago and currently reaffirmed by the Synagogue Council of America. That resolution maintains that such a program "constitutes a violation of the traditional American principle of the separation of church and state".

The position taken also states: "Joint religious observances such as Christmas-Chanukah and Easter-Passover, are in our opinion no less a breach of the principle of separation of church and state and violate the conscience of many religious persons, Jews and Christians alike".

The United Synagogue nevertheless underlines this point, namely, that if one is faced with that kind of problem in our community before taking any action we should consult with the Joint Commission on Social Action of the United Synagogue of America, which incidentally is devoting one of its seminars at the forthcoming November Convention to this specific subject.

Nominating Committee Appointed

Before leaving for his trip to Europe, Mr. Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees appointed a Nominating Committee to present a slate of Officers and some Trustees for the forthcoming calendar year. The Committee consists of Nelson Ruttenberg, Chairman, Harry Halbren, Dr. Harold Osserman, Harry J. Sokolow and Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer.

United Synagogue Convenes Important Sessions

Honorable Simon Sobeloff, Solicitor General of the United States. Dr. Israel Goldstein, Rabbi of B'nai Jeshurun, New York City and President of the American Jewish Congress, and Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America will be the keynote speakers at the forthcoming National Biennial Convention of The United Synagogue of America, it was announced by George Maislen, Convention Chairman.

More than 1000 delegates are expected to be at the Convention, which will be held at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, New York, from November 13 to 17, to hear Judge Sobeloff on "Standards in Jewish Life" at the opening banquet, Sunday evening. Dr. Goldstein will speak on "The Role of the Synagogue in Community Relations." Dr. Finkelstein will speak on the theme of the Convention; "Creating A Climate for Jewish Living".

Another convention speaker is Israel B. Oseas, National vice-president of The United Synagogue, and member of the Board of Trustees of Park Avenue Synagogue.

Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees named the following persons to represent the Park Avenue Synagogue at the forthcoming United Synagogue Convention. They are: Rabbi Simon Noveck, Cantor David J. Putterman, Mr. Sol Green, Chairman of the Ritual Committee and Mr. Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director.

In addition to Synagogue delegates, Mrs. Sol Green will represent the Sisterhood of Park Avenue Synagogue and is also planning to attend special sessions at the Convention on Adult Education.

Parents Association Entertains New Mothers

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Executive Board of the Parents Association acted as hostesses at a luncheon held on November 1 in the Auditorium of the Park Avenue Synagogue in honor of the mothers of children who have entered the Religious School for the first time this fall.

Mrs. Herman Helpern, President of the Parents Association, welcomed the many mothers who attended and outlined the purposes of the organization. Several of the guests offered to serve on various committees devoted to their special interest. Rabbi Noveck was present and addressed the gathering. Following the luncheon, Mr. Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School, also spoke to the group and explained many interesting facts about the Religious School, which has grown steadfastly since the Milton Steinberg House has been completed.

Chairman of the luncheon was Mrs. Hector Ritey, who, with her co-chairmen, Mrs. J. Rubinstein and Mrs. George Heyman, planned the affair. The luncheon was under the direction of Mrs. Bruno Foa, Chairman, and Mrs. Albert Siegel, co-chairman and their committee. The charming decorations were the work of Mrs. Adolf Stangel and her co-workers.

West Point Cadets at Synagogue Dec. 9

By the time this Bulletin is published it may already be too late but it is suggested that those who wish to offer hospitality to the Jewish Cadets of West Point please be sure to call the Synagogue at once, ENright 9-2600 and ask for Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director.

The United States Corps of Cadets at West Point is having its Jewish Chapel Choir sent to us as our special guests on Friday night December 9th. The musical program is being coordinated and worked out with them by Cantor Putterman who conferred with them before he left for Israel and has an appointment with them shortly after his return.

The Men's Club which is sponsoring this December 9th Friday night Sabbath Service wishes to accommodate the Cadets in providing homes for dinner. This means that they would be at your home by 6:45 p.m. and would have to be back at the Synagogue by 8:30 p.m. Interested members of the Synagogue are urged to telephone the office upon receipt of the Bulletin but no later than November 15th.

Carlton & Juliette Guest Stars at Men's Club "Ladies Night"

By LOUIS I. HELLER

CARLTON and JULIETTE

To Appear November 22

This year's "Ladies Night" at Men's Club will once more transform the Lemberg Auditorium into a sophisticated night club on Tuesday evening, November 22nd. The main attraction for this purely social evening will be the "Internationally Known Royalists of the Dance"—Carlton and Juliette.

The walls, floor and ceiling will reverberate to the beat of Latin-American tempos as this fine dance team demonstrates and teaches the mambo, tango, paso-doble and the newest dance sensation the Cha-Cha-Cha. Carlton and Juliette who were at the Nautilus Hotel, Atlantic Beach all summer, brought the Cha-Cha-Cha back with them after five months last winter at the International Hotel at Veradero Beach, Cuba. So, here is an opportunity for all members of Men's Club and their ladies to not only enjoy themselves, but to learn the steps of the latest dances at the same time. Naturally a fine orchestra will be present to play in all tempos and rhythms. The Hospitality Committee also promises a wonderful repast of food and drink.

We regret that this delightful evening has to be restricted only to Men's Club members and their ladies, but it is not too late to contact the Chairman of the Committee on Membership to make sure your name is on the list. Just call Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel at REgent 7-6969 or SAcramento 2-7499.

Wedding Ceremonies In the Synagogue

The Synagogue Council of Omaha, Nebraska, recently called upon all members of the Jewish community to conduct marriage ceremonies in the home or Synagogue "to emphasize the traditional dignity, solemnity and religious significance of Jewish marriages".

Beth El Synagogue of Omaha adopted this resolution, and the Beth El News published an editorial by Rabbi Kripke of Beth El Synagogue of Omaha explaining why.

The following excerpt from that editorial may be of interest to those who contemplate weddings in our beautiful Synagogue, with the convenient arrangements for bridal parties in the Lemberg Auditorium located in our Synagogue building.

"With the exception of the home, there is no suitable place for a marriage ceremony other than the Synagogue—preferably before the Ark of the Torah . . . In the Synagogue, and particularly in the sanctuary or chapel, the spirit of sanctity pervades all. There is a proper mood for the pronouncements and the solemn service which unite a couple in marriage . . .

"The rooms of commercial places or social clubs may easily bring to bridal party and guests alike, suggestions of other occasions when the atmosphere was neither solemn nor inspiring. These memories may drive away the thoughts that should be in the minds of all, bridal party and guests together, who come to a wedding ceremony . . .

"It is precisely the assurance of a religious character to the wedding ceremony that demands that wedding ceremonies be solemnized in the Synagogue."

West Point Jewish Chapel Choir To Participate in Services

After more than a year's intensive planning, the Men's Club is being honored by the presence of the Jewish Chapel Choir of the U. S. Military Academy of West Point.

This is particularly gratifying because the Cadet Choir is permitted only two public appearances a year away from the Academy.

Composed of thirty Jewish cadets, the choir will participate in the musical portion of the services, together with Chazzan David Putterman and our own Synagogue organist and choir. Rabbi Simon Noveck will officiate.

The cadets—in full dress uniform—will perform from our pulpit and will be conducted by their director, Sgt. R. Huffman.

It is extremely significant that this Sabbath evening is the occasion of the kindling of the first Chanukah light commemorating the military victory of the Maccabee forces. In keeping with the spirit of the evening, General Melvin L. Krulewitch, a member of the Men's Club and of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue. will discuss the significant role played by Jewish men in the armed forces. General Krulewitch is the highest ranking Jew in the U. S. Marine Corps.

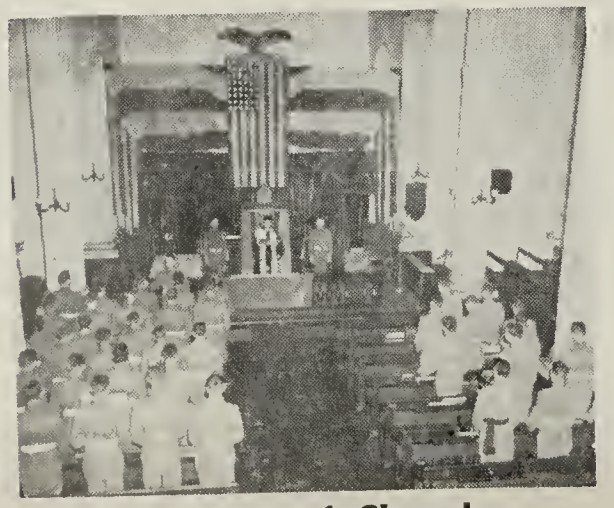

The announcement that the West Point Jewish Chapel Choir will participate in our services has aroused great public interest and a large attendance is anticipated. Accordingly, special tickets are being mailed to members of the Men's Club and to the entire Congregation in order to assure them of seats.

Members of the Congregation desiring additional tickets are requested to communicate with Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director, at the Synagogue office.

Immediately following the services, the Jewish Chapel Choir will present a program of secular music.

It is strongly urged that tickets be presented no later than 8:20 p.m., ten minutes before the time the services are to commence.

DECEMBER 9 IS A DATE TO REMEMBER.

Time Limit Prevents Acceptance of Dinner Invitations by Choir

Milton M. Sivek, President of Men's Club, has received word f West Point that the cadets will no rive in time to permit them to a the many invitations for dinner that have received from members of the gregation. Preceding their appearan the Synagogue on Friday night, De ber 9, sufficient time must be allotte a rehearsal with Chazzan Puttermar the Synagogue organist and choir for the cadets to change from dress to full dress uniforms.

It is with regret that a nece change in the proposed plans mu announced.

The Men's Club wishes to public press its thanks and appreciati those who graciously offered the tality of their homes in the true spirit.

Teen Age Youth Group Expanding Rapidly

By HYMAN SANKEL

In less than one year our teen age youth group has shown phenomenal growth and development. Starting with seven members it has grown to more than a hundred. This has necessitated breaking the group into a Junior and Senior Club. At a recent meeting the following set of officers were elected:

Chairman of the Executive Council—Doris Wimpfheimer, Senior President—Martin Coopersmith, Vice President—John Kogan, Vice President—Alice Heyman, Recording Secretary—Cecily Falkenstein, Corresponding Secretary—Alan Mehlman, Treasurer—Leonard Stern.

Junior President — Lorraine Buchbinder, Vice President — Ted Pincus. Vice President—Stephen Helpern, Recording Secretary — Mickey Seligson, Corresponding Secretary — Geraldine Klein. Treasurer—Jimmy Gordon.

Two very successful events have already been held. One was a social dance at which more than two hundred teen agers were present. The other was an Israeli Folk Dance Festival.

Future plans encompass a Friday Night Service at which the young people will take over the conduct of the entire service. They will give the sermon, do the interpretive reading, sing the liturgical selections and conduct a panel discussion at the Oneg Shabbat. The date is December 16. A Hannukah Party will also be held that week.

Scouts

At a recent joint meeting of Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, Mr. Milton Sivek, President of Men's Club formally presented three beautiful flags to these groups on behalf of his organization. One was the American Flag, one the Jewish Flag and the third a Cub Scout Pack 600 Flag. Mr. Michael Stowe accepted the flags in the name of the Scouts. Rabbi Noveck gave the invocation. Mrs. Herman Helpern, Chairman of the Youth Activities Committee and Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, Chairman of the School Board, also congratulated the Scouts on their rapid growth. General Melvin Krulewitch sent his regrets for being unable to attend because of an important social event being held in his honor by the United States Marines.

College Youth

A varied and interesting program is being planned by the Youth Activities Division during the winter recess for the sons and daughters of college age members of the Synagogue. A Friday Night Service and an exciting social event is on the program. We would like to extend invitations directly to these young people at school. If you have children in this category, please send names and school addresses to Hy Sankel, Director of Youth Activities.

The Eternal Message Of Chanukah

As we approach the Chanukah season, when our minds turn to the memory of the Maccabeans and to the spirit of rededication to the principles which gave rise to the Chanukah festival, we believe the following excerpt from "What the Jews Believe" by Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein is timely and appropriate.

N. R.

Chanukah is an historical and deeply spiritual holiday. It commemorates the Jewish nation's successful struggle against oppression by Antiochus IV. This Syrian ruler was one of those who inherited part of the empire of Alexander the Great. Zealous Hellenist and unifier, he sought to impose Greek ways on the people whom he ruled. Some of the Jews yielded to the blandishments of the pleasant Greek customs or to curry favor with the King. However, the Hebraic genius sensed the fatal danger in this process and expressed itself in a revolt of the common people. Led by Mattathias, an elderly priest in the town of Modin and later by his son, Judah the Maccabee, they strove to cast off the oppressive yoke. At first shouting, "Whosoever is zealous of the Law, let him follow me," Mattathias led the attack on Jews who were disloyal to their faith. Then Judah, apparently a military genius, organized his loyal followers into bands which carried on successful puerrilla operations against the foreign oppressors. The odds were against them for they were ill-equipped and vastly outnumbered. But they were fighting for their homes, their faith and their freedom. As the months passed, as early defeats were transformed into victories, they demonstrated the historic validity of Zechariah's promise, "Not by might, not by power, but by My spirit, saith the Lord."

By the early winter of 165 B.C. they delivered the last decisive blows to the demoralized armies of Antiochus. Judah marched victoriously into Jerusalem. A single undefiled cruse of oil was found. Tradition has it that this single flask provided enough oil to burn not for one, but for eight days.

Ever since, the Jews have celebrated in the Hebrew month of Kislev the festival of Chanukah—which means dedication. The Book of Maccabees is read. Special prayers of rejoicing are sung for the wonders God wrought for His people. Jewish homes are gladdened with eight nights of celebration and gift giving. Candles are lit, one on the first night, two the second—until finally eight are kindled on the last night.

The basic issue of the Maccabean struggle was religious freedom. The Jews fought for their right to worship their God in their own way. This struggle apparently is never completely won. We have learned this again in our generation. It is interesting to speculate on what this victory of the spirit has meant in human history. If Judaism had been destroyed in the second century before Jesus, would Christianity have come into the world, or Mohammedanism? Both were products of Judaism; both derived sustenance from the living Jewish people.

The Jews have understood that not only their survival as a people, but their faith, the Jewish soul, was at stake. For this reason, perhaps, the Hallel, stirring psalm of praise, is chanted on Chanukah but not on Purim which commemorates also the deliverance of the people. The Gerer Rebbi, once renowned Chassidic leader of Eastern Jewry, thus explains the greater importance of Chanukah. "On Purim we were saved from the attempt to destroy the body of the Jew; but on Chanukah we were rescued from the decree that would have destroyed our soul."

To Honor Contributors to Milton Steinberg House

Now that the Milton Steinberg House has been completed, the Special Advisory Committee on Tablets and Memorials, is preparing plans to appropriately honor those contributors whose generosity has made this building a reality. Those who have been privileged to participate in the erection of this beautiful edifice, in honor of our beloved and sainted Rabbi Milton Steinberg, of blessed memory, take pardonable pride in this living memorial to a great Rabbi, educator, and spiritual leader.

A list of names is being prepared by the Special Committee which are to be placed on various plaques and tablets in the new building. Those contributors, who have met their pledges in full, will be included in the initial list. May we, therefore, suggest to those who have overlooked their outstanding pledges, that final payment should be made immediately. This will greatly aid the Committee in the preparation of a complete list of all those who are to be so honored.

May we also suggest to those new members, who have recently joined the Synagogue, that they, too, may be similarly honored or they may have the names of their dear ones permanently memorialized in the Milton Steinberg House. Mr. Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director, will be glad to furnish you with further details, if you will communicate with him at the Synagogue office.

Milton Steinberg House — One Year of Progress
What It Means To Us

From the President of the Park Avenue Synagogue

It is over a year now since the Milton Steinberg House is in full operation and it is pleasant to reminisce about the past and contemplate the future.

Chanukah is approaching and it is always a season of dedication and rededication and rejoicing. The Scriptural portions that we will read this year concern Joseph and his dreams. Joseph's dreams were realized in his life time and when Pharoh questioned him, he said in terms "I can't interpret dreams, but God will let Pharoh know what is in His mind." This was the humble and gentle Joseph.

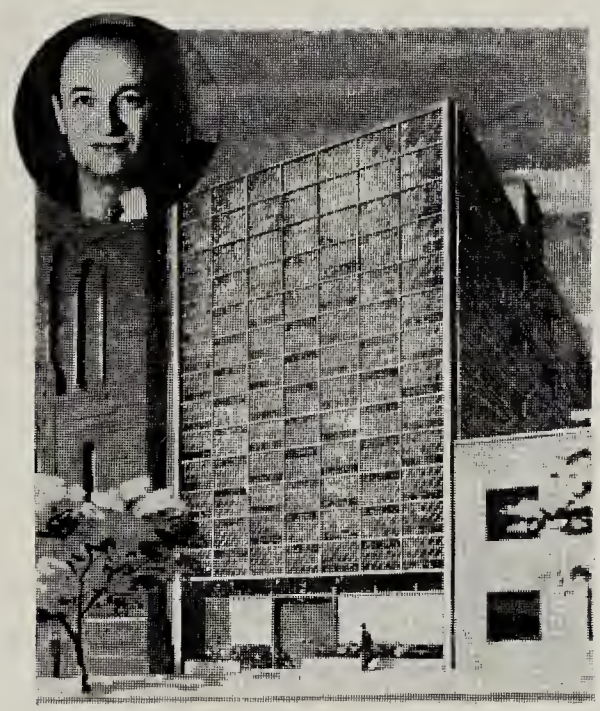

For 20 years Milton Steinberg was the Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and during that period of time, he endeared himself not only to the hearts of all his congregants but to the whole Jewish world; yeah even to a great part of the non-Jewish world and although he is not with us today, he still lives and is as much alive today as he was 6 years ago.

Milton Steinberg was a most humble human being, and he also had dreams; one of his dreams was to have a suitable building to house children where they could be taught Judaism in all its forms —he never however visualized a building such as the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue have built and which now bears his name, the Milton Steinberg House; that was a dream of his, that he didn't live to see realized, but none the less it was his dream and how feverishly he fought and worked to have it become a reality many of us know only too well.

And what a monument to his memory it has turned out to be. Speaking from my own observation I can say no matter how often I enter that building I am thrilled to the core with what I see and what is going on.

I am there daily between the hours of 9 and 11 and in the office I see a beehive of activity. Sidney R. Katz our Executive Director is in charge of the entire building but in the office where I see him at 9:00 A.M. almost daily, one of the busiest, kindliest and most gracious executives it has been my privilege to see in harness—almost continuously at the telephone answering inquiries for all the officers of the Park Avenue Synagogue and its subsidiary organizations as well as from many outside interests; it has always been a pleasure for me to see him at work and performing wonderfully with the untold number of duties that are enough to try the patience of even a saint and this continues until closing time. The office help is certainly on their tiptoes and most helpful in all directions.

MILTON STEINBERG HOUSE

In addition I attend the newly inaugurated daily minyan services at 6:00 P.M. and also attend the meetings of the various subsidiary organizations as well as some of the classes of the Hebrew School.

This is in truth a realization of Milton Steinberg's dreams and wherever he may be at this time, he must be very happy to know that his dreams have come true.

JACOB KLEIN

What The Milton Steinberg House Means to the Sisterhood

The Sisterhood has always been of the belief that the Park Avenue Synagogue should represent—A House of Prayer—a House of Education and a House of Social and Communal Life. The completion of the Milton Steinberg House, therefore represents to the Sisterhood a crowning achievement to help to further these ideals.

We have an enlarged auditorium for more extensive use; better facilities, such as new kitchens, lighting and air-conditioning and the comfort of the new Sisterhood Lounge, which has been so tastefully furnished. For the first time the Sisterhood Lounge was used in giving a luncheon to greet the wives of new members, and it was most successful. I do believe that most of our functions should now be held here, as it can be made attractive and homelike. The Sisterhood meetings are held here, where we try to have programs of interest to carry on the hope of our beloved Milton Steinberg, in whose memory the new building was dedicated.

So that we may enrich this memorial to our beloved Rabbi, we trust, that as our congregation grows, we shall continue to learn and practice our Judaism: as Milton Steinberg once stated for a Sisterhood Function. "Only by study, practice and dedication can we help ourselves. If we will learn our Judaism, work at it as a religious regimen in an ethical way and cultural tradition, and do all this with earnestness and consecration, with idealism, then creativity equal to our opportunities will come by itself."

The Sisterhood is the heart of the Congregation: for men may build these houses, but women make them homes; hence the Milton Steinberg House represents to us, the Sisterhood's home.

MRS. WILLIAM KARMIOL
President of the Sisterhood

Men's Club

Seven years ago, our late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg invited thirty-five men of the Park Avenue Synagogue to his home in order to explore the possibility of establishing a Men's Club. He indicated that there was a great need for forming an organization to help establish social relationships among the men of the Congregation, thereby making Synagogue acliation more meaningful. Upon polling the men present, hc was delighted to learn that the response was unanimously in the affirmative. Shortly thereafter, under Rabbi Steinberg's spiritual strength and wise guidance, the first meeting of the Men's Club was held.

This year we are commemorating the first anniversary of the dedication of the Milton Steinberg House, a sacred edifice of magnificent appearance, built in memory of a leader in Israel and to the precepts of worship and study which he constantly advocated. Because the Milton Steinberg House has been named for our revered Rabbi and founder, we in the Men's Club feel an intensified kinship with the lofty ideals for which this building was constructed.

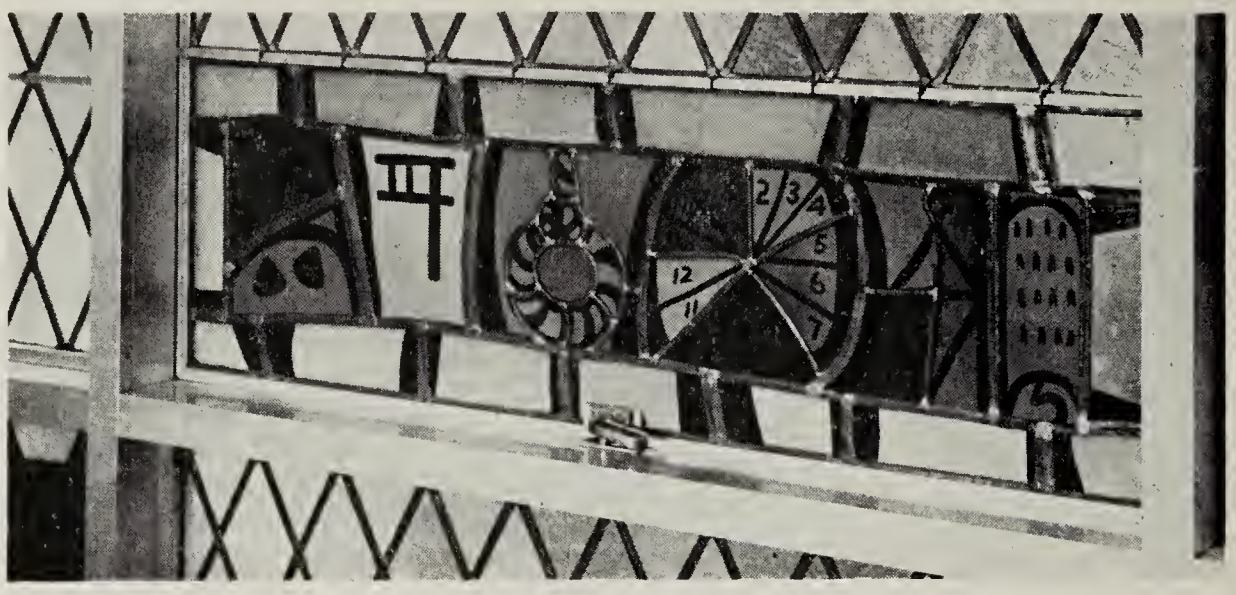

The Milton Steinberg House has undoubtedly drawn the men of our organization closer to the Synagogue. It has increased the awareness of our responsibility to our brethren in the Congregation and to Jewry throughout the world, and has helped create an atmosphere of sociability for the men of our Congregation.

Rabbi Steinberg loved the Men's Club. He rarely missed a meeting and took great delight and interest in our endeavors. We humbly and modestly feel he would have been proud of the progress we have made. We, in turn, will never forget his inspirational leadership and the fact that he was the fountainhead of the Men's Club.

This imposing building stands as a monument to a great man and to the concepts for which he stood: worship, study and social relationship. These the Men's Club will always attempt to emulate. As Solomon Schechter once said: "In Judaism. every thing must emanate from the the Torah and culminate in it. We cannot live entirely for the fleeting moment. We have duties to the past and future."

DETAIL OF ONE OF TWENTY-ONE PANELS

Young Married Group

During World War II at least, it used to be said of some of us servicemen "he found a home in the army." A figurative analogy may be applied to the Young Married Group's relationship to the Milton Steinberg House. We found a home in that building.

Until the Building first opened its doors. the Young Married Group was a "floater"; we met at the homes of our members. or at the 92nd Street YMHA or wherever we could bed down for the night. If we had plans for a social, we had to look for a location; if our members turned out in droves for a meeting (always for an election) we were cramped, crowded and cowed. All was chaotic at best.

What a difference a building has made! Now we meet in the luxurious surroundings of the lounge regularly and religiously. Our women folk have use of the kitchen so that our meetings are followed up with refreshments. We have the opportunity to socialize and to have a sponsor entertainment and galas of all kinds (don't forget our Las Vegas night-January 14, 1956—buy your tickets early). The building has unified and strengthened us beyond measure and has assisted our organization in the realization of its desire to be an active and thriving component of the Synagogue.

There are other features to the new Building in the opinion of the Young Married Group. As our children become older. they are able to make use of the Synagogue's added facilities in the Educational Department, improved as they are in the new building. The Adult Education classes are more appealing in the new surroundings. These are important facets of our official and unofficial ties with the Synagogue, made additionally desirable by the Milton Steinberg House.

If you get the impression from all of this that the Young Married Group is pleased with the Milton Steinberg House. I've made my point. We look forward to its continued happy use by our Group as well as all others.

SAMUEL G. FREDMAN

Parents Association

To the Parents Association. the completion of the Milton Steinberg House has been the fruition of a drcam. To us, it has brought a new impetus to achieve greater goals and higher objectives.

We as parents, consider it a privilege to be able to send our children to the Religious School where they can avail themselves of the most modern facilities as well as the best in teaching standards. This is in sharp contrast to the inadequate facilities heretofore, and which the Parents Association as well as the other arms of the Synagogue tried to ameliorate. It was upon the recognition of the lack of proper school facilities that the Board of Trustees undertook to build this outstanding house of learning.

Our magnificent building. erected in the memory of our beloved late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, and dedicated to the needs of our children, will be a constant inspiration to every member of the Parents Association.

LILLIAN HELPERN

Religious School

The Milton Steinberg House has given the Religious School a greater opportunity to play a vital role in the field of Jewish education. Members of the congregation and more of their neighbors in the community are making the Park Avenue Synagogue the focal point in their planning for the religious education of their children.

The Milton Steinberg House has taken the Religious School out of the old "basement" and provided our children with the most advanced educational physical facilities—scientifically-lighted classrooms with tinted chalk-boards to ease eye strain: movable furniture to encourage new methods of instruction: equipment for the use of audio-visual instruction: provisions for the use of art. music and dramatics in our instruction: and, a beautiful chapel to add further dignity to the Junior Congregation Sabbath Services. Though only a year behind us, forgotten in the distant past is the old school with its dimly lighted. poorly equipped classrooms separated from each other by thin partitions that seemed to encourage the flow of sound from room to room.

The Milton Steinberg House adds stature and prestige to our school and its instructional program. Through the years, the increasing significance of the school in the lives of our children, despite our poor facilities, has been a tribute to the far-seeing educational thinking of the leaders of the congregation and the devotion and pedagogic skill of the faculty. Today, with the new building, our students look upon their studies and their teachers with renewed esteem. They appreciate the beauty and dignity of their educational surroundings which compare more than favorably with the best of the public and private schools. They react, with pleasure, to the enriched and varied curriculum that can now be part of our instruction. They accept religious education as an integral part of their general education and development.

The Milton Steinberg House gives the synagogue, the school and the home greater opportunities to work together in the education of our Jewish youth to live in the American community.

MARTIN LEICHTLING, Principal

ONE OF OUR MODERN RELIGIOUS SCHOOL CLASSROOMS

Youth Activities Committee

Perhaps no other group has benefited more from the completion of the Milton Steinberg House than has the youth of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The facilities available to our young people today have made possible the ambitious program now in operation.

Many cultural and recreational activities are being offered to our children both on a younger and teen-age level. These activities have attracted an unusually great number of boys and girls from the Religious School; their leadership and enthusiasm are most rewarding. The true purpose of our program is to strengthen the ties of the young people with the Synagogue and to enrich their identification with Judaism. This objective is always kept in mind and forms a basic concept in the philosophy of the youth program of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

All this has been made possible by the Milton Steinberg House. Without it, our objective would not have been realized and would have remained an empty dream.

LILLIAN HELPERN

Adult Education Committee

The stimulating adult education program of our Synagogue has been greatly enhanced with the completion of the Milton Steinberg House. The carefully planned and well equipped. modern classrooms have provided the most ideal surroundings for maintaining the high standards of our adult program. Utilizing these facilities, the Committee on Adult Education, under the chairmanship of Mr. Saul Godwin, with the help and guidance of Rabbi Noveck. has once again planned an exciting program for the current year.

During the present semester. on Monday evenings from 8 P.M. to 9 P.M., four courses are held simultaneously in rooms on the third, fourth and fifth floors: The Book of Job, American Jewish Family Life in the Mid-Twentieth Century, and Elementary and Intermediate Hebrew. A typical classroom, for example. with its beautiful stained glass window serving as the north wall, provides a striking setting for the group of students studying and discussing the text of The Book of Job.

In an extraordinary tribute to a friend who has received unusual recognition by our country, General Melvin L. Krulewitch, member of the Board of Trustees of Park Avenue Synagogue will be the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner in his behalf sponsored by a group of friends.

The purpose of the testimonial is to gather together the men and women who have known and admired General Krulewitch for many years and who want to pay tribute to him on the occasion of his being named to the highest military honor ever accorded a Jew in the United States Marines namely, his being designated recently by President Eisenhower as a Brigadier-General.

Park Avenue Synagogue officials and Trustees are amongst those actively participating in the plans for the dinner which is scheduled for Thursday evening, December 15 at 6:30 P.M. at the Plaza Hotel, Fifth Avenue and 59th Street.

Judge Sanford H. Cohen is acting as program chairman of this dinner. Mr. Milton Weill will be the toastmaster. Reservations at $12.50 per person may be made by writing to Jacob Klein directly at the Synagogue. Dress is optional. National figures in the military and civilian life of our nation are expected to be present at this dinner.

At 9 P.M., the attractively decorated Sisterhood Lounge is transformed into the class room for the larger attended Major Lecture Series on Faiths Jews Live By.

For the second semester, beginning on January 9th, another well-varied selection of classes is planned, including Cantor Putterman's Choral Group, Professor Albert Salomon's course on Piety, Liturgy and Prayer Book, and the sixth annual Milton Steinberg Lectures on Jewish Theology.

It is the sincere hope of the Committee on Adult Education that more of our congregants will avail themselves of these interesting courses and excellent facilities so that the Milton Steinberg House will indeed become the educational and cultural center which its founders intended.

Dr. Hasye Cooperman Will Lecture To Adult Education Group

DR. HASYE COOPERMAN

"Yiddish Literature and Culture as an Aspect of Judaism" will be the topic of the concluding lecture in this semester's adult education series on "Faiths Jews Live By" on Monday, December 12 at 9 P.M. Dr. Hasye Cooperman, who has participated in our adult education program in previous years, will deliver this talk. She will describe the attitudes of those who revered Yiddish literature as a record of Jewish life and Jewish ethical values—the laughter and tears of a people—and will explain how a philosophy and a way of Jewish living came into being out of this search for Jewish roots and an identification with one's brethren.

Dr. Cooperman was born and educated in New York City. She received her M.A. and Ph.D. at Columbia University. At present she is a member of the faculty of the New School for social Research where she teaches comparative literature as well as a special course in American prose and poetry. She has lectured extensively on the philosophy of aesthetics and in other fields of European and American literatures. Dr. Cooperman has written poetry, short stories and essays in Yiddish as well as in English, including "Men Walk the Earth," a collection of poems and a book of critical appreciation, "The Aesthetics of Stephne Mallarme."

Some Observations On Men's Club Sabbath Service

Friday, December 9, may be just another day on the calendar, but it will be a date long to be remembered in the annals of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

This was to be the annual Sabbath Evening service sponsored by the Men's Club, the usual evening service with Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman officiating. But from the moment that the first congregants began to arrive for the services and singing of the opening lines of "Lechu Neranenoh", Psalm 95, one could almost feel that this was to be an unusual, outstanding event in the Park Avenue Synagogue. Even before services began, the synagogue was filled to capacity and hardly a vacant seat could be found.

The presence of the West Point Jewish Chapel Choir from the United States Military Academy, coming as it did on the eve of the first day of Chanukah, was most appropriate. These cadets symbolized the spirit of the Maccabees, as well as the faith that has enabled the Jew to survive through the ages, despite so many attempts to destroy him even in modern times. As the voices of these young men in military uniform blended so harmoniously with that of our own Cantor Putterman and the synagogue choir in the chanting of the Sabbath prayers in traditional style, one was easily aware of the pardonable pride that thrilled the audience and the emotion that filled their hearts.

Here was visible evidence of the public identification of these Jewish cadets with their Jewish ancestors and the manifestation of Americanism in the truest democratic spirit. In full dress gray uniforms, they made an inspiring sight against the Byzantine background of the beautiful Ark of our synagogue, a blending of the old with the new. To hear these West Pointers chant the Sabbath prayers was a real treat, and when the final "Ulanu" prayer was reached, it seemed as if the service had ended all too soon.

In a brief address, Milton M. Sivek, president of Men's Club, welcomed the congregation, and then introduced General Melvin L. Krulewitch, one of its members, as the guest speaker. General Krulewitch, recently appointed a Brigadier General of the USMCR by President Eisenhower, is the first Jew to have attained that rank in the Marine Corps.

In his speech, General Krulewitch referred to the spirit and meaning of Chanukah, and to the constant struggle that is being waged for the mind of man, even in our own times. His wit and humor added to the festive spirit of the Chanukah holiday, as he related some of his personal experiences during his long combat service, commencing with World War I, when he held the title of sergeant, up to the Korean conflict, when he had achieved the rank of Colonel.

At the conclusion of the religious services, the cadets, under the baton of their director, Sgt. R. Huffman, offered several musical selections. When it was over and the audience slowly filed out of the synagogue, the emotional impact of the grandeur and the solemnity of the occasion was reflected in their countenances.

Prior to coming to the syagogue, the cadets were the dinner guests of the Men's Club, who also provided them with overnight hotel accommodations. Unfortunately, the limited time available to the Pointers did not permit them to accept the many invitations of our members who offered them the hospitality of their homes in true Jewish spirit.

To Cantor David Putterman go our thanks for the excellent manner in which he was able to coordinate the musical portion of the service with the cadets and the synagogue choir, with only an hour's rehearsal.

Special credit for this memorable evening goes to Milton M. Sivek, president of Men's Club, who spearheaded this affair and gave so much of his time and energy in its planning; to Judge Maxwell Shapiro, who arranged to have Park Avenue Synagogue selected for one of the unusual public appearances of the West Point Jewish Chapel Choir; to Julian Jacobs, who was in general charge of arrangements; and to Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director, who was always available to the Men's Club in helping to make this enjoyable function possible.

And to the Men's Club, our congratulations and grateful thanks for an inspiring evening.

Chairman of the BULLETIN

Religious Education Is Not Job of Public Schools, Say Rabbis

That religious education is the responsibility of church, synagogue and home —not the public school—was the tenor of several hundred sermons preached by rabbis in New York.

The theme was suggested last month by the New York Board of Rabbis, which earlier had taken issue with a proposed guide of spiritual and moral values for public school teachers. The guide is under consideration by the Board of Education.

The rabbinical group represents Orthodox, Conservative and Reform rabbis in New York. Rabbi Emanuel Rackman, president of the Board of Rabbis, asserted in his sermon that "we cannot permit sectarian religion to take over the public school system simply because church and synagogue crave an easy solution to their problems."

In appealing to the Protestants, he declared "We plead with the Protestants especially, to be loyal to their own liberal tradition and save the very system of education which they originally espoused.

Rabbi Alan A. Steinback, president of the Brooklyn Association of Reform Rabbis, said that "we must never forget that the separation of church and state is the very foundation stone upon which the super-structure of our American democracy has been builded. The intrusion of religion into our public schools is a frontal attack upon the principle of separation of church and state, and we are duty-bound, as loyal Americans, to oppose this intrusion with undiminished energy."

Rabbi Edward E. Klein, chairman of the social action committee of the New York Board of Rabbis, said in his Sabbath sermon: "At an hour when democracy is sorely tried let us not place intolerable burdens upon it in the pursuit of sectarian aims."

Message From Men's Club President

Now that the Men's Club Sabbath Service has past, may I extend to all those who helped to make this occasion possible, my warmest thanks and gratitude. The enthusiastic messages that have come to me by telephone and mail are a sufficient reward for the meticulous preparation and planning that was involved in this grand endeavor.

First, to the West Point cadets, a magnificent group of forty-four Jewish young men, who by their impeccable manners, their impressive appearance, and their fine voices, endeared themselves to the entire congregation and contributed to make this special Sabbath service an unusual spiritual experience.

Secondly, to the overwhelming and most responsive audience whose presence in large numbers always assists in making a Sabbath service worship more enjoyable and meaningful.

Then to those who helped; Judge Maxwell Shapiro, who conceived the idea of inviting the West Pointers, planned for their overnight accommodations, and arranged for a police escort so that they were able to maintain their rigid time schedule.

Julian Jacobs, to whom was assigned the task of organizing the reception dinner for the cadets, an event that reflected his constant attention to every detail.

Chazzan David Putterman, who was able to coordinate the musical portion of the service in the one hour which was allotted for rehearsing with the cadets.

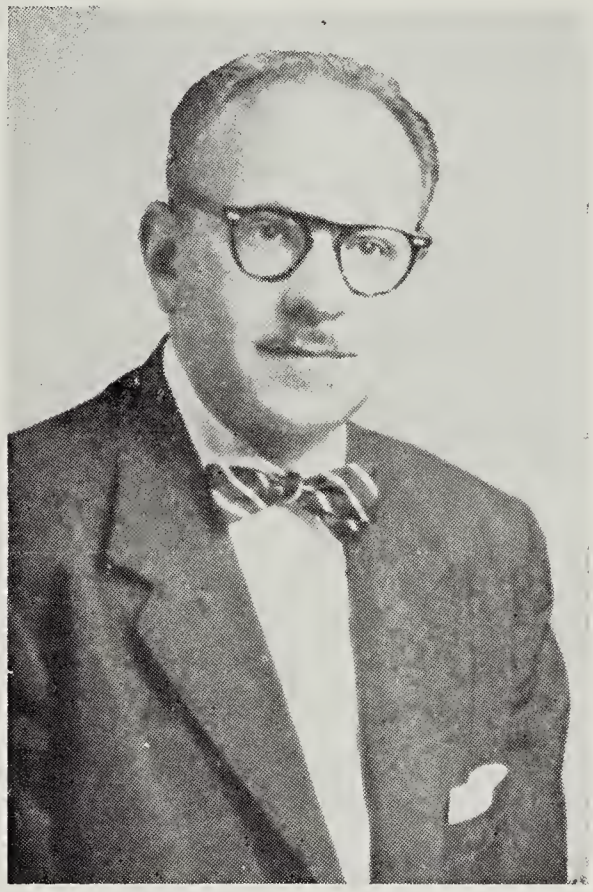

General Krulewitch who, in a brief address filled with subtle humor and meaningful content, captured the festive and spiritual atmosphere of the service.

Nelson Ruttenberg, whose guidance immeasurably assisted in the publicity for the BULLETIN; and Martin Miller who helped to formulate the provocative letter which was sent to our congregation.

Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director, across whose desk passed a myriad of details and who disposed of them with efficiency and dispatch.

And finally, to the members of the Board of Directors of the Men's Club, some of whom with their wives, acted as hosts during the dinner; and to the others who acted as ushers during the service; to all of them my gratitude and thanks for their help in this labor of love.

Youth Activities

By HY SANKEL

The phenominal growth of our Youth Activities Division has necessitated the closing of registration in the Cubs. Brownies and Teen Age Groups. Our present staff is no longer equipped to absorb new members. The teen age group has a constantly growing waiting list. However, children of synagogue members receive preferential treatment and may be admitted by application to the Youth Activities Director. Encourage your children to participate in the varied cultural. social and religious activities of this club.

Girl Scouts have been very busy during the past weeks making gifts for the under-privileged children of our neighborhood at the Union Settlement. They have also mastered new skills in cooking. At a recent election Joan Levy and Phyllis Pollner were elected Patrol Leaders. The Girl Scouts are led by Mrs. Stanley Simon. Mrs. William Miller is co-leader.

T. R. Racoosin Named Emergency Chairman

Theodore R. Racoosin, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, and a brother of the late Amy Putterman, was named national chairman of the newly formed National Zionist Committee for the United Jewish Appeal's emergency campaign.

The committee's task is to mobilize Zionists in communities throughout the country for the raising of funds to be used for rehabilitation and resettlement programs in Israel. Mr. Racoosin recently returned from Israel and North Africa.

Ruttenberg Honored by Jewish National Fund

In connection with dedicating its new building, the Jewish National Fund honored their past National Presidents by presenting each of them with a golden key to their new building as an expression of affection and gratitude for the service they had rendered in the past.

Amongst those so honored was Nelson Ruttenberg, Treasurer of the Park Avenue Synagogue who had been National President of the Jewish National Fund from 1931 to 1933.

During the Chanukah festival, the Class Mothers planned several Sunday morning parties at which the traditional latkes and apple sauce were served to the children. On Saturday evening, December 10, a supper party and square dance was held in the Lemberg Auditorium for the young people of the Hebrew School.

A splendid workshop containing an exhibit of various objects pertaining to Chanukah was conducted by Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. Adolph Stangel. Instructions for making these as well as pamphlets on the home observance of this festival were available to parents and youngsters.

The annual Congregational Chanukah party held on Sunday evening, December 11, and sponsored by the Parents Association, attracted a large number of members of the congregation and their friends.

Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman participated in the kindling of the Chanukah lights. After a greeting of welcome by Mrs. Herman Helpern, president of the Parents Association, Mr. Ezra Cohen, chairman of the Board of Trustees, spoke briefly.

Prof. Irwin Corey, a well known pantominist and humorist, and Miss Florence Holland, a lyric soprano, entertained the guests.

Mrs. Hector Ritey was chairman of the affair, and Mrs. Bruno Foa and Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum were in charge of the refreshments. As usual, the charming transformation of the auditorium and the novel table appointments were the artistic work of Mrs. Adolph Stangel, chairman of decorations.

Ceremonial objects for festivals and all occasions are on sale by the gift chairman of Sisterhood, Mrs. Milton Heller. For information, please ask at the Synagogue office.

Sisterhood Sabbath Friday, February 3

The Sisterhood of Park Avenue Synagogue will have Friday night, February 3 set aside as their special Sabbath.

Mrs. L. W. Max, known to many of our members as Pearl Bernstein, will address the Congregants at the Services.

Young Marrieds Las Vegas Night

By Mrs. Maxine Mamelok

In 19 days, 456 hours, 27,360 minutes from the writing of this article the fruits of our labors will be realized. For, on January 14, 1956 the fabulous Las Vegas affair will occur. All the efforts of the Young Marrieds, will be turned towards making this evening of fun one of the most enjoyable events of the Synagogue's social calendar. In addition to the fact, that the funds will be contributed to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

We're expecting! Yes, we're expecting a pleasant surprise when Robert Greenstein and Dave Namias discuss their respective vocations. For you the harassed, tired and discouraged house hunters and builders, Bob Greenstein will attempt to eradicate your architectural headaches. For the financial wizards of our group, Dave Namias will discuss various phases of exporting and importing.

This informative evening will take place on Tuesday, January 10 at 8:30 P.M. As many of the old members may recall, last year's similar program proved to be an enormous success.

Leo Schwarz to Speak Friday Evening, January 13

Mr. Leo Schwarz, well-known writer and Jewish historian, will be the guest speaker at the Friday evening Service on January 13, sponsored by the Committee on Adult Education.

Talking on the theme "Ideas In Search of a Home," Mr. Schwarz contends that the preoccupation of American Jews with institutional ritual on the one hand, and the latest intellectual fashions (like psychiatry, existentialism, etc.), is an almost certain road to anonymity. It has resulted in the masculation of Judaism and the (often unconscious) dejudization of Jewish thoughtways and lifeways. He will discuss such problems as: What of dual allegiance? Do American Jews live in Exile (Golus)? Are Jewish "segregation" and the program of Day Schools obseruantist? Is a creative Judaism in mid-twentieth century America an illusion?

LEO SCHWARZ

Following the Services, a discussion of these controversial issues to be held in the Auditorium will undoubtedly contribute to a most stimulating evening.

Mr. Schwarz was born in New York City and educated at Harvard. He has devoted himself to the elucidation and interpretation of the Jewish literary and historical heritage. His series of anthologies, like The Jewish Caravan and A Golden Treasury of Jewish Literature have been best sellers and have become standard in their field. He has traveled and lectured widely in the United States, Europe and Israel.

From the Desk of the Bulletin Chairman

"Judaism and Psychiatry" is the title of a book recently published by the National Academy for Adult Jewish Studies. Its editor, Rabbi Simon Noveck, has described it as the first real attempt "to explore what Jewish tradition in particular has to teach about modern man's emotional problems."

This new book, the first to relate ancient Jewish teaching to modern psychological techniques, is based on a series of lectures planned by Rabbi Noveck and held at the Park Avenue Synagogue under the sponsorship of the Adult Education Committee. The lectures were given as part of the Friday Evening Lecture Series at which several outstanding psychiatrists and leading rabbis discussed, each from his own viewpoint, the basic problems of modern man.

In view of the large number attending these lectures dealing with religion and human needs, Rabbi Noveck decided that there was a real need for such a publication. "Judaism and Psychiatry" is the result of revising and editing these lectures and the supplemental material supplied by Rabbi Noveck. It is divided into three parts: "Basic Problems in Personal Living", "Psychological Values of Judaism", and "Can Judaism and Psychiatry Meet?" In addition to editing this book, Rabbi Noveck has contributed a chapter on "A Jewish View of Grief."

The National Academy for Adult Jewish Studies, the publisher, is the educational department of the United Synagogue of America. Rabbi Noveck, who recently received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Columbia University, is director of the academy.

Final Sabbath Service Of Calendar Year 1955

On Saturday, December 31, the day 1955 breathed its last, the Park Avenue Synagogue was in a blaze of glory. On that day, several of our congregants attended with their families to celebrate an important event in their respective lives.

First there was Joseph Howard Katz, a member of the Board and a "Cohen", who had the first Aliyah in honor of his 22nd wedding anniversary. Marian, his charming wife, was also present to receive blessings.

Three generations of Altmarks were represented at the Synagogue, when Edward Munves, Jr. was called to the Torah for an Aliyah in honor of the birth of his newly born daughter, who was named in traditional fashion. In the absence of Rabbi Noveck, who was visiting his parents in Detroit, Hazzan Putterman recited the blessings in Hebrew and English, and gave to the new father, the certificate officially inscribing his daughter as a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Besides the child's father, the child's grandmother, Frankie Munves, and the child's great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Altmark were also present to celebrate the happy occasion.

Mr. Sam Allan, another member of our Synagogue, was called to the Torah for an Aliyah in honor of the 29th wedding anniversary of Mr. Allan and his wife.

The final Aliyah went to Zev Putterman, son of Cantor Putterman, who was present with his fiance, Constance Knebel, whose marriage was to take place the following day. As the final words of the book of Genesis were read, "Chazak, Chazak, Ve Nis Chazak"—"Be strong, be strong, let us all be strong together," all of the worshippers stood and recited the blessings for the entire congregation. The beautiful "bridal bible" was presented to his intended daughter-in-law by Cantor Putterman, who invoked the three-fold blessing upon the couple.

Mr. Isidor Hahn was granted the honor of reciting the Maftir in celebration of the fifth wedding anniversary of his son, Rabbi Sanford Hahn, a former student at our Religious School, and his wife Carol. It was a real treat to hear Mr. Hahn chant the blessings and Maftir in the traditional fashion.

Other Aliyahs were given to Mr. I. B. Oseas, a member of the Board, and one of the regular attendants at our Sabbath Services; to Harry Altmark, who became a great-grandfather, and who serves as one of the regular Gabbais at the Sabbath Services.

And so ended a beautiful, dignified, and meaningful service, as the calendar year 1955 was heading for a final salute.

I have written this brief resume of our Sabbath Service, as a new feature, at the request of the Bulletin Chairman, who feels that many of our congregants, who may be unable to attend Sabbath Services regularly, would be interested in knowing what took place in their Synagogue during their absence.

On January 23 he will discuss SOCIAL CONDUCT AND RITUAL—Their relative importance in the Religious life.

—Cantor David J. Putterman

This course in the singing of traditional Synagogue melodies will culminate in the presentation of a complete Sabbath Evening Service. It is available to all regardless of previous lack of singing experience.

He will discuss the philosophy of Hassidism as it is being taught at the present time, and will describe the original contributions of the Baal Shem Tov, the founder of Hassidism. He will then trace the history and background of the Movement during the past 200 years in Europe and indicate the changes that have taken placec in America. The Rabbi will also discuss the influence of this ideology on American Jews in recent years. RECENT TRENDS IN ORTHODOX JUDAISM will be the subject discussed on January 23.

Youth Sabbath Service

By Hy Sankel

The first Friday Night Service held on December 16, 1955, under the auspices of the Youth Activities Committee gave indications of the tremendous possibilities for building closer ties between the youth of our community and the Synagogue. It has been many a year since our Synagogue has seen a Friday Night Service attended by so many teen-age youth—more than a hunderd were present.

Not only did they conduct and participate in the service, but at an Oneg Shabbat held in the Auditorium, they organized a panel discussion which enabled many of the young folk to express their reactions and opinions of the sermon which was entitled, "Judaism and Democracy."

It was a thrilling experience for the Congregants present to see these adolescent boys and girls who are usually such a treat and a tribulation to their elders during this difficult period of development, reaffirm their loyalty and devotion to Judaism in so meaningful a manner.

Alan Mehlman, who acted as Cantor, performed superbly. He more than jusified the expert and careful training he had received from Hazzan Putterman. The sermon delivered by John Kogan and Michael Friedman was a penetrating analysis of the relationship between Judaism as taught in the Bible and practiced by Jews with the concept of Democracy.

Ted Pincus chanted the Kiddush. Responsive Readings were led by Cecily Falkenstein, Stephen Stowe, John Stangel, Phyllis Brody, Joan Rubinstein and Ted Zucker.

The panel was ably led by Doris Wimpfheimer. The members were: Martin Coopersmith, Leonard Stern and Cecily Falkenstein. Lorrainne Buchbinder acted as hostess. Mrs. Nancy Rubinstein was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Library Committee Solicits Contributions

By Mrs. Vicky Wimpfheimer

The Library Commi tee is now formulating policy for the library, purchasing books, and collecting books. It is our desire to have a library collection which will be worthy of the Milton Steinberg tradition. We hope to have the cooperation of all the members of the Congregation in this project. We would suggest if any books are available that could be used by adults and children, that they be sent to the Synagogue. In addition, contributions to buy books would be most appreciated.

College Party

The Youth Activities Committee this year extended its scope to include college age youth of Synagogue members. The first party was held on Thursday evening, Decembed 22 and turned out to be a huge succecss. Not only did it provide an evening of entertainment but it provided the means for the young people to meet each other under Synagogue auspices, renew friendships and make new acquaintances.

Credits for the success of this pioneer event go to the two indefatigable workers who spent many hours preparing for this party. They were Mrs. Mina Schoenbaum, chairman, and Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, her co-chairman. Mrs. Foa assisted in the preparations. Their efforts were rewarded by the wonderful evening accorded to these young folk.

The evening proved such a great success that at 11:00 P.M. it required coercion to send the young people home. They are all looking forward to the next college event.

Professor Salomon Course To Start February 27

In order to avoid a conflict in attendance with the adult education classes to be given at 8 P.M., Professor Albert Salomon will hold his course on PRAYER —ITS MEANING IN THE JEWISH LITURGY at the completion of these courses. His class will begin on Monday evening, February 27 and will continue on successive Mondays through April 30. Those wishing to register for this course may do so by writing to the Committee on Adult Education at the Synagogue.

He holds special interest for Sisterhood, since he is the father of our own Phyllis Siegel.

An innovation at this meeting will be the serving of luncheon at noon. Be sure to come on time so that our meeting will start promptly.

On exhibit at the meeting will be the beautiful tablecloth embroidered for the Milton Steinberg House by Mrs. Anna Edelman. Chairman of the project, Mrs. Milton Heller, says it is a work of art that represents a labor of love. Come and find your name from among the 1500 embroidered on the cloth.

Sisterhood Presents Flags to Girl Scouts

Mrs. William Karmiol, the president of Sisterhood formally presented troop flags to the Brownies and Girl Scouts in an impressive ceremony during the Friday Night Youth Service on December 16. In her address to the congregation, Mrs. Karmiol told of her pride in the Synagogue for its comprehensive scout program. She felt that the flags were not being presented only to Scouts, but also to future Sisterhood members. Mrs. Stanley Simon, Scout leader, graciously accepted the flags on behalf of the troops.

At a meeting of the Board of the Board of Trustees held January 8, the Nominating Committee, consisting of Nelson Ruttenberg, chairman, Harry Halbren, Dr. Harold Osserman, Harry J. Sokolow, and Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, submitted a proposed slate of officers and trustees to be elected at the annual congregational meeting which has been set for January 29.

The Nominating Committee, in presenting its report, expressed the earnest hope that the slate of officers to be approved by the Board would achieve peace and harmony within the Synagogue ranks.

Jewish Music Month to be Celebrated at Friday Evening Service, January 27

On Friday evening, January 27 at 8:30 P.M. the Park Avenue Synagogue will celebrate Jewish Music Month with a special program in honor of the 75th birthday of the greatest living composer of Jewish music, Ernest Bloch. Bloch's absorption with the Hebrew spirit influenced his music from the first. True, his early works did not possess Hebrew messages. But the discerning ear can recognize in much of his music many Hebraic qualities; and elegiac semitic sadness; a Hassidic mysticism and passion and strength.

MME. SUZANNE BLOCH

Bloch himself said "I am a Jew, I aspire to write Jewish music not for the sake of self advertisement but because it is the only way in which I can produce music of ability and significance—it is the Jewish soul that interests me, the complex glowing, agitated so that I feel vibrating throughout the Bible — the freshness and naivete of the Patriarchs, the violence of the prophetic Books, the Jews savage love of justice; the despair of the Ecclesiastes; the sorrow and the immensity of the Book of Job; the sensuality of the Song of Songs. All this is in us, all that is in him. It is all this that I endeavor to hear in myself, and to transcribe in my music; the sacred emotion of the race that slumbers far down in our soul."

We shall be privileged to have as our guest speaker his gifted and famous daughter, Suzanne Bloch, who will speak on "My Father—Ernest Bloch." Miss Bloch has earned an enviable reputation by her delightful concerts of early music played on the lute. Her singing interpretations of this music to her own lute accompaniment have won for her musical acclaim. As a composer at the age of nineteen she won first prize in a Paris contest for women composers; in recent years she has had orchestral performances in New York by Leonard Bernstein and Leon Barbin. Her own recitals include some charming lute songs of her own, set to verses from "Alice in Wonderland."

From the Desk of the Executive Director

In an effort to reduce the number of BULLETINS needlessly published and mailed to non-Synagogue members who over the years have requested our publication, we informed all those on our miscellaneous mailing list that unless they affirmatively notify us that they want to continue receiving our BULLETIN, we would take their names off our mailing list.

Much to our very pleasant surprise, at this writing, 150 persons took the trouble to respond and say they want to continue receiving our publication. A few even added a name or two of some one else who they were sure would like the BULLETIN as much as they had. Some persons even took the trouble to add gratuitous praise such as "Also be sure to include my son on East 63rd Street" . . . "Enjoy reading your progressive and informative Bulletin" . . . "Found your Bulletin most interesting" . . . "Enjoy news of your Synagogue" . . . "Bulletin is wonderful" . . .

Perhaps the choice comment came from a lady down-town who said "please continue indefinitely". This is as good as the man from up-town who inclosed a check to take care of "mailing costs".

February 20—"Beliefs and Practices of Conservative Judaism" —Rabbi Albert I. Gordon. Temple Emanuel, Newton Center, Mass.

The Committee on Adult Education urges that, as in the past years, as many members of the Congregation and their friends as possible, attend this stimulating lecture series that are held in memory of Rabbi Steinberg.

Jewish Music Month

Service of New Liturgical Music by Contemporary Composers dedicated to "The Faith of Israel and Zion's Dream", Suzanne Bloch set to music the poem "Blessed is the Match", by a great martyr of our time, Hana Senesch, which received its world premiere performance. The musical program on Friday Evening, January 27 will consist of excerpts from Ernest Bloch's "Sacred Service" rendered by Hazzan David J. Putterman and choir.

Impressions of A Gala Social Event

If you had been taken blind-folded from your home on Saturday evening, January 14 and your escort removed the blindfolds at the Young Marrieds party that evening, you might have gotten the impression that in some magical manner you had been transported not to the Lemberg Auditorium where you actually were but rather to a "romantic" ballroom in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Somebody in that young enterprising group known as the Young Marrieds of the Park Avenue Synagogue had imagination and what's more was given the opportunity to express it. There were multi-colored murals attractively gotten up hanging all over the walls. Men in shirt sleeves who, on ordinary work days are, look like and act like attorneys and business men, but who played the role of simulated croupiers even to the point of their green visors. It shielded their eyes from the blare of light but still enabled the "customers" to see a good imitation of a bland expression.

It was a right peculiar "gambling affair." There were all sorts of funny money and real looking prizes all of which were donated.

Wonderful-est thing was that every one seemed to be having a gay time—even Synagogue dignitaries, who that evening were reduced to humble and obedient servers. Music seemed to be coming from no one knew exactly where, and made just enough noise to help the atmosphere tremendously. Even the "auctioneer" sounded real.

Of course, even a not so Young Married had he wandered into the party the other night would have known—provided he were perspicacious enough, that is—that the group sponsoring this good time could only have been the Young Marrieds. The easiest way to figure that out was the high percentage of young ladies clothed in feminine habit which comes from a special department at Lane Bryant's.

The weary and the hungry, and that meant about everybody, when midnight came along were treated to a pleasant midnight supper.

Dudley Greenstein who Presidents the Young Marrieds this year, tells us that the work of a lot of people in his group made this affair possible. There was Mrs. Fred Krones, who was Chairman of the evening; our former BULLETIN Editor, Mrs. Marvin Robinson, whom we on the BULLETIN miss very much, and her Westchester friends, Bill Riemer and Mrs. Nat Schfrin, who produced the murals; Sam Fredman who "trained" the croupiers; Asa Sokolow and Sidney Silberman who gallantly dispensed soda water and ginger ale; Don Schlesinger, Co-Chairman of the party and midnight supper arranger; Mrs. Stanley Greenwald and Mrs. Don Schlesinger who knew how to wrap and in fact did wrap about 90 prizes so attractively that it took no soul searching on the part of anyone to surrender "$5,000" for a nicely wrapped silk handkerchief; and Fred Krones, Treasurer who greeted all arrivals and who ultimately we anticipate will greet the Synagogue Treasurer and transmit a splendid contribution from this group to the Milton Steinberg Fund.

From all of which, it is evident that all who attended had an unusual and unexpected happy social event. Our thanks to the Young Marrieds.

Sisterhood Sabbath Service

Mrs. Max has written a number of newspaper feature articles on aspects of New York City government and has been a contributing author to professional publications in her field.

As in the past, members of the Sisterhood will participate in the service, which will be contduced by Rabbi Simon Noveck, Cantor David Putterman and the choir, and will include Mrs. William Karmiol, Mrs. Joseph Howard Katz, Mrs. Irwin Rome, Mrs. Ezra Cohen, Mrs. Sanford Cohen, Mrs. Solomon E. Green and Mrs. David Altschul.

During the sixty years of service which Sisterhood has rendered to the Park Avenue Synagogue, they have every reason to be proud of their many achievements, including a contribution of $50,000 to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, and in whose honor the Lounge in the Milton Steinberg House is known as Sisterhood Lounge.

Mrs. William Karmiol, President of Sisterhood, urges that all of the members attend these services and meet Prof. and Mrs. Max at the Oneg Shabbat which will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium following the services.

Trustees for 3 year term

Nathan Appleman, George Armour, Ezra Cohen, Hon. Sanford H. Cohen, Harry Halbren, Jules Haft, Joseph Klein, Joseph I. Lubin, I. B. Oseas, Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, Mrs. William Karmiol, Sisterhood President.

In the course of the general discussion, many members of the Board and of the Advisory Council participated. It was the expressed desire of all that the proposed slate would bring about the result hoped for by the Nominating Committee.

In submitting its report, the Nominating Committee called attention to the provision of Article III Section 5 of the By-Laws, which provides for the creation of Honorary Trustees to be elected of those who have rendered "conspicuous service to the synagogue."

Several members of the Board, who have given many years of devoted service to the Synagogue, have expressed the desire to be relieved of their active duties as regular Board members, and the creation of Honorary Trustees would provide the Synagogue with the opportunity to appropriately honor these members of the Board.

The vacancies in the Board of Trustees thus arising would make possible replacements from among those who, too. have rendered service in the past and who have earned the right to be so honored. The Board intends to implement this recommendation of the Nominating Committee as soon as plans can be made after the annual meeting.

Judge Hubert T. Delany, Guest Speaker, at Parents Association Sabbath, February 17

By Rhea M. Ruttenberg

Judge Hubert T. Delany, former Justice of the Domestic Relations Court of the City of New York, will be the guest speaker at the Friday Evening Service to be sponsored by the Parents Association on February 17, at the Park Avenue Synagogue. The subject of his address will be: "What is Happening to our Children?"

"Guest Speaker"

JUDGE HUBERT T. DELANY

In 1923, Judge Delany, the son of the late Bishop Henry Beard Delany, of Raleigh, North Carolina, was graduated from City College, and three years later from New York University Law School. Soon after his graduation from Law School, Hon. Charles H. Tuttle, who was then United States District Attorney for the Southern District of New York, appointed him an Assistant District Attorney. Later, during Mayor LaGuardia's term, he was appointed Tax Commissioner of the Borough of Manhattan. He served in that position until 1942, when Mayor LaGuardia named him a Justice of the Domestic Relations Court, where Judge Delany served until 1955.

During his service on the bench, Judge Delany was known as a humane judge who sought to understand the problems of those who were brought before him.

"Outstandingly qualified" was the special reference made to Judge Delany by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and by the lawyers who appeared before him in his court.

An uncompromising leader in civic and community affairs, Judge Delany is an active worker in educational organizations, fund raising projects for hospitals and schools, as well as in various branches of youth work.

In addition to the regular Sabbath service to be conducted by Rabbi Noveck and Cantor Putterman, several members of the Parents Association will participate in the reading of the prayers. At the conclusion of the Service, there will be a symposium and an Oneg Shabbat in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Dr. Joseph N. Nathanson to be Speaker At Friday Evening Service, February 10

A rare treat is in store for the Congregation on Friday evening, February 10, when Dr. Joseph N. Nathanson will be the guest speaker at Services. His subject will be "Abraham Lincoln's Contacts with the Jews." Dr. Nathanson, whose hobby is collecting "Lincolniana," and who has written and lectured on this fascinating subject, has kindly consented to share his broad knowledge of the life and times of Abraham Lincoln with us.

Dr. Nathanson is a practicing surgeon in New York City and an Associate Professor of Clinical Obstetrics and Gynecology at Cornell University Medical College where he has taught for the past 30 years. He started collecting "Lincolniana" about twenty years ago, and his printed material at present consists of over 2,000 books and pamphlets in twenty-one foreign languages, including such rarities as Lincoln biographies in Hebrew, Icelandic, Turkish, Sioux Indian, Hawaiian, Chinese, Japanese, Iranian and Russian. Among his art treasures are hundreds of engravings, etchings, paintings and caricatures, including two of twenty-two known paintings of Lincoln on the back of glass, an art first developed by the Chinese hundreds of years ago, as well as several fine paintings of Lincoln by Mrs. Nathanson. His vast collection also consists of about one hundred sermons and funeral orations delivered at the time of Lincoln's death, numerous letters, pardons and Army and Navy commissions in Lincoln's handwriting, a presentation copy of the Lincoln-Douglas debates and several personal relics of Lincoln's.

Dr. Nathanson has spoken on Lincoln before Hadassah groups and medical societies. He delivered an oration on "Lincoln's Contacts With the Doctors" by invitation of the Obstetrical Societies of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, in 1953, and last year was guest speaker at Sabbath Services at Temple Rodeph Sholom on Lincoln's Birthday.

Dr. Nathanson's talk on "Abraham Lincoln's Contacts With the Jews" is being given at the invitation of Mr. Benjamin Sack and the Committee on Adult Education. After the Services, a short, informal question and answer period will be held in the auditorium, to be followed by an Oneg Shabbat.

We urge our members and their friends to attend what promises to be a most interesting and enjoyable evening.

Congregational Purim Party Saturday, Feb. 25

Members of the Park Avenue Synagogue are urged to set aside Saturday evening, February 25 for a real gala Purim Masquerade Party which will take place in the Lemberg Auditorium.

In behalf of the Synagogue, the program this year is being sponsored by the Sisterhood. More complete details will appear in the next issue of the BULLETIN as well as an invitation which our members will receive in the mail.

Young Marrieds News

Now the secret is out. The person who conceived the idea of "Las Vegas" night for the Young Marrieds, which was held at the Park Avenue Synagogue on Saturday evening, January 14, was Mrs. Morty Matz, vice-president, of that group.

Our congratulations to Mrs. Matz for her courage and imagination in giving us one of the outstanding social events of the Synagogue.

Schildkraut and Huber To Speak at Women's UJA Rally

The 18th annual campaign of the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal will be launched at an opening rally to be held on Tuesday morning. February 14 at 10:30 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Astor Hotel, Broadway and 44 Street.

The rally, which usually attracts more than 2,000 women, will inaugurate the most crucial campaign in United Jewish Appeal history. The drive begins at a time when international pressures threaten the very survival of the people of Israel. Guest speakers at the rally will include Semah Cecil Hyman, Israel's Consul General in this city; Edward M. Warburg, President of the United Jewish Appeal; and Joseph Schildkraut and Gusti Huber, stars of the "Diary of Anne Frank."

There will be no fund-raising at the opening rally. Tickets for this impressive gathering may be obtained through Mrs. Benjamin Sack—SA 2-8795 who has been appointed UJA Chairman of our Sisterhood and Mrs. Abel Phillips—RE 7-6870, Co-Chairman, by enrolling with them as a volunteer worker.

ANNUAL REPORT SUBMITTED BY EZRA COHEN, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The business of running this Synagogue is in the hands of a Board of Trustees. Responsible to the Board of Trustees are sixteen permanent and special committees who carry on and supervise most of the functional activity. There are 106 individual members who serve on one or more of these committees and each one is supposed to contribute some capability and talent so that his or her committee will operate to its full advantage and purpose. Besides the committees there are five affiliate organizations: The Sisterhood, The Men's Club, The Parents Association, The Young Marrieds, The Senior League.

It is the committees and the affiliate organizations who divide up all the work that is to be done. They report, at regular intervals, their progress to the Board of Trustees and at the end of the year they turn in a final report to the Congregation. Because there never is time and never will be time at an annual meeting to listen to each detailed report of all the broad activities, it is necessary for your Chairman to summarize and give you, so to speak, a capsule portrayal of what is going on. It must be understood that the enforced brevity in no manner implies any lack of importance to any phase of any of the activities. An effort is made to give an over-all picture and anyone interested in more detailed amplification will have access to the full reports.

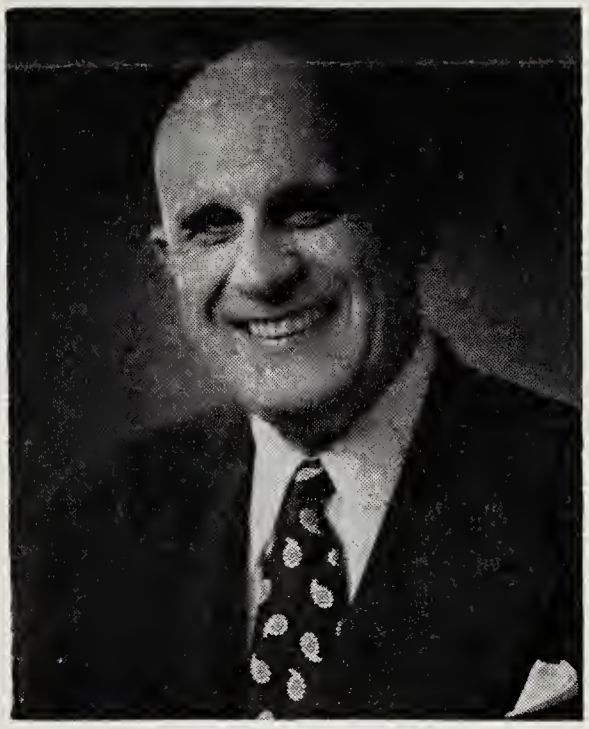

Building Committee

The Building Committee continues to operate in its outstandingly energetic fashion under the outstandingly energetic Chairmanship of Saul Godwin. Its work in the erection of the Milton Steinberg House was reported in detail a year ago.

During the calendar year just ended, we have witnessed the finishing touches put to any number of the numerous offices, classrooms, library, lobbies, directories and roof lighting. But most important of all is the Nathan Appleman Chapel. This is one of the most beautifully designed Chapels anywhere and our Synagogue can be justly proud of it. But there is a good deal of unfinished business, most of which we hope will be undertaken and finished before the next annual meeting. They are the

a) Ballroom furnishings and decorations
b) Tablets and Memorials in the Milton Steinberg House
c) Exhibit Halls on the second floor
d) Cleaning the inside walls of the Synagogue
e) Modernizing the ventilation under the balcony
f) Completing the I. M. Cohen Library
g) Improving the lighting in the main auditorium

Re-elected Chairman

EZRA COHEN

Adult Education

The Adult Education Committee, also under the Chairmanship of the indefatigable Saul Godwin, plays a major role in the program our Synagogue offers. With the influence Rabbi Noveck holds in this field, the Synagogue still maintains a position of leadership despite the ever prosent problem of what type of subjects to introduce in order to keep up the interest and attract members to its courses. The program for the Monday evening classes and the Friday evening guest speaker series has included a wide variety of interesting subjects. For the first semester there were lectures and courses on:

1) Jewish Family Life
2) The Book of Job
3) Elementary Hebrew
4) Intermediate Hebrew
5) Faiths Jews Live By
6) Yiddish Literature and Culture

For the second semester there is now a continuation of most of these and in addition:

a) The Book of Isaiah
b) Choral Music under the leadership of Cantor Putterman
c) Prof. Salomon's series on Prayer and its meaning in Jewish Liturgy.

School Board

The Religious School is functioning on an increasing scale. With the completion of the first full year in the Milton Steinberg House, the new modern facilities have made possible a terrific step forward. The impact of this improvement is now showing itself and will continue to be apparent as time goes on. We have here a real center of educational, cultural and social activity on an efficiency level which has never been known before in our immediate community. A detailed report of all the schools activities, a most interesting and valuable account is on file and available to those who may wish to read it.

We are most fortunate in having as the School Principal, Mr. Martin Leichtling, who has so ably discharged the task of organizing and directing the work of the school. The enriching of its curriculum which has resulted will have a lasting influence on the hundreds of children who benefit annually from the superior instruction provided.

The School Board itself is to be complimented on the manner in which it was responsible for the transition from the old to the new aura of development. To its Chairman, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, is extended the appreciation of the Synagogue membership for the erudition and statesmanship which characterized her leadership.

Membership Committee

This Committee has functioned in a very astute and constructive manner under the very capable chairmanship of Mr. Harry J. Sokolow. The membership of the Synagogue, as of now, consists of 751 families. There were 45 resignations last year and 61 new members were elected.

The screening of new members so as to suggest a basis for their dues in keeping with our "Voluntary Dues System" was a task that was systematically and meticulously carried out. Personal interviews in which all members of the Committee participated were had with all applicants. The net result was the acquisition of very fine additional members and a $10,000 increase in income for the Synagogue.

ANNUAL REPORT BY EZRA COHEN, CHAIRMAN

There was one other outstanding development in the work of the Membership Committee. It was felt that an investigation should be made of the dues structure as presently existing. It has been evident for some time that there were many, many, inequities in dues paying and a detailed survey was quite in order if not overdue. For this examination, Mr. Asa Sokolow, a member of the Committee, was asked to volunteer.

Mr. Sokolow worked for several months, giving a great deal of his time, energy and resourcefulness to this arduous task. His final report is a masterpiece of concise and valuable information. There are definite suggestions made to correct the many inconsistencies in the dues picture.

The Membership Committee is scheduled to begin implementing immediately on the basis of this report and many of you will be consulted and interviewed in the near future. Especial thanks is due Asa Sokolow for such a valuable and difficult job, so well done.

The Finance Committee

All through recent years this Synagogue has been fortunate to have watching over its fiscal destiny one of the finest, most capable, public-spirited personalities that there is in the City of New York. At times, through the years we have had some pretty rough going and it is a well-known fact that it was Ben Sack, whose skill and know-how was a tremendously important factor in putting our house in order and keeping it in that enviable condition.

Ben Sack's interest in communal affairs goes far beyond the ordinary call of duty and it is amazing to note how he manages to crowd everything into his very busy day. I know of no case, where he has ever turned down an assignment.

The Finance Committee is a live functioning entity. Not only does it keep us in good condition but it is constantly on the watch over every step of the institution's fiscal welfare. Despite all recent activity and the many expenditures that were and will be made, our situation is a sound one and will remain so in the future.

Law Committee

The Law Committee ordinarily acts in an advisory capacity and has little occasion for any strenuous activity. However, during the past year there has been a complete reversal of that normal situation. Not only has the Committee been called upon for an unusual number of detailed opinions but the actual amount of difficult legal work that has accrued because of unusual cicrcumstances is unprecedented in the annals of this institution.

The members of the Law Committee have given of their time for which the Synagogue is most grateful and its youthful Chairman, Mr. Sidney Silberman, is to be especially complimented and thanked for the amount of personal effort in working out the many problems which presented themselves and the expert manner in which all of the results were achieved. With his fine counsel there was avoided, in all probability, many embarrassing situations.

Organizations — Outside Requests for Space

This was the single man Committee which functioned mainly in the matter of recommending a policy to the Board of Trustees to act as a guide to the Executive Director. The demand for the use of our facilities by so many worthy outside institutions and organizations is far beyond our ability and capacity, taking into consideration, of course, our own requirements which necessarily utilize the major portion of the time and space.

Mr. Sidney Silberman has worked out a formula, after much investigation and study, which has enabled us to adopt a basic policy, at least for the time being.

Bulletin Committee

The Bulletins during the past year have taken on a verve that is very refreshing. Not only do we get the news but it is presented in a concise and delightfully interesting manner. Not only is Nelson Ruttenberg the Chairman of the Bulletin Committee but he doubles as its Editor. (I think without portfolio). The combination seems to be wonderful. The Bulletin is printed on a regular time schedule basis and we look forward to each issue as it comes out.

Catering Committee

One has a tendency to run out of adjectives but despite the very limited use of our new facilities, this Committee does function under some definite handicaps in a most admirable way.

The main problems are:

1) The incomplete decorative furnishings of the Lemberg Auditorium which we hope will be our next project to resolve.
2) The policy still to be worked out regarding the type of celebration program permitted on Sabbath afternoons.

It is hoped that the coming few months will clarify these main difficulties and that this Committee will find a lucrative source of Synagogue income from the facilities we have installed. To its Chairman, Nelson Ruttenberg and the members of the Catering Committee, our best wishes in the project which is really just beginning.

Ritual Committee

The Ritual Committee has had to deal with a number of knotty problems, some of which come up because of immediate circumstances and others which have to do with permanent policy recommendations. Likewise, at times, the Chairman has to make some quick decisions when only a few members of his Committee are available for consultation.

Mr. Sol Green, because of his background and his knowledge of tradition and culture, has headed up, with fine distinction, the work of the Ritual Committee and its members are to be complimented for the manner in which provision was made and coordination effected for the many varied services throughout the year.

Youth Activities Committee

Here is a comparatively new activity, the functioning of which is just a little over a year. Its purpose is to provide a Jewish program to take care of the formative and impressionable period of our Jewish youth, with organized, integrated, purposeful activity. It is amazing what the scope of this program really is. To even comment sketchily, would take more time than is at our disposal. A full detailed report is available for those who are intcrested. To integrate the Youth Activity program the Committee engaged the services of Mr. Hy Sankel, who has skillfully applied himself so that the desirability of this phase of Synagogue endeavor has become readily apparent.

To Mrs. Herman Helpern, the Chairman, for her enthusiasm and devotion to the idea and to her excellent committee, we extend the gratitude of the membership.

Library Book Selection Committee

In the matter of books, one thinks of blissful quietude where he is wont to retire to a comfortable corner and drink in the lore and beauties of thought that men, throughout the ages, have placed upon the printed page. It is in just such an atmosphere that we hope to build up the I. M. Cohen Synagogue Library.

On this Committee we have some of the scholars of our membership. Their work has just begun. They have $10,000 to spend, by special grant, and we are certain of a wonderful library resulting from their endeavors. The Committee is headed up by Mr. Asa Sokolow as Chairman who has already demonstrated rare capabilities in the methodical work that this activity requires.

The Ushering Committee

Under the very capable Chairmanship of Dr. Sol Winnick, this Committee has placed the decorum of the Synagogue Services and functions on a very fine level. It is essential that every detail in the greeting and seating of every one who enters our Synagogue House should be carried out with a maximum of smoothness and facility.

First impressions are so important and it is when someone first comes in, that his attitude can be influenced so much by the warmth and cordiality of the greeting he receives. A salute of appreciation goes to the many members who have volunteered as ushers throughout the seasons.

House Committee

The smooth functioning of the physical Synagogue is in the hands of the House Committee which is to be complimented on its excellent performance. The organization of the new set-up to take care of the increased space and activity was provided for satisfactorily without any trace of confusion or uncertainty. Under the capable Chairmanship of Mortimer Millheiser it is a job that was and continues to be well done.

Pulpit Committee

We cannot let this occasion go by without expressing our great appreciation for the work done by the Pulpit Committee. Theirs was one of the most difficult tasks that ever presented itself to our Synagogue. Each one of the members is the busiest of men in his own field of business or profession and likewise each one is a distinguished personality, identified actively with numerout communal and philanthropic causes. Yet each gave of his time and talents, unsparingly, to try to bring peace to Synagogue life and preserve the pleasantness and good feeling which seems to have been threatened in recent months.

This Committee has been functioning for well over a year and at great personal sacrifice it sought to bring order out of what appeared to be a hopeless situation. I wish to record here their names to their great credit and convey to them in the Synagogue's behalf our deepest gratitude for the work so ably performed.

Mr. Milton Weill, Chairman
Judge Bernard Botein
Mr. Samuel Lemberg
Mr. Harold H. Levin
Mr. Benjamin Sack

General

To discourse adequately on the work and activity of our five affiliate organizations would consume all of the time at our disposal this evening. Yet, I also realize that limiting comment is a gross injustice because each one of them is a whole integrated set-up with a full program of activities which reaches into all of social and philanthropic endeavor.

However, an hour is just 60 minutes and time is not only precious but heartlessly uncompromising—so here goes:

Sisterhood

The Sisterhood is the bulwark which stands behind and really is the support of the Synagogue structure. I do not mean this merely in a financial or physical sense. From the Sisterhood stems so large a part of the social activity which is one of the great essentials of Synagogue life. It takes over the Purim celebration and organizes the Congregational Passover Seder. It has numerous receptions and functions which are arranged in connection with various special services, meetings and celebrations. Of tremendous significance is the annual Sisterhood Luncheon which has been such an important social event and has played so great a part in helping to finance the Milton Steinberg Building.

Its philanthropic work takes it into many outside worthy projects and it is ever alert to put its influence and support behind every special occasion that presents itself.

As you all may or may not be aware, the Sisterhood has supplied and is supplying outstanding leadership to all of the major Jewish philanthropic organizations and certainly will continue to do so from time to time.

To the lovely distaff side of all our efforts the warmest of greetings and to Mrs. William Karmiol, its President, a salute.

Men's Club

During the past year the Men's Club continued its policy of presenting monthly meetings featuring social events, lectures and debates, some provocative but all timely. The Men's Club has a complete program of social and philanthropic endeavor and all its meetings are most enthusiastically attended.

Just as the Parents Association Sabbath, when Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was the featured speaker, was the outstanding service more than a year ago, the year just passed witnessed the turn of the Men's Club to supply that event.

On the night of Friday, December 9, the Men's Club sponsored the appearance of the West Point Jewish Chapel Choir which participated in full in the ritual musical service. This was a memorable evening in Synagogue annals, a magnificent and inspiring occasion. Our own Brig. General Melvin L. Krulewitch was the featured speaker and the tie-up of religious and military aspects was a most moving experience.

Felicitations and congratulations are due the Men's Club which we convey through its President, Mr. Milton Sivek.

Parents Association

This is a very active organization. It is dedicated to interpreting the needs of the children of the Religious School and initiating activities which help to fulfill these needs. It serves as a liaison between the School and the home supplementing the instruction with workshops of holiday tradition, helping both parents and children to observe properly the various holidays and prepare the appropriate food, decorations and ceremonies for each occasion.

Their efforts along these lines have resulted in making the holidays more meaningful for the children, the relationship between home and school has been strengthened, and a greater interest has been fostered in Jewish life of the future.

To the President, Mrs. Herman Helpern, and the Parents Association we wish continued success.

Young Marrieds

The Young Marrieds are probably the most changeable of the Synagogue groups. Of course this is most natural. As the family grows usually there can be no early settling down in one place. Larger living quarters are a necessity and very often require transfer to other areas. It is in this group that we get the largest portion of membership turnover.

Annual Report

But despite the changing character of their membership they maintain a full cultural and social program and they sponsor many fine events during the year.

Recently, their "Las Vegas" night was a wonderful success from every standpoint. Everyone had a grand time and the Steinberg Fund should be enriched to the tune of $904.63. To the President of the Young Marrieds, Mr. Dudley Greenstein, a greeting to your energetic and spirited organization.

Senior League

This branch of Synagogue activity is capable of and is doing very effective work. They have a good schedule of guest speaker programs at their open meetings and they run dances on Sunday afternoons and on weekday evenings,—if and when the Synagogue facilities are available. Some of these have enabled the Senior League to make substantial donations to the Milton Steinberg Fund.

However, the Senior League is really our "problem child". Despite all the increased facilities in our new quarters there are not enough dates and there is not enough space. For their Sunday afternoon dances they run headlong into opposition of the Youth Activities Committee which claims their needs should take priority over those of the League.

The solution of this problem may be difficult. It may require detailed committee investigation and some sort of Solomon like decision. It is hoped, nevertheless, that a method will be found to reconcile the situation.

The President of the Senior League is Mr. Harold Kurte and we hope his group will be enabled to continue their excellent functioning.

Conclusion

And so, in completing this annual report there is one more comment that should not be omitted. With the advent of the new building the activity in most all departments has been greatly accelarated. Besides that there is a greater efficiency, a certain smoothness that has developed in most every application. This may never have been possible were it not for the coming of Sidney R. Katz as Executive Director. After just a little more than a year he has already improved the greatest part of the routine. He has exhibited excellent judgment in many embarrassing situations. As time goes on, I think we can depend on Sidney R. Katz to simplify and coordinate all of the Synagogue functioning so that we will have an orderly running institution at all times. From then on we can look forward to even brighter and broader horizons and a future of greater accomplishments than ever before.

Respectfully submitted,
EZRA COHEN, Chairman
Board of Trustees

President's Annual Message

The agenda doesn't call for any report from your president—just a few short remarks.

The By-Laws provide that the only duties that are required of the president are—

(a) that he may preside at all religious functions and
(b) to preside at the annual meeting.

I can report to you that I have presided to the best of my ability at all religious functions when in the city or not ill. I also presided at the annual meeting and turned the chair over to the Chairman of the Board.

Re-elected President

JACOB KLEIN

However, your president has assumed the performance of a variety of services without objection on the part of the Board or any member. I have tried to make this Congregation of 750 families something more than just a religious body, but also a social, fraternal and congenial association of ladies and gentlemen. I don't think I could be called immodest if I state to you now that I have partially succeeded, but certainly not wholly and not to my satisfaction.

You have just elected me to succeed myself for the fifth consecutive year, which I deem a great honor, and for which I am deeply appreciative.

Four years of intensive effort on my part which was always a labor of love have taken a good part of my time daily, have brought me numerous letters indicating how appreciative many members are for having been the beneficiary of these services. These letters are part of my compensation, but I am now going to request additional compensation—from you. It won't burden you, nor our Treasury, but it may put you to a little inconvenience. I ask you that in return for the services I am rendering, that you attend the religious services on Friday evening and Saturday mornings and weekday evenings at 6:00 P.M. Not every Friday evening, not every Saturday morning, and not every day, but give us one or two evenings or Saturday morning services and one week during the year for daily Minyon services. You will be called upon to perform "Jewry duty." "Jewry" spelled J-e-w-r-y. Can I ask this little service of you—not for me, but for the Synagogue, for the glory of God?

I don't know how each of you feels when you enter the Synagogue, but I know that I feel a certain awe and also a thrill, being in a house of worship dedicated to glorify the Holy One, blessed be He, for the Glory of God, for the sanctification of this holy edifice, let us dedicate ourselves, and try to find a place where the Glory of God may feel at home.

My friends, if you want to be happy try to make others happy.

JACOB KLEIN
President

IN MEMORIAM

At the Congregational Meeting, Sunday evening, January 29, the membership stood for a minute of silence in memory of the following members who passed away during the year. They are: Naomi Finkelstein, Sophie Herman, David Hoexter, Peggy Hyman, Leopold Klein, Max Lyon, Arthur Pollak, Amy Racoosin Putterman, Dr. Nathan Rosenthal, Fay Schwebel and Dr. James W. Smith.

Martin Leichtling to Speak to Young Marrieds

Martin Leichtling, Principal of the Religious School of Park Avenue Synagogue will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Young Marrieds on Tuesday evening, February 14 at 8:30 P.M.

Mr. Leichtling will discuss "Education for the Jewish Child within the American Community." He will emphasize the relative merits of the congregational school and the all-day school in achieving the goals of Jewish Education. Parents will find this discussion most valuable in deciding upon the kind of Jewish education for their children.

During the years, that the school has been under the supervision of Mr. Leichtling, it has developed in many ways. Our Hebrew Department has become the largest three-day-a-week school in the mid-Manhattan area.

The Sabbath School was established with its special emphasis on Junior Congregation services thus giving our children an opportunity to enjoy the experience of worship. The instruction has been vitalized through the use of dramatics, arts and crafts, music and audio-visual aids. Our school, today, plays a most important roll in the Jewish education of the children in our synagogue and in our community.

Phyllis Brody to be Bas Mitzvah

Phyllis Brody, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brody, will be Bas Mitzvah on Saturday, February 18, 1956.

This ceremony is in accord with the recent innovation of Bas Mitzvah, as well as Bar Mitzvah, in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Phyllis has been an excellent student in the Religious School. After completing her studies in the Primary Department, she enrolled in the Hebrew Department and is now a member of class V in the school.

She, also, attends the Senator Robert F. Wagner Junior High School, where she is a member of the school orchestra. She hopes to continue her preparation for a career in music, by studying at the High School of Music and Arts.

From the Desk of the Executive Director

On Friday evening, March 16 the Synagogue will commemorate the 6th Anniversary of the death of Rabbi Milton Steinberg. Like many of the families who are now part of Park Avenue Synagogue, I was not fated to have known him. However, the printed word has been able to bring me very much of the greatness of the man in whose memory our Synagogue built the Milton Steinberg House.

For one who had never heard a sermon by Rabbi Milton Steinberg, a book published two years ago entitled "From the Sermons of Rabbi Milton Steinberg" can to some degree fill this void. Presumably the book is intended more for teachers and students though the sermons given in outline form, when read with patience, can be followed very clearly.

In an effort to increase the understanding among our members of the greatness that was Steinberg's, we print this year on the anniversary of his sixth Yahrzeit his sermon entitled "The Secret of Forgiveness". What this writer has found refreshing and emotionally stimulating is not only the breadth of knowledge and culture which the sermon reflects, but more particularly the void it fills for those of us who are ever seeking distinctive Jewish approaches to the problems of living. In "The Secret of Forgiveness" one will find an excellent Jewish statement for modern man. Although the occasion of this Sermon was Kol Nidre night, the problem of forgiveness is with all of us every day of the year.

Purim Services and Masquerade Party

Inaugurating a new method of awarding the honors in connection with the Annual Reading of the Megillah on Purim, Mr. Jacob Klein, President of the Synagogue, reached from the depth of Florida and came up with the families of five new members who were honored with selections from the Megillah. They were: Morris Fox, Leona Giat, Harry Markowitz, Alan Mehlman, John Stangel.

Also honored with selections to read were: Mrs. Grace Gilbert representing the Sisterhood, Mr. Milton Sivek representing the Men's Club, Harold Kurte for the Senior League and Mrs. Herman Helpern for the Parents Association. Another novel feature consisted in awarding one of the honors to Mr. Allan Blaine, one of the favorite teachers in our Religious School.

Following the reading of the Megillah, a masquerade party took place in the Lemberg Auditorium. Highlight of the Ball was its parade of contestants in costumes ranging from the real to the ridiculous. The judges were hard put to choose the winners.

Prizes were finally awarded as follows: Most Amusing: Chassidish Wedding with Dr. Sigmund Siegel as the blushing bride, Becky Edelson as the bashful bridegroom, Dr. Ed Edelson, Phyllis Siegel, Marie Meistrich and Rhoda Fieber as the "Chupah bearers".
Most Original: King Ahasuerus designed and executed by Grace Gilbert and worn by Sidney R. Katz. Most Beautiful: "Gay Nineties", Irma Heller costume (and lady). Close runners-up were: Spanish Senorita — Anna Edelman, French Apache and Zamar of the Jungle—Walter and Henrietta Roth, Queen of Hearts—Grace Gilbert, Queen Esther —Judy Goldsmith, Rabbi and Cantor— Stephen Stowe and David Noveck, Peasant—Lillian Friedland, May West—Ida Waldman, Charlie McCarthy — Louis Greenstein.

Judges were: Hon. Benjamin Marvin. Nelson Ruttenberg and Harry J. Sokolow.

Haman Tashen and wine and an excellent band kept the guests equally gay and cheerful.

UJA Survival Fund Campaign Under Way

The 1956 campaign for the United Jewish Appeal got off to a good start at the opening rally luncheon, February 14, in the grand ball room of the Sheraton Astor, when over a million dollars was raised.

This year's effort embraces two campaigns; the general annual campaign to meet the world-wide Jewish needs, with a national goal of $105 million dollars, and the Special Survival Fund campaign with a goal of $25 million dollars, which will be used exclusively in Israel for immigrant absorption and rehabilitation purposes.

The Special Survival Fund was created as an emergency measure through which Jews outside Israel will accept full responsibility for the rescue and rehabilitation of more than 50,000 North African Jews who seek to settle in Israel this year.

The Women's Division of UJA is ably represented in the Park Avenue Synagogue by the Sisterhood representatives, Mrs. Benjamin Sack, chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Abel Phillips. The members of their committee are now busily engaged in soliciting members of the synagogue in behalf of UJA, so if you should hear from these volunteer workers, please respond willingly and generously. They are giving of their services in a good cause. so why not help them achieve their goal by giving of your resources.

Mrs. Benjamin Sack also doubles as chairman of the Special Gifts Committee of the Women's Division for Manhattan. Their group will hold a mammoth brunch at Pierres on March 14.

Mr. Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees thanked all who assisted in the work at the Purim Party particularly Mrs. Grace Gilbert who was its Program Chairman and represented the Sisterhood. The others who served on the Committee were: Mrs. Shy Rosen, Mrs. Louis Greenstein, Mrs. Markowitz and daughter, Mrs. Tubie Resnik, Mrs. Ted Meistrich and Mrs. Samuel Gellert.

"THE SECRET OF FORGIVENESS"

A Kol Nidre sermon by Rabbi Milton Steinberg taken from "Sermons of Rabbi Milton Steinberg" and edited by Bernard Mandelbaum. (Bloch Publishing Co.)

How vivid to us are the memories of our childhood.
How they stand out with all the firm outlines of a newly stamped coin—clearer often than the recollection of what may have happened only yesterday.

Kol Nidre night—
Scene from my early boyhood—I can remember with perfect clarity—little synagogue—aged bearded Jews. dressed in pure white "kittels"—they moved to and fro about the crowded aisles addressing one another—
"What are they doing?"
"They are seeking from each other pardon and forgiveness before Kol Nidre," was the reply.

At the time the answer meant nothing to me.
the words—"forgiveness." "pardon"—no significance.

What did I know then of the fact that human beings wrong one another—of that burning need which we all have for exoneration from our fellow.

Neither did I know the beautiful tradition, Jewish law—to seek forgiveness from all on eve of Yom Hakippurim.

In all ages, Judaism has taught pardon. forgiveness, sacred literature filled with it—
"Thou shalt not take vengeance, nor bear any grudge . . ." (Lev. 19:18)

Bible—story of Joseph
Jacob died—Joseph forgives
"Fear not, for I am in the place of God?" (Gen. 50:15)

Like the Bible in the Talmud,
"He who waives his right of retribution is forgiven all his sins"

We are told of a Rabbi, Mar Zutra, every night would say "I forgive all who have vexed me."

Tonight, solemn night of the year and any number of possible themes, I have chosen this simple vision as my theme —tempted by metaphysical flights nothing more relevant—nothing more important

He who forgives. he shall be forgiven.

How beautiful a sentiment, but how difficult an execution.
We in our lives—
There is none among us who has not at some time or other been hurt to the inmost recesses of his being by somebody.

You may remember—malicious slander—humiliated in public—some dear possession—employer—served faithfully wives, husbands—betrayal

We think of these things—bitter with resentment.

It is easy enough to admire the old Jews—Yom Kippur at night.

But does not Judaism ask the impossible when it commands—
Forgive your enemies!

The inability to forgive, often the one vice of the virtuous, is the only blot on a noble character.

This is the dividing line between the great and the near great, the truly noble and the imitation.

1. Of all the artists—Michelangelo
   He had a soul that vibrated sympathetically to anything beautiful. His fingers could carve marble into awe-inspiring giants.
   His pen could write the softest and sweetest poetry.
   His brush could mirror his fertile imagination.
   Sistine Chapel—David—Moses
   This was the one blot on his character.
   He could not forgive.
   like some crack in the marble statue of life
   A friend of his once dared to criticize one of his pictures . . .
2. Greatest poet of the middle ages—Dante imagination—spirit of that divine love
   A great man? Only near great—described tortures that will be inflicted on his enemies.

Against these illustrations of weakness the truly great stand out all the more boldly.

1. Uncounted are the wrongs which the Jewish people inflicted on Moses.
   refused to believe him—betrayed his God—accused him of dishonesty rebelled against his leadership—insulted him
   He stand pleading with God for the Jewish people.
2. Abraham Lincoln—quality of forbearance—Chaste insulted him publicly—intrigued against him—expressed contempt the South—maligning of Lincoln
   When the Civil War was over. when the near-great clamored for revenge upon the South,
   Lincoln alone could find it in his heart to say, "With malice toward none: with charity for all".

An old saying has it that to err is human to forgive divine.
Do we not all feel something of the Divine in these illustrations of supreme forbearance?
thrill with admiration

All of us reverence this quality of forgiveness.
We all accept it in theory and not at all in practice.
But why do we fail in this supreme challenge in character?
What is there in our temperaments?

In the first place, there is in man what the Rabbis called "the evil impulse" part of the old animal—the beast of the jungle

Have you ever played with a kitten and caressed it—purr—rub the fur the wrong way—the purring stops—animal attempts to escape.

If you hold it and persist, it will grow angry: its back will arch: its claws distend.

That is the universal animal.
All living things grow angry when they are hurt.
All higher beings if they cannot express their anger for the moment, seek revenge.

For revenge is only clotted and coagulated anger, choked up resentment, hatred that has no outlet.
It is the suspended blow that could not be struck.

Now anger is an unpleasant feeling—expression of it—a pleasurable release the man who stubs his toe in the dark . . .

That is the only one reason why we refuse to forgive—
We will not give up the pleasure of striking back.
What a delight it is to get even!
cutting remark—animal joy—stabbing back—turning the knife around
How sweet it is to make the gossip eat his words!
How delicious to humiliate and trample upon him who has shamed us!
We lie awake nights, seething with suppressed wrath, dreaming.

You do not believe me?

1. If Winter Comes—the chronicle of a fine and decent human being—book describes how out of wanton malice a business associate of Mark Sabre's sets out to ruin him work — wife — honor at the darkest moment of Sabre's life—piece of paper Personal reaction—pain in story—disappointment—cheated at ending
2. Popularity of Count of Monte Cristo

This then is one basic cause for refusal to forgive—
Will not admit it to ourselves—feel undignified.
When we are accused, we deny it hotly.
protest—unfair—insist on moral right, absolute justice

We go further—
Forgiveness is not only wrong morally, we say, it is also dangerous—breaks down morality example—child who discovers it and takes advantage

What becomes of society if we pardon every offense?
Devil quotes scripture
"A learned man who fails to take vengeance is not really a learned man."

Is personal forgiveness a violation of justice?
two kinds of justice

a. law courts—symbolized by blind woman holding scale—so much for so much
b. justice of family—punishment, forgiveness

What is the difference?

a. justice of law court—deed identical with person criminal—may be an idealist—a dreamer—whole person is punished
b. father—deed only partial expression of person still good in person—retrieve it modern criminology

No one asks that we pardon deed—father does not—criminologist correct mistakes—save what is good in person
"Let sinners cease . . ."
"The written text (suggests) sins as the meaning and not sinner."

Unless that is done—person attempts to atone—we will not listen hate person so—can see no good in him paradox—everyone else says so-and-so is a decent sort, I insist alone that he is not lose opportunity to redeem him
Hillel, Shammai and the pagan

Well, we recognize all this—logical—true—valid.
How can we avoid indulging in pleasure—confusing person with deed?

1. Recognize the part played by animal pleasure in offender.
2. Use your imagination.
   All of us see into ourselves—what we lack is the capacity to see others

To do hurt is as natural as to live.
We forget, when we resent slander, that we have slandered.
Yes, but we had our reasons—careless—
he deserved it—
human nature of a piece
He also thought that he had good reason.
"Don't judge your associate until you find yourself in his place."

For the offender may seem like arch-villain—from without.
Get inside of him.
poor, frail soul
limitations like ours fears—excuses
thirst for life
He is us—only position different.

3. Understanding each of us a product of circumstance heredity—environment the boisterous hoodlum in subway—slum the bully—domineering father—compensation
   the slanderer—feels insecure—wants to be important
   When you understand you cannot hate.

This is the way of forgiveness, of refusing to regard deed as equal to person.
renounce pleasure of revenge imagination and understanding

Test case—Nazi Germany hideous wrong liberty—democracy innocent people—carcers, lives forgotten benefits attack on us

Sense of outrage people react two ways do nothing
the true reaction—fight Nazism—seek Jewish rights but without hating

"THE SECRET OF FORGIVENESS"

How can we avoid hating—
1. Pleasure of hating must be renounced
2. Must not confuse whole with part.
   German culture
   German decency today
3. Use your imagination and understanding.
   war—Versailles Treaty—reparations inflation

Would we not seek a scapegoat too?
even Hitler—
starving housepainter—cafes in Vienna—obsessed one confines a lunatic—does not hate him
The saints would forgive, but fight
Nazism—so must we.
How much we personally need forgiveness today.
Each man kills the thing he loves.
Have we not knowingly or unknowingly erred?
Careless of those who love us—hurt our parents, wives, children—betrayed our friends.
All because we are frail human beings.
Do we not want them to understand that we meant no evil, to understand and to forgive?
Then we must too understand and forgive those who have offended against us.
Yes—we need forgiveness from somebody.
And shall we not give it?
Is there not enough pain and unhappiness in the world without our adding to its sum?
Must we not, all of us, suffer disease and hunger, watch those we love die, see life slip from our fingers, dreams fade?
Has not each heart its full share, that we must seek revenge and fill the cup of anguish to overflowing?
That is the lesson of Kol Nidre. Let us no more tear ourselves from each other—hate, resent and seek to hurt.
The world is cold enough.
Let us rather huddle together for warmth, hold hands for comfort.
That in this terrifying business of living,
we may find some rest and surcease.
That if life must have its sorrow, it may be as slight as we can make it.
That we may spread as much happiness as lies in our poor power—between this day and that dark veil that leads to the world beyond, where all is forgiven because all is understood.

Fresh Kids, Chassidim, And Lawn-Mowing

by MRS. THEODORE KAPLAN

If word reached you that it was raining silver dollars, the chances are you'd rush outside to see, and finding the news true, you would hurry to shovel up a few. Well, here's word that on Monday evenings at the Adult Classes of the Synagogue, it has been raining wisdom and humor and knowledge, but so few seem to know about it that this is to spread the news before the wealth is withdrawn and those who haven't been sharing it may still get in on the bonanza.

Imagine having a chance to listen to a man who is all these: a Rabbi, a Ph.D. and practicing psychotherapist, and the father of five daughters! Imagine listening to him discuss what the Rabbis have to say about modern child-training! This privilege was ours during the first semester when Dr. Sidney Kosofsky conducted a course on Jewish Family Life. Fresh kids? Dr. Kosofsky reminded us that this is the age of the enthronement of the child, whereas the Rabbis always planked for the enthronement of the parent. "In Jewish tradition," he said, "the father, mother and God are regarded as partners in the upbringing of the child." Quarrels? Dr. Kosofsky interpolated a charming idea. In the last prayer of the Kaddish, the "Oseh Sholom" it is customary to take three step back. Since those words have to do with the making of peace, the gesture may imply that the best way to make peace is to back up a little!

But those riches are all scooped up for the time being and many who missed out on them would do well to ask for another chance. This semester, the excitement is about What Branch of Judaism Will You Have? Of course there's no doubt as to the branch which WE'LL have, but we've been inquiring and learning about the alternatives before concentrating upon—and dissecting, if we wish—our own choice. In discussing Chassidism, Rabbi Noveck acknowledged the contributions which may well be the legacy of this sect to modern Judaism, namely: Aesthetics (Emotionalism, Joy), Personal Guidance (closeness and confidence as with a Tsaddik), and Democracy (respect and welcome for the unlearned, the non-student).

Youth Activities Division

By HY SANKEL

Our Brownie Troop under the leadership of Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Abraham Sherr has developed a program of which we may justly be proud. However, because of the fine work being accomplished, a severe problem of accommodating applicants has developed. We have a long waiting list but an insufficient number of leaders. If anyone would like to provide a vital community service by voluntcering, we will be glad to provide the necessary training. It's fun and service too.

The Brownies and Girl Scouts attended the District Party commemorating the birth of Juliet Loew, founder of the Girl Scouts. All had a wonderful time. On Sunday, March 11, both troops will march in the Manhattan Parade.

On March 10, during Girl Scout Week our troops will act as ushers at the Saturday Morning Service. Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. Jaques Kaplan, leaders of the Girl Scouts will be in charge of arrangements.

Youth Leadership Award

The Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue once again, will sponsor the "Youth Leadership Award" to be presented to an outstanding student in our school at Shavuot time. This award is made in each synagogue in the U. S. where there is a men's club affiliated with the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs.

Mr. Milton M. Sivek, President of Men's Club, announced that a sterling silver medal and a certificate will be given to the young person who combines proficiency in Hebrew studies and non Hebraic studies with those qualities which show a great potential "aptitude for future leadership in Jewish life."

Ramah Camps

More than 1000 children and young people attended the three Ramah Camps —in Wisconsin, the Poconos and in Connecticut—during the past summer. This year, a fourth Ramah Camp in California will be in full operation and equipped for 200 campers.

The Ramah Camps, under the guidance of the Jewish Theological Seminary, offer a complete program of educational, athletic, creative and religious activities. The regular program, which is the traditional feature of American summer camping, is enriched by active participation in Hebrew language studies and Hebrew cultural activities.

Each year a number of our students attend the Ramah Camps and all return with most glowing reports of their summer experiences. Parents, who may be interested in Ramah in 1956, are advised to call the Seminary for further information.

Art Exhibit

The Jewish Museum, 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue, opens its 13th Annual Children's Art Exhibition on the evening of March 14. The theme of the exhibit is "Home and the Family" and will stress the family in early Biblical times, the family circle in the present time, the place of the family in the community, and all the milestones in the life of a family—births, Bar Mitzvahs, weddings, and Anniversaries.

Many Schools—our Religious School has submitted three entries—have prepared work in various media; painting, murals, models, dioramas, mobiles and clay work.

Parents who visit the museum with their children, will also find the other exhibits of the Museum most interesting.

The beautiful silver objects—Torah ornaments, spice boxes, Sabbath lamps, Hannukah Menorahs and other ceremonial objects for synagogue and home use —are exhibited on the second floor. These objects were designed over the centuries and in widely separated geographic areas. On the third floor pewter and brass objects are displayed.

The Museum also holds temporary exhibits of particular interest. At present the work of Maurycy Gottlieb, Polish portrait painter who died in 1879, at the age of 23, is on display. Following this exhibit, there will be an extensive showing of the work of Max Weber, one of the foremost contemporary American artists. The exhibit will emphasize the Jewish themes that appear and reappear in Mr. Weber's work.

and educator, but also as an author. Among his publications are "The Anthology of Medieval Hebrew Literature", "Sabbath, the Day of Delight", and his most recent "Handbook for the Congregational School Board."

After serving as Rabbi of Temple Beth Israel in Philadelphia for a period of ten years, Dr. Millgram became the Director of the Hillel Foundation at the University of Minnesota. His work there with college boys and girls has proved to be a most valuable experience to Dr. Millgram in his understanding of young people.

Following the lecture, there will be a symposium during which the audience will have an opportunity to discuss specific problems that face children today in their social and academic adjustments at various age levels.

Refreshments and a social hour will conclude this joint venture of the Parents groups of two neighborhood synagogues.

Fresh Kids

Did you know why the Al Chayt prayer on Yom Kippur is in alphabetical order? A Chassidic leader, we were told, explained it as a matter of humaneness: there is no end to sin, but there IS an end to the alphabet!

Rabbi David Kahane described Orthodox Judaism as the faith which incorporates the maximum amount of observance into everyday life and, while open to discussion of change, will usually bow to the "timeless wisdom of the Torah". Orthodox Judaism, he said, has been studying the methodology of the modern world and hopes to combine this with its devotion to tradition to strengthen its position among modern religions.

Which brings us to now and the series of talks on Conservative Judaism. Rabbi Noveck explained that this shading of our faith came into being to counteract the Reform Movement which seemed to be tossing tradition completely overboard. He defined the main tenets of the Conservatives as follows:

1. Change is all right ONLY if it enhances the traditional.
2. Intellectual integrity must not be assailed; all things may be discussed and questioned.
3. There must be a maximal approach to the Jewish life via multiple channels: art, music, drama, literature, etc.

May the Conservative Jew mow his lawn on Shabbos with an electric mower? "No," said Rabbi Arthur H. Neulander in his talk on changes in Jewish law. But he may light a lamp to read by or play his phonograph to enrich the day. Electricity is not fire: there are no flames or ashes. Rabbi Neulander summed up the attitude of Conservative Jews on the manipulation of laws: "We are reverent but critical. We realize that the laws are divinely-inspired riches but that they have reached us through human agencies. We evaluate them. We want to conserve what's worth conserving. We want to utilize the laws which a Jew today can find worthwhile. Our standards of truth may be different from those of our ancestors. Our aim is to promote Jewish life, to help provide religious experiences which have real meaning today."

Of course, I'm slighting the other courses, but others can tell you about them.

Some Comments on Parents Ass'n Sabbath

An instructive and stimulating evening was afforded by the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue at its Friday night Service, February 10. Judge Hubert T. Delany, guest speaker, drew on his experience as a past judge in the Domestic Relations Court and as an active community leader in presenting his views on "What is Happening to our Children?"

He focused attention on the responsibility of adult society to set an example for youth, of courage, morality and integrity. He stated that the major factor in the present high incident of juvenile delinquency is the failure of adult society to set such an example in such areas as the bigoted and violent resistance to desegregation; the intimidation of personal loyalty and courage in the face of hysterical loyalty programs; and the tension of international relations and the atom bomb.

The stimulating nature of this thesis was evident in the many and varied questions raised by the audience after the Services. If some of the questions might be considered controversial, there is one aspect of the evening about which there can be no dispute;—that is the more glamorous appearance of the Pulpit with our charming ladies gracing it.

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, our winsome Program Chairman, was ably assisted by Mrs. Herman Helpern, head of the Parents Association and several members of the Parents group who participated in the reading of the prayers. They were: Mrs. Leon Klein, Mrs. Michael Stowe, Mrs. Hector Ritey and Mrs. Adolph Stangel.

U. S. Students May Study At Hebrew University

A plan has been devised by the American Friends of The Hebrew University to enable American students to spend a year in study at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

This plan, while allowing students to continue with their regular studies, will introduce them to the fundamentals of Jewish thought, history and literature, and to modern Israel in its Middle East setting, and will enable them to gain an extensive knowledge of the Hebrew language.

A considerable number of leading American colleges and universities have expressed interest in this plan and have indicated a willingness to cooperate by giving sympathetic consideration to requests by students to spend a year with credit at the Hebrew University.

Further inquiries should be addressed to the American Friends of the Hebrew University, 9 East 89th Street, New York 28.

Passover Greetings

On the occasion of this Passover, celebrated by Jews all over the world, I greet you and wish you joy and happiness.

In the Seder service, the most beautiful service that any religion can offer its adherents, the Jew reads in the Haggadah:

"Each Jew must feel as though he were one of the Jewish people enslaved by Pharoah"

How many of us stop to think, what a miracle was performed when the wandering Jew, who was a slave to Pharoah for 400 years, was finally liberated and became a great nation.

I recall when the State of Israel was proclaimed by the Jewish people in Palestine, that Milton Steinberg of blessed memory, David J. Putterman and myself were standing on the Pulpit of the Park Avenue Synagogue and we three joined hands, danced and then kissed each other for joy. Milton then said, the fact that the State of Israel became a reality was a greater miracle than the Exodus from Egypt, because the latter became a possibility under the leadership of God himself, and the State of Israel was the work of the Jewish people.

My fellow congregants, we are all one large family consisting of upwards of 1500 persons, united by ties of religion, fellowship and goodwill, and it behooves each of us to love our fellow members, to forgive and forget, and above all to remember that to forgive is divine and to forget human.

Moses who led the people out of Egyptian bondage was a man of great humility and today he is lovingly referred to as Moshe Rabennu, Moses, our teacher. Personally, he never sought for any honors and the Bible says of him "This man Moses was the most humble of all men in Israel". I came across this passage somewhere:

"If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both".

I greet you on this wonderful Passover season and call your attention to this passage in our Saturday Prayer Book:

"May nothing that we do, mar the holiness of life by causing any fellow creature to lose the joy of living"

May each and everyone of you enjoy with your families a very Happy Passover and a redeemer shall come to Zion saith the Lord.

Affectionately

Young Marrieds Sabbath Service

By MRS. MAXINE S. MAMELOK

On April 6, the Friday Evening Service will be conducted by the "Young Marrieds".

Departing from the usual procedure of presenting a guest speaker, the group instead, will take charge of the entire Service with members reading and chanting in Hebrew and English. Sidney J. Silberman our own "Hazzan" will prepare the group for this type of evening which has become a tradition in the Synagogue. Actually, the "Young Marrieds" are the only group which takes over the entire service.

After the Service, a soul-searching discussion "Judaism, Is It Liberal?", has been planned in which revealing and provocative statements will be discussed by speakers of the group. Sam Freedman has courageously volunteered to serve as our moderator, an arduous task indeed, for a topic as explosive as this.

Naturally, the entire membership of the Synagogue is invited to participate in what promises to be a most rewarding evening.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL PASSOVER RECESS

The spring recess of the Religious School will take place during the Passover Week and through the Public School vacation. School will be closed on Monday, March 26 and re-open on Monday April 9.

Miss Pearl Groothuis To Appear March 20 At Sisterhood Meeting

By MRS. DAVID ALTSCHUL

Sisterhood has a rare treat in store for all members and their friends on Tuesday, March 20 at 12:30 P.M. Miss Pearl Groothius, mezzo-soprano, will present a one-woman dramatization of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel," featuring outstanding hit songs. Her accompanist will be Cele Abbey.

Miss Groothuis, born and educated in America, has studied music and dramatics as well as public speaking and language arts. The dramatic presentation of popular Broadway musicals, featuring their hit songs, is the perfect expression for her many talents.

This promises to be a particularly entertaining and worthwhile afternoon. Don't miss it! Come and bring your friends.

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel Honored by UJA

For the third successive year, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, an active member of the Park Avenue Synagogue and chairman of the Religious School Board, has again been selected to head the Manhattan Organizations Division of the Women's group of UJA. She also serves as co-chairman of the city-wide Women's Division.

The great need for emergency fund raising functions throughout the country was stressed at a recent nationwide conference held in Miami Beach, Florida. Mr. William Rosenwald, special chairman of the national UJA, in referring to the generous outpouring of gifts as "a barometer showing the widespread concern for Israel's survival", stressed the urgency of the 1956 campaign.

The year 1956 presents a challenge to the Jews of America and can only be met effectively through the greatly increased support of the UJA drive. Thousands of Jews in North Africa are waiting to emigrate to Israel. The success of the UJA campaign will determine whether they will have the opportunity to go.

Mrs. Benjamin Sack and Mrs. Abel Phillips, co-chairmen of the Sisterhood Women's group of the Park Avenue Synagogue urge all members of the Congregation to be listed as contributors.

Youth Activities

By HY SANKEL

United Jewish Appeal Dance

Our Teen Age Group is sponsoring its Second Annual United Jewish Appeal Dance on Saturday evening, March 24. All proceeds are going to this very worthy organization. Last year's dance netted $100. It is our hope that this sum will be exceeded this year. Chairman of the dance are John Stangel, Joan Rubinstein, Lorraine Buchbinder, Gerry Klein, Linda Wolfman, Linda Fradkin, Stephan Helpern and Elli Frischling.

Youth Seder

A Youth Seder is becoming a tradition at our Synagogue. On Saturday, March 31, the youth groups are conducting a Third Seder. A special Haggadah has been prepared and illustrated with their cooperation. A simple service including all the essential elements of the seder is planned. The Four Questions proposed are problems facing Jewish Youth today. They are:

1. What is Our responsibility to Israel in these times of stress?

2. How Can We Integrate Our Laws as Americans and Jews?

3. What is Our Role in Jewish Life?

4. How Can We Aid in the Solution of the Problems Facing Us Today?

Discussion and singing will follow.

Community Service

On Friday morning, March 30 our Teen Agers are visiting Welfare Island to aid in the Passover program for aged Jewish people in the island hospitals. They will assist at the services and with the refreshments. Our thanks to Mrs. Druss and Mrs. Stowe of the Council for Jewish Women who assisted us in formulating the project. Chairman of this event are: Susan Druss and Teddy Zucker and the boys and girls who are participating are: Judy Strauss, Harry Pincus, Joan Rubinstein, Geraldine Klein, Joel Siegel, Richard Fread, Lida Wolfman, Stephen Stowe, Bob Glauber, Betty Goldin, Wendie Weckstein, Barbara Newman and Linda Fandlins.

Art Exhibit

There are some proud seven and eight year olds in our synagogue who at that tender age have already done what many adults strive for years to accomplish—exhibit their art work at a Museum. The work of Art Club members may be currently viewed at the Jewish Museum, 92nd St. and Fifth Ave. where it is exhibited. It is part of the Thirteenth Annual Art Exhibition. Mrs. Sylvia Cohen is the instructor. Meetings are held every Wednesday afternoon.

March is indeed a busy month for the youth of our Synagogue.

Congressmen Coudert and Davidson To Discuss Middle East Crisis at Men's Club—Thursday, March 22

In keeping with the policy of presenting a forum for important events of the day, the Men's Club is sponsoring a program devoted to "U.S. Diplomacy in the Explosive Middle East." Two members of the U.S. House of Representatives have been invited to present their own personal views on this timely topic.

They are the Hon. Frederic R. Coudert, Jr., who represents the 17th Congressional District in which our Synagogue is located; and the Hon. Irwin D. Davidson, who represents the 20th Congressional District on the west side of Central Park, where many more of our members live.

CONG. FREDERIC R. COUDERT

Ladies Invited

This meeting takes place in the Lemberg Auditorium on Thursday evening, March 22 at 8:30 P.M. (Note it is not on a Tuesday, the regular meeting night.) Because of the importance of the subject, all ladies are invited to attend as well as the men.

Frederic R. Coudert, Jr. was born in New York City and is a graduate of Columbia University. A Republican, his first elective position was as a N. Y. State Senator from 1939 to 1946. While in that office he became noted primarily for his Chairmanship of the Rapp-Coudert Joint Legislative Sub-Committee to Investigate Public Education in the City of New York (1940-44); and as the father of the Public Housing and Slum Clearance Law.

In 1946, Coudert was elected to the U. S. Congress and has been serving there since. His record shows he has voted for such progressive legislation as FEPC, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax laws.

Irwin D. Davidson, also a native New Yorker, graduated from New York University. He served in the N. Y. State Legislature for 12 years, starting in 1936. During this period he was the Acting Democratic Leader of the House. In 1948 he became a Justice of the Court of Special Sessions in New York City, resigning voluntarily in 1954 to run for the U. S. Congress.

Since his election he has been a member of the House Committees on the Judiciary, and Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

All members of the congregation are urged to attend this Men's Club meeting to hear our own Representatives, Republican and Democrat, discuss this important topic. Remember, the date is Thursday, March 22, and don't forget the ladies are welcome too!

Parents Group Prepares Passover Demonstration

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On Monday, March 19, the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue sponsored a dessert luncheon in the Lemberg Auditorium for the mothers of children of the Religious School. This get-together featured as its theme "Your Passover Holiday at Home", and aimed to assist mothers in carrying out the traditional observance of Passover in their homes.

Under the capable supervision of Mrs. Stanley Simon and Mrs. Adolph Stangel, there was a display of an attractive seder table set with the customary symbols of Passover.

Cantor David Putterman discussed the traditions, customs and ceremonies of the holiday. He also spoke on music which plays such an important part in conveying the spirit of this Festival in the home.

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer and Mrs. Joseph Rubinstein were in charge of the details. Mrs. Bruno Foa was responsible for hospitality.

Passover Services

The Junior Congregation will hold holiday services in the Appleman Chapel on the First Days of Passover and the second Days of Passover. Irving Spielman, who conducted the High Holy Day Services at the Jewish Museum, will supervise the services at 10 A.M. on the mornings of March 27 and 28 and on April 2 and 3, Tuesday and Wednesday, respectively.

All students are urged to participate in the worship and to enjoy the holiday refreshments that will be served after each of the services.

Model Seder— Sunday Morning, March 25

This year the students of the Religious School, under the guidance of Rabbi Noveck, will hold four Model Sedorim on Sunday morning, March 25.

The Primary Department students will conduct a special Seder in the Lemberg Auditorium while each grade in the Hebrew Department has its own Seder in the Milton Steinberg House. The development of the four Sedorim will make room for wide audience participation in a Seder geared to the age-level and to the educational achievements of the students. Parents of the students are invited to attend the Seder and join with the children in the service.

Mrs. Sam Deutsch, Mrs. Joseph Rubinstein and the committee of Class Mothers have arranged for the preparation and the serving of the food at each seder.

Advisory Council Vacancies Filled by Board of Trustees

At the meeting the Board of Trustees held, Sunday, March 11, the Board elected the following to fill existing vacancies in the Advisory Council: Z. Harry Altmark, Joseph Mandelbaum, Milton M. Sivek, and Asa Sokolow.

The Board also approved a unanimous report submitted by Gen. Melvin L. Krulewitch, chairman, on behalf of a special committee recently appointed by Ezra Cohen, chairman of the Board, to consider the future policy with regard to membership on such Advisory Council. The report reaffirmed the policy that membership on such Council should be regarded as an opportunity to those, who may desire to become available to fill vacancies on the Board of Trustees, to inform themselves as to the administration of Synagogue affairs.

Another recommendation adopted by the Board limited membership to the Advisory Council to not more than 25, with representatives of the Men's Club, Parents Association and Young Marrieds to be invited to serve during their term of office.

Dr. and Mrs. Alex E. Kaplan Honored by Israeli League

The Federation for Anti-Tuberculosis League of Israel tendered a dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Alex E. Kaplan, members of the Park Avenue Synagogue, on March 17 at the Hotel Pierre in recognition of 50 years of service as a doctor and humanitarian and in tribute to their work for many years on behalf of the League.

Combined Meeting With SAJ

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The joint meeting with the Parents Association of SAJ, held Tuesday, March 14, at the SAJ building was a great success.

Dr. Abraham Millgram, Director of the United Synagogue of America, spoke brilliantly on the need of Jewish education to prepare our children for life. He pointed out that the more thorough religious education a child receives, the more prepared he will be to meet the problems of life in the outside world.

After the meeting, which was well attended by representatives from both groups, those present enjoyed a social evening with friends, old and new. We hope to have the opportunity to welcome our genial hosts at the Park Avenue Synagogue at some future time.

Congratulations

Sisterhood Annual Birthday Luncheon, April 17

By Mrs. David Altschul

Sisterhood's annual birthday party will be held on Tuesday, April 17 at 12:00 Noon in the Sisterhood Lounge. This will be a very gala occasion with special entertainment and attractive, original decorations. Don't miss it!

Star of the entertainment will be Miss Pearl Groothuis, who was held over from last month's meeting. Miss Groothuis, a mezzo-soprano, will present a one-woman show, a musical dramatization of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel." She will be accompanied by Cele Abbey. This most unusual presentation will feature outstanding hit songs from the show. Miss Groothuis, born and educated in America, has studied music and dramatics as well as public speaking and language arts. The dramatic presentation of popular Broadway musicals, featuring their hot songs, is the perfect expression for her many talents.

Those who have been privileged to hear Miss Groothuis perform say it is a rare treat, not to be missed.

Don't forget the date! Tuesday, April 17. Come and bring your friends. Help Sisterhood celebrate its birthday.

Lionel Gelber, Guest Speaker At "Israel Independence Day" Sabbath

On Friday evening, April 13, at 8:30 P.M., a special service, commemorating the Eighth Anniversary of Israel's Independence, will be held at the Synagogue, under the auspices of the Committee on Adult Education. Mr. Lionel Gelber will speak on "ISRAEL AT THE UNITED NATIONS."

Mr. Gelber served as political advisor to the Jewish Agency at the United Nations during the dramatic years of 1946-48, when negotiations were being conducted which led to the establishment of the State of Israel. Mr. Gelber, formerly a Rhodes Scholar, is a writer on international affairs. His two most recent books are Reprieve From War (1950) and American Anarchy (1953).

Men's Club to Hold Monthly Meeting, Apr. 24

On Wednesday, April 18, the annual meeting of the Metropolitan Region of the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs takes place at the Jewish Theological Seminary, Broadway and 122 Street. At that time a special award will be presented to Milton M. Sivek, President of our Men's Club and Assistant Treasurer of the Synagogue. All members of the Men's Club are urged to attend this meeting which will be called for 5:30 P.M. Following the meeting, there will be a dinner for which there will be no charge.

Paintings Donated To Synagogue

During the past several months, the Park Avenue Synagogue has been fortunate in receiving four artistic contributions in the form of excellent paintings. The donors were Mr. I. M. Cohen, Mrs. Sol Green, Dr. Luise-Lotte Horn.

The paintings are being temporarily hung in the Sisterhood Lounge and in the office of the Rabbi.

Seven Months and Seventeen Days To November 28

Mark your calendars now, so that when Wednesday, November 28 rolls around, that day will have been cleared by you months ahead of time.

On November 28, the Annual Sisterhood Luncheon will be bigger and better—we are assured—than it ever has been.

But the first step, now, is to set aside Wednesday, November 28, 1956, for the Annual Sisterhood Luncheon.

VOL. X No. 15

from the desk of the Treasurer

Many a letter concerning synagogue fiscal affairs crosses our desk daily, but the following expresses such a warmth and depth of feeling that we could not help but share it with all of you:

"Enclosed please find a small token of my appreciation towards the synagogue. Although money wise it is very small, my feelings towards the synagogue and the people connected with it, is very great.

"I hope that some day, in the not too distant future. my contributions will rise up to my emotional feelings for the Park Avenue Synagogue.

"Thank you for making my Passover a little bit more joyous and meaningful."

It was sent by a young man, not a member of the synagogue, but who attends our services quite regularly.

Rabbi Noveck, Speaker At Southern Convention

On Sunday evening. April 8. Rabbi Simon Noveck was the keynote speaker at the opening banquet of the South Eastern Region of the United Synagogue of America held in Jacksonville, Fla. This gathering brought together delegates from 29 Conservative Congregations in the states of Miami. Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. In addition Rabbi Noveck met with the leaders of these Congregations in a special seminar to discuss their congregational problems with them.

UJA Tea in Memory of Amy Putterman

The Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue will sponsor a Tea on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal on Wednesday, April 25 at 1:30 P.M. at the home of Mrs. Abraham N. Geller, 47 East 88 Street, in memory of our own beloved Amy Putterman.

Not often has it been possible to reflect honor on the Sisterhood by reason of a particular activity. The Sisterhood has selected the unforgettable Amy Putterman to inspire them on this occasion. Most of us know her genuinely sincere constructive work for all causes identified with the establishment of the State of Israel; the struggle in the early days for its continuance, and the human problems of its people.

We cannot forget the days of Haganah when Amy brought home to thousands the critical need for the support of that incomparable organzation that helped so mightily to achieve its first objective. With Haganah's work completed, Amy was destined to move logically to another vital area and became one of the founders and later an officer of MATERIALS for ISRAEL which was responsible in assembling millions of dollars of critical products which at that time helped the Survival of Israel.

The United Jewish Appeal was not a catch phrase for Amy. She labored for a united effort on the part of all segments of the Jewish Appeal.

Were Amy to address you now, she would be better able than we to explain the meaning of the 1956 Survival Fund. Her rewards were heartaches during the critical days of the creation of the State. How well we can now understand when we recognize our collective duty to insure Israel's Survival.

Events are moving fast in world politics which have created the incredible state of apprehension existing in Israel today. Our assistance NOW means survival for Israel and LIFE SAVING for the remaining Jews outside Israel who are knocking at the doors for what may be the last time. WE CANNOT FORESAKE THEM.

Mrs. Benjamin Sack. Chairman of the Women's Division of the Park Avenue Synagogue and a devoted friend of Amy, in welcoming the participation of all the members of the Synagogue said:

"My Committee is unanimous in expressing the feeling that in planning this tribute in memory of Amy Putterman, we are continuing faithfully in an effort to achieve survival for Israel to which it can correctly be said had Amy been spared to us, she would have been in the forefront of our effort."

Dr. Mordecai M. Kaplan To be Honored, April 22

Dr. Mordecai M. Kaplan will be honored at a dinner to be held Sunday evening, April 22, at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The dinner is being tendered to Dr. Kaplan on the occasion of his 75th birthday, in recognition of his great contribution to American Jewry.

As the teacher and, later, as co-worker of Milton Steinberg, our revered Rabbi of blessed memory, and as teacher also of Dr. Simon Noveck, Dr. Kaplan occupies a special place in the hearts of the congregants of Park Avenue Synagogue. It was with Dr. Kaplan and other colleagues, that Rabbi Steinberg edited the prayer book in use in our Synagogue. It was with him, that Rabbi Steinberg spent many happy years as an editor of THE RECONSTRUCTIONIST, the journal in which Rabbi Steinberg's theological views were crystallized, and in which he also expressed his feeling for the Jewish people and its cultural creativity. The relationship between these two giants of the Jewish spirit, broken by the untimely passing of Rabbi Steinberg, remains for us to continue.

The Park Avenue Synagogue is happy to join in this well deserved tribute to an outstanding figure in American Judaism, and we look forward to a large reservation of our members at the Waldorf on April 22. Reservations for the dinner are $15.00 per plate and may be secured by calling (TR 7-3595) or writing to the Jewish Reconstructionist Foundation, 15 West 86th Street, New York 24, or contacting our Executive Director, Sidney R. Katz, at the Synagogue office (EN 9-2600).

Religious School News

By MARTIN LEICHTLING

In the spring, a young student's fancy often turns to things other than school. The crack of a bat against a ball; the whirr of the wheels of a bicycle; the scraping of roller skates on the sidewalk are all very attractive. But, a young student must learn that a job begun must be completed to deserve the compliment "well done".

This has been a good year for our students. Despite an arduous winter, absences have been infrequent and educational achievement has been great. Our students have done well in their classroom studies and, particularly well, in their co-curricular activities. The dramatics program, the Hanukkah parties, the Purim Carnival and the Model Sedorim have evoked words of praise from parents and students.

Though temptation to miss a day at school may be great, it is important that all students complete the school year with a minimum of absence and a maximum of effort.

Hebrew High School

The following communication was recently received from Alan Mehlman, a student in our High School:

"This year an innovation has been developed in our Religious School—the formation of a Hebrew High School. Those students, who asked that these classes be organized, felt a strong love and devotion for Judaism and had a great desire to further pursue their Jewish education.

Thus far, three courses are offered in the High School. The first is called the History of Jewish Civilization. The object of this course is to trace Jewish thought from Biblical times up to the present day. A second subject is a course on the Bible which gives the student a more comprehensive analysis of the Bible than he has had previously. These two courses are given by Rabbi Berman. The other classes are Intermediate and Advanced Hebrew with emphasis on conversational Hebrew. This course is given under the very able guidance of Dr. Aaron Giat. All of us feel a great pride in the achievements that were made in these courses. We have found our studies helpful in our secular as well as our religious education.

I think it is important to mention the students who have been responsible for the organization of the High School. They are: Michael Borenstein, Susan Druss, Cecily Falkenstein, Steven Kohn, David Novack, Alan Mehlman, Frana Mills, Eugene Roth, Michael Slote, John Stangel, Stephen Stowe, Ellen Wimpfheimer and Susan Wimpfheimer."

Prof. Albert Salomon To Continue Courses On Jewish Liturgy

Prof. Albert Salomon's series of lectures on the meaning of prayer in the Jewish Liturgy was resumed on April 9, after the Holiday interval, with a discussion on the part that the Psalms play in the Synagogue Service.

The next lecture in this group will be held April 16 at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, at which time Prof. Salomon will discuss the "Santification of the Name". This will include readings from Rosenzweig's "Understanding the Sick and the Healthy," and Heschel's "Man is Not Alone."

The lecture following will take place on Monday evening, April 23 at 8:30 P.M. in which Professor Salomon will continue the above readings in discussing "The Holy Spirit."

The final lecture in this series will be given by Professor Salomon on Monday evening. April 30 in which he will discuss "The Synagogue and Ritual".

Librarian Appointed for Steinberg House Library

Asa D. Sokolow, Chairman of the Library Book Selection Committee, announced that the Committee which he heads has retained a Librarian to undertake the work of classifying our books and getting us into operation.

The Library of the Milton Steinberg House, which is the result of the special contribution of I. M. Cohen and his father, Joseph H. Cohen, is not yet available for use but it is expected to be in full operation after the High Holydays.

The Librarian, Mr. Saul Kuchinsky, is a graduate of Western Reserve Library School and has had extensive experience in the metropolitan area in setting up and organizing similar libraries. For several years, he has been Medical Librarian at the Brooklyn Jewish Hospital.

From the Heart of the Membership Committee Chairman

It is with no small degree of trepidation that I, as Chairman of the Membership Committee, signed my name to a couple of hundred letters asking a large number of our Synagogue families to agree to voluntarily increase their annual dues contribution to Park Avenue Synagogue.

What makes this job a lot easier and about one million percent pleasanter is to receive letters from people to whom I did not write and of whom we did not ask an increase in their annual dues contribution. One of these is from Mrs. S. G., 940 Park Avenue, who "voluntarily offers to raise the family dues 25%" and she also sends best regards along with it. Another unsolicited communication arrived a couple of months ago from Mr. A. L. of 923 Fifth Avenue, who increased his annual dues contribution without anyone even suggesting it from $350 to $500. Any additional communications in the same vein will receive the same grateful acknowledgment.

As to those whom we did invite to adjust their contribution upward, the early responses are encouraging and the Membership Committee is confident that the expanding needs of Park Avenue Synagogue and the increased services with their mounting costs will be readily met by a generous membership.

Sincerely,

HARRY J. SOKOLOW
Chairman

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel Heads New Committee

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel has been named to the Chairmanship of a new Committee on Planning and Policy according to an announcement by Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

The purpose of this Committee is to assist the Board in the over all planning of the events long before they occur and in the general coordination of various Synagogue activities. Others who have been named to this Committee are: Mr. Saul Godwin, Mrs. William Karmiol, Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, Mr. Arthur Ochs, Mr. Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. Benjamin Sack, Mr. Archie Thurman, Gen. Melvin L. Krulewitch, Mr. Milton M. Sivek, Mrs. Herman Helpern, and Mr. Sidney R. Katz, Advisory.

Bar Mitzvah Ceremony Inspires Mother

Mrs. David Fogelson, who son was Bar Mitzvah recently, was so inspired by the ceremony at the Park Avenue Synagogue, that she penned the following poetic message to him:

This I Give To You

No tangible, mercenary, trite gifts
But all the gifts of God to grasp and hold.
The sinking sun, a rainbow's hues,
The touch of beauty, the scent of dawn.
Daddy's laugh, mother's love, sister's hug,
A small child's smile and hug.
The joys we cannot see or grasp or hold
But we can feel and touch and share.

These are yours to have and hold.

The love of life, good health and joy,
The courage of your convictions and belief,
Your honor, be it of great renown.
Friends you have found staunch and true.
The glow of work, success at tasks;
That you study, grow wise all the days of your life,
That you reap the rewards of a great career.
That you defend the rights of your fellow men.

This I pray for you to grasp and hold.

Keep well the faith by which your heritage has grown.
Be like Abraham and Isaac, with courage and belief.
Be like Jacob, a man of Peace.
Like David wear the crown of royalty.
Like Solomon, be wise and understand.
Like Moses, the father of the Prophets,
The Liberator of his people.
Strive toward Justice, Mercy, Freedom and Peace.

These are all yours to achieve and to hold

Go forth my son, with courage, strength and fervor.
Choose well the worthwhile from the mire.
Wear not only the crown of power, position and scholarship
But as your faith teaches, the crown of a Good Name and a Good Life.

Have faith in God, have faith in man, have faith in yourself.
Guard well the love of man and God.
Live by DEEDS NOT WORDS.
I give you all this and all the Gifts of God to aspire to, to cherish and to hold.

You are my lad, my shining STAR. I love you so.

Annual Confirmation and Graduation Wednesday, May 16, at Shavuoth Services

The annual Confirmation and Graduation exercises of the Religious School will be held at the Shavuoth service on Wednesday morning, May 16. Eight of the students, who have fulfilled the requirements for confirmation or for gradnation from the five-year course in the Hebrew Department, will be presented to the congregation for certification.

During the year the students continued their Hebrew language study in the Bible under the guidance of their teacher, Alex Kaplan. This gave the class an opportunity to develop the ability of comprehension of the written material and to discuss some of the basic ideas developed in the Bible. Torah was studied as a guide for a joyous, rich and healthy way of life rather than a collection of burdensome laws.

The class also read "The Still Voice", a guide to Jewish ethics and "The Confirmation Reader." These books made possible the analysis of basic Jewish values, the role of prophecy in Jewish thought, the concept of God, the land of Israel and the explanations of suffering in Jewish life with emphasis on the Book of Job.

The confirmands will actively participate in the shavuoth services. They will read from the Scripture, present an explanation of their readings ond deliver a series of papers on "Basic Concepts in Jewish Life."

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, chairman of the School Board, wil present the students with certificates of confirmation, diplomas for graduation and bibles and books which are a gift from Sisterhood. In addition, each of the students will share in a gift of books awarded as the Adolph and Rosa Klein Prize, Abraham and Frances Bock Prize and the Milton Steinberg Prize.

Certificates of Confirmation will be presented to: Leona Giat, Sara Gore, David Reichman, Joseph Weintraub and Elliot Zucker.

UJA Committee Plans Dinner for June 7 To Honor Dr. Osserman

Nathan B. Kogan has been appointed UJA Chairman for the Park Avenue Synagogue. Together, with Gustave Yuder, Jacob Starr and Max Zahler, his co-chairmen, plans are being made for the annual UJA dinner to be held on June 7 in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Synagogue.

Dr. Harold A. Osserman, former Associate Treasurer, and a member of the Board of Trustees, will be the guest of honor at the dinner, in recognition of his ten years of service as the previous Chairman of the Synagogue UJA Committee.

The Dinner Committee is now in the process of formation with Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board and Jacob Klein, our President, serving as Honorary Chairmen. A large attendance is expected as the present state of peril and anxiety in the State of Israel demands not only financial support but our presence on this occasion to give moral courage to those who are giving their lives that Israel may survive.

Further details will be published, but meanwhile reserve the date—JUNE 7—at the Synagogue.

Red Cross Reminder!

Mrs. Edward Munves and her co-chairman, Mrs. Jesse Haas wish to thank those who have sent in their Red Cross contributions to the Park Avenue Synagogue, 50 East 87 Street, New York 28, N. Y. If any of you have failed to do so, please make your checks payable to Red Cross and mail them to the Synagogue.

Play to Highlight Meeting Of Parents Association

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The final meeting of the Parents Association will be held on Monday evening, May 21, at 8:30 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium.

After the annual election of officers and the Executive Board, the Parents Association, on the occasion of its birthday, will present a play by professional actors of the American Theatre Wing Community Players. This new comedy entitled, "Really, Mother", was adapted by Nora Sterling from some of the short stories of Cornelia Otis Skinner.

The story will ring familiar to many a parental ear. The American Theatre Wing offers its sympathy to the "rejected parent" whose hard-won wisdom of experience is of no avail, whose most conscientious efforts to please seem useless and whose state of being appears to be one of helpless dismay. It provokes laughter that transforms helplessness to humor and eventual enlightenment.

After the presentation, there will be a symposium led by a discussion leader. Refreshments and a social hour will complete this birthday celebration which members, their families and guests are invited to attend.

Musical Instruments Wanted for Israeli Youth

If you have any unused musical instruments lying about your house, here is a chance to put them to good use. Israel needs a number of musical instruments in order to bolster the morale of the newly arrived young immigrants in the current wave of the Aliyah.

Theodore R. Racoosin, a member of our Synagogue, and long identified with Israel even before the Balfour Declaration, has asked our congregants, who have no further use for these instruments, to leave them at the Synagogue office, where they will be picked up, boxed, crated and shipped to Israel.

Listed among the wanted items are: Bugles, Helikon in Es., Alt Horns in Es. Trumpett or cornet in Bb. Bariton in Bb. Clarinet in Es., Picolo in B., and Wald Horns in F (Corno). If cases for any of these instruments are available, it would be appreciated if they were also included.

Youth Group Visits Chapel At Welfare Island

A delegation from the Park Avenue Synagogue Youth Group, including Steven Stowe, Joel Siegel, Richard Fread, and Betty Goldin, recently made a visit to the Gilda Roman Chapel at the Goldwater Memorial Hospital on Welfare Island.

The purpose of their visit was to assist patients to attend the Friday Evening Services which were held in the Chapel. Prior to the services, they were personally conducted about the Hospital by Dr. Luise-Lotte Horn, Deputy Medical Superintendent at the Hospital, and an active member of our synagogue.

In expressing her thanks to these youngsters for their noble service, Dr. Horn said:

> "It was heart warming to see the response of the young folks and our patients, when we invited them to participate in the service. I want to congratulate our visitors for their splendid and quick adjustment to a brand new situation, the poise with which they conducted themselves and the anxiousness with which they took to their assignment."

This is typical of the community service which is being rendered by members of our Youth Group.

From the Desk of The Bulletin Chairman

This will be the final issue of the BULLETIN for the current season. We have endeavored to bring you news of our synagogue functions in a manner, which we hoped would arouse your reading curiosity. If we have succeeded in cultivating your interest and participation in the many synagogue activities that the enlarged facilities of the Milton Steinberg House now provide, then we shall have served a useful purpose.

Editing and publishing the BULLETIN has been a real pleasure, but this task would have been impossible without the help of our volunteer staff of contributors and Sidney R. Katz, our executive director. To all of them, the BULLETIN Chairman wishes to express his thanks and apprcciation.

And with the summer season approaching, may we wish you all a pleasant and happy summer.

Auditorium Item

By MRS. JULIA KATZ

Three weeks of hammering, sawing, painting and plastering,—and the constantly changing appearance of the Lemberg Auditorium have kept our members in a state of suspenseful curiosity.

For the peace of mind of the Congregation we have defied the long-established rules of suspense productions and asked our interior designer, Mr. Ben Glick, to let us all in on the "plot".

The architectural changes in the Lemberg Auditorium, as conceived by Mr. Glick and the members of the Synagogue Committee working with him, are designed, to transform the Auditorium from an undistinguished barnlike room into an "intimate room which will provide an equally attractive setting for the most casual as well as the most formal Synagogue functions".

To achieve this end, the monotony of unbroken expanses of wall, will be relieved by alternative panels of mirror and tekko wall papering; doors will be integrated into the overall architectural design by related paneling; posts will be transformed into columns; and a color scheme created which will make a focal point of the stage. In keeping with the general character of the Milton Steinberg House, such classic forms as the design of the columns and the wall paneling are employed to achieve a contemporary effect.

Complementing the turquoise stage curtain, and making a central point of interest of the stage, the color scheme of the Auditorium will be terra cotta doors and plastic daddo creamy white woodwork and muted gold wall coverings.

These revelations about the Auditorium are rendered somewhat anticlimatic by the fact that the work will be completed in less than ten days.

In addition. the Cohen Library, furnished by Mr. Glick, affords an excellent example of his success in creating an interior which reflects the dignified and contemporary character of our building.

Mr. Ben Glick is of the firm of Ben Glick and Paul Schulke, Inc. Interior Designers. They have worked on the interiors of institutions, private organizations and large commercial establishments.

Refuah Shalomah To Our Cantors

Hazzan David J. Putterman has been confined to his home for several weeks past. Despite his doctor's orders, he left a sick bed to participate in the Annual Liturgical Music Festival, held on Friday, May 11.

Due to his continued illness, he was unable to be with us on the Shavuoth Holidays. We were fortunate, however, with his help, to secure the services of Cantor Frank Birnbaum from the Cantor's Institute, who was able, with but a few rehearsals at the home of Cantor Putterman, to conduct the musical portion of our services in a creditable manner.

Our thanks to Cantor Birnbaum and our best wishes for a speedy recovery to Hazzan David J. Putterman.

Our Bal Korah, Cantor Abraham Friedman, has recently returned to his home from the hospital, where he has been confined for the past six weeks. During his recuperation, Mr. Emil Wrescher has substituted in the reading of the Torah during the Sabbath services. To Mr. Wrescher, go our thanks and to Cantor Friedman, our best wishes for a speedy return to health. Refuah Shalomah.

Milton Weill Award Shared By Two Institutions

The first Milton Weill Award for outstanding contributions to health and social welfare was shared by two Long Island institutions, the Hillside Hospital in Glen Oaks and the Jewish Community Service of Long Island in Jamaica.

This award, which was created by friends of Mr. Weill, who served as president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies from 1951 to 1954, was given to these two institutions for a joint three-year project in helping mental patients return to normal living.

Despite his participation in communal affairs, Mr. Weill has been active in the Park Avenue Synagogue, having served as a former chairman of the Board of Trustees and as chairman of the Pulpit Committee. At present, he is a member of the Board and also serves on the Pulpit Committee.

WHY SHOULD MY CHILD GO TO RELIGIOUS SCHOOL?

By attending a modern Jewish school, together with others of his own age, your child will gain a rich and joyful experience as a Jew. He will learn the great heritage of our people . . . the traditions and culture of Jews through the ages . . . the Jewish ethics and ideals which have contributed to the development of the American democratic spirit. He will grow up with a deep love and understanding of the privilege of being Jewish. Your child will find identification with you, your family, the synagogue, the Jewish community in the United States and with the Jewish people throughout the world.

Religious Views Recalled of the Late Adolph Ochs

By JACOB KLEIN

There are many great men to whom we Jews as well as the entire world are greatly indebted, and one of these is the late Adolph Ochs, founder and original owner of the New York Times.

Mr. Ochs was not only a leader in the field of journalism but also inspired the men and women with whom he was associated, in his deep attachment to Judaism. Recently, I had some correspondence with the Ochs family which I am sure will be of interest to the members of our congregation. It related to an editorial that appeared in the New York Times at the time of Mr. Ochs' death.

The editorial quoted from a book written by William Durant, "On the Meaning of Life." In October 1931, when Mr. Durant was preparing this book, he wrote to Mr. Ochs for his views, and Mr. Ochs' reply is quoted in the book as well as the comments of Mr. Durant which follows:

"Evidently religion does not die; in the vast majority of men it is still a living force for good and ill. I find a sincere note of it in the reply of Adolph Ochs, publisher of that finest achievement in modern journalism, the New York Times; by this letter I am better able to understand the solid, quiet success of this man in making his paper the most respected and most influential in America without ever catering to the mob.

"New York, Oct. 22, 1931.

"Dear Mr. Durant:

You ask me what meaning life has for me, what help—if any—religion gives me, what keeps me going, what are the sources of my inspirations and my energy, what is the goal or motive force of my toil, where I find my consolation and my happiness, where in the last resort my treasure lies.

To make myself clearly undrestood, if I were able to do so, would take more time and thought than I can give the matter now. Suffice it for me to say that I inherited good health and sound moral principles; I found pleasure in work that came to my hand and in doing it conscientiously: I found joy and satisfaction in being helpful to my parents and others, and in thus making my life worth while, found happiness and consolation. My Jewish home life and religion gave me a spiritual uplift and a sense of responsibility to my subconscious better self-which I think is the God within me, the Unknowable, the Inexplicable. This makes me believe I am more than an animal, and that this life cannot be the end of our spiritual future.

Yours faithfully
Adolph S. Ochs"

The deep religious spirit expressed by Mr. Ochs which shaped his life and his thinking inspired me to write to Arthur Hays Sulzbergsr, president and publisher of the New York Times for the purpose of securing any additional information that might be available on this subject. The following reply was received from Mrs. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, a daughter of Mr. Ochs:

"The New York Times
Times Square

April 6, 1956

Dear Mr. Klein:

My husband turned over to me your letter of March 28 asking for comments on my father's statement to Will Durant in 1931. I really don't think I can add very much to this as I believe the statement speaks fully for itself.

My father was raised in a Liberal Jewish household but one which took religion very seriously. He was devout though he did not attend services regularly.

He frequently told me that he felt that belonging to a minority group was of the greatest value to him as it made him very conscious of the feelings and problems of the underdog. I don't know if it really was that or just his innate goodness, but I know of no one who had more devoted friends and did more to enrich the lives of others than he. If he had an enemy, he must have been the silent type because no one every heard from him. My father was not only a great leader in the field of journalism but also his precepts and example still are the inspiraion of the men and women who produce the New York Times and the Chattanooga Times.

Sincerely,
Iphigene Ochs Sulzberger
(Mrs. Arthur Hays Sulzberger

What Adolph Ochs accomplished is well expressed in a speech delivered by Daniel Webster in Boston, in 1852:

"If we work upon marble, it will perish
"If we work upon brass, time will efface it,
But if we work upon men's immortal minds,
If we imbue men with high principles, with the just Fear of God and love of their fellow men,
We engrave on those tablets something which no time can efface,
And which will brighten and brighten to all eternity."

The New York Times stands for an everlasting monument to the memory and glory of Adolph Ochs. That he was proud to publicly proclaim that he was a Jew and his great debt to his Jewish heritage is a credit to his memory.

The Hebrew Department of the Religious School will hold its closing exercises on Wednesday afternoon, June 13.

Grade Two Siddur Service

For the past two months classes 2A, 2B and 2T have been busily preparing for the project; the fruits of which will be presented on Wednesday, June 6, in the Appleman Chapel to the parents, friends and guests of the students.

The "Siddur Service" is modeled upon the Friday Evening Service in the Synagogue and will include original prayers, responsive readings and the general Friday evening liturgy. The organist for the service will be Mark Siegel of Class 2A. Preliminary remarks will be delivered by Sheldon Steinbach. Original prayers written for this service will be presented by Pamela Foa, Donald Bachman, and Mark Siegel.

The highpoint of the afternoon will be presentation of personalized prayer books to each child in Grade 2 by Mr. Leichtling and Miss Lily Rubee of the Jewish Education Committee.

The following children will participate in the service:

Sisterhood plus Millheiser Equal one Bride's Room

Because of the generosity of Sisterhood of Park Avenue Synagogue which last week contributed $1,100 for the special purpose of creating a Bride's Room in connection with our weddings and the able assistance of our ingenious Chairman of the House Committee, Mortimer D. Millheiser.

The Synagogue is now well on the road towards being able to boast of a very beautiful Bride's Room. Leading off the left side of the stage of the Lemberg Auditorium in what previously had been a rather beat-up ramshackle looking dressing room we now have a freshly decorated and painted Bride's Room with pretty fixtures. It is also understood that the furnishings will also in some manner find their way into the Bride's Room.

Mr. Millheiser was ably assisted by Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, Mrs. Benjamin Sack and Arthur Ochs. All that we need now are some brides, and judging by the trends which seem inevitable, the trek of brides-to-be towards weddings in our Synagogue is about to begin.

State Scholarships

The Board of Regents of the State of New York recently announced the winners of the annual scholarship awards throughout the state. The awards are granted to the candidates who score the highest marks on a comprehensive nine-hour competitive written examination. Each scholarship carries a yearly stipend of $350 for four years and may be applied towards the tuition in any college in the State of New York.

Four students, who formerly attended our Religious School and were Bar Mitzvah in our Synagogue, were among the recipients of the awards this year. Congratulations to Edward I. Curtiss, Lee B. Reichman, Stephen J. Heyman and Theodore A. Zucker.

Confirmation-Graduation Exercises Held May 16

The Confirmation-Graduation Exercises of the Religious School were held as part of the religious services on the first day of Shavuoth, May 16. Those who participated in the service and who received diplomas were: Jay W. Adam, Phyllis J. Brody, Leona R. Giat, Sara L. Gore, David J. Reichman, Jon D. Waldman, Joseph M. Weintraub and Elliot P. Zucker.

The graduating class selected as its composite effort, a portion from the first chapter of the Ethics of the Fathers, "Three Foundations of Life." The first Pirka tells us that it was Simon, the Just, who said that the world was based upon three things: Torah, Worship, and Charity. Jon D. Waldman introduced the theme; David J. Reichman discussed the "Importance of Torah"; Joseph M. Weintraub, the "Role of Worship"; and Elliot P. Zucker, "Acts of Kindness."

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, chairman of the School Board, presented the graduates with diplomas and bibles for the girls, and books for the boys, gifts from Sisterhood. Each of the graduates also received a money gift from an "anonymous donor."

The Youth Leadership Award, an annual award sponsored by the Men's Club in cooperation with the National Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs, to the graduate who demonstrated the "greatest aptitude for leadership in Jewish life", went to Elliot P. Zucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zucker, active members of our congregation. In presenting the award, consisting of a sterling silver medal and a certificate, Mr. Milton M. Sivek, president of the Men's Club, mentioned the fact that a similar award was made several years ago to Theodore Zucker, a brother of the present recipient.

Following the services, a reception was held in honor of the Confirmands in the Lemberg Auditorium to which the entire congregation was invited. The refreshments were in charge of a special committee from the Parents Association, consisting of Mrs. Sam Deutsch, Mrs. Albert Siegel, Mrs. Bernard Fread, and Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, who also arranged the beautiful table decorations.

Fourth Annual Convention, March, 1956
Report of Educators Assembly
United Synagogue of America

By MARTIN LEICHTLING

The Congregational School, throughout the United States is grappling with the problem of Jewish education for our young people beyond the age of Bar Mitzvah and Bas Mitzvah. The acceptance of the synagogue educational program on the elementary level, with its requirements and standards for Bar Mitzvah and onfirmation, and the growing acceptance of education for the adult permits us, now, to concentrate our efforts, on the development of an educational program on the teen-age level.

Mr. Henry Goldberg, past President of Educators Assembly, in his keynote address, emphasized the need for developing a curriculum based upon the needs and the experinces of the teenager. Though the adolescent may sometimes resent direction from the adult, it would be a mistake to seek to develop an educational program on this level on a purely voluntary acceptance of these courses by the students. Parents must be made to realize the importance of their role in the education of their children beyond the age of thirteen. These sentiments about the position of the parent were echoed by several speakers at the seminar sessions who described experiences in their respective communities. All clearly stated that student recruitment for the High School must begin on the elementary level and that such recruitment will only be successful if it involves an understanding both by the student and his parent of the value of his continued Jewish education.

I attended three seminars devoted to specific problems in this field of education—

"Organization and Development of a High School"

"Curriculum for Extensive and Intensive High School"

"Co-Curricular Activities: LTF, USY, Ramah" and, list below some of the major thoughts expressed:

1. The High School must be a regular department of the school with stated objectives, a four-year course, a set curriculum with texts, tests and credits granted for completion of courses.
2. The High School must develop interest in its studies within the curriculum and not through its co-curricular activities. The inherent value of the material taught must be recognized by the student.
3. The High School must have a curriculum and a co-curricular program—each individual, yet integrated and helping to strengthen each other.
4. The High School must offer two types of educational programs—an intensive program for those who wish to enrich and further their education in Hebrew and an extensive program for those with less interest in Hebrew.
5. The development and the encouragement of Leaders' Training Fellowship and United Synagogue Youth groups and summers spent at Camp Ramah will strengthen the High School department.
6. The young people must be integrated within the congregational synagogue structure—Why not a Youth Congregation to take its place between the Junior Congregation and the Adult Congregation.
7. The High School must draw its curriculum from Sources of Judaism, Hebrew language and Jewish values.
8. The High School's success will be dependent upon the selection of teachers who qualify both as peragogues and as those who understand the needs and the interests of the adolescent. This presents a serious problem and the Assembly devoted a seminar to the problem of "Recruitment and Training of Teachers."

The development of a High School program is essential for the fuller educational growth of our young people. but the goals and the curriculum of such a school must be carefully analyzed. As I listened to the discussants at the various seminars, I was struck by the frequent proud comments that the graduates from the High School later enrolled in Teachers' Institutes. One may, of course, expect the better students in our schools to be interested in continuing their Hebrew education in institutions of higher learning, but, if our High Schools are to appeal to the greater number of our students, they must also be geared to the educational needs of the many, rather than just to the needs of the upper percentile of our students.

absorption of thousands of North African immigrants into Israel."

Together with Jacob Starr, Gustave Yuder and Max Zahler as co-chairmen, Mr. Kogan urges all those who have failed to send in their reservations, to do so at once.

Mr. Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, sent the following message: "The Board of Trustees of the Synagogue wishes to impress upon everyone the importance of attending the UJA dinner on June 7 in the Lemberg Auditorium. The occasion will likewise be the opportunity to honor one of the faithful and tireless workers for UJA and the Synagogue, Dr. Harold A. Osserman."

Youth Activities News

By HY SANKEL

Sports

Any program for teenagers if it is to meet the needs of these growing youngsters must include sports. Unfortunately, we do not possess the physical facilities. However, we have been able to include this phase of the program through the utilization of community resources. We plan basketball at Kehilath Jeshurun, baseball at Central Park and handball at Ansche Chessed. Recently in keeping with the Lag B'Omer tradition of outdoor sports, we played a double header baseball game. The Senior Club beat Kehilath Jeshurun 6-4 and the Junior Club lost to the Seniors of Ansche Chessed 13-1.

United Jewish Appeal

The teen agers raised the munificent sum of $300 at a recent dance which is being contributed in its entirety to the United Jewish Appeal. Not only were the Youngsters given the opportunity to aid this vital cause, and to develop an allegiance with Israel, but they had a wonderful time in the process. This is the second annual event for the U.J.A.

Hebrew Dances

Although discussions and lectures are helpful in developing an understanding of Judaism, a true appreciation of the culture of our people can sometimes be better attained by active participation in some phase of its life. With this thought in mind, the youth program expanded its activities to include a Hebrew Song and Dance Group. The progress of the group was so remarkable that we entered it in the City-Wide Hebrew Dance Festival of the United Synagogue Youth. Their performance received wide acclaim. Participating members were: Cecily Falkenstein, Elli Frischberg, Nessi Hyams, Lynn Rushmore. Leonard Stern and Martin Coopersmith.

Seminar and Dance

The clubs ended their season on a high note of accomplishment. Saturday, May 26 was set aside for study and good times. In the afternoon a series of study groups led by teenagers were organized. Many of the more serious minded youth were given an opportunity to spend the afternoon discussing problems in which they were interested. The afternoon ended with Israeli Folk Dances. Panel leaders were: John Kogan, Ted Pincus, Leonard Stern, Joan Rubinstein, Cecily Falkenstein, Mike Kohn and Richard Fread.

In the evening a most successful dance was held with a live band and free refreshments. It began with a Havdalah Service led by John Stangel. The session ended with a "bang".

Everyone is looking forward to next year when our augmented staff will be able to accommodate the scores of youngsters that had to be refused admittance to the program because the most optimistic predictions of growth could not envision the great demand for entrance that developed.

Sisterhood News

By MRS. DOROTHY SOKOLOW

Sisterhood, with its long record of achievements for the Park Avenue Synagogue, is always developing new projects. It was thrilling the other day, when an appeal was made for coffee pots to be used for the Friday night Oneg Shabbats and other Synagogue meetings, to learn that one of our members volunteered to pay for this item. We salute Mr. and Mrs. Solomon E. Green for their generous donation of $360 to cover the cost. Every time we use these items we shall be reminded of the kindness of our donors.

By this time you have also learned of the project involving the redecoration of the Ladies Lounge and a Bride's Room. Sisterhood has already contributed $1,100 to defray the cost thus far involved in this new endeavor.

Pianos Wanted

There is a great need for a piano in the Milton Steinberg House to be used by the music class. If you have any upright piano that you are contemplating selling or giving away, would you please bear us in mind and contact Mr. Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director at the Synagogue office, telephone EN 9-2600.

Summer Wedding Schedule Active

June and July will mark a series of Synagogue weddings as well as in many cases wedding reception parties at the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The Synagogue family arranging for a wedding is that of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Helpern whose daughter Nancy is marrying Mr. Edward D. Moldover on Sunday, July 22.

In addition, six weddings of non-members are scheduled for June.

From the Heart of the Membership Chairman

By HARRY J. SOKOLOW

For many months, this Chairman and his Committee by authority and mandate of the Board of Trustees of your Synagogue have been trying to put into praetiee the dues survey that was made by Asa D. Sokolow. Many of you have responded. Some with such heart warming letters of praise and encouragement and hope for the future of our Synagogue, that despite the many loves by many of us—it has truly been a labor of love. Spaee does not permit us to publish a few of these letters. To those of you who are disregarding the letters, we regret to inform you that the basic minimums must be established lest we run into a erisis. The rising eosts of maintaining an institution sueh as ours makes it just your duty to support it. Seeondly, your pride in belonging to it and therefor your share in its responsibility—if we are to be known as the Cathedral Congregation in the Conservative movement, let us all prove it.

A survey also reveals what it actually eosts to earry a family of two wherefore these minimums were established. The tiekets for the High Holy Days will go out about June 1 due to the early Rosh Hashanah when some of you may be away for it is just a few days after Labor Day. We urge you to follow the pattern of the many, loyal, eager Congregants who for a long time have shouldered the responsibility that should be ours. Would you help them share it? Please answer the third letter or meet with the Committee as soon as possible. We want all of you to stay with us if possible, and we assure you that the Pulpit Committee will obtain the best possible for the Pulpits in both the Synagogue and Lemberg Auditorium. They are sparing no effort.

We invite your immediate attention to the faet and ask you to answer or meet with the Committee. Just call the office for an appointment.

Condolences

A day upon which to reminisce, to evaluate and to give thanks for the privilege of again answering "present" at the annual roll call.

Sincerest greetings to all of you and to the great body of Jewry, not only here in the United States, but to Israel, and to Jews all over the world not only for this year, but for many, many years to come.

2 Months and 28 Days to Sisterhood Luncheon

Just in case you neglected to do so, please be sure to make the appropriate notation on your calendar now for WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28 — SISTERHOOD LUNCHEON.

Sisterhood News

By DOROTHY SOKOLOW

Eighty-nine days left for Luncheon and Matinee for Sisterhood of Park Avenue Synagogue. As you make plans for the New Year, it would be wise to jot down on your calendar Wednesday, November 28 at 11:30 A.M. at The Sheraton-Astor where the Sisterhood will meet for Brunch, have an opportunity to meet all their friends, possibly win the "Color Television" which is the prize—and then see "Auntie Mame" with Rosalind Russell which promises to be the hit for this season.

The Committees have all been hard at work all summer—and your books will be in your hands before September 15. You all have the same opportunity to get a good seat. The decision rests with you.

An unusual Committee of "Busy Bees" have made table center decorations. To have seen them every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 10:00 to 12:00 in the Milton Steinberg House working away was a very exciting and stimulating experience. To Mrs. Regina Stangel and her Committee of Mrs. Leon Klein, Mrs. Charles Weisberg, Mrs. Albert Siegel, Mrs. Bruno Foa, and Mrs. Jack Kurzweill, our deepest gratitude.

Your reward will come the day of the Luncheon when all the assembled guests—and we hope to have 700—will see your unusual—original—works of art.

Men's Club New Year's Greetings

As the High Holy Days approach, the Men's Club extends its warm greetings to our Congregants and to men of good will everywhere.

We hope and pray that the New Year will bring the promise of peace throughout the world.

May the coming year be fruitful in many ways: rich in opportunities to serve God and fellowman: to establish security and peace of mind: and may it bring enduring satisfaction in creative achievement.

May the coming year be a joyous one for you . . . and the forerunner of many Happy New Years-

MILTON M. SIVEK
President, Men's Club

Greetings from Parents Association

On behalf of the Parents Association, I take great pleasure in greeting the parents of children in our Religious School. Now that the summer months are over —and we have all had an opportunity to relax—we approach the New Year with renewed faith and confidence.

It is my earnest hope that with the excellent school facilities now available —and the expanded youth program— more children will be encouraged to take advantage of the Hebrew education offered by our Religious School—where the quality of teaching is of the highest.

However, in order to make the ideals of Judaism—as taught through our books a reality, it is important that parents assume an active role in the learning process. This can best be achieved by participating in the program of the Parents Association; which is dedicated toward interpreting the needs of both children and parents, enriching the curriculum wherever possible,—and serving at all times as a liaison between the home and the school. Only then, can the happy experiences gained in the Hebrew School become part of the child's daily life.

And so, I urge every parent, to assume a greater responsibility in the program of the Parents Association—and the activities of the Synagogue. This will insure a well-rounded experience in Judaism for the entire family.

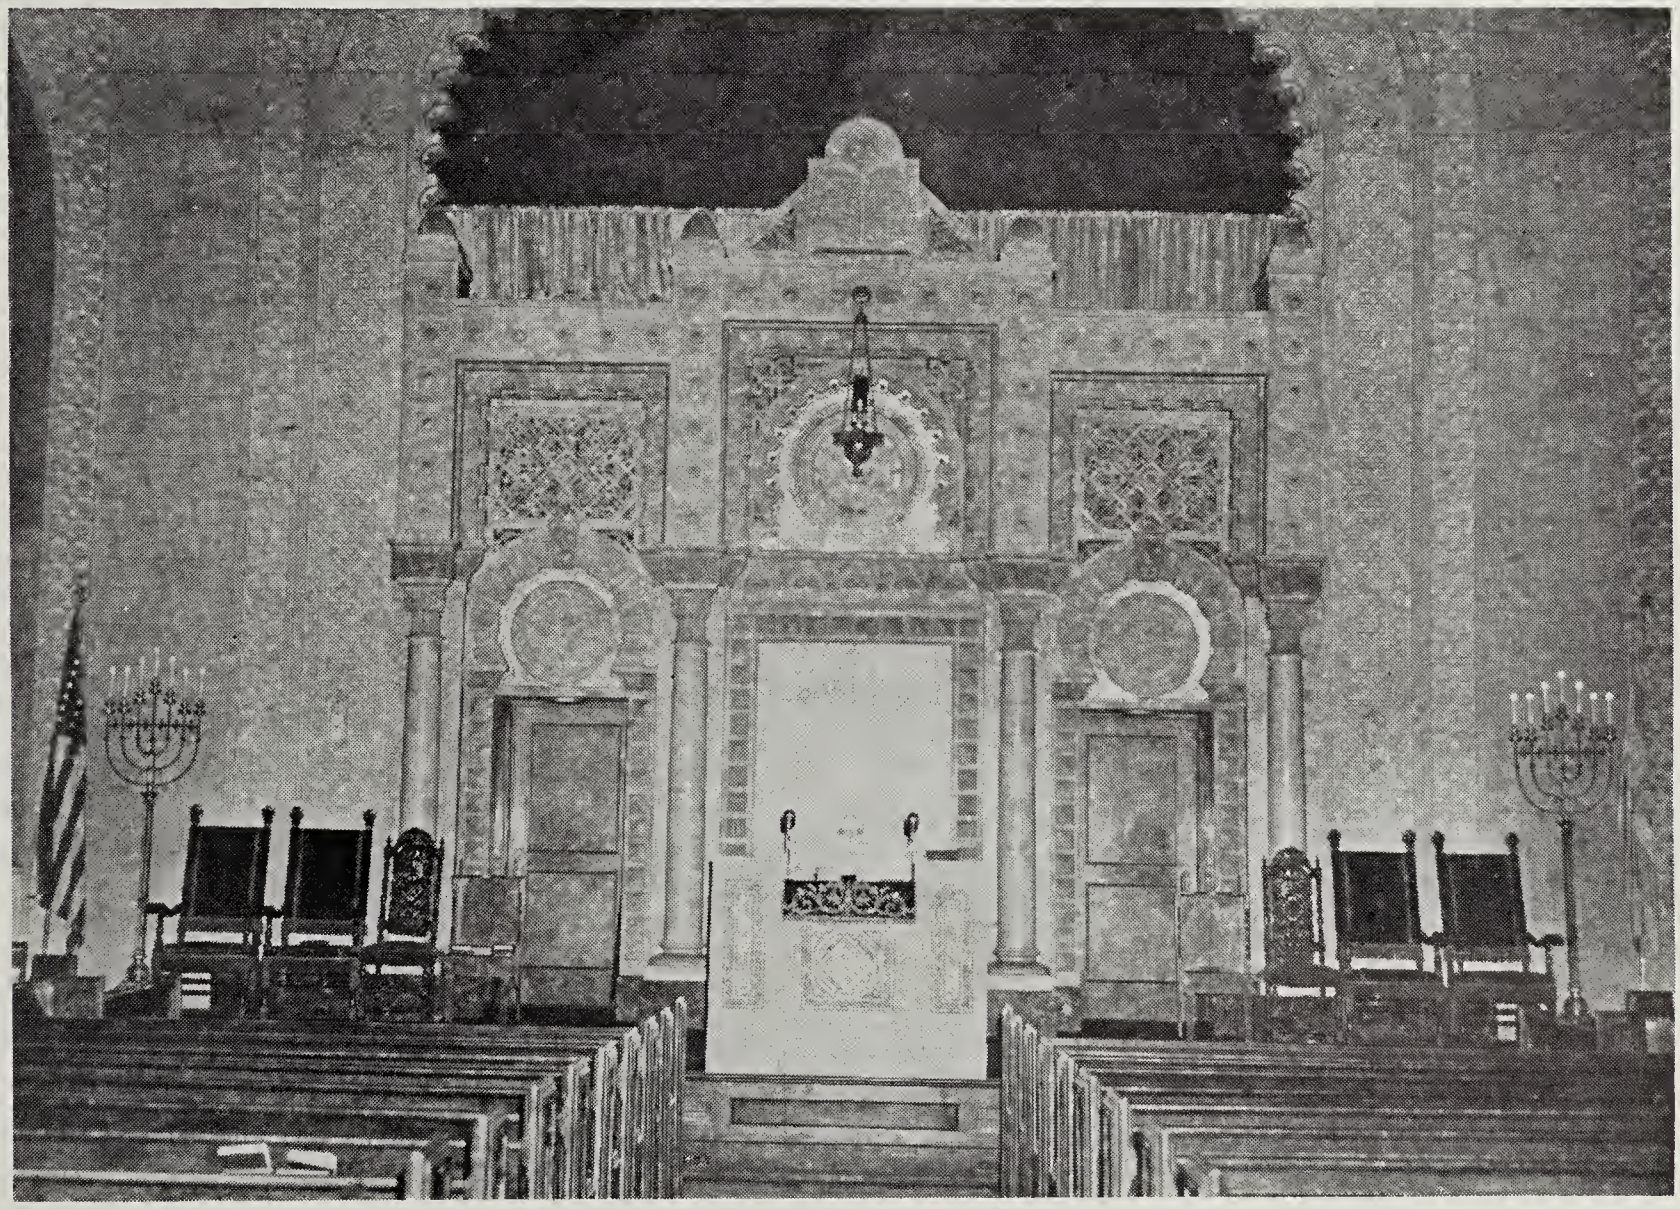

May I close—with a New Year's greeting to all!

LILLIAN HELPERN
President, Parents Association

SYNAGOGUE INTERIOR RECENTLY RENOVATED

For the first time since the present quarters of the Park Avenue Synagogue at 50 East 87th Street had been erected just 30 years ago, the interior of the Synagogue Sanctuary underwent a thorough cleaning and refurbishing.

All the years of soot and New York City dirt which had worked its way into thousands of squarc feet of stone and marble were patiently and tirelessly removed by a large crew of working men during the summer.

An entire structure of scaffolding had to be built in the Synagogue in order to reach all the high and remote areas.

The work was done under the active supervision of Mortimer D. Milldeiscr, Chairman of the House Committee, and Saul Godwin, Chairman of the Building Committee.

Jewish Holiday Stories

Five charming stories, lavishly illustrated in multiple colors, that will delight the heart and capture the soul of the pre-school Jewish child, have recently been published by the United Synagogue Commission on Jewish Education.

The stories deal with the joyous adventures of three young children in an American Jewish home. The style is vivid and rhythmic, the stories intriguing. The exciting adventures of Mimmy, Joel and Baby Dan will result in the child's happy identification with the heroes of the stories.

The illustrations are by artists who have won awards and honors for their outstanding talents in illustrating books for the very young.

Books in this series now available are: GOOD SHABBOS, EVERYBODY, HAPPY HANUKAH EVERYBODY, PESAH IS COMING!, PESAH IS HERE!, and THE SUKKAH AND THE BIG WIND.

The books — ideal gifts for young children for every occasion — are priced at $1.00 each and may be ordered through the Religious School office. Checks must accompany all orders.

Principal Speaks At New Milford Congregation

Martin Leichtling, principal of the Religious School, was the guest speaker, on August 20, 1956, at a congregational meeting of the New Milford (N.J.) Jewish Community Center.

Mr. Leichtling, who spoke on the subject "An Enriched Program of Education for the American-Jewish Child", stressed the need for a varied and intensive program of education for both boys and girls from the early formative years through the post-confirmation years, if the religious school is to achieve the standards and ideals of the congregational school as set by the United Synagogue Commission on Education.

High Holiday Services At Jewish Museum

High Holy Day services for the young people and the children of the Congregation will be held, as in previous years, at the Jewish Museum, 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue. The facilities of the Museum have been made available to the Park Avenue Synagogue through the kindness of Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, curator of the Museum.

Services for the students in the Hebrew Department of the school will be conducted by the members of the Junior Congregation under the direction of Irving Spielman, of the Jewish Theological Seminary, assisted by Walter Stein at the organ. Special services will also be conducted for the younger children, ages 6 to 9, who attend the Primary Department. This service will be of particular appeal to our children who cannot read Hebrew. It will provide them with real emotional and religious experience.

Tickets for the services at the Museum have been mailed to all students enrolled in the Religious School. Parents may secure tickets for children not registered in the School by calling the Synagogue Office.

From the Chairman of Membership Committee

On the Eve of the New Year, may I take this opportunity of thanking all the members who have complied with the ruling of the Board of Trustees, and met the standards required of them. We have very carefully followed the plan as outlined by the architect of the Dues Survey, Mr. Asa D. Sokolow.

Despite some unpleasant experiences, one letter stating "May I congratulate you and your Committee on the outstanding job you have done—and may I voluntarily increase my dues to $500.

Signed, J.K."

have made working at the Synagogue several nights a week for many months a labor of love.

The recollection of members like M. M. who brought his annual dues up to $750, or like M. G. to $800, helps make the burden of such tasks like this much more bearable.

May I also welcome the new members. We hope that you will enjoy worshipping with us, and that you will get into the spirit of all our activities.

To Mr. Archie Thurman, Mr. Joe Katz, Mr. Harry Halbren, Mr. Sidney R. Katz and Mr. Emanuel Rosenthal our regulars at this time and to Mr. Tubie Resnik and Mr. Edward Kaye and Mr. Emanuel Hoelman, my very, very sincere thanks.

HARRY J. SOKOLOW

is Co-Director of the American Jewish History Center with Dr. Allan Nevins, Professor of American History at Columbia University. In May, 1956 Rabbi Davis received a Guggenheim fellowship to study the growth of the Jewish tradition in America.

Of special personal interest to us is a fact that Rabbi Davis, while still a student at the Seminary about 15 years ago, accepted an invitation from the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg to teach at our Religious School. Some of our families will have a very gratifying personal association with him.

Rabbi David C. Kogen will assist Rabbi Davis. Rabbi Kogen, also a national figure in Jewish life, is currently the Director of Community Activities at the United Synagogue of America. Rabbi Kogen was a Rabbi at a Congregation in British Columbia for almost 10 years and has also served in the B'nai B'rith Hillel movement.

We know that our Congregants will look forward with pride to the distinction which these Rabbis will bring to our Congregation in the forthcoming High Holidays even though they are serving only in a temporary capacity until such time as our new Rabbi is selected.

Rabbis Davis and Kogen will each deliver separate sermons. The theme of Dr. Moshe Davis' sermons on Rosh Hashanah will be "The Able Heart". Rabbi Kogen's topics will be "The Best Year of Our Lives".

On Yom Kippur, Rabbi Kogen's theme will be "As You Will It", and Dr. Davis' sermon will be on "The Sabbath of Sabbaths".

Hazzan David J. Putterman will participate in the officiation as in the past accompanied by the choir and the organist George Crook.

Isidor Hahn, long-time member of the Synagogue, will again blow the Shofar.

9th Annual Political Meeting Opens Men's Club Season

By HARVEY GLASSER

The first meeting of Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue for the 1956-57 season will be the 9th annual political meeting to be held at the end of October. In this extremely important and exciting presidential election year, no one will want to miss Men's Club very popular political meeting which will take on added importance and drama. The date and details will be announced later.

Once again, all men of the Synagogue are urged to join Men's Club and participate in the varied and interesting program of activities and meetings for which Men's Club has become renowned. A gala program of outstanding events, personalities and topics will be presented throughout the year. Watch the BULLETIN for notices of all meetings and events. You and your friends are cordially invited.

Men's Club President Milton Sivek has announced the appointment of Harvey Glasser replacing Louis I. Heller as Corresponding Secretary of Men's Club. Mr. Heller resigned to accept appointment as Executive Secretary and Educational Administrator of Cong. Beth Israel of Atlantic City, N. J. Mr. Glasser will also assume Mr. Heller's other duties as editor of Men's Club Memo and publicity representative of Men's Club on the Park Avenue Synagogue BULLETIN.

Louis I. Heller has served both Men's Club and the Synagogue untiringly with distinction and devotion over many years and we all wish him Godspeed in his new endeavor.

Mr. Sivek also announced the following appointments: Jack Boorstein has been reappointed Chaplain of Men's Club. Monroe Heyward has been reappointed as chairman of the program committee and Dr. Sigmund Siegel has been reappointed as chairman of the membership committee. Other committee chairmen and the makeup of committees will be announced in the near future.

At the request of Mr. Ezra Cohen, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, Men's Club is organizing an ushering committee which will serve the Synagogue on the High Holidays and at Sabbath services.

September 18 Meeting: Open Invitation From The Young Marrieds

With the celebration of our seventh year as an active and participating affiliated group of the Park Avenue Synagogue, we extend to the officers and congregation all good wishes for a happy and joyous New Year. It is our hope and prayer that this New Year will bring tranquility to Israel and that world Jewry will prosper.

As you know, our group is dedicated to the fostering of fellowship among the younger element of our Synagogue and our aim, aside from being social, is to bring a religous understanding of the "Jewish way of life" to our members. From personal experience I know that membership in the Young Marrieds and active participation in its programs and activities not only does this, but it also creates a better understanding and reveals some of the responsibility some day to be bourne by the youth of today.

With this in mind, I wish to take this opportunity to extend an invitation to all our contemporaries, whether new members of the Synagogue or old, to join us at our opening meeting to be held in the Lemberg Auditorium on September 18, 1956. Our program for the coming year will be planned and speakers, symposia and social events will be submitted for approval and suggestion. We expect a record turnout. Won't you join us?

Visitor From Australia Here on Yom Kippur

By NELSON RUTTENBERG

Among the several visitors who prayed with us on Yom Kippur was Sim Crawcour from Launcestor, Tasmania, Australia. Although a business trip took him thousands of miles from his family, he was not among strangers but at home, sharing the Holyday spirit with his fellow Jews.

Sunday morning after the Holydays, Mr. Crawcour, who is president of the Launcestor Hebrew Congregation, stopped into the synagogue office to tell us how much he enjoyed the services and to express his thanks for having been permitted to worship with us as our guest.

The Launcestor congregation is perhaps the smallest in the world, consisting of 31 members including men, women and children. After having been closed for 60 years, the synagogue was finally re-opened in 1938. Mr. Crawcour's daughter was married in the synagogue in 1951, the first wedding ceremony that had taken place there in 85 years. As our Australian friend said to us, "Giggle that one off."

Rabbi Moshe Davis and Manny Rosenthal, who were present during Mr. Crawcour's visit, agreed that it was a revelation. It was additional proof of the universality of the Jew and the endless chain that links Jews together all over the world. Before leaving, Mr. Crawcour asked for a copy of the prayer book which we use on the High Holydays. He left with one of our Holiday prayer books inscribed with the compliments of the Park Avenue Synagogue as a memento of his brief sojourn with us. He had entered our midst as a stranger but had left as an old friend.

Congratulations To Sisterhood

By this time, most of you have received the notice of Sisterhood's program for the coming season.

While many of us have been enjoying our summer vacations, the officers and committee chairmen of our ladies organization have been busily engaged in planning their various functions.

Theirs is an ambitious program and they are to be congratulated for this worthy effort. At their first luncheon meeting, Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer will relate his personal experiences while touring Soviet Russia as a member of a delegation of Rabbis who went there to find out what the Jewish situation was behind the Iron Curtain.

The program, in keeping with the high standards of previous years, provides for monthly meetings and should be well attended.

Teen-Agers

It is significant at this time of the year to note how the young people of our synagogue understand and fulfill their responsibilities to the community as a whole but especially to the Jewish community. In addition to the $300 contributed to the U.J.A., they continued the tradition begun under the leadership of Doris Wimpfheimer to aid in the support of the Synagogue Library and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. Money was also contributed to the American Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy, the American Jewish Society for Service, and an interracial camp for underprivileged children.

Clubs Begin

Clubs begin meeting the week of September 30. Teen-agers on Sunday, September 30; Game Room on Monday, October 1; Boy Scouts on Tuesday; Arts and Crafts on Wednesday; Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Brownies on Friday. Early registration at the Education Office may preclude later disappointment.

Diamond Jubilee Year of Park Avenue Synagogue Hailed by Ezra Cohen, Board Chairman

This message was delivered to the Congregation by Mr. Ezra Cohen on Kol Nidre night directly following the sermons of the Rabbis.

On this day, much of the service is given over to individual soul searching. In keeping with the solemnity of the occasion it would seem quite proper for us also to do a little collective stock taking,—as a group—as an institution. Perhaps we should indulge in a brief analysis. Where do we stand as of the moment? How may we chart our course for the future?

With the absence of permanent spiritual leadership we are most grateful to Rabbi Moshe Davis and Rabbi David Kogen for the splendid cooperation they are giving us in these High Holy Day services. They are helping out in the emergency at no little inconvenience to themselves. -Each had prior commitments and adjustments had to be made. With the alert direction of our own Hazzan David— and the musical portion which grows more elegant each year, all have united their efforts to bring us observances that are beautiful as they are impressive.

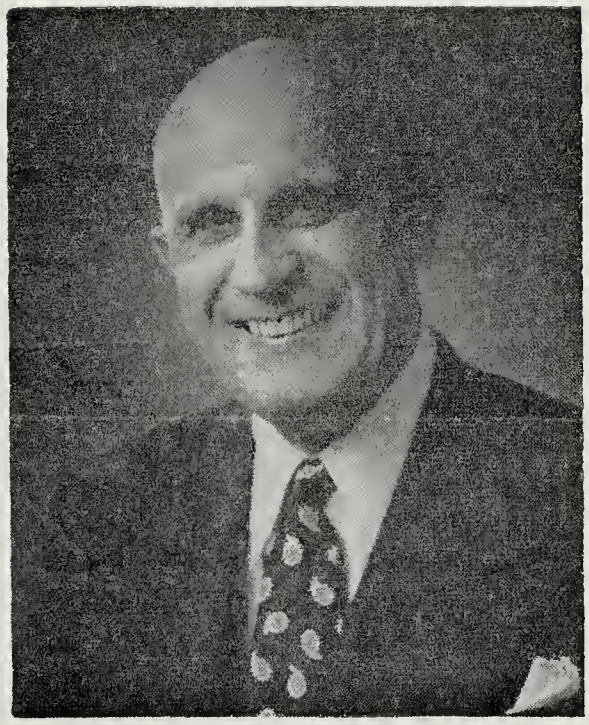

Three score and 15 years ago a handful of people organized themselves into a congregation. They named it Agudath Jeshorim. Later on because of location and habit, it became known as THE PARK AVENUE SYNAGOGUE but its Hebrew name is still retained. So—beginning with this Jewish year 5717, we celebrate our 75th Anniversary as a synagogue, our Diamond Jubilee. There will be a series of events and observances throughout. You have already received in the mail the dates of the main functions. It would be well to list them on your calendars. You can be assured that each will have a particular signifieanee and each will be noteworthy in itself.

Culminating all the observances and celebrations there will be the grand get-together social for the entire membership,—The Diamond Jubilee Dinner on Mareh 31 at the Sheraton-Astor Hotel. Further information will be sent in the mail and will be published in the BULLETIN as each of the several programs is rounded out and eaeh of the committees sets up its individual plans.

The members of this Congregation make up a very diversified group. The main strength, of course, stems from the devotion of the rank and file, the average you and me person. Each one of us makes a contribution of time and service, some modestly, some adequately and some in extra good measure,—nevertheless their combined effort is the bulwark of this institution.

In addition we have many outstanding leaders in the professions, in business and in the creative arts. It is hard to name a calling in which one or more of our members has not made a significant eontribution or is not regarded as prominent in the field. We have a number of eminent jurists among us. We have members of the bar with careers of distinction and renown. In the field of medicine we have some of the top men in their chosen specialities. In so many of the produetive enterprises we have names whieh arc bywords as representing unusually successful aceomplishments.

Chairman of Board

EZRA COHEN

But most important of all,—we have in this Congregation a whol array of real leaders in community service and philanthropy. Mind you, this does not imply the matter of large donations, although there are plenty of those. This Synagogue furnishes leaders that head up the drives, the men and women who take on the real work. They serve on the innermost eouneils, where delicate matters of policy and planning are considered. They are a dominant influenee in the success of so many of these enterprises and their establishment on a firm and lasting basis.

With this type of membership it would appear that this Synagogue should take its plaee, rightfully, as a potent cultural and moral force in the community picture, not only on the local level, but on the national and the international as well. Perhaps a development of this kind is somewhat overdue. Perhaps it has been retarded by circumstances. Perhaps it will soon unfold in natural sequence.

As you entered here this evening or during the Rosh Hashanah services you must have noticed the almost complete renovation of the entire interior building. The Lemberg Auditorium has been redecorated and modernized. The main auditorium and entrance lobbies have been eleansed of all the accumulated dust and grime which had settled over the years.

It was very interesting to watch how this was done. The scaffolding reached right up to the inner dome. The walls were brought back to nearly their original color by the use of giant hand erasers. Ineh by inch and block by block, the masonry was rubbed elean and restored to a semblance of its former appearance.

As the process was being observed the thought did occur:—would it not be wonderful if the conflicts in our social relationships could be erased in a similar manner. Could not the same principle apply to past misgivings and misunderstandings so as to assure every possible eooperation in the outlook ahead.

In a very short time we hope to welcome to our midst our new spiritual leaders. It is hoped that their leadership will be decisive in its unifying influence. It is hoped that a harmony will prevail so that the broad potential that exists here will be fully developed. It is hoped that this leadership will function wisely

Simhath Torah Honored

The praetiee of honoring members of a eongregation by designating them Hathan Torah and Hathan Bereshith originated from medieval Judaism and from a mystical thread within it. On Simhath Torah, the last day of the Succoth festival, the Torah eyele of the year is eompleted and then begun again. The last section and the first one are traditionally regarded as portions of importanee and it is a praetice to assign those portions to those individuals who either by their seholarship, or piety or serviee to the Jewish eommunity, have merited publie tribute.

The eustom of honoring a Kalah Mafteret whieh was inaugurated eight years ago, is a tribute to an outstanding woman member of the Congregation, for conspieuous service rendered the Jewish community.

In regard to honoring a woman in this manner Park Avenue Synagogue is leading the nation's Jews in a direetion whieh was inaugurated eight years ago by Rabbi Milton Steinberg, of Blessed Memory.

The eitation to Nelson Ruttenberg will be presented by Joseph Howard Katz. Mr. Appleman's citation will be given by Harry Halbren and Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow will offer the eitation to Mrs. Sigmund Siegel.

The persons honored by our Congregation were nominated in the first instanee by the Ritual Committee under the Chairmanship of Sol Green and then approved by the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Irwin Rome was named by Ezra Cohen, Chairman of the Board of Trustees to be in eharge of the reeeption in the Lemberg Auditorium following the Serviees.

Sisterhood Federation Campaign Started

Mrs. Samuel Gellert has again undertaken the chairmanship of Park Avenue Synagogue Sisterhood in behalf of the campaign of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies for 1956

Under her leadership, Mrs. Gellert has succeeded in enlisting the aid of many volunteer workers in securing contributions to Federation—the Jewish Community chest.

At a meeting of her workers, Mrs. Gellert expressed the hope that each volunteer would contact her prospects and secure her contributions as soon as possible. The 116 agencies of Federation depend upon the funds contributed to the 1956 campaign and it is our duty to give them our wholehearted support.

Kertzer To Address Sisterhood, Tuesday Sept. 25

MRS. LILLIAN GRANETTS

Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue will initiate a spectacular series of programs on Tuesday, September 25, with some interesting observations by Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer on "A Jew in Soviet Russia."

Rabbi Kertzer, who recently returned from that country, was one of a group of eight rabbis selected to survey Jewish religious facilities in Soviet Russia. Dr. Kertzer has lectured extensively in the field of interfaith problems and religious education. He has spoken frequently to the people behind the Iron Curtain over the "Voice of America." He has traveled in Europe, Asia and Africa, before and during the last war, and has visited Israel several times.

Rabbi Kertzer was the only Jewish Chaplain to serve on the Anzio Beachhead in Italy in World War II and was among the first to enter Rome with the allied forces. His meritorious achievement won him the Bronze Star Medal.

He is the author of "With an H on My Dog Tag", the only book portraying the role of the Jewish soldier in the liberation of European Jewry. His book, "What is a Jew?" which appeared in condensed form in "Look" magazine and "Reader's Digest", is in its fifth printing and has received very wide attention.

From September, 1946 to May, 1949, Rabbi Kertzer was associate rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue. He is now Director of Interreligious Activities Division of the America Jewish Committee and also serves as Secretary to the New York Board of Rabbis.

We are very fortunate to be one of the first groups to hear this most interesting lecture. All are welcome. Luncheon will be served to members and guests at 12 Noon in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Political Forum, Tuesday Evening, October 23

Monroe Heyward, Program Chairman of the Men's Club requested all Congregants to mark their calendars for this event when major candidates for political office appear at the Synagogue to express their views.

Ezra Cohen Message and effectively so as to provide a fully active and meaningful future.

There should be no lessening of dedication because of any bygone differences or misunderstandings. The task before us transcends any personal feeling no matter what the depth of disagreement may have been.

Our sights should not be narrowed. The heritage handed down these 75 years must be preserved,—it should be augmented and then passed on to those who will take up where we leave off. With full appreciation for the blessings of the past, with a fervent prayer for divine guidance in the future, we face our destiny with optimism and determination.

And so for the New Year, our Diamond Jubilee year, from your Board of Trustees and Advisory Council, our very best wishes for a Year of Happiness, a Year of Vigor and a Year of Fulfillment.

Simhath Torah Honored

School Board of Park Avenue Synagogue as well as a member of the Advisory Council to the Board of Trustees, the youth and library committees. She is past President of the Park Avenue Synagogue Sisterhood and is now serving as Chairman of the Sisterhood's annual fund-raising event.

Outside of our Synagogue she is serving as Co-Chairman of greater New York for the United Jewish Appeal and is a member of its Advisory Board and campaign cabinet.

These major activities are somehow sandwiched in between taking care of two young sons and being married to an active surgeon. Her college is Vassar, plus a Phi Beta Kappa distinction.

It is with real pride and pleasure that Phyllis Siegel, for her devotion and dedication, has been named our Bride of the Prophetic Message for Simhath Torah 5717.

Dr. Mordecai M. Kaplan and Dr. Israel Goldstein, Guest Speakers, To Launch Jubilee Friday Evening Services

The late Friday Evening Services of the Park Avenue Synagogue in celebration of its 75th Diamond Jubilee year will be launched on Friday evening, October 26 at 8:30 P.M. Dr. Mordecai M. Kaplan, founder of the Jewish Reconstructionist Movement and recognized as an outstanding religious philosopher in the American Jewish community, will be our guest speaker that evening. Dr. Kaplan's topic is "Needed: A Genuine Jewish Religious Upsurge."

Only recently, Dr. Kaplan celebrated his 75th birthday at which time he was honored at a Testimonial Dinner tendered to him in recognition of his great contribution to American Jewry. His views on Judaism have been brought to every Jewish community in ths country as well as in Israel, both by word as well as by pen. As author of "Judaism as a Civilization", "Judaism in Transition", "The Future of the American Jew", and "The Meaning of God in Modern Jewish Religion", Dr. Kaplan has eludicated his conception of Jewish life.

Recently, the Jewish Agency published his work "A New Zionism" reflecting his views on the essential changes that must be introduced into the content of Zionism both in this country and in Israel.

He has co-authored with other leaders of the Reconstructionist Movement, a new Sabbath Prayer Book, a new Hagadah, a new High Holiday Prayer Book and The Faith of America.

Dr. Kaplan, who is the Founder of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism, is also Professor of Philosophics of Religion at the Jewish Theological Seminary

VOL. XI No. 3

From the Desk of The Bulletin Chairman

According to a recent survey brought to our attention by Mr. Benjamin Sack, a members of our Board of Trustees, and who also serves on the Board of Directors and the Executive Committee of RIAL, (Religion in American Life) the American people set an all-time church attendance record last year.

Although a comparison with the average attendance figures for previous years shows an amazing increase in church going during the past fifteen years, we, as Jews, cannot take much comfort from this resurgence of religious worship. Insofar as Jewish worship attendance is concerned, the survey figures are disappointing. Catholics were found to be more faithful to their church attendance than Protestants, and Protestants attended their churches more often than those of the Jewish faith. The survey indicated that only 27% of those of the Jewish faith regularly attended synagogues as against 74% of the Catholic faith who were church goers.

To those of us who are more regular in our synagogue attendance, these figures are not surprising. Except on the High Holidays, it is a common sight to see merely a handful of worshippers in attendance at our religious services. On special occasions, when a Bar Mitzvah takes place, or Memorial Services are held, there is a varying degree of increase in the attendance, but the empty seats that usually face our religious leaders on the pulpit present a lamentable sight.

Our religious institutions represent a tremendous investment and are available during the entire year. Attendance on the High Holidays should not be regarded as the beginning and the end of our religious worship. Each of us can help to increase the percentage figures now listed for those of the Jewish faith, and more important, enjoy the spiritual benefits that follow, by attending our religious services more often than we have in the past.

Let us start now!

A Message From Our Baal Tekiah

"Give Heed To The Sound Of The Shofar —
The Mystic Voice Is Speaking

What does the blowing of the Shofar mean to you, and what does it mean to us as modern people?

I have been giving you the answer in this congregation for the last fifteen years with the mystic blast of the Tekiah, a call to reawaken your slumbering soul, so that its voice will guide you through the darkness and perplexities of our time.

It is a call to awaken you from the sleep of selfishness and greed, and to lead you to the road of rightousness and mercy. It is the call to reawaken those who have abandoned the truth, and to arouse ourselves from the petty trivialities and selfish insignificance of our lives..

The mystic voice of the Shofar is a call of God to us, asking us to open our eyes wide and look around us to see how mankind suffers and to help those who stretch forth their arms in a plea for our help.

It is also a call to free those who are enslaved by the forces of darkness; to bring them forth to peace and freedom.

The last call of the Tekiah Gedolah is a call to those who are about to perish; to bring them forth to the Kingdom of God.

Happy are they who heed the sounds of the Shofar for they shall have a happy and prosperous New Year.

From your Baal Tekiah, ISIDOR HAHN

Memorial Contributions

Recently, Mrs. Charles Lipkowitz, the mother of Mrs. Aaron Giat, one of the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue, passed away.

We are happy to record the receipt of several contributions in memory of the deceased, all of which were sent in by her friends who were non Jews. This tribute to the memory of a person of a different faith by those who had daily contact with her is an item well worth recording in the pages of this BULLETIN.

"AUNTIE MAME"
NOVEMBER 28, 1956

Time is fleeting and you must contact your prospects to make sure they will be there, otherwise you will be doing them a great injustice.

The rave notices from the out-of-town papers refer to the performance of "Auntie Mame" in the following language: "Roz Russell's Auntie Mame wins Rahs"; "Auntie Mame is one of the most hilarious satires of the past quarter of a century. In its entirety, Russell's Auntie Mame rollicks, frolics, bounces, flounces, jingles, tingles, dashes and smashes its way to a sure fire hit."

We all want to join in the spirit of Sisterhood's Birthday of Sixty-and-one. Plan to be with us. Please send your checks to Mrs. Irwin Rome, 180 East 79th Street. Besides, you may be the lucky winner of a colored television set which is the door prize.

Foster Homes Sought

The Jewish Child Care Association of New York has requested that we publish the following item in our BULLETIN.

It is hard to believe, but there are Jewish children in New York City who are kept waiting for the love and security of family living they so urgently need because of a shortage of foster homes. This delay adds to the burden of the children whose own homes have been visited by misfortune.

The most urgent need is for foster homes for babies. These children are not for adoption. There is a monthly board payment of $65 for children this age. In addition, medical care, clothing and other essentials are provided.

For further information about this vital service to children, which more than 800 Jewish foster mothers and fathers now find so challenging and rewarding, please get in touch with the Foster Home Department of the Jewish Child Care Association of New York at 329 East 62nd Street, New York 21, telephone: TEmpleton 8-4500.

At the following Friday evening Service on November 2 at 8:30 P.M., Dr. Israel Goldstein will be our guest speaber. His subject will be "An American View of Israel."

We wish to express our thanks and gratitude for this manifestation of their continued loyalty to the Synagogue and their religious devotion.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, a special committee was appointed to consider the manner of approaching members of the Synagogue who may be desirous of contributing towards the purchase of religious articles now required by the Park Avenue Synagogue. If any person is interested in making this type of donation in memory of his beloved ones, please communicate with Emanuel Rosenthal at the Synagogue office, EN 9-2600.

New Synagogue Members Greeted By Board of Trustees

One of the largest groups of new members to join the ranks of the Park Avenue Synagogue in the past decade was greeted by the Board of Trustees and the members of the Advisory Council at a reception held Sunday afternoon, October 14, in the Lemberg Auditorium.

A spirit of warmth and hospitality dominated the occasion and contributed to the joviality of the guests. Each member was personally greeted and introduced to others present and in that way, mere strangers soon became old friends. General Melvin L. Krulewitch, Vice-Chairman of the Board, thanked Mrs. Harry J. Those who joined since June 1 of this year, included the following:

Mr. Louis Zucker

In addition to the above, those members who became affiliated in 1955 were also included in the reception.

Mr. Harry J. Sokolow, chairman of the Membership Committee, who welcomed the guests, reported that this was the largest number of new members who have jointed the congregation at this time of our religious year during the past ten years. Despite the increasing number of younger people who have been compelled to give up their membership because of their removal to suburban areas, the general turnover has not exceeded that in previous years to any extent, due to the unusually large number of new members who have joined since June 1 of this year.

The total membership at this time of year is about the same, and the prospects for a larger membership is most promising, in view of the number of applications still pending before the Membership Committee. With the extensive program proposed by the Planning Committee for our Diamond Jubilee Year, it is hoped that our total membership will exceed that of previous years.

Sisterhood News

By MRS. SAUL GRANETTS

Sisterhood's open luncheon meeting held Tuesday afternoon, October 16 in the Sisterhood Lounge provided an unusual and delightful entertainment.

Pearl Groothius, the charming mezzo-soprano, who previously had delighted us with her condensed version of "Carousel" gave us the same entertaining treatment of "Most Happy Fella". We were most fortunate in having Mrs. Groothius as our guest, for she possesses many talents and has found a perfect outlet in giving dramatic presentations of popular Broadway Musicales. Her "One Woman Show", has thrilled her audiences wherever she has appeared.

The next luncheon to be held by Sisterhood will take place on Tuesday, November 20, at which time Dr. Ben Carruthers will be the guest speaker. The subject he has chosen "Latin America—Next Stop!" is one about which he has had considerable experience, having served as social scientist and Public Relations Counsel in the Secretariat of the Pan American Union and the Unted Nations. Put this date on your calendar and attend this most delightful and interesting program.

Bride's Room Donated By Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Park Avenue Synagogue officially presented its gift of the Bride's Room to the Synagogue at the cocktail party tendered to new members on October 14. This project, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, was exhibited to all those present who were most enthusiastic in their comments.

Ethel Sivek, interior decorator, designed the room and adjoining bath for use by bridal parties as a dressing room. It was executed in a gay and light mood in order to capture the spirit of a wedding day. The furnishings selected are a blending of French and contemporary periods. Fabrics and wallpaper have been specially treated to withstand wear.

The funds for the construction and decor of this area were provided by the Sisterhood and Ethel Sivek contributed her services.

You are all invited to see it —at the left of the stage—in the Lemberg Auditorium.

At present, Doctor Arzt is serving as Associate Professor of Practical Theology on the faculty of the Rabbinical School of the Seminary and also as Associate of the Seminar on Religion at Columbia University.

Prior to his appointment as Vice-Chancellor at the Seminary, Doctor Arzt served as Director of Field Service and Activities, a post to which he was named in 1939. He served as president of the Rabbinical Assembly of America in 1939. A former vice-president of the Synagogue Council of America, he is now a member of its Administrative Committee, as well as a member of the Executive Council of the New York Board of Rabbis.

DR. MAX ARZT

From 1921 to 1924, Doctor Arzt served as Rabbi of Temple Beth-El, at Stamford, Connecticut, at which time, he accepted the call to the Pulpit of Temple Israel, in Scranton, Pennsylvania. He held that position for fifteen years and during that period, Doctor Arzt was President of the Council of Social Agencies of the Scranton Community Chest. He also served as a member of Governor Earle's Commission on Public Relief of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Arzt, a graduate from the College of the City of New York, received his M.A. from Columbia University in 1921, and received the degree of Doctor of Hebrew Literature from the Seminary in 1934. Review of "The Prosecutor"

The following review by Jacob Klein, President of Park Avenue Synagogue. of "The Prosecutor", written by Hon. Bernard Botein, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has been received for publication in the BULLETIN.

"Justice Botein, a Judge of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, presently on the Appellate Division of the First Department and recently unanimously endorsed by all parties for reelection, has written a new book entitled "The Prosecutor". Judge Botein was Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue for several years, and still is a valued member of the Board and a devoted member of the Park Avenue Synagogue. He is the author of another book named "Trial Judge", which was reviewed by the Chief Justice of the Appellate Division, who wrote most enthusiastically about it.

Although Judge Botein calls this book a novel, it is quite novel in its exposition. Written in an easy style, it delves into the history and workup of the District Attorney's office of a large city, political implications and complications and many phases of life that crop up in that official's office.

I enjoyed reading the book, and I heartily commend it to the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The principal figures in this book are the District Attorney, a man of irreproachable character and integrity, and a young scoundrel of a lawyer, the son of a former partner of the District Attorney. Situations are created in the book which give one goose flesh when reading them and could easily be true and most likely are. since Judge Botein was engaged at one time investigating conditions in various state offices of New York State; he is not without experience in the know how of some of the incidents dealt in by him in this book: and it is quite possible. We heartily congratulate and compliment Judge Botein for his treatment of the subject matter contained in this book.

Personally. I think it is a novel that each one of us, as well as the general public will relish reading and once one starts reading it. will find it difficult to lay down until he finishes reading it."

Men's Club Ladies Nite November 10

By HARVEY GLASSER

The exotic spirit of a "Tropical Fiesta" will invade the Lemberg Auditorium of the Park Avenue Synagogue on Saturday night, November 10th, when Men's Club presents its annual "Ladies Night". All members of Men's Club and their ladies will be treated to the social highlight of the year.

The Auditorium is to be galy decorated to befit the occasion. There will be both American and Latin-American music for dancing and listening. A calypso singer will regale the crowd with spritely music and lyrics. The planned entertainment includes an exhibition of popular south of the border dances and group instruction to the audience in their performance.

Above all, the food and refreshments will be excitingly different. A special recipe of South American punch will be served together with delicious tropical dishes (all kosher). Dress is optional and attendance must be limited to Men's Club members and their ladies. The evening's fun will begin at 8:30 P.M.

As for Men's Club's 9th annual political forum held on Tuesday night, October 23, 1956, it was a great success. A capacity audience of more than 400 men and women listened in rapt attention as 12 outstanding candidates and party spokesmen enunciated their views and discussed the great political issues of the day. All the more remarkable was the fact that though the long program was not concluded until well past 11 P.M., the audience held fast and stayed until the last political speech was just an echo.

Men's Club is truly grateful to all those who gave of their time to make our forum such a wonderful success, including the speakers, and, our own president Milton Sivek, who served as moderator.

Sisterhood News

By MRS. SAUL GRANETTS

At noon on Tuesday, November 20. Sisterhood is proud to present to members and friends, the third of a most ambitious array of programs for 1956-1957.

The speaker will be an outstanding public figure, Dr. Ben Carruthers, who will speak on "Latin America, Next Stop!"

Since 1941, Dr. Carruthers has served as social scientist and public relations counsel in the Secretariats of the Pan American Union and the United Nations. He is the author of a book of translations from Cuban poetry and numerous feature articles on travel, economic conditions and cultural affairs which have appeared in metropolitan newspapers and national magazines.

Because all of us are interested in travel, we recommend Dr. Carruthers, an expert on Latin America. He will transport us by means of color slides and fluent, exciting commentary to the neighboring countries south of us.

All are invited for lunch, to be followed by a short business meeting and then, this most dramatic insight nto the joys of a trip. All aboard! "Latin American, Next Stop!"

Mrs. Hammerman Re-Elected Hadassah Vice-President

Mrs. Bertha Hammerman, for many years a loyal member of Park Avenue Synagogue, has again received the congratulations of her many friends for being once more re-elected to a national vice-presidency in Hadassah, the Womens Zionist organization.

Julius Guggenheimer $1,000 Bequest

One of the oldest members of the Synagogue, the late Julius Guggenheimer, who had been associated with Park Avenue Synagogue for over 40 years died this summer.

His will which had recently been probated contained a $1,000 legacy bequeathed to the Park Avenue Synagogue which amount has just been received by the Treasurer, Mr. Nelson Ruttenberg.

Mr. Julius Guggenheimer had been notably generous not only to the Synagogue but particularly to all the many Sisterhood functions. In years gone by he made many generous contributions from his own business wares. His son, the late Mr. Leo Guggenheimer, served as a Trustee of Park Avenue Synagogue for over ten years.

Young Marrieds Supper Sunday, November 11

By MRS. FRED KRONES

On Sunday evening, November 11, 1956, the Young Marrieds will be hosts to some fifty prospective members in the largest membership effort since its formation seven years ago. Originally formed to serve the needs of exclusively the young married element of the Park Avenue Synagogue, the membership has expanded to such an extent that the name "Young Marrieds" is a misnomer and may be misleading. Actually, this group is the only affiliated organization which offers membership to both husbands and wives and whose programs are addressed to the interests of married couples whether social or educational.

So whether you are as old as twenty or young as fifty, you are cordially in-

Parents Association News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Tuesday evening, November 20, will mark the first open meeting of the Parents Association for the current season. At this orientation meeting to be held in the Lemberg Auditorium, parents will have an opportunity to meet the teachers of their children in the Religious School and to hear Mr. Martin Leichtling, its principal, who will discuss the aims and objectives of the school. Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, chairman of Program, is arranging to have a prominent guest speaker. A social hour and refreshments will conclude the evening.

Recently, the Executive Board of the Parents Association gave a luncheon in honor of mothers of children entering the Religious School for the first time. This was well attended by many mothers who were greeted by Hrs. Herman Helpern, president of the Parents Association. Mr. Leichtling also spoke to the group and told many interesting facts about the school. Hazzan David Putterman explained the important observances for welcoming the Sabbath and graciously sang several appropriate Sabbath songs to illustrate the beauty and spiritual value of religious music.

In conjunction with the Jewish Book Month observed throughout the country, the Parents Association will once again conduct a Book Fair from Sunday, November 11 through the evening of the open meeting, November 20.

Mrs. Leon Klein, assisted by Mrs. Charles Weisberg and Mrs. Adolph Siegel, will have an unusually fine display of Jewish books, records of Jewish music, as well as charming gifts appropriate for the Holiday season. We suggest that you look over the exhibit and thus solve many of your gift problems.

Organ Seeking Sponsor

We have recently obtained a portable organ for use by the Junior Congregation.

A place has been reserved on the front of the organ for a Donor's nameplate to be affixed.

Who would like to sponsor the Junior Congregation organ? The cost is approximately $250. If you are interested, please communicate with Mr. Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director at the Synagogue office—EN 9-2600.

researches which appeared in the Jubilee Volumes published in honor of Professor Alexander Marx and Professor Mordecai M. Kaplan. Recently, Doctor Arzt accepted the invitation of the Jewish Publication Society of America to serve as a member of the editorial advisory committee which will prepare a completely revised English translation of the Holy Scriptures.

The topic he has chosen for his talk on Friday evening, November 9, "A Scholar and a Saint" should be most interesting, since it will revolve about the career of the late Dr. Louis Ginzberg.

Rabbi David C. Kogen will deliver the sermon at the Friday evening services, November 16. He will preach on the subject "Religion in a Grey Flannel Suit".

Federation Appeal

Federation of Jewish Philanthropies is in the midst of its 1956 campagn. Its needs are imperative, if the 116 agencies it supports are to continue to carry on their philanthropic and charitable work.

The Womens Division, celebrating its 35th Anniversary, is under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Dorothy Gellert for the Park Avenue Sisterhood. The members of her Committee are now busily engaged in contacting their prospects so that Sisterhood will continue to hold the high place in the Jewish community—that it has had for many years.

Federation needs us and is the responsibility of all of us. Please contact Mrs. Dorothy Gellert if you have any report on the progress of your prospects. The time is running short and we must step up our efforts if the campaign of Federations is to reach its goal.

Reflections on the Cocktail Party to New Members

By HARRY J. SOKOLOW,
Membership Chairman

October 14 will long be remembered, we hope, by the new members and by the Board of Trustees and Advisory Council, who met under such happy circumstances, at our first party held in the Milton Steinberg House, honoring our new members.

We tried to make you feel that you are a part of our happy family and if we succeeded—we are very proud indeed. Warm greetings were extended by Judge Bernard Botein, one of our past Chairman of the Board, by Mr. Saul Godwin, Chairman of our Building Committee and General Melvin L. Krulewitch, Vice-Chairman of the Board. It is our earnest hope that all the members will come often and avail themselves of our many activities, and we hope that you will introduce yourselves to your hosts, Trustees of your Synagogue, if you recognize them as and when you come to Services or to any of our functions, so they may get to know you better.

Again a hearty welcome—we had, all agree, a thrilling experience in our first venture and we hope to continue to use this pattern in the ensuing years ahead.

Holy Scripture Donated By Julian Jacobs

Mr. Julian Jacobs, a member of the Advisory Council of the Park Avenue Synagogue and an active member of the Men's Club, has contributed a copy of the Holy Scriptures for use in the Appleman Chapel.

This presentation was made in memory of his parents Louis and Rose Jacobs. This method of honoring the memory of dear parents is worthy of emulation and is gratefully acknowledged.

Sisterhood Sponsors Musicale and Tea Honoring New Members

The members who appeared at the cocktail party given by the Board of Trustees must have experienced the warmth and good fellowship that prevailed. The Sisterhood is affording another opportunity, this time confined to the ladies only, to appear at a Musicale and Tea on Wednesday, November 7 at 2:00 P.M., at the beautiful home of our own Mrs. Sol Green, 940 Park Avenue.

These occasions have always been a delight to attend. Many warm friendships were started at similar functions in the past and thus have aided in keeping our Sisterhood in the forefront of leadership, not only in Synagogue activities, but also in communal work throughout the metropolitan area.

Please put this date on your calendar and join in a pleasant afternoon planned for you by our gracious hostess, Mrs. Sol Green and a hard working committee.

Hanukkah Message

Reflections on its Meaning for Today

It is so easy to become enmeshed in the rituals beautiful as they are, in the hurly-burly of the joys of Hanukkah festivities, pleasant as they usually are, that even those of us who on occasion pause to reflect about why we do certain things will seldom stop long enough to give thought to the meaning of Hanukkah in the year 1956.

A couple of years ago the United Synagogue of America in its program aids published a simple document giving modern meaning to Hanukkah. It was so well stated that we feel that at least this portion of it should be reprinted in full.

"The Maccabean revolt was an epic struggle for democracy in its widest sense: religious freedom, freedom of thought, the dignity of man, and national self-determination. It was a struggle supported and sustained by the people; it was a democratic war waged by volunteers to safeguard the liberties of the nation. As soon as even the minimal objective, religious tolerance, was offered peace was sought and secured.

"Hanukkah is the victorious vindication of the human will to freedom and the Jewish love of peace. For, this festival commemorates the exciting and exulting events in the initial era of the struggle which culminated in the liberation of Jerusalem, the cleansing of the Temple from foul paganism, and the restoration of Jewish worship in the Sanctuary on Zion's mount. The Hanukkah lights have, ever since, festively proclaimed the glories of liberty to all the generations of man. They have made resolute their hearts and inspired their souls to hold aloft and carry forward the torch of freedom in the midst of suffering and oppressed humanity."

All is in readiness at the Hotel Astor to greet all the Sisterhood members and their friends in the Grand Ballroom — to celebrate their sixty-first birthday. We know you will all have a wonderful time — as we visit and then go around the corner to see "Auntie Mame".

Don't miss this special event.

The Hanukkah season always a delightful one in ritual and historical memories begins Wednesday evening, November 28 with the lighting of the first candle. This beautiful ceremony of candle lighting continues for eight days with two candles on Thursday evening, November 29 until Wednesday evening, December 5 when eight candles are lit.

Special Committee Arranges for Guest Speakers

As part of the celebration of our Diamond Jubilee year, a special committee was recently appointed to plan for the guest speakers to appear at the late Friday Evening Services of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Mr. Saul Godwin, who is also chairman of the Adult Education Committee, was appointed chairman of this special committee. Together with Jacob Klein, Saul Horowitz, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, and Hazzan David J. Putterman, the committee has already received acceptances from a number of outstanding speakers, who will participate in our late Friday evening Services.

Our first guest speaker on October 26, when the late Friday Evening Services were launched, was Dr. Mordecai M. Kaplan, Founder of the Jewish Reconstructionist Movement and of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism. He was followed by Dr. Israel Goldstein, Rabbi of B'nai Jeshurun, and by Dr. Max Arzt, Vice-Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Among those who are scheduled to appear in the near future are Rabbi Louis I. Newman, Rabbi of Rodeph Sholem, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, Dr. Julius Mark, Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, and many other prominent personalities. Further details will appear in this BULLETIN as well as in future issues. Watch for the list and mark your calendar accordingly, for you will not want to miss any of these events.

Judge Botein Re-Elected

The election last week was a mere formality for Hon. Bernard Botein, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and its former chairman. Endorsed by all the major political parties, Judge Botein was re-elected by an overwhelming vote to a second term of fourteen years as a Judge of the Supreme Court of the State of New York.

At present, Judge Botein is sitting as an Associate Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, First Department, where appeals from the Supreme Court in the first judicial district are heard. We rejoice with the rest of the community in the unanimous endorsement which Judge Botein's splendid record has received from the electorate.

Adult Education Courses To Commence Nov. 25

By HELEN GODWIN

The Adult Education program for 1956-57 was worth waiting for, says Saul Godwin, Chairman of the Committee. A stimulating and timely series of courses has been planned with a four-fold approach.

An innovation this year is a Seminar to be given on Sunday morning starting November 25 at 10:30 A.M., for parents of the Religious School children. Entitled "Our Jewish Heritage in the Modern World," it will be led by Dr. Arthur Hyman, a member of the faculty of Dropsie College and a University Seminar Associate at Columbia University, who is known to us through the excellent Bible courses he gave during the past two years.

The Seminar will consider fundamental issues of interest to modern Jewish men and women and its first unit will deal with the following topics:

Sunday, November 25 — The Biblical Foundations of Judaism.

Sunday, December 2 — Formulations of a Jewish God-concept.

Sunday, December 9 — The Jewish Attitude Toward Other Faiths (The Hanukkah-Christmas problem will be considered).

Sunday, December 16 — The Relevance of Prayer.

The Committee believes that the content of the Seminar and its presentation on Sunday mornings will meet the special needs of those who may find this hour a convenient one.

Regular Monday evening courses will start Monday, November 26 and run for four sessions through December 17, to be resumed on January 14 through March 3, 1957. Special efforts have been made to present topics of vital importance to the Jew today.

Courses: 8 P.M. to 9 P.M.

1. An Analysis of the Sabbath Prayer Book: the structure and interpretation of the prayers in relation to our services—Cantor David J. Putterman.
2. Elementary Hebrew.
3. Intermediate Hebrew.

9 P.M. to 10 P.M.

The major lecture course, on Israel, planned last spring as particularly fitting for our 75th Anniverary year, has become a momentous stirring issue for all of us. It will be presented by Israelis now visiting this country who are especially qualified.

Monday, November 26 — Opening of Series. The Present Situation in Israel (lecture) Hon. Moshe Rivlin, Israeli Consul, N. Y. C.

Monday, December 3 — "Ingathering of the Exiles" (seminar) Social and cultural problems of mass immigration into Israel—Mr. Raphael Even

Monday, December 10 — Israel's Economic System (seminar) (Private and cooperative enterprise; the country's natural resources; development prospects for the future) Mr. Raphael Even

Monday, December 17 — Education in Israel (seminar) (Problems in education; Israel's educational institutions; adult education) Mr. Eliezer Shmueli

In addition to this series of lectures and seminars, the Committee plans to present a Friday evening program of prominent Rabbis and laymen who will speak on important phases of contemporary Judaism, as part of the late Friday Evening Services.

The Seventh Annual Series of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Lectures on Jewish Theology to be given in the spring will climax the efforts of the Committee to make its program this year a memorable one. The momentous changes in the international scene, and the special responsibility which we as American Jews have in this situation make it imperative that we know and understand not only present events, but our past heritage which is so closely intertwined with the present.

A brochure listing courses, lectures, seminars and Friday night speakers will be sent to congregants shortly. It is the sincere wish of the chairman and his committee that the response to this program will be an attendance commensurate with the efforts made in its formulation and the overwhelming need to be informed on its contents.

Correction

In the last issue of the BULLETIN, reference was made to Rabbi Jacob Kaplan, who had attended one of our Sabbath morning services.

Rabbi Jacob Kaplan was incorrectly referred to as Grand Rabbi of Paris. This was in error. For the past fifteen months, he has been Grand Rabbi of France.

We have also since learned that two of the students of our Religious School are related to him; Pascal Kaplan, his nephew, and Laurence Kaplan, his niece.

Sidney R. Katz, Elected To National Governing Board

Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director, was elected to the Governing Board of the National Association of Synagogue Administrators for the coming four years, at a recent convention of that organization held at Atlantic City.

Membership in the NASA is limited to experienced administrators of conservative congregations in the United States and Canada and presently includes almost 100 in its ranks.

The convention took action in cooperation with the United Synagogue of America, in the establishment of a Commission on Administration. This department, to be housed at the Jewish Theological Seminary, will publish booklets on synagogue administration as well as be available to advise conservative congregations on their specific financial or administrative problems.

Elected along with Mr. Katz were: Ray Kaufman of Houston, Texas; Harold Hammer of Baltimore, Md.; Max Kirk of Montreal, Canada; Jerome Koransky of Paterson, N. J.; Louis Sanders of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lionel Semiatin of White Plains, N. Y.; and Nat Zuckerman of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Our congratulations to Sidney upon this new honor and to the National Board for its excellent choice.

Youth Study Group

By JOHN R. KOGAN

This year has been one of many advances in the field of Youth Activities at the Park Avenue Synagogue. One of the most important, was the formation of a U.S.Y. Study Group.

Our group has a small but active membership composed of teen-agers interested in gaining greater knowledge and understanding of the full and rich concepts and traditions that Judaism embodys. The current discussion series is aimed at exploring and defining the "Jewish point of view." We are also learning Israeli songs and dances under the able direction of our advisor Jerry Goodman.

We meet at 10 o'clock on Sundays at the Synagogue and interested teen-agers are invited to attend. I have enough faith in our group to believe that if people come down once, they'll come again.

"Food For Thought"

The following article has been sent to all Synagogues affiliated with the United Synagogue of America, by its president, Rabbi Harry Halpern, for distribution to its Congregants or for publication in its Synagogue periodical.

The subject dealing with "Christmas, Hanukkah and the Public Schools" is most timely at this time of year and, in the opinion of the Bulletin Chairman, merits its publication for the consideration and reflection of the members of the Park Avenue Congregation.

The article written by Rabbi Ben Zion Bokser of the Forest Hills Jewish Center, Forest Hills, N. Y. is herewith printed.

All Jewish thinking on the relationships that should prevail among the religious groups which live side by side in a democratic society is conditioned by the well-known statement of the Bible: "Let all the nations each walk in the name of his God, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God forever and ever." Judaism has fought without compromise for the freedom of religion.

How is it possible to have true religious fredom in a democratic society? There is only one way—and that is to make religion the private concern of each religious comunity. This principle is embodicd in the American constitution which forbids the State or the Federal Government from establishing a particular religious creed. The state as such and all its institutions are to be above denominationalism.

This principle of religious liberty has helped to make America a great nation. We have been freed of the bitter religious rivalries which have plagued the old world. It has also enabled each religious community to prosper mightily. Under freedom, each religious group is stronger in America than anywhere else in the world.

During the Christmas season the tendency has developed to violate this principle. Each year Christmas carols, trees, pageants, the whole rich folklore of Christianity has been transferred into the public schools. Some Jewish groups have naturally objected to this as an invasion of the rights of Jewish children. Some well-meaning Jews and Christians have, therefore, thought of compromise. As an appeasement to Jews, the practice has developed to balance the Christmas observance with the observance of Hanukkah.

I have always objected to this appeasement. I wonder how fair it is to Christian children. A real act of Hanukkah commemoration has religious content. To a devout Christian family it might very well be objcctionable to having their children share in a religious act of another faith.

The public school observance of Hanukkah tries, of course, to eliminate religious content from the holiday. In the end, this only produces a distortion of the holiday. When Christmas and Hanukkah coincide in time it may be possible to have joint celebrations. But what about the time when Chanukah comes out earlier? The joint celebration is still set for the Christmas season. The entire celebration of Chanukah in the school is corrupted by being remade in the image of Christmas.

In one school the principal introduced the Chanukah bush, obviously to parallel the Chrismas tree. There is no such thing as a Chanukah bush. It is part of a corruption of a Jewish festival, and as a Jew I am deeply offended by it.

There is a more serious objection to this arrangement. Once Jews accept it, then they can no longer protest any religious observance in the schools. This will open the door to Easter, Good Friday, and relgious exercises in other holidays in the schools.

I agree with the Board of Education directive against this joint celebration of Chrstmas and Chanukah, but it does not go far enough. There should be no Chanukah in the schools at all, jointly or independently, and there should be no clebration of Christmas in the school either.

The Board of Education directive tries to protect the non-Christian child against undue mental pressure when the school celebrates the Christmas holiday. It suggests eliminating doctrinal elements from those programs, and it suggests excusing children from singing carols if their parents object to it. I do not thing it is enough. For a child to set himself apart from an entire class, to be silent when everyone else is singing, is to expose the child to embarrassment.

There is only one answer to this problem, and that is the answer of our principle, to make our schools truly free, truly non-sectarian, truly American, and that is to ban all religious exercises from them. There is no room for Chanukah in the school: and there is no room for Christmas in the school either.

Jews in the school system, as parents of children attending the public schools, as members of P.T.A. organizations, it is for us to be mindful of this principle. Let us not accept a cheap appeasement, but let us assert what is a sound democratic American conviction: religion belongs in the home, in the synagogue, in the church, and in the religious school. The public schools, as an agency of the State, must be frec of sectarianism if thcy are to fulfill their role as free institutions in American society.

Let all the peoples each walk in the name of his God, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God forever and ever.

Cantors Institute Hails Progress in Jewish Music

When the Cantors Institute and the Seminary College of Jewish Music were established in 1952, a three-fold aim was announced. It was hoped that the new schools, in addition to training personnel in the field of Jewish music, would stimulate public interest in the musical aspects of Synagogue worship, and in Jewish music, both traditional and modern, as an important part of Jewish culture in America.

One of the most important effects of the new collegiate programs is the newly awakened interest in Jewish music interest all over the country. In discussing this growing concern with Jewish music, Hazzan David J. Putterman, who is Director of the United Synagogue Department of Music, pointed out that there is an increasing number of concerts and recitals scheduled by Hazzanim throughout thc country, which each year attract larger audiences.

Several volumes of Jewish songs have becn published, both for children and for adult choruses; new recordings of Jewish music, on a commercial basis have been issued by recording companies; and, most significant of all, more congregations are experimenting with new musical services each year.

The Park Avenue Synagogue, with its annual Liturgical Music Service, instituted by our own Hazzan Putterman, at which time New Liturgical Music by contemporary composers is presented, has made a valuable contribution to this resurgence of interest in Jewish music.

In the future, the two schools and their growing roster of graduates will guide American congregations to a new understanding of Jewish music and its role in the Synagogue Service.

Friday Evening Services

Dr. Bernard Cherrick, born in Dublin, was educated in England, where he studied at the Universities of London and Manchester. He received his degree of Master of Arts in Semitic languages and philosophy at the University of London and later held a research fellowship at that institution of learning.

Until the outbreak of war in 1913, Dr. Cherrick served as Rabbi at one of the leading Synagogues in London. He then entered the army as a chaplain and after his discharge from military service, his oratorical talents were first called upon in behalf of Israel, when he became Director of the Jewish National Fund and of the United Palestine Appeal in Great Britain.

In 1947, he settled in Israel, becoming associated with the Hebrew University as its World Director of Organization and Information until his appointment in 1953 to the important post of Director General of the Board of Governors of the Hebrew University. A brilliant student of Semitics, sociology and philosophy, Dr. Cherrick also lectures in the Extension Division of the University.

Dr. Cherrick has been enthusiastically received by audiences in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, South Africa, Latin America, and in the United States. We are sure that the members of Park Avenue Synagogue will not want to miss this opportunity to hear our guest.

At the following Friday Evening Services, November 30, at 8:30 P.M., our pulpit will be graced by Rabbi Louis I. Newman of Rodeph Sholem. He will discuss "Russia's Policies and World Peace", a timely subject which should be of interest to us all.

Rabbi Newman, who has occupied the pulpit as Rabbi at Congregation Rodeph Sholem since 1937, was formerly Rabbi of Temple Emanu-El in San Francisco. From 1916 to 1921, he was associated with the late Rabbi Stephen S. Wise in the Free Synagogue. Author of "Jewish Influences on Christian Reform Movements", Rabbi Newman's writings include many other books and periodicals. His latest volume of plays, cantatas, and pageants, entitled "Pangs of the Messiah" will be issued in December. At present, he is completing his Manual for Newcomers into Judaism under the title "The Jewish People, Faith and Life."

Ladies' Night "Una Noche Magnifica"

By Harvey Glasser

"Magnifica" was the only word to describe Men's Club's annual Ladies' Night, held Saturday, November 10th, in the Lemberg Auditorium, and appropriately entitled "A Tropical Fiesta."

Without question, "Tropical Fiesta" surpassed all our prior Ladies' Nights in gaiety, uniqueness of decor, sociability, cuisine and in the amount of spirits consumed. The crowded auditorium abounded with laughter and smiling faces in an atmosphere of pulsating Latin-American rhythms and tropical conviviality.

Harry Dubin, and his committee, richly deserve all the credit for the success of the evening. Displaying vivid imagination, the auditorium was transformed into what might have been an intimate quarter in Rio De Janeiro or of a Caribbean Island paradise. On the stage, Cisco y Los Companeros performed all the wonderful Latin rhythms. Phillips Dance Studios sent us Alexander and Evelyn who gave us remarkable demonstrations in the cha-cha-cha, mambo, meringue and the tango, and then conducted a mass instruction in the cha-cha-cha to some 40 or 50 of us.

Truly authentic was the cuisine. A Mexican chef prepared a positively delicious arroz con pollo (chicken and rice). Then there was a dessert of pineapple slices smothered in shredded coconut. That punch you drank was called "Flamingo" and it really had a punch.

To many, the highlight of the evening was the impromptu dance exhibition presented by our own members and their wives. Harry Dubin and his wife, Juliet, danced a marvellous cha-cha-cha. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Riebenfeld did a wonderful samba, as did our president Milton Sivck and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Heyward surprised with a lively charleston.

But, to Harry Dubin, Julian Jacobs, David Altschul, Milton Selig and to all the others who helped to make Men's Club's Tropical Fiesta such a wonderful evening of gaiety and relaxation go the honors. It was truly, "Una Noche Magnifica."

As is customary, there will be a short discussion period in the Lemberg Auditorium following each service and the usual Oneg Shabbat. All are invited to attend.

Religious School News

By Martin Leichtling, Principal

Alumni Join Faculty

The teacher shortage, which is plaguing educators throughout the nation, is particularly acute in the field of Jewish education. Teacher recruitment has become a problem of major concern and study for all Jewish professional and lay organizations, but at the Park Avenue Synagogue, we are doing our share to help solve this problem.

The School Board is happy to announce the appointment of two of our former students, Cecily Falkensten and Alan Mehlman, to the faculty of the Religious School.

Cecily Falkenstein has been assigned as an assistant teacher of Class I of the Primary Department. Miss Falkenstein is a graduate and a confirmand from our school who continued her education in our High School Department. At present, she is a student at Brooklyn College where she is active in Hillel.

Alan Mehlman is a graduate-confirmand from our school and is now studying in our High School Department. On Saturday, Mr. Mehlman is the organist of the Junior Congregation and reads the Torah portion of the week for the congregation.

Frontiers of Faith

The Seminary continues its fine series of television broadcasts on Sunday, November 25, N.B.C. 1:30 - 2:30 P.M.—CRY A WARNING—A Hanukkah story of the days of the Maccabees. A young boy learns what it is to be a Jew.

Hanukkah Party

On Saturday evening, December 1, at 5:30 P.M. the students in the Hebrew Department will hold their annual Hanukkah Party in the Lemberg Auditorium. The supper party will be supervised by the teachers and the Class Mothers Committee of the Parents Association headed by Mrs. Nancy Rubinstein. Decorations for the evening will be prepared by our students under the guidance of Mrs. Stanley Simon, chairman of Holiday Observance.

The program will include the Havdalah, a candle-lighting ceremony, holiday songs and games and social and folk dances.

On Sunday morning, December 2, individual class parties will be held by the students in the Primary Department, the Class Mothers will, once again, add to the festivities by serving the students the traditional latkes and applesauce.

Parents Association To Hold Hanukkah Parties

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The annual Hanukkah parties for the children of the Religious School of the Park Avenue Synagogue will again be conducted by the school with the cooperation of the Parents Association.

On Saturday, December 1, from 5:30 P.M. to 8 P.M., there will be a party for the youngsters in the nine and one-half year to thirteen year age group. This will include community singing, folk and Israeli dancing and, of course, food, traditional of the Hanukkah festival.

Hanukkah will be celebrated in the various classrooms on Sunday morning, December 2, with group activities, games and refreshments. The class mothers, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph Rubinstein and her co-chairman, Mrs. Paul Miller, have graciously offered to assist in making the necessary arrangements for these parties.

Mrs. Stanley Simon, who for many years has devotedly conducted a Workship previous to each Holiday, will work with the teachers and children of the Religious School to encourage the observance of Hanukkah in the home. The demonstration, which will be on display during the Hanukkah Festival, will feature various costumes and decorations, as well as pamphlets explaining the food, games, and songs appropriate for the celebration of this Holiday.

At the first open meeting of the Parents Association held November 20, the audience heard a fine address by Rabbi Arthur Gilbert, who discussed "Shall We Keep Religion out of our Schools?"

Rabbi Gilbert director of Inter-Religious Cooperation of the Anti-Defamation League, is well known to Park Avenue Synagogue members because of his lectures in connection with the Adult Education program. Preceding his talk, parents had an opportunity to meet the teachers of their children in the Religious School and to hear some timely remarks by Martin Leichtling, its principal.

Those who admired the beautiful, artistically decorated table, symbolic of Hanukkah, undoubtedly guessed that it was the work of our own talented Mrs. Adolph Stangel, who together with Mrs. Stanley Simon, were responsible for this charming display. Mrs. Frank Bergman and her co-chairman, Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, were in charge of hospitality.

The Annual Book Fair, conducted by the Parents Association, began on November 11 and continued through November 20. Under the capable leadership of Mrs. Leon Klein and her co-chairmen, Mrs. Albert Siegel and Mrs. Charles Weisberg, the exhibit attracted many parents who availed themselves of the opportunity to purchase books, records of Jewish music and many gift items.

A Good Time Was Had By All

By MRS. FRED KRONES

Sunday, November 11, will long be remembered as an enjoyable and entertaining evening by thirty couples who were guests of the Young Marrieds, for supper in the Sisterhood Lounge of the Milton Steinberg House.

The affair, basically a membership drive, was very successful — successful for the guests since everyone had such a good time, and successful for the Young Marrieds because it gave them the opportunity to show that their group has a place in its ranks for those members of the congregation who heretofore felt that they were too old or married too long to join.

Mrs. Rose Krones, Mrs. Ruth Pordy and Mrs. Joyce Matz did an extraordinary job in planning and producing the evening's festivities. Mr. Fred H. Krones, president, gave a short address in which the general format of the club was outlined.

Membership in the Young Married Group, which offers a program for both the Mr. and the Mrs. of our congregants, is open to everyone and your membership in any other affiliate group, whether it be the Men's Club or Sisterhood, should in no way be a deterrent.

Enquiries should be made to Mr. Sidney Katz at the Synagogue, and all functions and meeting dates will be published in the BULLETIN.

Condolences

Theodore Meistrich—on the death of his father

Sisterhood's Dream And the Reality

By MRS. SIGMUND SIEGEL

Over 600 women, members and friends of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue joined together at The Hotel Astor on Wednesday, November 28 to celebrate the occasion of Sisterhood's 61st Birthday. This year there was an innovation as there were several tables of men, husbands of our very loyal family.

A year's preparation ended with remarkable results. The theme of the day was Hanukkah, and you felt it, as you entered the Grand Ballroom where you found on every table as a center piece a large "Dredel", all executed by Mrs. Adolph Stangel and her Committee who worked all summer on this project.

The effect on the group as our own Hazzan Putterman lit the Menorah and chanted the blessings joined by each hostess at her table, was a very touching experience for we joined hands and hearts together in dedication and celebration of the day.

To the Committee who joined me go my very deepest gratitude and these include Mrs. Abel Phillips. Mrs. Irwin Rome. Mrs. Tubie Resnik. Mrs. Shy Rosen and Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow.

Dr. Arthur Lelyveld. our guest speaker brought us a very significant message, and gave us a feeling of reassurance and confidence. To him we also extend our thanks.

The color television was the prize, and we all had many an anxious moment. until the lucky winner was announced. After a very delightful luncheon. and the many gifts given every guest. and a very delightful visit with our friends. and messages from some of our leaders. we all went around the corner to the Broadhurst Theatre to see "Auntie Mame."

All this together added up to a great day in the life of the Sisterhood, and as we go forward towards our sixty-second year. I can only hope that each succeeding chairman will receive the cooperation and enthusiasm that I received from many of you.

Organ Donated

In a recent issue of the BULLETIN, we inserted an item "Organ Seeking Sponsor". We are happy to announce that one of our loyal and devoted members has generously contributed the sum of $250 to defray the cost of this organ.

In grateful acknowledgment, the name plate to be affixed to the portable organ used by the Junior Congregation will bear the inscription

"IN MEMORY

Sisterhood Notes

By MRS. SAUL GRANETTS

The greatly increased attendance at Sisterhood meetings is the best proof that these gatherings are worthy of the interest displayed. The program at last meeting consisted of a travelogue dealing with little known places in our own United States. It was presented in a most charming manner by Mrs. Delphine Kreilesheimer who illustrated her talk with some extremely beautiful colored slides.

At each meeting. a resume of Jewish happenings in the news and reviews of current Jewish books are ably reported by Mrs. Solomon E. Green. These accounts are carefully prepared and are delivered in a way that stimulates great interest.

During the past few weeks, Sisterhood social events have included a very beautiful Membership Tea and Musicale at the home of Mrs. Belle Green and a Federation Luncheon at the home of Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer. Mrs. Harold Osserman was co-hostess of the latter function.

On November 28, the big event of the whole year was the overwhelmingly successful "Brunch and Theatre" party at the Astor Hotel and matinee performance of the hit "Auntie Mame." All who were connected with this project are to be congratulated heartily.

mobilizing public support for Israel's program of economic development and immigrant absorption.

Governor McKeldin has long been active in civic and church affairs, preaching lay sermons in churches of various denominations througout the country. An exponent of tolerance and mutual understanding, he served as chairman of Brotherhood Week for the National Conference of Christians and Jews in 1948 and 1949. Recently he was elected as the first president of the newly formed America-Israeli Friendship Society, an organization composed of national leaders in the fields of art, business, education, labor, politics and religion, who believe that there is a need for a continuous and non-political expression to the friendship which exists between these two countries.

Arthur A. Cohen has chosen for his topic: "Separation of Church and State; a Problem of Jewish Anxiety", a subject that has aroused considerable controversy over its application and one that should provide great interest and reflection among his listeners.

Author of numerous articles on Jewish theology and religious thought in many magazines, including Commonweal, Judaism, Cross Currents, Conservative Judaism, The Jewish Frontier, and the Partisan Review, Mr. Cohen is presently completing a book on the great philosopher, Martin Buber, which will be published next year in England. At present, he is in the process of writing another book entitled, "The Mind of the Modern Jew", in which he discusses modern Jewish thought.

Mr. Cohen, who graduated from the University of Chicago, studied for three years at the Jewish Theological Seminary, and is now completing his doctoral thesis at the University of Chicago. Mr. Cohen is presently president and editorial director of Meridian Books, Inc. and Living Age Books.

On each occasion, there will be a short discussion period following the services in the Lemberg Auditorium, and the usual Oneg Shabbat to which all are invited.

Our moderator will be MILTON WEIL, a member of our Board of Trustees and its former vice-chairman. A veteran leader of philanthropic and civic activities, he served as president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York from 1951 to 1954. On his retirement as president of Federation, Mr. Weill was elected an Honorary Trustee-at-Large for life and associate chairman of the Board.

Soon after his graduation from Columbia University, Mr. Weill served in World War I as a lieutenant in the United States Army and saw active duty in France where he was wounded and decorated with the Purple Heart.

His record of civic and philanthropic leadership includes long service with the United Jewish Appeal, where he headed the Special Gifts Committee from 1948 to 1950, membership on the Administrative Committee of the American Jewish Committee and on the Board of Trustees of the Joint Distribution Committee. Mr. Weill is also vice-president and director of the National Jewish Welfare Board and on the Board of Directors of the United Service Organizations and of the Greater New York Fund. Young Marrieds Meet Tuesday Evening, Dec. 11

By MRS. FRED KRONES

At their next meeting to be held on Tuesday, December 11th at 8:30 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium. the Young Marrieds will present a documentary picture entitled "WILL IT HAPPEN AGAIN?"

Produced by the Navy Club of the United States and compiled from captured Nazi footage, the film is a photographic retracing of the rise and demise of Adolph Hitler and Company. Its principal characters are Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, Himmler, Streicher, Mussolini and Eva Braun.

"WILL IT HAPPEN AGAIN?" should not be missed by any of the congregation and certainly not by those of us who may be unfamiliar with the pattern of tragic destiny which beset the German People from the First World War through their gradual but complete subjugation by Hitler.

Immediately after the film, there will be a discussion on its message, principally the necessity for a strong Army and Navy and an impregnable National Defense and the necessity for outlawing war through the United Nations. This discussion will be conducted by Dr. Leon Pordy, the Young Marrieds Vice President and Program Chairman. Refreshments will follow.

You and your friends are invited to join with us for another evening of educational and social recreation, which is what Young Marrieds means.

By HARVEY GLASSER

At Men's Club meeting of Tuesday, December 18, in the first such ceremony of its kind at the Milton Steinberg House. Men's Club officially dedicated the Men's Club Youth Activities Room located on the 5th floor of the new building. Hazzan David J. On Tuesday, January 22, Men's Club will present a most unusual program. There will be a panel discussion of the subject: "Psychiatry, Sex and the Law." Dr. Edward Adelson will serve as chairman of the evening's program which will feature prominent psychiatrists and lawyers. Full details will be announced later.

Moe Turman Birthday Party at Synagogue

The Milton Steinberg House of the Park Avenue Synagogue including the Lemberg Auditorium was the scene of an unusual event recently.

Moe Turman, loyal member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, was given what had started out as a surprise birthday party by his wife Anne and before the evening was over some 375 persons surprised "Moe", including dignitaries representing various aspects of Moe Turman's Jewish and communal activities.

In thanking the Synagogue after the party, Mr. Turman wrote: "I certainly appreciate the birthday message of the Officers, the Board, the Cantor and the entire membership. As you know, the Park Avenue Synagogue is very near and dear to us and the fact that the party was held in a house named for Milton Steinberg gave it an added significance."

Congregational Dinner Meeting Sunday, January 13

By FREDA SACK

On Sunday. January 13. 1957 at 6 P.M. the Annual Congregational Cocktail Party and Dinner Meeting of the Park Avenue Synagogue will take place in the Lemberg Auditorium.

A full course Kosher Dinner catered by the Patrician Caterers will be served at the nominal price of $5.00 per person. The low cost of the dinner to our congregants is due to the fact that the Board of Trustees decided to defray some of the cost in order to promote a spirit of good fellowship among all of the Synagogue members.

A report of Synagogue activities will be presented by Ezra Cohen, retiring chairman of the Board of Trustees. Election of Trustees and of Officers will take place and their installation will follow. Installation is usually a colorful event and will give all of us an opportunity to become better acquainted with our official family as well as the Synagogue membership at large.

Since this is purely a Synagogue function, it is heartening to know that all arms of the Synagogue are cooperating through their appointed committees to make this evening an enjoyable one and an outstanding social event in the Synagogue history.

A letter informing the congregants of this function together with a reservation card were mailed and most likely received by the congregants by now.

Those unable to attend the dinner are invited to attend the annual meeting which will commence at approximately 8:30 P.M.

If you have not yet done so, please fill in the reservation card and return it at once to the Synagogue office or phone your reservation to our Executive Director, Sidney R. Katz, EN 9-2600.

General Krulewitch Honored by UJA

Major General Melvin H. Krulewitch. Vice-Chairman of our Board of Trustees, was the recipient of "Freedom Lamp" by the United Jewish Appeal, in recognition of his contribution to the cause of freedom. as a member of the Armed Forces. and as a civilian in communal and fraternal affairs.

In presenting the award to Gen. Krulewitch, who has been Chairman of the New York Council of the National Jewish Welfare Board for the past four years. Frank Weil. former national president of JWB said:

"Major General Mel Krulewitch is the kind of person to whom the word "freedom" has more than a casual meaning. He himself has seen action in three conflicts during which the United States has fought to preserve its freedom. He comes from a family whose tradition is a record of devotion to the cause of freedom and liberty.

"Mel has been a stalwart source of strength for Jewish Welfare Board—it is hardly necessary to tell this group of his achievements. His leadership of the JWB New York Council has been outstanding, and I would like to add that Mel is not new to our organization; he has been with JWB since World War I. And even in his work for JWB he servcs UJA. since the New York UJA supports JWB in our city.

"The Freedom Lamp award therefore has a special significance for Mel Krulewitch: the original of this award was given to another American general who has always stood for the same ideals of freedom and liberty that we have—Dwight D. Eisenhower. In presenting this Freedom Lamp to Mel Krulewitch, we honor him as the possessor of those traits which mean most to us, as Americans and as Jews."

New Librarian Engaged For Cohen Library

Asa Sokolow, chairman of the Library Committee, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Guido Kisch, as the new librarian for the Cohen Library.

This beautiful room, situated on the second floor of the Milton Steinberg House, was made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cohen and their illustrious son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore M. Cohen, all of whom have been consistent and devoted supporters of our synagogue for many years. Mr. I. M. Cohen, who was a former vice-president of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and who still serves as an active member of the Board of Trustees, has also generously contributed the sum of $10,000. for the purchase of new books to supplement the existing library.

Our new librarian has had a lifelong interest and participation in Jewish cultural activities. Mrs. Kisch is well qualified for her new post, having studied library organization in Switzerland, France and England. With her husband, who is the editor of Judaica, Mrs. Kisch has actively assisted him in the reorganization of two important University libraries in Europe. She also has helped in the organization of several congregational libraries. At present, Mrs. Kisch is completing a full catalogue and index of all the books in the library.

The Library Committee is now engaged in assembling new books covering many phases of Jewish life and interests. This is a challenging and stimulating undertaking and the committee hopes that the magnificent facilities now available will be used by the members of the Congregation, as well as by the students of the Religious School.

Young Marrieds News

By FRED H. KRONES

The next meeting of the Young Marrieds on January 8 will be their intra-group forum. During the past several years, at least one meeting of each season has been set aside for selected members of the group to discuss their vocations or avocations. This year, Messrs. Dudley L. Greenstein and Fred Schoeffer will give some of the intricacies in the function of the stock market—how sales and purchases of stock by sellers and buyers at opposite ends of the country are executed almost simultaneously, etc. Mr. Ed Davidson will talk on the varied uses of plastics and the manufacture of this wonder product.

These meetings have always been most interesting and one of the best aids to the members in getting to know each other better.

Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. Alex E. Arnstein—birth of grandson Andrew Seth Wilder.

Report On Hanukkah Party

By ARCHIE I. THURMAN

Those who missed our Hanukkah Party held in the Lemberg Auditorium Sunday evening, December 2, have much to regret.

This event which is now becoming traditional in the Park Avenue Synagogue was not only a great social success but provided many of our members an opportunity to fraternize with their fellow Congregants.

This was my first experience as Chairman of such an event and it made me realize the many dedicated men and women in our Synagogue who always contribute so graciously with their services and help to make these events such successful social functions.

Jon Silo performed in a most entertaining manner. His humerous comments and anecdotes kept the audience in constant laughter. He was accompanied by his wife at the piano and also prevailed upon his daughter Susan to sing several delightful numbers. In addition thereto Jacqueline Berman who might be referred to as the Jewish Burl Ives sang a repertory of songs both Israeli and Jewish and American that provided unusual entertainment for the audience.

Whatever success was achieved was due to the unsung heroes who assisted me and to them I give all credit: particularly to Mrs. Joseph Howard Katz, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel and Harry Dubin who were my Co-Chairmen and to Regina Stangel, Winnie Siegel, Frances Rubin, Bea Weisberg, Lillian Miller, Rhea Ruttenberg, Doris Rome, Belle Klein, Liza Foa, Letty Osserman who also served on my Committee.

Brandeis Centennial

Although the limitations of our BULLETIN do not permit an adequate review of the greatness of the late Mr. Justice Louis D. Brandeis, it is fitting that we should record the celebration of the centennial of his birth in our official publication.

In an article appearing in a recent issue of the American Zionist, "Were He Living Today", written by Hon. Benjamin V. Cohen, who was for many years, a close associate of the late Justice Brandeis, the writer points out, that:

"Brandeis achieved Zionism and become a Zionist by choice and conviction only after profound study and reflection."

When the Balfour Declaration was issued in 1917, it was to Brandeis that Woodrow Wilson turned for guidance and advice. Brandeis' faith in the upbuilding of the Jewish National Homeland in the years that followed World War I played an important part in the future development of Palestine. Although Brandeis never lived to see the creation of the State of Israel, his faith in the fulfillment of the Jewish destiny never waivered.

But perhaps, Brandeis is universally recognized and acclaimed because of his greatness in an even larger field. As an exponent of the finest principles of American life, he displayed unusual courage in expounding a philosophy that did not always meet with the approval of many in high public places. In fact, it was because of this display of great moral courage, that he became such a controversial figure when he was nominated by Woodrow Wilson in 1916, as an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

It was this search for the truth, however, that brought him recognition as a great moral force and which will accord him his proper place in the annals of history. As Mr. Cohen, so eloquently stated:

"While no man had greater respect and reverence than Brandeis for the good roots of American life, his study of the facts of modern industry and finance had convinced him that in many areas reforms were necessary. Brandeis was no dull or complacent conformist. He was not content to leave to others the risks and hardships of social and economic pioneering. He worked in and for causes in which he believed long before they became popular or accepted. He did not wait until victory was assured to take his stand. He did not shy away from people or causes because they were controversial. He did not curry the favor of the powerful or fear their wrath. His great concern was to live true to his own exactingly high standards.

"Brandeis did not hesitate to expose the evils he found in the management of public utilities, industry, banking and insurance or government. But he took no pleasure in the mere exposure of human frailities. His interest in the ills of our society was, like a physician's interest in disease, to find their cure. He was always seeking to find and work out constructive and practical solutions to problems. He sought solutions which would enable individuals and groups to advance their individual and group interests not by seeking unfair advantage over one another but by cooperating to advance their common interests. He was among the first to recognize and understand the essential interdependence of the interests of labor, management and the consuming public."

Sisterhood Notes

By MRS. SAUL GRANETTS

The most appealing and unusual program in the recent history of Sisterhood will be presented at the next regular open meeting on Tuesday, January 15, at noon. Mrs. Helen Worth, of the famous cooking school of the same name, will give a demonstration and lecture on the topic "Food Can Be Fun in Any Language".

Mrs. Worth, a well known expert in her line, believes that cooking knowledge means thrift. A good cook works imaginatively within a budget, buys the markets' seasonal best, stores food properly to keep it wholesome and fresh, makes the most of the ingredients on hand, and can blend leftovers into new dishes. In addition, she has a store of exciting recipes which she prepares, using work saving methods that reduce fatigue.

Mrs. Worth has successfully guided beginners and increased the culinary skill of experts. An authority on international cooking,—she is a food editor, a food consultant, appears on television and has written cook books and magazine articles.

The program promises to be educational, stimulating and enjoyable.

The usual resume of Jewish current events and book reviews will be offered in capsule form by Mrs. Solomon E. Green.

All members and friends are cordially invited to be Sisterhood's guests at luncheon.

College Party Huge Success

By HYMAN SANKEL

The Second Annual College Party was held Thursday evening, December 28, in the Lemberg Auditorium. The attendance far surpassed our expectations, except that the boys exceeded the girls in number, a factor which members of the feminine sex should make note of for next year. There were cocktails and food in abundance. There was also dancing.

It was a gala occasion and the boys and girls renewed old friendships. Everyone seemed very happy to greet old companions and many new friendships were made. Mrs. Harry Zucker, chairman of the party, together with Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, co-chairman, did a superb job of planning and conducting the entire affair. Mr. David Altschul acted as official bartender with the able assistance of Mr. Albert Siegel. Other members who served on the committee were Edith Altschul, Lisa Foa, Lillian Helpern, Winnie Siegel and Beatrice Weisberg.

The Youth Activities Division is greatly indebted to all those who helped to maintain the ties between the Synagogue and our college youth—and making the ties so very pleasant.

Dr. Edward Adelson, well known psychiatrist, will discuss "Psychiatry, Sex and the Law" at the January 22 meeting of the Men's Club to be held in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The meeting will commence at 8:30 P.M.

Men's Club is indeed fortunate to count Dr. Edward Adelson as one of its members. With a long and extensive background in psychiatry, Dr. Adelson is eminently qualified on the topic to be discussed. He is a graduate of Cornell University Medical College and served his psychiatric residency at Pilgrim State Hospital.

At present, Dr. Adelson is a Fellow of the Medical-Legal psychiatry unit of the NYU College of Medicine and is a psychiatrist with the psychiatric division of Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Adelson is also acting Director of Essex County Mental Hygiene Clinics.

David Altschul, a member of the Board of Directors of the Men's Club. will act as moderator of the evening's discussion and will define the legal problems involved. Joseph Howard Katz Elected Chairman of Board At Annual Congregational Meeting, January 13

Over 250 members attended the 75th annual congregational meeting of the Park Avenue Synagogue, which was held Sunday evening, January 13, in the Lemberg Auditorium. Joseph Howard Katz, a former vice chairman of the Board of Trustees, was unanimously elected its chairman for the ensuing year.

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ

Joseph Howard Katz, the new chairman of the Board, has been actively identified with the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years. Since 1951, he has been a member of the Board of Trustees, having served for a period of two years prior thereto, on the Advisory Council to the Board. In 1953, he was elected vice chairman of the Board and became its acting chairman in 1954. As president of our Men's Club from 1949 through 1953, he was the directing force that has made it one of the outstanding units in the Federation of Men's Clubs. He brings to his new post, a wealth of knowledge and experience, having served on almost every committee connected with any phase of synagogue activity. This understanding of the administration of synagogue affairs and the problems confronting the Park Avenue Synagogue should prove most helpful in enabling him to achieve the hope he expressed, in accepting this new honor: "To strengthen the influence not only of our own Park Avenue Synagogue but of Synagogues generally in our New York community."

Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, a member of the Board, and now serving as chairman of the Park Avenue Synagogue Committee for the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, was chosen vice chairman of the Board. Dr. Wimpfheimer and his family have long been loyal and devoted members of our Congregation.

The slate presented by the Nominating Committee which had been approved by the Board included the following additional officers who were also elected: Jacob Klein, President; Saul Godwin,

By Mrs. Saul Granetts

Mrs. Juliette P. Benton, well known lecturer, and a member of Park Avenue Synagogue, will be the guest speaker for Sisterhood Sabbath which will be observed at the Friday Evening Services on February 1. She will speak on "The Great Ages and Ideas of the Jewish People."

Several members of Sisterhood will participate in the reading of the prayers. They will include: Mrs. Irwin H. Rome, acting president of Sisterhood, Mrs. Solomon E. Green, Mrs. Abel H. Phillips, Mrs. Tubie Resnick, and Mrs. Benjamin Sack.

Following the services, the members are invited to attend a discussion period that will take place in the Lemberg Auditorium and the usual Oneg Shabbat.

Congressman Emanuel Celler, Guest Speaker, At Friday Evening Service, January 25

HON. EMANUEL CELLER

At the Friday Evening Service to be held Friday, January 25, at 8:30 P.M., our guest speaker will be Congressman Emanuel Celler. He is no stranger to our Congregation, having spoken from our Pulpit on several occasions. He has chosen as his topic, "The Jew in Congress", a subject with which he is quite familiar, after serving in the House of Representatives over three decades, as a Representative from the 11th Congressional District in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Elected in 1923, Congressman Celler served as Chairman of the House Committee on the Judiciary from 1949 through 1952, when he had to relinquish that post as a result of the Republican majority taking over the organization of the lower House. In 1955, the Democrats

It is with a feeling of deep grief that we announce the passing of Jacob Friedman, who served as president of the Park Avenue Synagogue from 1917 to 1946, when he was elected as Honorary President, a position which he held until the time of his death.

Uncle Jacob, as he was so affectionately known to all our congregants, devoted himself to our Synagogue during the early periods of crisis, with a courage and faith, that was an inspiration to those who were associated with him in carrying on the tradition of our institution.

To Betty, his beloved wife, and to Frances Peiper, his loving daughter, and to the other members of his family, go our heartfelt sympathy and condolence.

Services were held at the Park Avenue Synagogue, Tuesday, January 15, at 11:00 A.M.

"An Apologia"

In the previous issue of the Bulletin, we published the announcement that the Chief Rabbi of Ireland would be the guest speaker at the Parents Association Sabbath Services, January 18.

After going to press, the Bulletin was informed that Dr. Jakobovits, Chief Rabbi of Ireland, would be unable to attend our Friday Evening Service, as a result of which, it was necessary to obtain another speaker. Time did not permit the change to be made in the printed issue of the Bulletin.

Mrs. Herman Helpern, president of Parents Association, succeeded in making arrangements for the appearance of Mr. Meyer Levin, author of the best-seller "Compulsion", a book based on the famous Leopold-Loeb case of a generation ago. Mr. Levin spoke on "An End to Jewish Self-Hatred."

Congregational Meeting

1st vice-president; Solomon E. Green, 2nd vice-president; Nelson Ruttenberg, Treasurer; Milton M. Sivek, Associate Treasurer; and Emanuel Rosenthal, Secretary.

Six new trustees were elected to the Board: Solomon E. Green, Sidney J. Silberman, Milton M. Sivek, for a 3-year term: Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, Asa Sokolow, for a 2-year term: and Dr. Milton Helpern, for a 1-year term. Also re-elected to the Board for an additional term were the following: Joseph Howard Katz, Gen. Melvin L. Krulewitch, Harold H. Levin, Arthur Ochs, Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. Freda Sack, Harry J. Sokolow, Archie I. Thurman, each for a 3-year term. Hon. Samuel R. Gold, a Justice of the New York Supreme Court, and a member of our Congregation, acted as the installing officer. His humorous stories kept the guests in constant laughter and contributed to the gaiety of the occasion.

A dinner preceded the business meeting which was one of the best attended meetings in years. Mrs. Freda Sack, chairman, and her able committee, were responsible for the excellent arrangements made for this function. All agreed that the gay, festive spirit that prevailed enabled members of the congregation to socialize with their friends and fellow congregants and become better acquainted with the new members. Rabbi David C. Kogen, who has been officiating during this interim period, delivered the invocation and said the blessing. Hazzan David J. Putterman sang the National Anthem and Hatikvah and said grace after the meal.

The meeting was called to order by Jacob Klein. who was re-elected president for the seventh consecutive time. He then turned over the gavel to Ezra Cohen, chairman of the Board, who retired after serving two terms, and who submitted a comprehensive report of the synagogue activities during the past year. His report is published in full in the Bulletin. (page 3) Before relinquishing his office, Ezra Cohen presented a new gavel to Joseph Howard Katz, with the name of the new chairman beautifully inscribed thereon.

The new revised set of By-Laws prepared by the By-Law Committee, under the chairmanship of Hon. Sanford H. Cohen, was also presented for first reading.

Congressman Celler

again regained control and he resumed the Chairmanship of this important House Committee. His long service in the House of Representatives has made him thoroughly conversant with pressing political issues.

Congressman Celler has made several trips to Israel since his first visit in 1948, and has lectured to many audiences throughout the country on the new problems facing Israel. In 1954, he visited North Africa, Italy and Spain, in regard to the refugee and immigration problems in these countries. Author of the Displaced Persons Act, and vitally interested in the Refugee Relief Act, Congressman Celler visited Greece, Austria and Germany, in 1955, to see how these measures were being applied. He has opposed vigorously the restrictive provisions of the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationalities Act and has always been found in the forefront of the battle against prejudice and bigotry.

Although his legislative duties make great demands on his time, Congressman Celler has never severed his active association with many charitable, welfare and communal organizations. He is now serving as Chairman of the Board of the American Red Mogen Dovid and is also a Dircctor of the Jewish National Fund.

Following the services, there will be a short discussion period in the Lemberg Auditorium and the usual Oneg Shabbat, to which all are invited.

Milton M. Sivek, president of the Men's Club, presented to the Synagogue, a lectern for use in the Lemberg Auditorium, as a gift from our Men's Club. Only recently, the Youth Activities Room on the fifth floor of the Milton Steinberg House was dedicated by the Men's Club, in recognition of its contribution of $15,000 to the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

With the incoming of the new administration, it is hoped that we will close our ranks and devote and direct our efforts to the future development and strengthening of our instituton, so that the Park Avenue Synagogue may coninue to hold the high place it does in the Conservative Movement of Judaism. It is for each of us to dedicate himself to this noble undertaking.

Report of Ezra Cohen, Chairman of Board of Trustees Submitted to Annual Congregational Meeting, January 13, 1957

The general program and the activities of the Park Avenue Synagogue are many and varied. It would be quite impossible in the short space of time available to describe even a small part of the work of the various eommittees and affiliate organizations. The sketchy summarization that is necessary, is really a great injustice to each and every one. Should any member be interested in any particular phase or phases of the Synagogue work, the detailed reports of these eommittees are available at the Synagogue office and you may arrange to read them, if you will get in toueh with Sidney Katz, our Exeeutive Direetor.

In all frankness, in the situation in whieh we find ourselves, bereft as we are of permanent spiritual leadership, it would naturally follow that much of the program, mueh of the functioning would tend to be impaired, to be slowed up, and/or to be off kilter. But the most amazing part of it is, that almost every aetivity is functioning to the utmost of its possibility. Aeeomplishments steadily surpass all previous goals and an enthusiasm is developed and maintained in spite of, but may be beeause of, the handicaps which do exist. No picture could reach total perfection under sueh conditions. Yet there is but a minute part of the program that lags slightly, and then it is only beeause the particular activity is dependent upon rabbinieal inspiration and guidance, to a much greater degree than all the others.

We have twenty active Committees and several others who function at various unscheduled times. There are five affiliate organizations. The following will give an idea of what transpires.

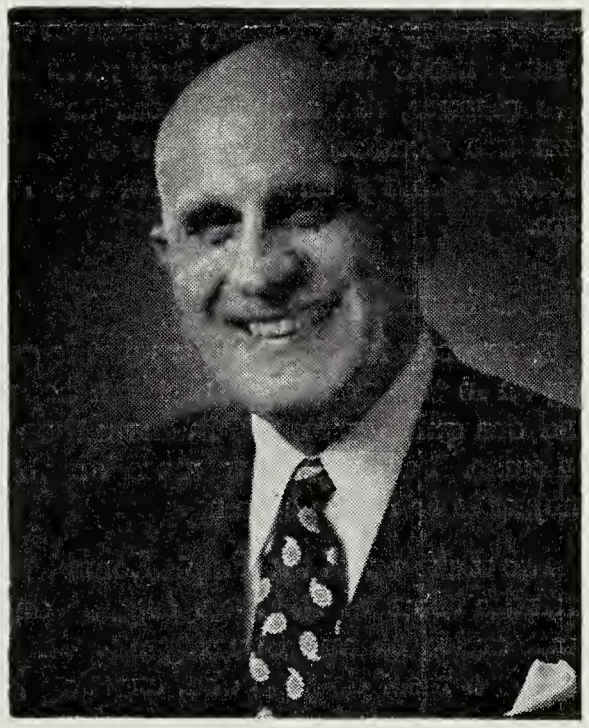

Adult Education Committee

This committee has concentrated intensively on guests for the Friday evening Serviees as an important part of the program celebrating our 75 years as a Synagogue. The list of speakers who have appeared include many outstanding Rabbis, Ministers and laymen of national reputation. Its program of Adult Education included Monday night classes and Sunday morning courses. This Committee has done an outstanding piece of work, operating as it did under espeeially diffieult circumstances.

Building Committee

The work of this Committee is praetieally complete. During the year there was literally a mopping up job the like of which has not previously had a counterpart.

The interior of the Synagogue and the Lemberg Audi'orium were renovated and beautified. The finishing touches have been applied all through the Milton Steinberg House. The donors' plaques have been put in their places and whatever slight details remain, are in the proeess of consummation. This has been an arduous task requiring daily attention, consultation and watehfulness, particularly on the part of its Chairman, who was known to have spent day after day for months, to see that everything moved as swiftly as possible to its final state and in time for the High Holy Day Serviees. The untiring and intensive Chairman of both the Adult Education and Building Committees is Saul Godwin, whom we will ask to rise to be acknowledged.

EZRA COHEN
Chairman of Board, 1955-1957

Bulletin Committee

This is practically a one man job and is performed by its chairman who also doubles as its editor. The Bulletin, now in its eleventh year, published twiee a month is read far and wide and it is surprising how many there are, outside the regular membership, who keep posted on Park Avenue Synagogue news through the medium of the Bulletin. This is a good paper and a real eredit to its editor—Nelson Ruttenberg.

Catering Committee

Nelson Ruttenberg is also Chairman of the Catering Committee. It has taken a little time to work out policies and formulas which affect a very important source of ineome for the Synagogue. Things are now functioning on an improvingly satisfactory basis so that the use of Synagogue facilities for marriages, Bar Mitzvahs and other functions of celebration is of a weekly nature and may take on a daily aspect very soon. In addition to the Chairmanship of these two Committees, Nelson finds time to aet as Treasurer of the Synagogue and Chairman of its Nominating Committee whieh you will hear from later. Meanwhile we will ask him to rise and be recognized.

By-Laws Committee

This Committee has been doing one of the real arduous tasks that was a dire necessity and perhaps previously delayed a little too long. The By-Laws badly needed being brought up to date. Some of its provisions had long since outlived their usefulness and by their very nature presented a handieap in the quiek funetioning required in these modern times. Besides it was necessary to add a number of stipulations in order to set up regulations for new circumstances which had not been antieipated years ago.

This Committee is composed of a whole barrage of top legal and lay talent. After beginning their work in the heat of the summer, they met practically every week to go over, minutely, every sentenee, word and eomma to finally pound out a new set of By-Laws.

The Chairman of the Committee who spear-headed this grueling effort was Judge Sanford H. Cohen and we are grateful indeed to him and the efforts of his Committee.

Will he please rise and be greeted.

Cemetery Committee

This Committee has been newly organized. A detailed survey will be made of the present Cemetery faeilities and it will also study the possibility of aequiring new properties.

Law Committee

This Committee passes upon authority and is consulted particularly by your chairman whenever he is in doubt as to the legality of proceedure.

Chairman's Report

Its opinions help not only to keep the balance but to avoid what otherwise might develop into situations of error and embarrassment. Both the new Cemetery Committee and the Law Committee are chaired by Sidney J. Silberman. Will he kindly rise and be recognized.

Library Book Selection Committee

The work of this Committee is slowly and carefully being rounded out so that we shall soon have access to a fine operating and well managed library.

The generosity of Isidore M. Cohen, a member of our Board of Trustees, and whose family have been loyal and devoted members of our Synagogue for many years, and the practice on the part of many members of the Congregation of making contributions to the Library Fund to purchase new books which are inscribed in honor of some of their friends or family, have made possible what will soon become a fine collection.

The Library is now and will in the future be maintained and supervised by Mrs. Guido Kisch who is a capable Librarian with a comprehensive background in Jewish cultural life. The Library is open to all members and their children and you are urged to avail yourself of its use.

The Chairman of this Committee is Asa Sokolow, who with his Committee is perfecting one of those quiet unsung but extremely effective jobs. Asa is now abroad, but note is duly taken of his Chairmanship and the work of his Committee.

Committee on Arts and Decorations

This is a consulting Committee. On so many occasions donations of a physical nature are made to the Congregation. Some of them are acceptable and others are not of the kind which just fit into the general decor. Members of the Synagogue who have a background which enables them to make decisions of an aesthetic nature make up the composition of this Committee. Likewise, they consider and advise on any changes or additions to the general appearance of the various sections and interiors of the institution.

The Chairman of this Committee is Mrs. Milton Sivek, and she will be assisted by a number of our members in related fields of the creative arts.

Finance Committee

You have heard on numerous occasions that the general finances of the Synagogue are in good shape. However there is still a sizeable deficit in the Milton Steinberg Building Fund which we hope on an early occasion to eliminate in ways to be devised at the time.

With the acquisition of the Milton Steinberg House and the additional services and facilities available, the expense of up-keep has necessarily mounted. This will be taken care of in a good measure by increased income from membership which has already taken effect partially and will continue in the future.

The Finance Committee prepares the yearly budget, an exacting job which requires much knowledge and skill. In this manner, the affairs of our institution are steadied to a degree of satisfactory stability and safety for the future.

Pulpit Committee

Everybody is interested in what is going on in this area. We have high hopes and are quite optimistic in the ultimate outcome. You will hear more on this subject later in the evening.

The make up of the Pulpit Committee includes some of the most capable and most active of our Congregants. Their task is a most delicate one, exacting in its detail, requiring sagacity and judgment at every turn and at every move. Theirs is a very difficult and time consuming effort which calls on the full talent and ability of every one of its members. Each one has given of his time to attend numerous meetings and conferences, some at short notice and others at just a moments notice.

The hard working Chairman of his Committee as well as the Finance Committee is Ben Sack. It was my good fortune to serve under him for five years as Vice-Chairman when he was Chairman of the Board. During all that time and ever since right up to the present, Ben Sack has never turned down an assignment, no matter how large or small, no matter how difficult. And now he is still functioning with full energy, dogged determination and an unswerving devotion to the Steinberg ideal.

It is with a profound respect and deep appreciation that Ben Sack is asked to rise and accept the plaudits and thanks of the members here assembled.

House Committee

The House Committee is in control of the work-a-day functioning of the Synagogue and the Milton Steinberg House. It is its business to assure an orderly, spic and span, comfortable physical set up. At the same time, it must provide for replacement and repairs to assure no interruption or interference with any of the multitude of activities continually operating. That this has been done with a maxmum of efficiency and good organization is a credit to the Committee and its chairman, Morty Millheiser. Will he rise, please.

School Board

To reduce the report of the activities of the Religious School is a process which is not only most unfair but grossly impractical. This summary must of necessity be limited to just a few comments. Under the circumstances, we will do the best we can, but, in the process, it will be wholly inadequate. The Religious School of the Park Avenue Synagogue is one of the finest of its kind in the whole country. It operates on a seven day basis. There are classes every day of the week including Saturdays and on Sundays, and the Milton Steinberg House is already inadequate. Not only is every room jam pack full but the overflow of special classes, has to be crammed into the Rabbis Study, the Cantor's Study, the Trustee Room and the office of the Chairman of the Board. It has been suggested already there may be need now to consider, if possible, an annex to the Milton Steinberg House.

The school maintains a curriculum of the very highest standards under the expert direction of its Principal, Mr. Martin Leichtling. His leadership through the years has been a strengthening influence of those moral and spiritual values which make for better living within the American community. The School Board, the Parents, the Teachers, all have assumed an attitude of responsibility for the moral and spiritual growth of our children in keeping with the American tradition of separation of Church and State.

This year a High School Department has been added so that religious education need not be culminated at Bar Mitzvah. This effort, though just starting, has all the aspects of full success and steady growth.

The School Board looks to the future with the hope that the Park Avenue

Synagogue may continue to strengthen and expand its educational program so as to satisfy in greater and greater degree, the needs of the children and young people in the community.

Planning Committee

Something new has been added which has gone a great way toward a solution of a problem that has been with us for years. We are now able to plan ahead.

In the month of May the Committee meets and draws up for the approval of the Board of Trustees a program with actual dates for all the major Synagogue functions for the entire Liturgical Year. After approval of the Board, the Planning Committee meets at regular intervals. It takes steps to implement the program. It selects the make up of the various Committees to be suggested to the Board Chairman. It outlines what should be the object and purpose of each event and in general supervises and coordinates the Synagogue events and celebrations. Advance care is taken to avoid conflicting dates, duplication of activity and any situations which might result in difficulty and embarrassment.

The major events and observances are now operated as Synagogue projects with representation on each of the Committees from all of the arms of the institution. The result of this new approach has been a complete success. Every event thus far has proved a most delightful experience. Each was intelligently planned, well executed and full satisfaction and enjoyment was realized by large attendances.

This evening's turn out is but on example. Forthcoming events to complete the years activity are: The Annual Purim Party—Saturday evening, March 16, Howard Kieval, Chairman of the Arranging Committee; The 7th Yahrzeit of Rabbi Milton Steinberg—Friday Evening, April 5. The Diamond Jubilee Celebration—Sunday afternoon and evening, March 31 under the Chairmanship of Milton Weill. Second Night Passover Seder—April 16. The Seder will be under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Belle Green. The 13th Annual Service of New Liturgical Music—Friday Evening, May 24 under the direction of our own Hazzan David J. Putterman.

Both the School Board and the Planning Committee is chaired by an ever so capable personality who always gets things done in an crudite and consummate fashion. Will Mrs. Phyllis Siegel please rise and be acknowledged.

Youth Activities Committee

If you want to have a heartwarming experience, just interest yourself and become a little familiar with the recently established youth activity program of this Synagogue. Although only two years old, under the expert direction of Mr. Hyman Sankel, the numbers continue to increase and the scope of activity expands to the point where the limit of membership has long since been reached. The waiting list to join continues to grow and we are compelled of necessity to limit participation to teen-agers who are from the families of Synagogue members.

To review sketchily the various activities could not begin to convey adequately the detail and the nature of the program. It begins with children of seven years of age in the Girl and Boy Scout groups, Cubs and Brownies. and goes through Teen-Agers A B C D and continues on with a Study Group, newspaper group and a college group. The latter is the largest single unit. Actually there are 437 in the registration in 14 groups or clubs with 8 leaders plus the director and a part time clerical aid.

The program of each group is different from the others, according to age and type of activity. Nevertheless all are beamed in the general direction of personality development. character formation. ethical standards, ideals of service and self discipline. Leadership training is an important function. These social aspects are stressed on a healthy and intelligent level of approach and the cultural, ceremonial, and recreational events that follow are of a constructive and meaningful nature. Spearheading the activity of this important work is a devoted Committee who have their hearts in every phase of the work. Will Mrs. Lillian Helpern its Chairman, please rise to be acknowledged.

Membership Committee

Here is a group of men who actually sweat it out. Most of their work is done during the heat of the summer when the rest of us are taking it easy or on extended vacations. This is a job that takes on the aspect of dogged determination to see it through, night by night and week by week so that everything is all set-up and well in hand by the time the High Holy Days begin.

Each and every application for membership requires an interview. There are always changes in location of seats and adjustments that have to be made. By and large the membership of the Synagogue has cooperated admirably to solve many of the difficult problems that arose and continue to arise at all times.

Largely because of changes in minimum rates, necessitated by the increased expense in operating the enlarged institution, the Committee was successful in increasing the income from dues by upward of $17,000. Further enhancement of income will be the program for the future to take care of all the existing monetary requirements. The membership roster remains between 700 and 750 families with the regular 7% or 8% of changes made up by new applications each year.

The hard working and at times much harassed, Chairman of this hard working Committee, is Harry J. Sokolow. Will he please rise to be recognized.

Ritual Committee

This Committee has to do with the organization and nature of the services. It is concerned with religious standards to be maintained in both the Synagogue and Milton Steinberg House. Its procedure has to be careful and cautious because of the sensative and delicate nature of the situations that arise.

The Chairman of this important Committee is Sol Green and he has performed his duties with a commendable tact and diplomacy. Will he rise.

Ushering Committee

The ushering at all Synagogue Services on all the Holy Days, Holidays and Sabbath has been taken over by the Men's Club as one of its particular projects. We have already witnessed the wonderful progress achieved in making the ushering as smooth and immaculate as is possible to arrange.

The object is for ushering to be a pleasant and impressive way to welcome every one entering the Synagogue, greeting them with cordiality and warmth and escorting them to their seats. Briefing sessions as to the essentials connected with proper demeanor, uniform neat attire, avoidance of confusion and maintenance of the dignity of the Service atmosphere, are held at regular intervals. It is the intention of the Men's Club to make membership on the Ushering staff of the Synagogue a privilege and an honor accorded to those who particularly regard ushering as a very important part of the decorum of the Services.

Chairman's Report

The Chairman of the Ushering Committee, who has taken over the leadership of this work with zest and enthusiasm, is Dr. Sigmund Siegel. Will he rise please.

General

In summarizing the work of each Committee and affiliates, the custom is to ask the Chairman to rise and be acnowledged in behalf of his or her Committee. This is a procedure that has come to be traditional. There seems to be no better way of taking into account the important contribution made by the committee and each of its individual members.

An analogy might be cited in sports to illustrate the point. In a football game most of the glory goes to the ball earriers. They are the ones who are mentioned by name. They get the credit for the ground gained. But every baekfield runner will tell you that it's the linesmen who make everything possible. Without a good strong line no halfback could ever star. Yet every man in that line is keyed up to give everything he has. He knows full well he never can hope for mueh praise no matter how effeetive he is. But that feature never enters his mind. It's the team effort that is his eoneern, and he does his individual job as part of the team putting every ounce of resoureefulness and energy into it.

Our Committees work in the same spirit. The team work is what achieves these fine results. So that when a Committee Chairman is mentioned, the plaudits are for the Committee as a whole.

Sisterhood

The Sisterhood continues its threefold policy of service to the community, the Synagogue and to its own members. This takes on many forms and shades of aetivity whieh keeps the program lively and effective throughout the year.

Noteworthy among the regular events was the Brunch and Theatre Party on November 28th under the sponsorship of Mrs. Siegel, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Rome. The affair was its usual suecess, with a very fine program at the Brunch and a very good performanee at the theatre. Finaneially it was equally successful with a net of $6,500 resulting.

The presentation of the "Bride's Room" to the Synagogue, completely furnished, in exquisitely good taste, is a most valuable addition to attraet bridal couples to hold their weddings at the Park Avenue Synagogue. It is mueh appreciated and we are thankful for this thoughtful and practieal gift from the Sisterhood.

The President of the Sisterhood will shortly leave with Dr. Karmiol on a trip around the world and we all join in wishing them God speed and a most pleasant and gratifying experience. Will Mrs. Gertrude Karmiol please rise and be greeted.

Men's Club

The Men's Club continues to increase in effectiveness steadily eaeh year with well attended meetings and an outstanding and varied program of events.

During the past year there has been held the 9th Annual Politieal Forum in whieh 12 of the leading candidates ineluding Mayor Wagner appeared before an attendance of 400. On another oecasion there was provocative diseussion on the subject of "U. S. Poliey in the Middle East" whieh was attended by Congressmen Irwin Davidson, Frederick R. Coudert and publisher Seymour Berkson of the Journal-Ameriean, as moderator. There was a Father and Son night with Nat Holman as guest, a Ladies Night whieh was a real highlight, and on another oceasion a moving address by Rabbi Gilbert Klaperman on "The Plight of the Jew Behind the Iron Curtain."

As forementioned, the Men's Club has taken over Ushering as a special project and will assume full responsibility for its proper functioning.

The dedieation of the Men's Club Youth Aetivities Room on the fifth floor of the Milton Steinberg House took place on December 18 and the Maznzah was affixed with proper ceremony. The Leetern presentation you have just witnessed.

The President of the Men's Club is Milton Sivek who leads with enthusiasm and distinetion in this very important arm of the Synagogue family. Will Milton Sivek please rise.

Parents Association

It continues its function as a liaison between the home and the Religious School in every way possible and becomes particularly aetive around the major Jewish holidays. Class mothers assist at all holiday functions such as the Hanukkah party, Purim party and the Model Seder. There are volunteers on the Library Committee, and on the work done for the Holiday Festival.

The Parents Association takes an active interest in all Synagogue endeavors. Its president is Mrs. Lillian Helpern, previously aeknowledged.

Young Marrieds

The Young Married group continues to be one of the major interests of our Synagogue and we hope that in the period immediately ahead it will increase in importanee as a signfieant soeial arm of our Synagogue aimed in interesting Young Married couples in Park Avenue Synagogue affiliation. They had an exeellent year and we know that the future, because of their leadership, is promising.

As guest Rabbi, David C. Kogen has filled the breach of our vaeant Pulpit during all these months with grace and dignity. We are indeed appreeiative of his splendid cooperation. In some of our experiences we are faeed with situations which call for a certain bearing and demeanor. Inability to meet these eireumstanees could readily have less pleasant results than those whieh now prevail. Will Rabbi Kogen please rise and be acknowledged.

The Synagogue Services continue, as throughout our memory, to be a thrilling experience. The musical portion, which is so important a feature, is quite up to its usual standard because of tireless devotion and applieation of our own Hazzan David J. Putterman assisted as he is by Cantor Abraham Friedman. Both these men had set-backs in health at different times during the past year but the services did not suffer nor were they absent from their posts except when their doetors forbade.

We are happy to see them both in good shape as of now and trust they will continue in health without further interruption. Will David Putterman and Abraham Friedman please rise.

Behind the scenes we are fortunate in having a delightful set up. In charge, we have Sidney Katz whose cordiality, diseretion and sweetness of manner is inviolably maintained despite a staggering volume of detail and urgeney which would certainly mow down any normal individual.

Working besides him and in perfect harmony is Mannie Rosenthal whose experienee, taet, knowledge of all that went on in the past, and intimate acquaintance with so many of the members is of no small value to smooth operations. Will Sidney and Mannie rise.

Chairman's Report

Do not treat lightly the effectiveness of the women on the Board of Trustees. Freda Sack has a mind of her own and will not hesitate to stand up and let every one know it, especially when it may be in complete disagreement with one who may be. more or less. closely related. But in addition to her many invaluable efforts in all sorts of capacities, she heads the Committee which arranged all the details of this wonderful Congregational Dinner. So will Freda Sack please rise and be acclaimed.

There is one person who has been appointed on a number of Committees and has attached herself to several others, to make the dirt fly and to get things done, in so many glamorous and glamorless jobs. You probably appreciate that reference is made to Dorothy Sokolow.

When the dirt flies, the dust sometimes irritates. We are apt to be a little uncomfortable. But it is all for the best and we hope that Dorothy's efforts and drive—will continue to be a very valuable asset. Dorothy Sokolow—please rise.

When we count our blessings, at the top of the list we have to place our President Jake Klein. He is a personality who has endeared himself to everyone of us.

Voluntarily he has taken on practically all the pastoral work. which he performs with a sweetness and grace that makes him a most welcome guest in our homes both in times of joy and in times of stress. We know he likes to visit just as we like to welcome him and we hope that this blessing will be prevalent among us for a long time to come. A Salute to you Sir!

It has been my good luck, during my tenure, to have been able to confer with your Chairman to be. Joseph Howard Katz. At certain periods we sat together almost daily to discuss and analyze the numerous items and angles that developed. As each situation would arise, and there were plenty that arose, we would weigh the pros and cons, and after much weighing, decide upon what move to make. Luckily most of these decisions worked out. Some may have been in error, but then a quick readjustment was possible with a minimum of ensuing difficulty.

Your new Chairman of the Board is a capable individual. He knows his way around in the "Religious World", and that includes Rabbinical circles, particularly. You will have the best type of lay leadership in the next term.

Your Chairman has been very fortunate in having so many fine people with whom to consult. Nevertheless, at such times when there was undue stress, and the gravity of circumstances threatened dire results if the wrong step was taken —the statesmanship, counsel, and advice of three of our outstanding members, Judge Bernard Botein, Samuel Lemberg and Milton Weill, were of inestimable value in keeping things on a steady course. On every occasion, they were quite as eager to be of help as your Chairman was to receive it.

Milton Weill was unable to be present, but I would ask Judge Bernard Botein and Samuel Lemberg to please rise and be acknowledged.

Conclusion

An attempt has been made to give a general idea, in far too abbreviated a form, of what goes on in your Synagogue. The general activitiy and the work done was good. It was better than good. it was excellent. But nothing is perfect nor is so good that it cannot be improved, and it will be. To that end. everyone will lend a hand.

My personal thanks to all who have participated. It was my good fortune to have had the cooperation and help of a group of the finest people that the community can produce. Much thanks from all of the members of this great institution.

Revised By-Laws Submitted to Congregational Meeting

The new revised set of By-Laws for the Park Avenue Synagogue was submitted for first reading at the congregational annual meeting, Sunday evening, January 13.

Hon. Sanford H. Cohen, chairman of the committee on the revision of the By-Laws, and his colleagues, Saul Godwin, Nelson Ruttenberg, Benjamin Sack, Sidney J. Silberman, and Asa Sokolow, did an excellent job in the preparation of this document. This committee labored steadfastly, beginning their work prior to the summer and continuing through until the By-Laws, in final form, was submitted and approved by the Board of Trustees in December 1956.

HON. SANFORD H. COHEN
Chairman, By-Laws Committee

Many points of view were expressed in considering the numerous changes that have been made in the old By-Laws under which we dave been operating for several decades. But in reaching the final result, the task became comparatively easy, under the capable leadership of Judge Sanford H. Cohen, the chairman, whose vast legal and judicial experience stood him in good stead, in the conduct of the many meetings held by the committee and the intricate and difficult problems that arose in considering important changes. We are deeply grateful to Judge Sanford H. Cohen, for having made another valuable contribution to the progress of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Aid to Israeli Children

During the month of February the students of the Religious School will engage in their Third Annual Keren Ami Drive for Children in Israel. This special project is sponsored by the schools of the five main synagogues in the mid-Manhattan area, Anshe Chesed, B'nai Jeshurun, Kehilath Jeshurun, Society for the Advancement of Judaism and the Park Avenue Synagogue.

This joint activity was initiated three years ago to give direct aid to school children in Israel. At that time our children donated five complete ceramic sets to Israeli schools. Last year our students voted to present an electrocardiagraph machine to a children's hospital.

Delegates from the five mid-Manhattan schools are meeting under the guidance of Mr. Alan Blaine, to decide upon the gifts to be presented to the Israeli schools this year. The delegates are considering the purchase of film-strip projectors, phonographs and records or the purchase of a number of musical instruments.

In addition to this special Keren Ami activity, the students of our school contribute to other worthy causes who work chiefly in the United States. In previous years the representatives of our classes have allocated sums to the Jewish Theological Seminary, the United Jewish Appeal, the Red Mogen Dovid (Israel Red Cross), the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, the Jewish National Fund and the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

Dr. Louis Finkelstein Delivers Prayer At Eisenhower Inauguration

At the Inauguration of President Eisenhower, Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, was selected, as representative of the Jewish faith to deliver one of the prayers.

For those who may have missed this ceremony, we are printing the prayer in this issue of the Bulletin which was as follows:

"God of our fathers: grant Dwight David Eisenhower and Richard Milhaus Nixon the blessings sought of Thee for all mankind by the great scholar, Rab, sixteen centuries ago in Babylonia.

"Give them long life, life of peace, life of happiness, above all life which may prove a blessing to mankind.

"Do Thou fulfill in their days and in ours Thy promise to the Prophets, that Thou wilt cause fear to Thee to enter the hearts of all Thy creatures, so that mankind may become one society, dedicated with a complete heart to performance of Thy will.

"May wickedness be silenced, may the rule of arrogance vanish, and Thou alone reign over all. Our Father and our King, may our time be ripe for Thine own intervention as of yore, to inspire us to obey Thee, that all mankind may join us in Thy service, for their own sake, and for the sake of Thy Holy Name. Amen."

Library of Congress Hebraic Section Expanding

In October 1914, Jacob Schiff, a friend of Ephraim Deinard, presented to the people of the United States, the Deinard Collection of books and other material designed to pay tribute to the magnificent contribution the Jews of America have made to their country and to democratic life elsewhere.

This was the beginning of the Hebraic Collection in the official archives at Washington, for it was shortly thereafter that an Act of Congress, established it as a permanent part of the Library of Congress.

Today, in its forty-second year, this Hebraic section has become one of the largest single assemblages of material relating to Jewish life in the possession of the United States Government. It is located on the top floor of the Library of Congress building and has long since passed the 50,000 volume mark, in addition to which, countless other items, including periodicals, brochures, and illustrations overflow its shelves and exhibit cases. Truthfully it has been said, that the Hebraic Collection is a reflection of Jewish life down through the ages.

One of the most fascinating groupings is the collection of Hagadahs from all over the world and recognized as the most complete unit to be found anywhere. In addition, the Bible and Talmud editions assembled in this unusual collection has provoked the following comment by a library official: "It is not commonly known, but this collection contains virtually every printing of the Bible and the Talmud published in a wide variety of languages, since the 16th century."

Many of the items contained in this collection are irreplaceable. Although there are dozens of extremely rare Bibles extant, few are as beautiful and well preserved, as the ancient Great Bible of Mainz, reputed to be even older than the Gutenberg Bible. This was a gift to the Library of Congress in 1952 by Lessing J. Rosenwald, the son of Julius Rosenwald.

Another unusual gift was presented by Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures Corporation, and a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue. In 1945, he presented the Library of Congress with one of the original fourteen copies of the Bill of Rights. That such a copy was still in existence was almost regarded as hopeless, as of all the original copies that had been given to the Founding States, only that which had gone to Virginia was still in her possession. This priceless gift is now part of the Library of Congress and the visitor will find the Balaban Bill of Rights, as it has been labeled, in a specially constructed exhibit case which formerly had housed an original draft of the Declaration of Independence.

Due credit for the information contained in the above item is acknowledged to Harvey Berman, whose article on this subject was published in a recent issue of the American Zionist.

The week of February 6-12 is Boy Scout Week. They will celebrate by participation in the Service. The other scout groups will also be present.

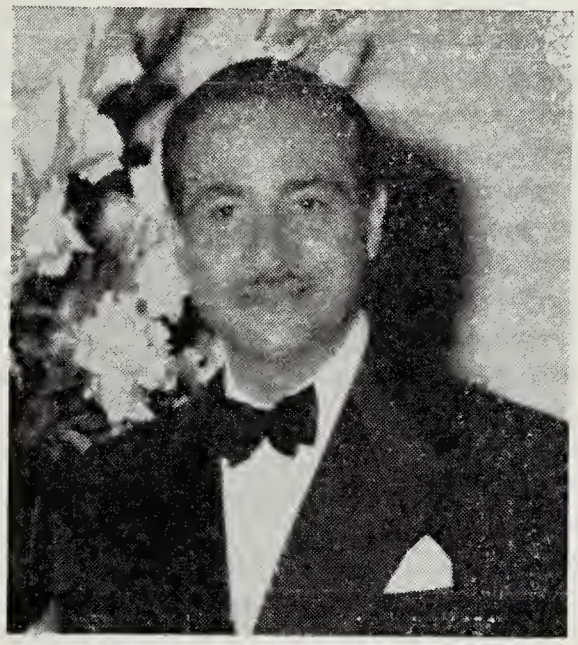

Address by Joseph Howard Katz, Newly Elected Board Chairman, Delivered at Congregational Annual Meeting, January 13, 1957

In addressing you tonight immediately following my induction, I am probably departing from tradition. I know it is customary for the chairman of the Board to spend a year in office and then submit his annual report of what has been accomplished at the following congregational meeting. But I trust you will forgive me, if I take the next ten minutes of your time this evening in advance of my year in office, to tell you some things that are on my mind, and to give you a preview of some of our plans for the coming year.

First, I wish to express my deepest appreciation to the Nominating Committee and its chairman, Nelson Ruttenberg, and to my colleagues on the Board of Trustees, as well as to each and every one of you, who in the final analysis constitute the congregation of the Park Avenue Synagogue. My deepest appreciation to all of you for your confidence in having chosen me to lead this institution during the coming year, as chairman of the Board.

Having experienced the problems of the chairman about two years ago for a short period of time, I can tell you with some authority that the chairmanship carries with it heartaches as well as joyous rewards. For me, there are only two rewards that have any real meaning. The first is the honor and privilege of following in the footsteps of Frederick Finn, Bernard Botein, Benjamin Sack, Sanford H. Cohen and Ezra Cohen, all dedicated, devoted and talented former chairmen of the Board who have served this congregation unselfishly since the office was first created. The second reward comes from knowing that whatever energy and effort I may give to the job, even though as a sacrifice to my profession and to my family, I will be contributing to the strength and the welfare of our synagogue, our community, and of Judaism at large.

But there is another side to the story, the vicissitudes of the office to which I alluded a moment ago. Someone once said that the occupational disease of a chairman is, "Stepping on people's toes." Whether that may have been said facetiously or not, I unfortunately recognize the fact that oftimes that remark is true, no matter how much diplomacy one may use or how one may try to avoid it—and no matter how well intentioned and sterling of purpose one may be. I want to assure you my friends, that in arriving at decisions as Chairman of the Board, I will do whatever my conscience tells me is best for Park Avenue Synagogue. I will not be guided or prompted by any other rule or formula. If I do wrong, you can be certain that it will not be from ignorance of the facts or from any whim or caprice and you can hold me accountable for it.

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ

I would like to tell you of three major items on our agenda. First, the number one and foremost objective of this new administration is to fill the pulpit which is now vacant. I believe this calls for some plain talk and I trust you will accept it in the spirit it is given. I am sure you are aware of the fact that the Rabbi, who will meet the approval and acclaim of everyone of our congregants, is just non-existent. Such a man is a utopian dream. He would of necessity have to be a composite of all the leaders in the American Rabbinate. Yet despite that fact, and this is not an unrealistic approach, our Pulpit Committee whose members constitute top leadership in our Synagogue, has nevertheless set its goal very high. Parenthetically, I must say here I have never served on any committee whose members are more eager to help and more willing to give so much of their time—as the majority of the members of our Pulpit Committee have evidenced thus far. We have met during business hours, and we have met in the evenings and on Sunday mornings. We have interviewed Rabbis from different parts of this country—Rabbis who have established their mark and left their mark and left their impact on the Jewish community, and younger men who possess the potential for outstanding leadership. Two more interviews are scheduled for the coming week. I should like to clear two things for you tonight, that have repeatedly been asked of me by many of you; and which you should know. Your Pulpit Committee conditions all its interviews with prospective candidates with the prerequisite understanding, that the candidate if acceptable is not to attempt to move our congregation towards orthodoxy, on the one hand, or to reform, on the other. We are a liberal wing conservative synagogue and we are in favor of our musical service, the organ, the mixed choir, as well as the celebration of our beautiful traditional holidays; and we want to keep it that way. (2) The second thing you should know is that your Board of Trustees has officially indicated its willingness to pay the highest compensation for a suitable Rabbi. I can only tell you this—We pledge to bring to our pulpit as soon as we possibly can a man who, in our judgment possesses the erudition and eloquence to spark our religious services and educational programs, and who will spiritually lead, and wisely guide those who require pastoral leadership: a man of whom this synagogue can be proud. Just one more thought on this item before I leave the subject. I urge and beg of you not to give credence to any rumors or gossip you may have picked up about any possible candidate under consideration. I have heard such gossip why one candidate didn't accept the post;—why the Committee didn't approve of another;—or who is being considered before others. These rumors have not only filled these sacred halls but they have managed to find their way into a national Anglo-Jewish newspaper. Rumors repeated sufficiently become exaggerated, then essentially inaccurate, and finally harm not only the candidate (who may be just the man we are looking for), but they also do harm to the candidate's present synagogue and to ours, too. Furthermore, a preconceived misconception not based upon any fact about a man's ability or his personal theology or his character can be the death knell for one who may have extraordinary capacity to serve this congregation as its Rabbi. I know you are all justifyably hungry for news about our pulpit, but please wait for an official announcement from the Board, which I assure you will not be delayed and then, we may all celebrate together.

Chairman's Address

Now for the second item on our agenda—The greatest contribution a chairman can make for a successful administraton is to gather about him men and women who thoroughly understand their business and who are deeply but impersonally, vitally interested in the synagogue. I will make every effort to seek out new blood and new faces and supplement them with our old reliable members so that more of our membership from both the old and new can be activated into the administration of this institution.

Thirdly, and finally, I will do everything in my power to revitalize and renew the spirit for which this congregation is so well known. Of course no one can predict what the future holds in store for us. I tell you, however, with all the emphasis I can command, that I am very optimistic in my belief that this, our 75th Diamond Jubilee year, will be the beginning of a new era in our synagogue life. An era of friendship and unity, and an era of a richer appreciation for the liberal conservative Judaism for which this synagogue stands.

By your presence this evening, you have reaffirmed the stake you own in this congregation. And so, on the threshold of this new administration I ask each and every one of you to help me attain our goal. I know you will respond.

And now with a firm resolve to make myself worthy of the honor bestowed upon me, I pray that Almighty God grant me the health, the strength, the wisdom and the will to do the right as I am able to see it.

UJA Women's Division Launches Campaign

The opening rally of the 1957 Women's Division campaign on behalf of the UJA of Greater New York will be held at the Sheraton Aston Hotel, Broadway and 45th Street, on Monday, February 18, 1957 at 10:30 A.M. The guests will be Hon. Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to the United States and Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis University.

David Ben Gurion, prime minister of Israel, made the following statement. "To be a realist in Israel, you must believe in miracles."

One of the miracles in Israel has been the absorption and integration of refugees. 51,000 entered in '56, and it is estimated that the great majority of the 100,000 Jews who will escape from Europe and North Africa this year will settle in Israel. Already thousands of Jews escaped from Hungary and expelled from Egypt have gone to Israel and the number will constantly increase. But in Israel there are no refugees, for the moment they set foot on the land they are citizens, and according to a report received last week from Israel, "the man-in-the-street in Tel Aviv, Haifa or Petach Tikvah tightened his belt a little more, rolled up his collar against the sudden extreme cold of the last few days, and moved over to make room for the newcomers."

"The stories that were told were familiar and frightful — Jews handcuffed and stoned as they were marched through the streets of Cairo; confiscation of property; internment in desert concentration camps". In other words, the first phase of Hitler's program that led to the extermination of six million Jews was being repeated.

"And then one day last week", the report continues, "the whole country stopped for a moment to demonstrate its protest against brutality unleashed. The moment over, Israel went back to work. It wasn't enough to say "Welcome". Houses had to be built and jobs provided, and a language taught—for the new citizens would have their jobs mapped out for them soon enough, and they in turn would have to be ready, almost overnight, to say "Shalom" to the boatloads of next week".

The ship-to-settlement program, devised by the Jewish Agency and financed by the United Jewish Appeal, makes it possible for yesterday's refugees to become today's citizens. It can't be done in transit camps and ma'abarot. There are no empty houses left in Israel and its citizens can move just so far. That is why our cash is urgently needed to keep this miracle a reality.

Archie Thurman Elected At Synagogue Convention

By SIDNEY R. KATZ

The Biennial Convention of the Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue of America was held Sunday, January 13 in Rockville Centre with over 500 delegates representing Conservative Synagogues in this area.

ARCHIE I. THURMAN

Of special interest to us of Park Avenue Synagogue was the election of Archie Thurman, a member of the Board of Trustees, to the post of Manhattan Co-chairman of the Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue and a member of their Executive Council.

Others who participated in the convention activities, were Milton Sivek, our Associate Treasurer, who spoke at one of the panels on Synagogue affiliates. Our Congregation was represented besides Mr. Sivek and Mr. Thurman, by Sol Green, Benjamin Sack and Sidney R. Katz. Another visitor from our congregation was Charles Bennet.

Rabbi Rabinowitz, Speaker

degree. He attended the Jewish Theological Seminary from which he was ordained as Rabbi in June 1943 and was immediately called to serve at Temple Beth El in Cedarhurst, L. I.

In 1949 he received his Master of Hebrew Literature degree from the Jewish Theological Seminary and the following year received his Master of Arts degree in Sociology from Yale University.

Rabbi Rabinowitz has served as National President of A.Z.A., Jr. of the order of B'nai B'rith, President of the New Haven Zionist District, Chairman of the New Haven United Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign and Chairman of the New Haven Community Relations Committee.

Since coming to Minneapolis he has served on various communal and religious committes including the Governor's Committee on Refugee Resettlement and Secretary of the Minnesota Rabbinical Association. He is also a contributing editor to the "Reconstructionist" and a member of the National Youth Commission of B'nai B'rith.

All members of the congregation, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend. Following his address, there will be the usual discussion period and refreshments.

Synagogue Pioneers With New Honor To Women

Once again, Park Avenue Synagogue has pioneered in the field of extending its liberal tradition by inviting women to participate in pulpit honors.

At the Sabbath morning Services held on January 19, Mrs. Benjamin Sack, a member of our Board of Trustees, became the first woman in our congregation to receive the honor of a Pesichah, the privilege of opening the Ark by drawing the curtain at the time of the saying of the prayer Olenu.

In inviting Mrs. Sack to accept this honor, Jacob Klein, synagogue president, pointed to our tradition on Simhath Torah when women are honored as well as men and also to the principle that women in our Congregation have membership status equal to that of men.

Jacob Klein Re-Elected President for Sixth Term

At the last congregational meeting, Jacob Klein was re-elected president of the Park Avenue Synagogue for the sixth consecutive term, an honor which represents in only a small measure our love and affection for this loveable personality.

Jacob's philosophy is quite simple, "if you want to be happy, try to make others happy." And this is just what he has done and why he has so endeared himself to so many of our congregants. To Jacob Klein, his activities in synagogue affairs have always been a labor of love.

JACOB KLEIN
Re-elected President

During the years of his presidency, he has rendered a variety of services to the congregation. Visiting the sick, paying condolence calls to the bereaved, rejoicing with those who celebrate happy occasions, Jake has performed what might be regarded almost pastoral duties. Occupying the president's chair on the pulpit, at almost every religious service Friday evening and Sabbath morning, he has inspired others to give greater heed to their worship attendance.

In his contact with the young people of our synagogue, he has bridged the years that separate them in age. Every Bar Mitzvah boy and Bas Mitzvah girl has been the recipient of some thoughtful personal remembrance from Jacob Klein to add to the happiness of this important event in the lives of these young people. To detail "My Day" for Jake would require an hourly diary commencing with his visits to the synagogue at 9:00 o'clock in the morning.

May we take this opportunity to express to Jacob Klein, the wish of all the members of our congregation, that the Almighty grant him many, many years of good health and happiness with his beloved wife, Gertrude, and his children and grandchildren. Mazol Tov to you, Jacob Klein.

Chaplain Rabbi Koslowe Speaker At Men's Club Meeting, February 26

By HARVEY GLASSER

On Tuesday, February 26, Men's Club will present the Jewish Chaplain of Sing Sing Prison, Rabbi Irving Koslowe, who will discuss: "Inside Sing Sing."

Rabbi Koslowe was appointed Jewish Chaplain by Governor Thomas E. Dewey in 1950. He is also Rabbi of the Westchester Jewish Center, at Mamaroneck, New York. While appointed to minister specifically to the spiritual needs of Sing Sing's Jewish prisoners, Rabbi Koslowe has on numerous occasions been called upon there to assist men and women of all faiths. In this capacity, our guest speaker has gained a remarkable insight of the problems facing prison inmates both behind prison walls and as ex-convicts returned to their communities.

Rabbi Koslowe will tell us what really goes on inside our prisons today. He will discuss the question of whether society is, or should be, basically concerned with rehabilitation or merely punishment, and what is being done to fit ex-convicts back into their communities.

Men's Club President Milton M. Sivek has named the following men to the Advisory Committee of the Board of Directors of Men's Club: Edward Boorstein, Nat B. Gerber, Chester Glaser, Albert Gordon, Frank Howard and Albert Siegel.

Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow Honored By Federation

Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, one of the most active and devoted workers in the Park Avenue Synagogue, was honored at the Achievement Day Party held on January 21 at the Park Avenue Synagogue with the Merit Award.

Over 300 women, including many of the outstanding leaders in communal and civic affairs, attended this conference held under the auspiees of the Department of Jewish Women's Organizations of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York, for the purpose of presenting Awards of Merit to those who had rendered unusual and conspicuous service in behalf of Federation.

MRS. HARRY J. SOKOLOW

Others who were also presented with Awards of Merit, in addition to Dorothy Sokolow were: Mrs. Robert F. Wagner and Mrs. W. Averill Harriman, Honorary Chairmen, Door-to-Door Drive. Commissioner Anna M. Kross, Chairman and Mrs. William Rabkin, Chairman Door-to-Door Drive.

Our congratulations to Dorothy for her personal, tireless and inspirational effort and devotion to so many facets of our religious, charitable and philanthropie life.

Bishop Oxnam Unable To Appear, February 15

We regret to announce that Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, world renowned Protestant Clergyman and leader, who is scheduled to speak from our pulpit on Friday evening, February 15, will be unable to appear.

Bishop Oxnam had accepted our invitation to launch our brotherhood program, but suddenly had to undergo an emergency surgical operation, and is now confined to the hospital.

We fervently hope that Bishop Oxnam will soon recover his strength and be restored to good health.

Jackie Robinson, Speaker At Friday Evening Service March 1

Jack Roosevelt Robinson. better known as "Jackie" Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team. will be our guest speaker at the Friday Evening Services March 1 at 8:30 P.M. This being part of our Brotherhood celebration he has selected as his subject "Montgomery. Alabama".

An outstanding athlete in the field of football. basketball and broad jumping in which he was the National Collegiate champion. Jackie Robinson's prominence in the sports world probably stems from the fact that he was the first Negro to play in organized baseball. As a member of the Brooklyn Dodgers since 1945, he has achieved great popularity as one of the most outstanding baseball players in either league. But more so, he has been recognized as a man of sterling character and a worthy citizen.

Born in Cairo, Georgia, Jackie Robinson attended school in Pasadena, Cali-

VOL. XI No. 11

Can Brotherhood Really Work?

If Brotherhood Week is to accomplish anything real and concrete, there ought to be at least three objectives in the Brotherhood movement. First, the Brotherhood movement ought to point out that there are similarities and differences between individuals and between groups of people. Second, we must all learn the lesson that being different does not necessarily mean better or worse than someone else. Third, religious people ought to learn that different faiths may lead different people to the same goal. Each faith can give its followers a sense of being "at home" with God, with man, with the Universe. Brotherhood can work best when the Christian is a good Christian and when the Jew is a good Jew.

How can we envision Brotherhood relationships? The first stage is tolerance, "live and let live". A step above tolerance is good will. That means not only letting your neighbour live, but feeling kindly disposed towards him, having respect for his convictions. Beyond good will there is an even higher degree of Brotherhood, namely, inter-group cooperation or "live and help live". On this level all the people in a community assume common responsibilities for the many problems which exist in the community: housing, health, recreation, welfare-work, education, children's activities. In short, people cooperate for the common good.

Now where do morality and religion fit into this picture of Brotherhood? It is time that we learned in this twentieth century that material progress without spiritual motivation leads to atom bombs, that moral and ethical laws pay dividends in the long run. In our age, as in every age, religion can become a spur and a challenge to transform the world that is into the world that ought to be.

From the desk Of the President

I think the Park Avenue Synagogue, has cause to be elated about the wonderful tribute that was paid to our own dear and lovable Justice Bernard Botein, for a most remarkable address that he delivered recently at the annual meeting of the trial lawyers section of the New York State Bar Association.

As the address is too long to be reprinted in the Park Avenue Synagogue BULLETIN, I know each member of the Park Avenue Synagogue will be not only happy, but thrilled to read the following comment by the Editor of the New York Law Journal.

> "Subjoined is the text of an address, delivered by Mr. Justice Botein at the annual meeting of the trial lawyers section of the New York State Bar Association.
> "The discussion consists of a brilliant and original analysis of the psychology of the relations of the advocate and presiding judge during the trial of an action and the presentation of an appeal. The related topics of lawyer-judge skirmishing and lawyer-baiting are also briefly touched upon. The complete composition both in tone and text will be found so imaginative, subtle and refreshing, that few advocates and judges or persons interested in the relations of the legal profession to our social set-up, will fail to appreciate its exceptional intrigue and charm.—EDITOR."

I have been practising law now 52 years, and I can say frankly that I never read a more beautiful criticism of any book, pamphlet or speech, in all that time, and that is why I think we at the Park Avenue Synagogue should be especially proud of the achievements of one of our most precious members.

The address appears in the Law Journal, issue of February 6, and it would repay each of our members to get a copy. If any would like to receive a copy write me, I shall be pleased at my expense to forward to him or her, such a copy.

JACOB KLEIN
President of Park Avenue Synagogue

Each of us must seek his spiritual nourishment at the altar of his own faith, but we must unite our inspirations and combine our consecrations to bring about a world of justice, happiness and peace.

RABBI DAVID C. KOGEN

Red Cross Appeal

The 1957 Red Cross campaign is now under way. This year's needs of this annual appeal are even greater than ever before, particularly in view of the additional funds required for Hungarian relief.

Mrs. Edward Munves and Mrs. Jesse Haas have been appointed co-chairmen of the Park Avenue Synagogue Women's Committee for this campaign. They have requested that members of the Park Avenue Synagogue give their contributions to the Red Cross appeal through the Synagogue committee so that the Park Avenue Synagogue may rank with the top donors in the religious group.

If you have made your contributions through other sources, please send a token gift to the Synagogue committee.

Young Marrieds to Repeat A Night In Monte Carlo

By FRED H. KRONES

Last year, the Young Marrieds conducted "Los Vegas Night" for the benefit of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund.

The success of that occasion has prompted this group to repeat the same type of entertainment this year under the name of "A Night in Monte Carlo". It is planned to hold this function on Saturday evening, March 23 in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Those who attended last year's affair will remember what a sensational evening was had by all those present. The Young Marrieds raised over $900 and expects to go over the thousand dollar mark this year. With the many devices which will be arranged for the evening's festivities, this affair promises to be another resounding success for this ambitious group. Of course, this can only result with the cooperation of the members of the Congregation. Tickets will be $5 per couple, so buy your tickets, but what is more important, come to the affair.

The Decorations Committee will be headed by Dick Osserman and Ed Davidson. The Prize Committee, headed by Sue Usdan and Marge Silberman, assures the "lucky winners" of a grand assortment of prettily wrapped gifts. Sam Fredman and his assistants will assure a smooth operation to all activities, assisted by Mr. Sidney R. Katz, our helpful executive director.

So have a good time and for the benefit of the Milton Steinberg House, keep Saturday evening, March 23 open and treat your friends to "A NIGHT IN MONTE CARLO".

Ezra Cohen Honored By Board of Trustees

Ezra Cohen, who retired as chairman of the Board of Trustees at the last annual election after serving two consecutive terms, was honored at the first regular meeting of the newly elected Board. He was presented with an ebony pedastal for the gavel used at the Board meetings, beautifully engraved with the following inscription:

Presented to
The Park Avenue Synagogue
By the Members of the Board of Trustees
In Honor of
EZRA COHEN
Chairman of the Board 1955-1957
In recognition and appreciation of his loyal and devoted service to the Synagogue.

In making the presentation, Joseph Howard Katz, the new Board chairman referred to the long term of service rendered by Ezra Cohen our former chairman. In paying tribute to Ezra, Mr. Katz said:

> "Ezra accepted the chairmanship of the Board when the synagogue needed him the most. His Solomon like judgment helped us weather the storm during a time of great stress. It was his leadership and the gigantic job he did which steered this congregation into still waters. We shall be forever grateful to Ezra for his devoted service."

Also attending the Board meeting was Mr. Frederick Finn, who served as the first chairman of the Board of Trustees, when that office was created. His appearance brought to mind the many years of service rendered by Ezra Cohen to the Park Avenue Synagogue and his tremendous contribution to the growth of our institution.

"Let the People Know"

By ALMA D. KAPLAN

They say, "LET THE PEOPLE KNOW". Maybe the people do know, but what is the Jewish answer to such questions: as "Is There a God?" "What Good is Prayer?" "What's True in the Bible?" "Why Light Candles?"

Yes, they all seem to be elementary questions, the sort a college boy might ask, or your favorite heckler. But clear patient answers are offered by a young Rabbi, who possesses some of the attributes of Hillel, who wasn't shocked by these and other challenges.

DR. ARTHUR HYMAN GETS DOWN TO ESSENTIALS RE JUDAISM IN RELAXED DISCUSSIONS SUNDAY MORNINGS AT 10:30 O'CLOCK IN THE TRUSTEES' ROOM AT THE PARK AVENUE SYNAGOGUE.

Yes, it's hard to get up at that hour for some of us, but who knows better than a Jew that anything worthwhile has its hard side. If you have missed the first group of discussions, take note that the second discussion group is now under way. There are still several sessions to which you may want to come.

Sunday, February 24—"The Sabbath in Home and Synagogue"
Sunday, March 3—"Study as Religious Value"
Sunday, March 10—"Toward a Full Jewish Life"

As one of those who have regularly attended these discourses, I recommend them to all of our Congregants, particularly to parents of children who attend the Religious School Sunday morning and who want to spend a delightful, educational and inspiring hour instead of sitting idly by for their offspring to join them after classes.

Calling All Mothers And Grandmothers!

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Before the Purim Festival, the Parents Association will sponsor a Sewing Bee for all mothers and grandmothers interested in making costumes for their children and grandchildren. Our own very talented Mrs. Abraham Stangel has graciously volunteered to supply the material, original patterns and, most important, the instructions for this project.

This is a splendid opportunity for you to show your creative ability and at the same time to make your child the proud possessor of an original Purim costume, an intriguing mask, a Queen Esther felt eye-glass case or perhaps a felt Homantashen bean bag.

In addition to costumes, there will be pamphlets available explaining the appropriate blessings before the Megillah, charming Purim songs, games, and recipes. All these will be most helpful in making your home celebration of Purim a day of gladness, of hope, and of harmony.

Full details as to the exact time and place will be given in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

"In Appreciation"

Although Rabbi David C. Kogen came to the Park Avenue Synagogue in June of last year, to serve as our Rabbi for the summer months, he willingly consented to stay on with us to assist at the High Holiday Services.

Despite his many other pressing obligations and commitments as Director of Community Activities at the United Synagogue of Ameriea. Rabbi Kogen remained as our Visiting Rabbi far beyond the time he originally intended. Since Rabbi Kogen has been with us, we have come to admire and to love him.

Whenever called upon to function in whatever capacity the occasion required, he has graciously and willingly accepted every such assignment. He has been most cooperative in helping us during this trying period and it is therefore appropriate for us to record in our official BULLETIN, our love and affection for him. Unable to continue as Visiting Rabbi because of his other commitments, Rabbi Kogen will soon be taking leave of us.

Rabbi Kogen, who eame to the Park Avenue Synagogue with a splendid background of religious training, was personally unknown to many of our Congregants, except by reputation, but when he leaves us, it will be with the friendship of all those who have had the privilege of coming into contact with him.

We wish him and his wife and children Godspeed and the best of everything.

In saying "au revoir", we do not mean goodbye, as Rabbi Kogen will continue to officiate on oceasion, and at wedding ceremonies held at our Synagogue while the Pulpit remains vacant.

Synagogue Celebrates 75 Years on March 31

By SIDNEY KATZ

Sunday afternoon, March 31 will mark one of the major events in this year's numerous celebrations of the 75th Anniversary of our Synagogue.

In the Sanctuary of the Synagogue itself, there will be a meeting at 2:00 P.M. under the Chairmanship of Mr. Milton Weill, who has been one of the mainstays of our Congregation for decades and who has been and continues to be a major figure in Jewish communal life in New York City.

MILTON WEILL
Chairman, Jubilee Celebration

The program on March 31 will be in the nature of a meeting and rededication exercise and will feature short addresses, in addition to one by Mr. Weill, by persons occupying positions of leadership. At this writing the program will include Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, the leading Rabbi in the Conservative religious movement; Prof. Solomon Grayzel, eminent scholar and writer; and the Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, one of America's leading Protestant Church figures.

An interesting musical program is being arranged by Hazzan David Putterman accompanied by the Choir with George Crook at the organ.

The session will begin promptly at 2:00 P.M. and after the formal aspects of the afternoon are over a collation will be served in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Members of the Congregation will receive through the mail invitations as well as cards of admission.

Religious School News

By MARTIN LEICHTLING, Principal

Megillah Reading

The reading of the Megillah for students of the Religious School will be held on Thursday, March 14 at 4:30 P.M. in the main Synagogue. Greggers will be distributed to all the students and the traditional hamentashen will be served at the conclusion of the service.

Parents of children both in the Primary Department and in the Hebrew Department of the school are invited to attend the service with their children.

Purim Carnival

The annual Purim Carnival will take place on Sunday, March 17 at 10:00 A.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium. The Auditorium will be gayly decorated and the students will be dressed in the latest Shushan fashions.

A feature attraction of the morning will be a costume parade. The students, assisted by their parents and grandparents, who attended the Purim Costume Sewing Bee, have been preparing colorful and attractive costumes. Students, who come to the carnival dressed in holiday costumes, will be eligible for the ten door prizes to be distributed to the holders of lucky numbers.

Class booths, with games of skill and fun, will give students and parents an opportunity to spend their "holiday money" freely. All money raised at the carnival will go to the Keren Ami fund for distribution to philanthropic causes.

Youth Activities News

By HY SANKEL

Representatives of nationally affiliated youth groups in Greater New York participated in an Israeli Dance Festival at Hunter College. Three members of our teen-age groups, Rita Feibush, Elli Frischling and Nessa Hyams were selected to represent the thousands of people affiliated with the United Synagogue Youth. Their performance received wide acclaim. Many of our club members witnessed this great spectacle. Our own Synagogue has invited these three talented young ladies to dance at the Purim party to be held on March 16.

Dr. Edward T. Adelson, a member of our Congregation addressed the Teen-Age Clubs on the topic, "Adolescents—A Period of Changing Relationships." The young people were given a new insight into their own problems and possible avenues of solution. The question period was very spirited indicating a high degree of interest.

Purim Greetings From the President

In this year 5717, I extend to the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue the fondest Purim greetings of Mrs. Klein and myself.

Purim is a real day of joy and happiness for the Jewish people, and we are happy to share the pleasure not only with our co-religionists but with the people of all faiths.

Troubles, goodness knows, we have and still have enough to undermine the strongest of peoples. But we will not lose our faith and that's what buoys us up.

Most of us when faced with tragedy, feel the need for consolation. Alone, we draw on the inner resources that have built up within us during our years of living. And these secret selves cannot be shared by those who love us, even those whose grief is as great as ours. Happiness is an entirely different matter. Perhaps the most tragic individuals in all the world are those on whom good fortune descends, but who have none to share it with. Mark Twain, in one of his serious moments, ably summarized it.

"Grief can take care of itself: but to get the full value of joy, you must have some one to divide it with." And even though I am 1500 miles away from you, I am with you in spirit and will enjoy more than ever, this Purim with you.

Abraham Lincoln said: "I cannot fly from my thoughts; my solicitude for this country follow me wherever I go. I do not think it is personal vanity or ambition, tho I am not free from these infirmities."

If you will substitute for the words "for this great country", the words "for this great Park Avenue Synagogue", you shall have my feeling on this Purim, as expressed in Abraham Lincoln's words.

Even though Israel is undergoing a terrific crisis, no worse I should say than the Jews in Persia, when the royal edict went forth to destroy all Jews. Mordecai in great stress, warned Esther: "If you fail the Jewish people at this hour of their great peril, help and assistance will arrive from another source and you and your entire household will be destroyed".

And so I hope and pray that a satisfactory solution to the Mid-East crisis be resolved before this Purim.

I close with the salutation of Happy Purim, to each and every one of you, and to each of your respective families.

Fraternally and cordially yours.

JACOB KLEIN

Congregational Seder Planned for April 16

Invitations have been sent to all of the Congregants by Mrs. Solomon E. Green, Chairman of the Seder Committee, to participate in the second seder planned for Tuesday night, April 16.

The Committee has had to limit the attendance to 200 persons, so that those who plan to attend, should send their reservations in immediately. The seder will be open to members of the Congregation, their children, relatives and friends and the cost, which will include all gratuities, has been set at $11.00 per person for adults, and $8.00 for each child under the Bar Mitzvah age.

The seder will afford many of our Congregants the opportunity of enjoying the festive holiday spirit in the beautiful facilities available in the Lemberg Auditorium, and if the success of our previous Synagogue affairs is a criterion, then this function should top them all.

We suggest to those who intend to participate in this second seder at the Synagogue, that they send in their reservations to the Synagogue office now. If you delay, you may be too late.

Dr. Levine To Speak To Students

By MARTIN LEICHTLING

The School Board has invited Dr. Milton Levine, assistant professor of pediatrics at Cornell University and eminent author and lecturer in sex education, to give a series of talks to our boys and girls in the Religious School in the age group between twelve and fourteen.

In 1954 and 1955 the School Board, recognizing the need for the education of the pre-adolescent in the knowledge and understanding of the wholesome relationship between men and women, inaugurated the course for our youngsters. The many enthusiastic comments by parents and students convinced us that the Religious School can play a significant role in the family-life education of our children and help the child to more readily meet the physical and emotional changes of adolescence.

The lectures will be held in Room 300 in the Milton Steinberg House, between 5:00 and 6:00 P.M. in accordance with the following schedule:

Wednesday, March 6
Wednesday, March 20
Wednesday, March 27
Wednesday, April 3

Parents of the youngsters may attend the first two sessions.

and mysticism which have been published in English, German, French, Hebrew, Yiddish, Spanish and Polish. His major work in two volumes, "Man Is Not Alone" and "God In Search of Man" has been acclaimed throughout the country for its profound and creative approach to religious philosophy and its distinguished literary style. The second volume was included in the list of 250 books of the year published by the New York Times Book Review. His book, "Man's Quest for God" was published in 1954, during which year, Dr. Heschel was the recipient of a Guggenheim award.

Born in Warsaw where he received his Jewish education. Prof. Heschel left Warsaw to attend the University of Berlin where he acquired his degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Two years later, he published in German, his major work "Maimonides" followed soon after by "Die Prophetie", which established his reputation as a ranking Jewish scholar.

In 1937, he became the successor to Martin Buber in the Frankfort Lehrhaus, an adult education school where he taught for a year, but left for London in 1939, where he established the Institute for Jewish Learning, a center for prominent Jewish scholars.

Prior to joining the Jewish Theological Seminary faculty in 1945, Dr. Heschel also served as associate professor of philosophy and rabbinics at the Hebrew Union College, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dr. Henry Steele Commager, now serving as professor at Amherst College, has achieved unusual distinction as an outspoken speaker and lecturer.

Educated at the University of Chicago, where he received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1928, Dr. Commager has lectured at most of the leading Universities throughout the country, including N. Y. University, Columbia, where he srved as professor of history, Duke University, Harvard, University of Chicago, where he also received his Masters degree, and many others. He also has lectured at Cambridge University in England on American History.

Among his many books which have brought him recognition as a great author are "The Growth of the American Republic" (with S. E. Morison), "The Heritage of America" (with A. Nevins), "The Story of a Free People" (with A. Nevins) and "Majority Rule and Minority Rights". He also served as Editor of "Documents of American History", "Tocqueville's Democracy in America", and "The Rise of the American Nation" in 40 volumes, now in the process of publication. His book "Living Ideas in America" was published in 1951 by Harper and Brothers. He also is a contributor to "The Nation", "The Atlantic Monthly", and several other publications.

With the great reservoir of learning that Dr. Commager possesses and his courageous forthrightness in expressing his thoughts, we are sure our congregants will welcome the opportunity to hear him.

Following each of the services, a discussion period will take place in the Lemberg Auditorium and the usual Oneb Shabbat.

Parents Association Open Meeting, March 13

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue will hold an open meeting on Wednesday evening, March 13 at 8:30 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium. Our speaker will be David Boroff, well known writer and lecturer, who will discuss that provocative subject, "The Over-Protective Jewish Mother."

Mr. Boroff, who is an instructor of English at Brooklyn College, was educated at Brooklyn College, Yale University and Columbia. He has written many articles for various scholarly journals and has been a contributor to The Reconstructionist, Congress Weekly and the New York Times. His recent articles in the New York Post on "Suburbia, Long Island", the intimate story of Great Neck, have attracted such wide interest that Mr. Boroff is now preparing another series for the Post on Darien, Connecticut.

All members of the congregation are invited to attend this meeting. Following the lecture, there will be a discussion period with audience participation, and a social evening.

Those present will have the opportunity to see the display of a Purim project under the capable supervision of Mrs. A. Stangel. This is designed to help make the celebration of this Festival more meaningful in the home and should be of interest to all parents.

Men's Club to Present Dr. William Metcalf At March 26 Meeting

By HARVEY GLASSER

On Tuesday evening, March 26, Men's Club will present the distinguished surgeon, Dr. William Metcalf, who will talk on the subject of "Heart and the Aging Process."

Dr. Metcalf, Associate Professor of Surgery at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University, is now serving as visiting surgeon at the 1400-bed Bronx Municipal Hospital Center, which is affiliated with the College. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Medicine and a former Harvey Cushing Fellow in Surgery at Yale Medical School.

At the last meeting of Men's Club, we were privileged to hear a talk by Rabbi Irving Koslowe, Jewish Chaplain of Sing Sing Prison, on the subject: "Inside Sing Sing." We all came away with a much better understanding of the problems confronting inmates of our penal institutions and what is behind the epidemic of prison riots and violence in the last few years.

The month of April promises to be a banner month for Men's Club. Please make note of these important dates: Friday, April 12 is Men's Club Sabbath; Tuesday, April 23 is our regular meeting night; and, Sunday, April 28 is designated Federation Sunday, at which time Men's Club will be host to Men's Clubs from the metropolitan area, which are affiliated with the Federation of Jewish Men's Clubs. The programs for all of these functions will be announced shortly.

The next regular open meeting of Sisterhood will take place on Tuesday, March 19, at noon. As usual, a most interesting and provocative program has been planned for the enjoyment of the members and their guests.

Lester Slatoff, "Antique Detective", decorating consultant and dealer, will speak on "What Is It and How Much?"" He will prove to us that antiques and art appreciation are more than just hobbies—but a way of life. He will actually teach the audience to differentiate between original pieces and modern reproductions. Mr. Slatoff will also point out skills required of the antique and art collector.

"What Is It and How Much?" is an audience participation talk to which personal treasures may be brought for discussion and evaluation.

After a lifetime of antique study, Mr. Slatoff is a consultant for museums, a writer for national publications, an authorized appraiser for banks and insurance companies and an instructor in adult schools.

All members and guests are cordially invited to lunch. Mrs. Tubie Resnik, vice president of Sisterhood, will preside in the absence of Mrs. William Karmiol, our president.

The 1957 Women's Division Campaign for the UJA of Greater New York was launched at a mammoth meeting held February 18 at the Hotel Sheraton-Astor ballroom. Over 3,000 volunteers, including the most outstanding leaders in communal and civic affairs participated in this traditional opening rally.

Among those representatives from the Park Avenue Synagogue designated to serve on various committees were the following: Mrs. Sigmund E. Siegel, named as co-chairman of the Women's Division: Mrs. Louis Grossman, associate chairman of the Women's Division; Mrs. Abraham N. Geller, a former chairman, designated to serve on the new committee inaugurated last year of former chairmen of the Women's Division: Mrs. Benjamin Sack, special gifts chairman of Manhattan Organizations, who together with Mrs. Moe Turman were named as members of the Advisory Board.

This is in addition to the regular 1957 campaign.

Since World War II, the number of Jewish refugees fleeing from tyranny and danger has never been so great as it is at this moment. This Emergency Rescue Fund will help keep them alive and find freedom and safety.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Women's Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. Benjamin Sack, chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Abel Phillips, urgently appeals to the members of their committee to exert every effort to secure contributions from all those on their assigned lists. "Reflections of The Editor"

Those who attended our Friday Evening Service, Mareh 22, will always recall this event with happy memories. Designated as "Jacob Klein Sabbath", it was dedicated as a tribute to Jacob Klein on the oecasion of his 79th birthday.

Seldom have honors been heaped upon a more deserving man. Now serving his sixth consecutive term as president of the Park Avenue Synagogue, Jake was greeted by a great outpouring of members and friends, all anxious to participate in this demonstration of their love and affection for a loyal and devoted member of our congregation. Of even greater import was the fact one of our religious services was selected as the occasion to pay Jacob Klein this well deserved tribute.

Jacob Klein has indelibly identified himself with our institution. His many years of devoted service include almost every phase of Synagogue activity. His regular attendance at religious services has inspired others to increase their worship attendance. His visits to the sick both at home and in the hospital, his friendly calls to the bereaved, his presence on joyful oeeasions, all these, rendered in a spirit of kindness and love, have endeared him to many of our congregants. To Jake, all this is a labor of love, for his philosophy is simple: "If you want to be happy, try to make others happy." This he has done to a superlative degree.

Greetings and good wishes were extended to our guest of honor by all of the affiliated groups of the synagogue; for Men's Club, Milton M. Sivek, its president; for Sisterhood, Mrs. Irwin H. Rome, its acting president; for Parents Association, Mrs. Herman Helpern, its president: and for Young Marrieds, Fred Krones, its president and Harold Kurte for Senior League. These groups and the Board of Trustees together with the Teen-Age group. Religious School children and friends of Jake, have contributed to the Jewish National Fund through the Milton Steinberg Hadassah the sum of $1,500 to dedicate a grove of 1,000 trees in Israel in the name of Jacob Klein.

In honoring him in this manner, the name of Jacob Klein has been eternally linkcd with the Holy Land, a most fitting tribute to one whose devotion to Israel has been manifested in so many ways. This material participation in the afforestation program in Israel, so vitally important to its agricultural development, is worthy of emulation by others who wish to create this tie between their beloved ones and Israel.

Judge Sanford H. Cohen, a former chairman of the Board of Trustees, presented Jake with the scroll dedicating this grove in his honor.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees and the members of the Congregation, Judge Bernard Botein, also a former chairman of the Board, presented Jake with an appropriate scroll expressing our love and affection.

Michael Heyman, son of Mr. & Mrs. Oscar Heyman, speaking for the Bar Mitzvah boys and the Bas Mitzvah girls, expressed their appreciation for the thoughtful remembrances that Mr. Klein always presented to them upon "their day". John Kogan spoke for the teenagers. And as a complete surprise to our guest of honor, Judy Goldstone, his granddaughter, brought him a personal greeting and with her brother Richard, brought in a large birthday cake.

Friday evening, March 22, will always be remembered with happy thoughts, not only for Jacob Klein, his charming wife, Gertrude, and their family, but also for those who eame to worship with us on this memorable oceasion.

Parents Association Purim Workshop

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

A word of appreciation goes to Mrs. A. Stangel for her inspiring Purim Workshop. For the sixth year, Mrs. Stangel has furnished glamorous costumes, lovely materials, trimmings, patterns, and expert advice to all mothers and grandmothers eager to see their Susans or their Peters costumed for the annual Purim Carnival Parade.

Many of those charming Queen Esther gowns of lovely pink or lavender silk, gayly beaded with colorful trimmings, were the handiwork of Mrs. Stangel. So, too, were the Hamen and Mordecai outfits. The young beauties in their full-skirted dresses with traditional hamentashen or tempting oranges sewed to their folds were gowned at the "Stangel Costume Workshop", room 503 of the Milton Steinberg House.

The Parents Association salutes Mrs. Stangel, one of its most talented members, and compliments her on her generous efforts to make it possible for many a youngster to march proudly in the Purim Parade.

Renee Stern Bas Mitzvah Beautiful Ceremony

The efforts of the Park Avenue Synagogue and its Religious School Board to encourage Bas Mitzvos in our Synagogue bore its first fruit during the current year at a beautiful Bas Mitzvah ceremony which took place Saturday, March 16 as part of the regular Sabbath morning Service.

Renee Stern, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Stern, members of the Synagogue, completed her Bas Mitzvah exercises with fitting skill and dignity. Those who were fortunate to witness the ceremony were confident that this would encourage more young girls to prepare for Bas Mitzvah.

Sisterhood's Bazaar-Auction to take place Wednesday, April 3

By MURIEL MORSE

At press-time of this bulletin, Sisterhood has already collected a lot of interesting merchandise for the Bazaar and some "specials" for the auction. They even received a kangaroo, not alive of course, but a kangaroo who serves nuts, pretzels or candy—really unusual!

Our members have once again shown their graciousness and their loyalty to the Park Avenue Synagogue by their response to this function. To those of you who promised merchandise but have not yet sent it, Sisterhood would appreciate your taking care of it right away. We want to arrange our displays to the best possible advantage.

To all of you whom we have not been able to reach, won't you please send us new articles that are saleable at a Bazaar plus one special item suitable for our Auction? This function is to raise money toward Sisterhood's Treasury Gift to the Emergency Rescue Fund for United Jewish Appeal. Please send your packages directly to the Synagogue attention Mrs. Ted Meistrich, Merchandise Chairman.

Report by Mrs. Jacob Starr and Mrs. Harry Sokolow on the kind of Lunch and Dinner to be served, makes us wish we could have Bazaar meals every day. The Dinner, for only $2.00, will include Turkey or Pot Roast, homemade pies and "the works" — and naturally all strictly kosher. What a meal! What a bargain! And for what a cause! The "Shopper's Special" Lunch at $1.00 will also be a gourmet's delight.

Sisterhood Notes

By MRS. SAUL GRANETTS

"If winter comes, can spring be far behind?" The first harbinger of spring will make its appearance at the next regular meeting of Sisterhood on April 9 at 12 noon. Mrs. Edward Kolar will conduct a flower arranging session. Her program will be entitled "Flowers Go Native."

Mrs. Kolar is a vivacious and attractive young woman who has achieved great popularity with her courses in flower arrangements. She features an international approach to her subject using the flowers, pottery, and backgrounds appropriate to individual nations.

It is hoped and urged that all women of the Synagogue and their friends will make every effort to attend this meeting.

By means of this years' programs, Sisterhood has attempted to prove that all countries have common bonds of interest. Former meetings have illustrated this through religious ties, travel and food. On April 9, at our next open meeting, the illustration will be that of a form of culture which is attaining greater appeal every day.

In addition to "Flowers Go Native" there will be an interesting business meeting and lunch which will be served to all present.

Hazzan Putterman Disc Heard in Germany

More than a year ago, one of our members, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Aaronson, left on an extended tour of Europe. Recently while in Germany, they wrote a letter to one of our officers which contained the following paragraph:

"Last Friday night at 6:40 P.M. I listened to a religious service broadcast from Fankfort Germany, American Forces Network. For fifteen minutes every Friday evening is devoted to a Jewish Synagogue service. In addition to an opening and closing prayer by a Rabbi there is interspersed music by famous Cantors. On this Friday night I heard a record by our Cantor Putterman. I got quite a thrill and in addition to hearing his beautiful voice, it awakened in me a desire to hasten my return and again be a part of Park Avenue Synagogue."

Are You Going To The Second Seder, April 16?

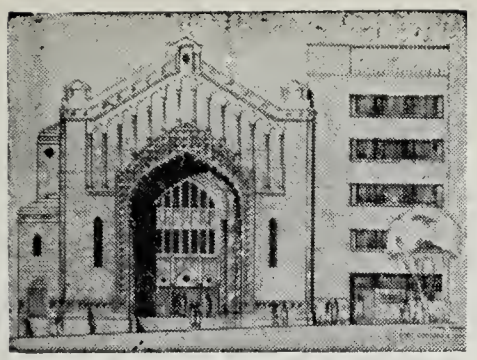

The deadline for Seder reservations has been set for Tuesday, April 9, according to Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, who is serving in an advisory capacity to the Seder Committee. This action was necessary as a result of the many reservations already received for the synagogue Seder which will take place Tuesday night, April 16.

If you plan to attend this function, we urge you to send in your reservation immediately. The cost, which includes all gratuities, is $11 per person and $8 for children under the Bar Mitzvah age.

Mrs. Solomon E. Green, chairman of the Seder Committee and her committee, which includes Mrs. Charles Beller, Mrs. Ezra Cohen, Mrs. Theodore Meistrich, Mrs. Tuby Resnik, Mrs. I. Rome, Mrs. Shy Rosen, Mrs. Benjamin Sack, Dr. and Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, Mrs. Estelle Wagman and Mrs. Max Zahler, have planned to make this Seder celebration one of the outstanding synagogue affairs of the year. A well known caterer has been engaged to cater the dinner and all other arrangements have been made to provide for the enjoyment of those who will share this meaningful Passover Seder ceremony with us.

There is not much time left. This may be your last opportunity to join with your family and friends on this festive occasion. ARE YOU GOING? If so, send your reservation, NOW-

"Welcome to Our Rabbi"

The BULLETIN is proud to record its official welcome to Dr. Judah Nadich as the new Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

His selection as Rabbi to occupy our pulpit was upon the unanimous recommendation of the Pulpit Committee under the chairmanship of Benjamin Sack, and his committee consisting of Hon. Bernard Botein, Ben Gross, Gen. Melvin E. Krulewitch, Samuel Lemberg, Harold H. Levin, and Milton Weill, and the unanimous approval of the Board of Trustees.

Rabbi Nadich, who has served his present congregation for the past ten years, comes to the Park Avenue Synagogue with an eminent religious, educational and intellectual background, as well as an active participation in the communal affairs of his community.

As Rabbi of Congregation Kehillath Israel, in Brookline, Massachusetts, where he has served since 1947, he has ministered to a congregation of over 1200 families, he has developed a Religious School with more than 700 children, he has provided an extensive program of adult education to fit the needs of the members of his congregation, including those in the younger group, and in addition, he has rendered all those pastoral duties required of a rabbi of any large congregation. His leadership and magnetic personality have attracted large numbers to the regular Friday evening and Sabbath morning religious services, all eager to hear his weekly sermons.

In extending greetings to Rabbi Nadich, the chairman of our Board of Trustees, Joseph Howard Katz, expressed what is in the hearts of all of us:

"Dr. Nadich comes to us in the course of our celebration of our Seventy-Fifth Anniversary. He will add strength and spirituality to the lives of all who will come in contact with him. He is a man of wide community experience, a scholar and a person of moral and spiritual qualities which makes us feel very proud in welcoming him to our pulpit.

"Dr. Nadich will add strength to the religious life of all people in New York City by coming to our pulpit. We welcome him and wish him well."

According to present plans, Rabbi Nadich expects to take leave of his present congregation on June 30, 1957. Welcome, to our new Rabbi — Dr. Judah Nadich.

of the prayers.

The late Zavel Zilbert, founder of the Zilbert's Choral Society, was a graduate of the Warsaw Conservatory of Music, and the conductor of the world renowned European Hazomir Choral Society. He was the creator of great Jewish musical works based upon traditional Synagogue chants, Chasidik and folk music. Upon coming to this country in 1920, he conducted sensational concerts with a chorus of five hundred cantors at Madison Square Garden and in some of the great concert halls of America.

The choral group consists of men and women specializing in singing artistic music, with a fair proportion of standard classical works. It was organized in 1924 and has appeared at the "Night of Stars" at Madison Square Garden, at the Polo Grounds, at Carnegie Hall, and at Town Hall where its annual concerts were recognized as musical events in the City of New York. It has also appeared at Atlantic City Auditorium the World's Fair, Temple Emanu-El, the Park Avenue Synagogue and many other leading Congregations. It also sang at the First International Choral Festival in Israel.

tional Board of Directors of the Reconstructionist Foundation and one of its official spokesmen. Mr. Mehlman is well qualified to discuss this philosophy which was conceived and developed by Rabbi Mordecai M. Kaplan and of which the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg was an exponent.

As in the past, the entire service will be conducted by the Young Marrieds under the direction of Messrs. Sidney J. Silberman and Asa D. Sokolow.

Mr. Fred Krones, president of the Young Marrieds, urges that all members of the Synagogue attend the service as it will be an excellent opportunity for our Congregation to learn about Reconstructionism from the layman's point of view.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow in the Lemberg Auditorium immediately after the service at which time Mr. Mehlman will answer any questions presented.

Parents Association News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Parents Association is delighted. indeed, with the enthusiastic response of boys and girls of our Religious School in the twelve to fourteen age group to the series of lectures which have been given by Dr. Milton Levine on sex education.

These lectures. inaugurated several years ago by the Parents Association, have become so successful that they are now part of the regular curriculum of the Religious School. Dr. Levine, assistant professor of pediatrics at Cornell University, is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on sex education. His series of talks afford a rare opportunity for youngsters to hear a vital topic discussed professionally and expertly.

We are happy that the School Board has decided to continue this course as part of the Religious School program.

Men's Club News

By HARVEY GLASSER

The next regular meeting of the Men's Club will take place on Tuesday evening, April 23. The program for this evening will be announced later and will be forwarded to the members for their information.

All arrangements are being made for Federation Sunday, April 28, when the Men's Club of Park Avenue Synagogue will play host to the members of all the Jewish Men's Clubs in the Metropolitan area. The program starts with religious worship at 9:30 A.M. which will be led by Hazzan Putterman. Brunch will be served at 12:00 noon.

The theme for the day's conference is "Goals for Men's Clubs", a topic which is of great interest to all those interested and identified with Men's Clubs activities. The business part of the meeting will be completed by 3:00 P.M. All members of our Men's Club are urged and cordially invited to attend.

Teen-Age U.J.A. Dance

By Hy Sankel

The Annual Dance conducted by the teenagers for the benefit of United Jewish Appeal, held on March 30, was again a great success. More than 300 boys and girls attended. Almost 500 dollars was raised. The many weeks of planning and working by the more than 60 committee members insured the success of this affair.

Peter Goldfarb and Linda Kahn were the chairmen and Dick Luria, Fred Simon, Joan Rubinstein, Mike Rogers, Roger Solomon, Geri Klein and Mike Kahn were co-chairmen.

Innovations introduced this year were a dance contest and a raffle. Mr. Stanley Simon, a member of the Synagogue, contributed the top prize of a Bulova transistor radio.

Once again the members of our youth groups have demonstrated, in a very tangible way, their interest and desire to help the cause of Israel.

"The Fifth Question"

The Jewish Child Care Association of New York has added a fifth question to the four that are customarily asked during the Seder service.

This fifth question is as follows: "When will I have a foster home?" This is the special question a number of Jewish children are asking at Passover time.

Continuing, the Jewish Child Care Association also asks, "Can you answer this plea by opening your home to a child whose own home has been temporarily disrupted by misfortune?"

According to the Association, its most urgent need is for foster homes for babies and pre-school age boys and girls. These children are not for adoption. There is a monthly board payment for each child, plus medical care, clothing and other essentials.

The Jewish Child Care Association has requested that this material be published in our BULLETIN and suggests that if any further information is desired, those interested please get in touch with the Foster Home department of the Jewish Child Care Association, 329 East 62 Street, New York 21. The telephone is TE 8-4500.

Religious School News

By Martin Leichtling

The students of the Religious School will conduct five Model Sedorim on Sunday morning, April 14. It is our hope that all parents will visit our school on that morning and join in the festivities.

The Primary Department will hold a special Seder in the Lemberg Auditorium while each grade in the Hebrew Department has its Seder in the Milton Steinberg House. The Primary Department Seder will be conducted by Hazzan Putterman with the assistance of the children in the school. Each class will be responsible for the decoration of its Seder table and many classes have planned for appropriate holiday centerpieces which have both a traditional and a modern significance. The reading of the Haggadah and the singing of the Passover melodies will be led by the students in the school.

Mrs. Joseph Rubinstein, Mrs. Jack Kurzweil and Mrs. Paul Miller and a committee of Class Mothers have arranged for the preparation and the serving of traditional holiday foods.

"Open Letter to Jacob Klein"

The following letter was received from John Stangel, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stangel, active members in our Synagogue. John is a student of the Religious School and sent the following open letter to Jacob Klein, our president.

"May I extend to you my best wishes on your birthday. About three years ago you wrote a letter to me on my Bar Mitzvah day as you did to numerous other Bar Mitzvahs. Following this letter, I began to follow your example by attending Services both on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings.

"There I met many of the members of our Synagogue together with Cantor Putterman and the Rabbis who officiated. I decided to study much harder as I hoped some day to be well versed in Judaism and the historical background of the Jewish people. As one of many Bar Mitzvahs of the Park Avenue Synagogue, I owe you a lot and I would like once again to wish you many happy returns of the day."

Sisterhood to Honor Frieda Sack at U. J. A. Tea On Monday, April 29

By MURIEL MORSE

Sisterhood will honor one of its most beloved members at a Tea for U.J.A. Frieda Sack, for many years has been the inspiring Chairman who, with her Committee, has made Park Avenue Synagogue a vital and important group in U.J.A.'s Women's Division. Mrs. Sack's great feeling of devotion to the importance of living a full Jewish life, has developed in her all the qualities of a strong, impartial leader in every phase of Synagogue life—a truly great lady!

At a time when Israel faces her greatest crisis, at a time when thousands of Jews face the problem of survival, it is only through the understanding and generosity of American Jewry that there can be a hope of saving the lives of these Jews who might otherwise perish. This is a year for all Jews to extend themselves and open their hearts so that each individual woman can honestly feel and say to herself "I have done my part."

Mrs. Tubie Resnick has graciously given her home, at 605 Park Avenue, for this Tea which will be on Monday, April 29 at 1:30. The guest speaker will be Mr. I. Robert Abrahami, a dynamic young Israeli industrialist, who will give us the real inside story of what is happening in Israel today.

All of Sisterhood members are urged to respond to their invitations promptly so that we can make this U.J.A. Tea an afternoon worthy of the Park Avenue Synagogue and its great tradition in coming to the aid of the distressed Jews all over the world.

Camp Ramah Film Being Produced

Reuben R. Kaufman, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, has announced that Guild Films, of which he is the President, is currently producing a film on Camp Ramah.

Mr. Kaufman, who was the first Chairman of Camp Ramah in Wisconsin, is now a member of the National Ramah Commission.

Archie I. Thurman and Milton M. Sivek, both active members of the Park Avenue Synagogue and of its Board of Trustees, were recently elected to serve on the Board of Directors of Camp Ramah in Connecticut.

Enthusiastic Response To Congregational Seder

By BELLE GREEN

Passover has become for all peoples a symbol of humanity's first festival of freedom. It marks the ascendancy of mankind to a level, where, it is understood that all men are created equal, and no one group has a moral right to subjugate another.

The Passover Festival, with its richness of symbolism, provides a unique method of identification with the faith and eternity of the Jewish people. It provides an object lesson to all other peoples, of the survival of our ancestors, through the vicissitudes of the ages, due to their practice of a highly ethical standard of respect for the individual.

This concept was the forerunner and example for all freedom, as it is known today. It is a holiday that conveys to its celebrants, in a most picturesque way, the joy, the beauty, and the meaning of our heritage. This spirit of freedom is beautifully portrayed in the Haggadah which will be read during our Seder Service.

The enthusiastic response of our membership indicates that the Second Seder to be held in the Lemberg Auditorium, Tuesday evening, April 16, will be an event long to be remembered in the annals of our Synagogue history. The Seder will be conducted by Rabbi David C. Kogen and Hazzan David J. Putterman with the assistance of the Synagogue choir.

The Matzoh covers which will be used during the Seder Service have been donated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beller, in honor of Mrs. Beller's parents. Our grateful thanks to them for this beautiful gift.

Junior Congregation Holds Passover Service

The Junior Congregation will hold holiday services in the Appleman Chapel on the First Days of Passover and the latter Days of Passover. Irving Spielman, who conducted the High Holy Day Services at the Jewish Museum, will supervise the services at 10 A.M. on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, April 16 and 17 and on Monday and Tuesday mornings, April 22 and 23.

All students are urged to participate in the worship and to enjoy the holiday refreshments that will be served after each of the services.

Synagogue Members Honored by UJA Women's Division

At the recent brunch held by the Manhattan Organizations Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, two members of the Park Avenue Synagogue were signally honored.

Mrs. Sigmund A. Siegel, chairman of our School Board and a member of our Board of Trustees, together with Mrs. Benjamin Sack, also a member of the Board of Trustees, and active in synagogue affairs, were the recipients of beautifully engraved fruit plates designed and made in Israel, in recognition of their outstanding achievements during the 1956 UJA campaign.

At present, Mrs. Siegel is co-chairman of the Greater New York UJA Women's Division, and an active leader in the 1957 campaign. Mrs. Sack heads the Manhattan Organizations special gifts committee and is recognized as one of the most indefatigable workers in the cause.

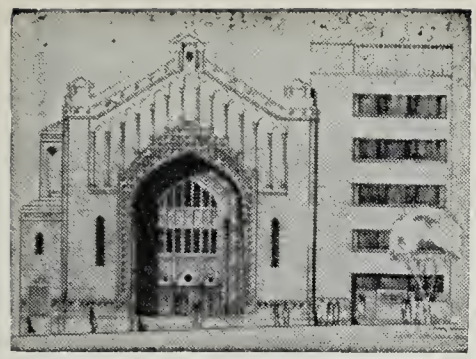

We, in the Park Avenue Synagogue, are proud to claim both of these charming ladies as active members of our congregation.

"Some Observations"

We, who live in the metropolitan area of New York City, are probably unaware of the problems confronting hundreds of small Congregations in America because they lack the leadership of rabbis and teachers.

A typical example is the little Jewish community in Ottumwa, Iowa, with about fifty-five Jewish families, far removed from any great center of Jewish life. How they solved their problem in the Ottumwa Synagogue is very interesting.

Located ninety miles from Des Moines, the nearest community with a Rabbi, the Ottumwa Synagogue engaged Jack Schechter, a student at the Jewish Theological Seminary, to serve as its community rabbi and cantor. Once a month, Mr. Schechter journeys by plane to visit his Congregation in Ottumwa to lead them in their religious services, to teach their children as well as the adults something of their Jewish heritage, and to perform such other varied pastoral duties expected of a Synagogue rabbi.

Despite the scanty religious education of the teen-agers, a program has been developed so that these young people will have the opportunity to meet socially with other Jewish boys and girls and thus meet their social needs, in addition to providing them with an attractive presentation of Jewish customs and ceremonies. Already this meager beginning has aroused their keen interest in their Jewish background.

Of special interest to us at Park Avenue Synagogue is the fact that a study group has been established as part of the educational program, to meet once a week to discuss, "Basic Judaism", of which our late, revered Rabbi Milton Steinberg was the author. Through the medium of this instructive and illuminating book, it is hoped that the members of this Jewish Congregation will acquire a better understanding of what it means to be a Jew.

As Mr. Schechter discovered from his monthly visits to this small community, "There is latent in our people, a wonderful potential of loyalty to the Jewish faith and heritage: a flickering flame that needs but to be fanned."

"Frontiers of Faith" Awarded Honor Medal

The Jewish Theological Seminary of America was the recipient of the George Washington Honor Medal for its presentation of "Frontiers of Faith". The Award was in recognition of this program as "an outstanding achievement in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American way of life".

"Frontiers of Faith" also received an Honor Award from the National Council of Christians and Jews for its presentation of "The Gift", a story written by Joseph Mindel, dealing with the freeing of a slave by a Jewish merchant. This telecast of "The Gift" was presented by the National Broadcasting Company under the auspices of the Jewish Theological Seminary and received high praise in several theatrical magazines for its unusual dramatic approach.

Those who follow the Eternal Light schedule which is produced under the auspices of the Jewish Theological Seminary will be interested in the presentation "Gideon Goes To War" written by Steven Gethers which will be presented on May 5. The script is based on the book "Gideon Goes To War" and deals with Ordy C. Wingate, a British soldier who devoted much of his life to the cause of Israel Independence. Those who are interested should consult local papers for time and stations.

Torah Covers Available

Our good friend Mrs. Anna Edelman, who has made many Torah covers and who embroidered the perochet for the ark, wishes to announce that she has completed three white and two blue Torah covers which are being offered to members of the Congregation. The Torah covers will be embroidered with the names of those who want to purchase them.

Please communicate with the Synagogue office, if you are interested in donating a Torah cover.

From the Desk of the Executive Director

The month of May brings three big events to our Synagogue.

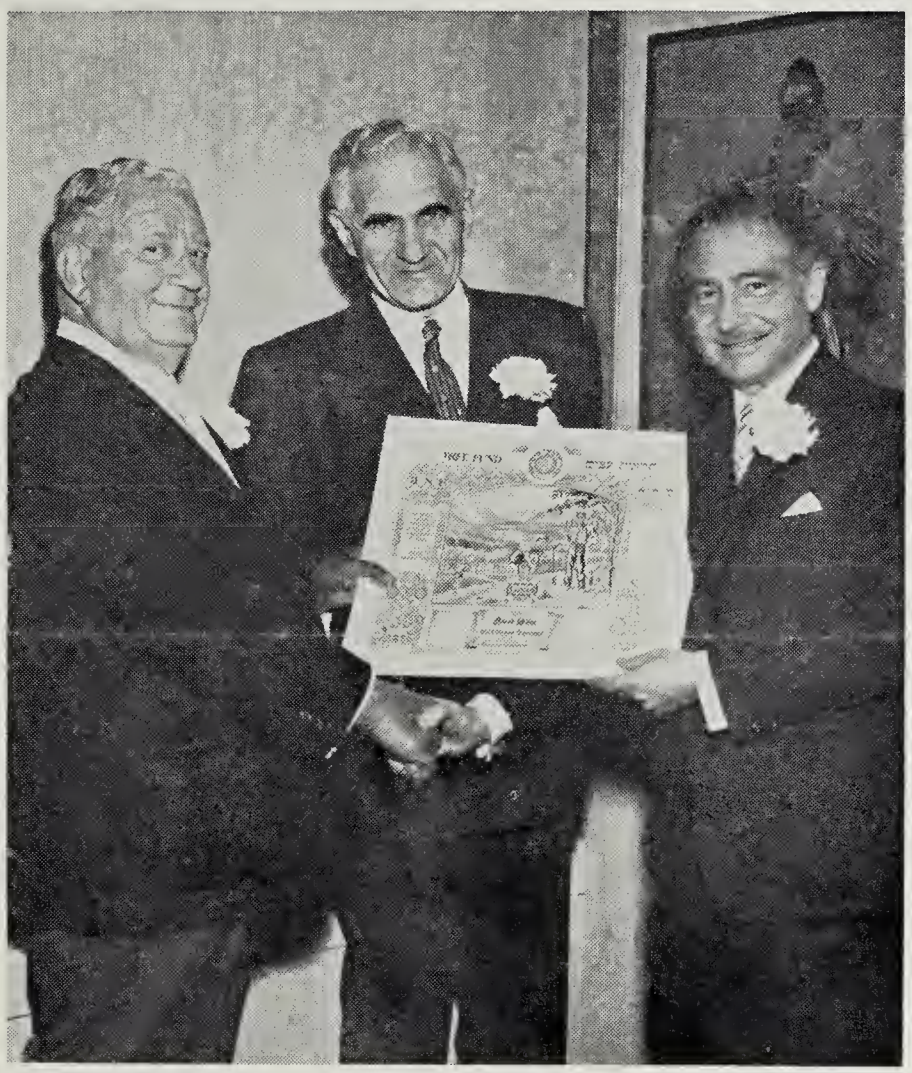

None of our congregants will want to miss the opportunity of socially meeting Rabbi and Mrs. Judah Nadich on Sunday evening, May 12. For most of us this will be the first opportunity to meet one of the nation's most distinguished Rabbis who comes to us with the blessing and good wishes of many leading Jews throughout the nation. Those who have already met Rabbi Nadich are certain that he will bring to the pulpit of the Park Avenue Synagogue distinction, scholarship and spiritual leadership.

This Friday night, May 3, our Visiting Rabbi and guest speaker is of more than passing interest precisely because he is a product of Park Avenue Synagogue. Often we wonder why someone who passes through our Religious School and comes under the influence of the spiritual leaders of our Congregation will nevertheless lead an adult life not only distant but sometimes hostile to all that Judaism represents. For these failures, and they must indeed be classed as such, are in some measure the failure of the Synagogue, although of course they never can be fully charged to us alone. Sanford H. Hahn was just one of many Bar Mitzvah boys who recited the blessing from our pulpit. His having achieved the Rabbinate is to no small degree a compliment to our Synagogue. True enough, others have been trained at Park Avenue Synagogue and have grown into manhood and maturity and now lead lives of usefulness to their community, to their religion and to their country. However, a Synagogue has special reason to be pleased and proud when one of its members becomes a Rabbi.

The final big event of the month of May is one of the unusual features in our Congregational life with the annual concert of new liturgical music, the thirteenth in the series arranged for and presented by Hazzan David J. Putterman. Not only religious Jews from other Congregations but Jews with cultural and musical interest crowd our Synagogue on these occasions. This year on Friday evening, May 24 a new liturgical musical composition will be presented and those who have never heard these programs in the past will be sure to want to attend that Friday evening Service.

Presentation of Jewish National Fund Scroll To Jacob Klein on the Occasion of His 79th Birthday

(Remarks of Hon. Sanford H. Cohen)

I am very pleased to have been designated to participate on this happy occasion in celebration of your 79th birthday and the 75th anniversary of the Park Avenue Synagogue. This is truly a Jacob Klein Night. I suppose my appearance in this role comes because of our long standing friendship and the fact that I was chairman of the nominating committee in January 1952 when I suggested your name for the position of president of the Synagogue. It then became incumbent upon me to make this offer to you to accept the presidency. Your first inclination was to decline but I induced you to think it over for a day, after I had given you all the reasons for acceptance.

After you had discussed it with your dear wife Gertrude, you finally agreed. That was an auspicious occasion for the Park Avenue Synagogue. And a word must be said, with some gratitude for Gertrude who has given up so much of the time that would generally be hers and yours together. You have already heard from the affiliates of the Synagogue. Ordinarily an occasion such as this is celebrated with a dinner either in the Lemberg Auditorium or in an hotel. This function might seem unusual and novel but it is befitting because your major interest has been in the Synagogue.

Your devotion to and sincere interest in the activities of the various arms of the Synagogue is known to all. This is not because you are president. This attachment is due to your Jewish learning and your desire to foster the teachings of the Torah. Few know how much time you spend, the delightful correspondence you have with young and old, the pastoral duties you take upon yourself, all of which has endeared you to every member of the Synagogue.

You have given more than lip service to the State of Israel and your interest was increased by your visit there twenty months ago. The requirements of Israel are in a measure fulfilled by such projects as the Jewish National Fund. Few realize the importance of tree planting and forest preservation in the growth of a country. For Israel it means reduction of soil erosion, protection of crops and help towards its security.

The constituent organizations of the Synagogue and the trustees could have presented you with a personal gift but that would not be of such lasting use or even symbolic of your interest.

So very wisely there has been donated to the Jewish National Fund, a sum for the planting and purchasing of a grove of 1000 trees in Israel to be known as the Jacob Klein Grove.

It is therefore with extreme pleasure that I present to you, on the behalf of the various arms of the Synagogue this scroll of the Jewish National Fund. With this goes all our best wishes to you and Gertrude for a long life, good health, and continued activity and interest in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Visiting Rabbis

most exclusively at the Park Avenue Synagogue from which he was Bar Mitzvah in 1939.

Following his gradnation from the Seminary, Rabbi Hahn served as Chaplain in the United States Navy for a period of two years, until he was called to occupy his present post as Rabbi of the Mt. Kisco Jewish Community Center. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Hahn, have been members of the Park Avenue Synagogue for over 25 years.

Rabbi Gerson D. Cohen, a graduate of City College of the City of New York, magna cum laude, with special honors in the social sciences and where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, was ordained at the Jewish Theological Seminary in 1948, with the degree of Master of Hebrew Literature, with distinction. He is now serving as Librarian of the Jewish Theological Seminary, and as instructor of Jewish Literature and Institutions at the Rabbinical School.

Rabbi Cohen has contributed to many Hebrew and English publications. His study "The Story of Hannah and Her Seven Sons in Hebrew Literature," appeared in the Mordecai Kaplan Jubilee Volumes, and his essay, "The Talmudic Age" was included in the recent volume edited by Leo W. Schwarz, "Great Ages and Ideas of the Jewish People". He is currently engaged in editing Abraham Ibn Daud's "History of Tradition" and is preparing for publication a new edition of "The Seder Olam" in which he collaborated with the late Professor Alexander Marx.

The usual Oneg Shabbat will follow both services in the Lemberg Auditorium.

"An Open Letter To Cantor Putterman"

You crowned the event of our Congregational Seder with your masterful guidance of the proceedings. All of the basic preparations would have been wasted, if the timing, judgment and spirit had not been just right. Your warm and paternalistic way of handling the children was beautiful to behold. It kept the tiniest tots remarkably quiet and well behaved throughout the evening—yet, allowed them full freedom to participate with happy abandon at the right moment.

Your gracious manner with the ladies made them feel like queens in their own homes. The men enacted the roles of heads of individual families. There was a spirit of hominess, not of an impersonal, institutional affair. The music selected for audience participation was appropriate and enjoyable. The talented choir with our Mr. George Crook at the piano, gave a fine rendition.

It appeared as if you, too, were enjoying the spiritually meaningful ceremonies, so, you held the interest of your audience. Dear Amy, Olov Hashalom, would have been so proud of you—and revered Rabbi Milton Steinberg. Olov Hashalom, could have given his satisfied approval.

It is clearly apparent that there exists among us a dormant depth of good will and right feeling of respect and consideration for each other, that is essential for the spiritual growth of our Congregational Family. I am personally grateful to you—and I feel that those present carried away a beautiful memory that should bear seeds of good thoughts and good actions. A very large Mitzvah, indeed.

We were so fortunate to have Rabbi Kogen conduct the Seder. It was a great sacrifice for him to leave his wife, little ones, and relatives. We owe Mrs. Kogen our gratitude. Rabbi Kogen's scholarly erudition is worn modestly.—his demeanor, that of a man of peace. I know that you have found it a joy to work with him. Our appreciation has steadily grown of his intellectual attainments and noble character.

Our own Cantor Friedman has, in the past, in spite of temporary physical difficulty, carried on with persistent courage. He always lends dignity and spiritual devotion to his able renditions of our traditional, liturgical music. His commendable cooperation has made him part of our Synagogue Family.

May the inspiration of the Seder ceremonies carry over its peaceful unity and good will among the congregants, henceforth. And, may you, our beloved Hazzan, reap as you have sown.

With deep affection,

BELLE GREEN

PARK AVENUE SYNAGOGUE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

WHY SHOULD MY CHILD GO TO RELIGIOUS SCHOOL?

By attending a modern Jewish school, together with others of his own age, your child will gain a rich and joyful experience as a Jew. He will learn the great heritage of our people . . . the traditions and culture of Jews through the ages . . . the Jewish ethics and ideals which have contributed to the development of the American democratic spirit. He will grow up with a deep love and understanding of the privilege of being Jewish. Your child will find identification with you, your family, the synagogue, the Jewish community in the United States and with the Jewish people throughout the world.

Religious School Registration in May

The Jewish Education Committee has designated the month of May as REGISTRATION MONTH. During the month, Religious schools in the Metropolitan area will register all new children who will be coming to the school in September, 1957.

The Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School educational program provides for:

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 6 through 9. The school, which meets on Sunday morning, aims to familiarize the child with Judaism: its history and its cultural expressions. It develops within him a sense of loyalty and pride in Judaism.

HEBREW DEPARTMENT for children from the ages of 9 through 15. The school, which meets on two afternoons and on Saturday mornings, aims to prepare the child for an active and constructive participation in Jewish life. Instruction in Hebrew, Bible, history, customs and ceremonies and religious worship in the Junior Congregation develop in the child an understanding of the religious concepts, the ethical values and the ritual forms of Judaism.

BAR MITZVAH and BAS MITZVAH for the boys and girls at the age of 13. In accordance with the recommendations of the United Synagogue Commission on Education, a minimum of three years instruction in the Hebrew Department is required for Bar Mitzvah and Bas Mtzvah in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

CONFIRMATION for the boys and girls who meet the educational requirements for Bar Mitzvah and Bas Mitzvah and continue their education for one year in a special Confirmation Class.

The Religious School office will be open every afternoon after 3:00 P.M. for the REGISTRATION OF NEW STUDENTS. Parents are urged to begin the Jewish education of their children on the Primary School level so that the child may benefit from a full and rich, religious experience.

Religious School News

Students, who have completed courses in the High School Department, will receive Certificates of Achievement at the last session.

Students may register in the School Office for classes beginning September 1957. Israel Independence Day

Just as the 4th of July, 1776, is a sacred day in the history of our beloved United States, so too, the 5th of Iyar 5708, occupies a similar position in the State of Israel.

Monday, the 6th of May, 1957, was the ninth anniversary of the establishment of the State of Israel. Proclaimed by the Jews of Eretz Yisrael, they set up their provisional government amid a turbulence and strife that required dedicated devotion, courage and loyalty to survive against the attacks of those who sought to destroy them.

Now on their ninth anniversary, we join in wishing this citadel of democracy God's blessings for life and peace.

Thirteenth Annual Liturgical Service

This year, the Park Avenue Synagogue is proud to present the World Premier performance from manuscript of compositions from three eminent composers: Herman Berlinski, Laurenec Rosenthal and Hugo Weisgal.

Herman Berlinski, born in Leipzig, Germany, received his musical education at the State-Conservatory, Leipzig, and the Ecole Normale DeMusique, Paris. He was the first person to receive the degree of "Master of Sacred Music" from the Seminary College of Jewish Music of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. Mr. Berlinski has composed many Jewish liturgical works both vocal and instrumental. His "Symphonic Visions" for orchestra was recently performed and recorded in Tokyo, Japan by the ASSAI Broadcasting Orchestra. Last February at the opening of the American Music Festival, his composition "Music for the Peace of Mind" received its premier performance. Another of his works, "And Behold the Bush Burneth", will be played at the International Organists Conference in London by the eminent organist Dr. Robert Baker. Currently, Mr. Berlinski is the assistant organist at Temple Emanuel, New York City, and also instructor in music at the Cantors Institute of the Seminary.

Laurence Rosenthal, born in Detroit, Michigan in 1926, is now living in New York City. He received his musical training at the Eastman School of Music with Bernard Rogers and Howard Hanson; at Mozarteum, Salzburg, Austria with Sandor Vas; and with Nadia Boulanger in Paris. He served with the U. S. Air Force composing the music for the Air Force Documentary Film Unit. Mr. Rosenthal composed the incidental and ballet music and songs for Moliere's "Tea Doctor in Spite of Himself" and wrote scores for the motion pictures "Yellowneck" and "Osceola". Recently his symphonic "Ode" was performed by the New York Philharmonic under the baton of Leonard Bernstein. He has also composed dramatic scores for C.B.S. radio workshop and incidental music for Arthur Laurents' play "A Cleaning in the Woods". Ma Tovu and Yigdal are his first musical works for the Synagogue.

Hugo Weisgal graduated from John Hopkins University with a Ph.D. in German literature. He studied at the Peabody Institute in Baltimore, Maryland, and graduated the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, majoring in composition and conducting. He has been guest conductor of the London Symphony Orchestra, London Philharmonic Orchestra, BBB Symphony Orchestra, Baltimore String Symphony and others. He composed the one-act opera "The Tenor", and his opera "The Stranger" has just been released by Columbia Records. Mr. Weisgal was awarded the Ditson Commission by Columbia University to compose an American opera, and a citation for composition by the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He has also received a grant from the Guggenheimer Foundation to compose an opera. Currently he is chairman of the Faculty of the Cantors Institute-College of Music of the Jewish Theological Seminary; director of the Hilltop Musical Company, choral director of Chizuk Amuno Congregation in Baltimore, and a lecturer at Johns Hopkins University.

As part of the program, there will also be presented, the highlights from previous music festivals performed at the Park Avenue Synagogue from the compositions of Ernest Bloch, David Diamond, Isadore Freed, Frederick Jacobi, Darius Milhaud, Mario Castelnuovo-Tedesco, Kurt Weill and several others.

The program will be presented by Hazzan Putterman and the synagogue choir augmented, with George Crook at the organ. The conductor will be Charles Schiff.

Mr. Schiff was born in 1926 and graduated from the Juilliard School of Music in 1948, majoring in clarinet and conducting. He studied conducting under Serge Koussevitsky at the Berkshire Music Center, as a scholarship pupil and shared the podium with Dr. Koussevitsky and Leonard Bernstein on several occasions. He also studied conducting in the class of Pierre Monteux and was a student of Vittorio Giannini in composition. From 1948 to 1952, Mr. Schiff was musical director at the Manhattan Chamber Orchestra, and from 1954 to 1956, he served as musical director of the Temple Symphony Orchestra of Rodeph Sholom. He has appeared as guest conductor with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra and with the Broadcasting Orchestra of "Kol Yisrael" in Israel. At present, he is the musical director of Lado Orchestra, a faculty member of Yeshiva University and of the YM & YWKA music school of New York City.

Due to the unusually large attendance at these services, reservation cards have been sent to all the members and should be returned to the synagogue office indicating the number of tickets desired.

Following the service, a reception will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium in honor of the composers and the participating artists.

Parents Association Open Meeting, May 22

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On Wednesday evening, May 22, at 8:30 P.M., the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue will hold its final meeting of the current season in the Lemberg Auditorium. After a short business meeting which will include the election of officers for the coming year, a new play by Nora Stirling will be presented by professional actors of the American Theatre Wing Community Players.

The play, "What Did I Do?" illustrates very clearly the point that many parents have been blamed disproportionately for the misbehavior of their children. Today, because of constant emphasis on parental responsibility, parents often feel an undue sense of guilt when something goes wrong. Consequently, when confronted with upsetting misbehavior on the part of their children, thoughtful parents are likely to ask themselves, "What Did I Do?" The play points out that, in a home filled with affection and warmth, no sense of failure on the part of the parents is justified if a child happens to slip temporarily from the straight and narrow path.

Dr. Milton Saperstein will act as moderator for the discussion which will follow the performance. "What Did I Do?" should provide provocative material to aid parents in achieving a healthy balance in assuming enough but not unwarranted reesponsibility for shaping their children's personalities.

A social hour and refreshments will conclude the evening. All are invited.

Youth Study Group Completes Year's Study

By JUDY SCHWARTZ

The Park Avenue Synagogue Youth Group held an experiment this past year. An early study group was set up under the jurisdiction of the United Synagogue Youth with which the Park Avenue Synagogue is affiliated.

Some of the discussion included a study of the Bible and Jewish life; Israeli dancing and singing; and a deeper understanding of the Jewish holidays. We participated in the Annual Third Youth Seder and other programs throughout the year.

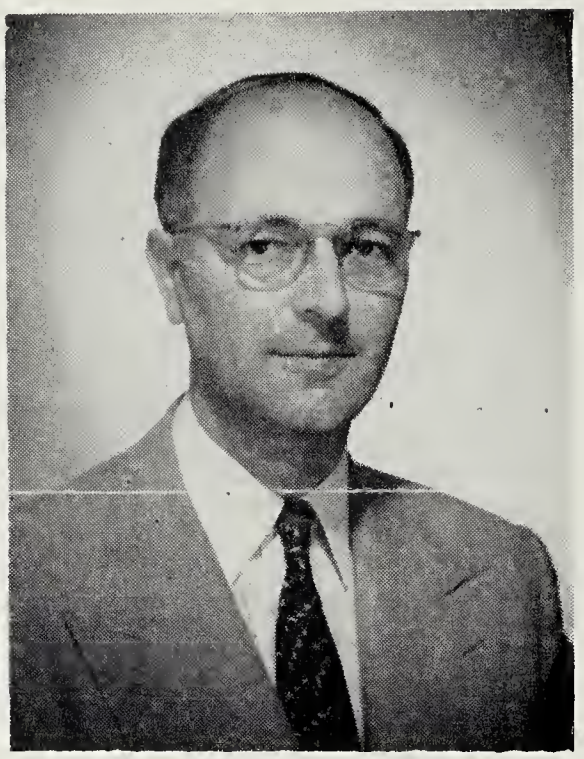

Our study group is completing a fairly successful year with a theater party and a supper dance on May 18.

I think that we have learned much from this year's program. We feel confident that next year will be a better one, because of our past experience.

UJA To Honor Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer

Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer. vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees of Park Avenue Synagogue. will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner of the UJA Park Avenue Synagogue Committee to be held Tuesday evening. June 11. at 6:00 P. M. in the Lemberg Auditorium.

An active leader in the Synagogue affairs for many years, Dr. Wimpfheimer was unanimously selected as the guest of honor because of his long and devoted service to the Synagogue and to the State of Israel.

Guest of Honor

DR. SEYMOUR WIMPFHEIMER

Mr. Monroe Goldwater, a brilliant speaker, and president of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Paul Riebenfeld, chairman of the Synagogue's UJA campaign committee this year, said that "plans for the dinner are progressing well and indications are that this year's affair will be one of the most successful the Park Avenue Synagogue has ever held."

Working together with Dr. Riebenfeld will be Dr. Herman Helpern, Dr. Harold A. Osserman and Nathan B. Kogan and Jacob Starr as co-chairmen, with Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees and Jacob Klein, President of the Synagogue acting as honorary chairmen.

This year the UJA of greater New York is conducting a dual campaign. It aims. first. to raise the New York area's proportion of the funds needed in 1957 by seven major humanitarian agencies whose world-wide activities sustain life, hope and livelihood for 600,000 needy and imperilled Jews and affect the lives of hundreds of thousands more. The drive also seeks to raise the local share of a nationwide $100.000.000 Emergency Rescue Fund set up to care for and resettle, in Israel, the United States and other free lands, more than 100,000 Jewish refugees expected to be in flight during 1957 from tyranny and terror in Hungary, Egypt and elsewhere in Europe and North Africa.

The urgency of the present appeal cannot be stressed too strongly because Israel is facing one of the most acute refugee crisis in its short history. As Mr. Ben Gurion warns "these are times of deep anxiety and great hopes."

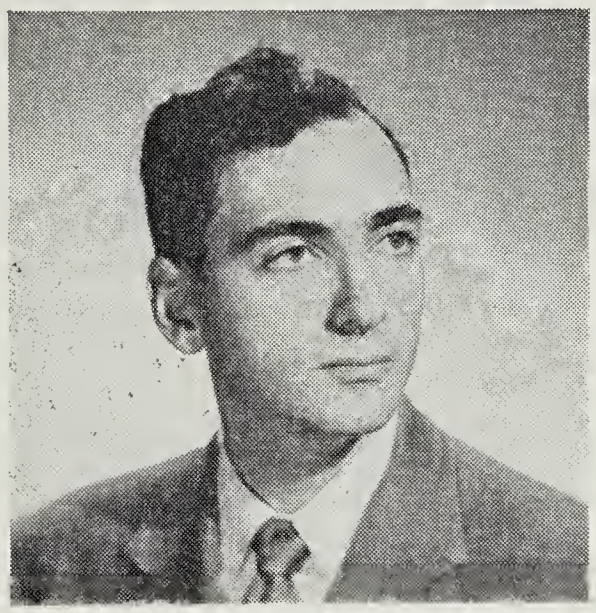

Invitations to the dinner have been sent to the members of the Synagogue and all are urged to join in paying tribute to Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, one of the leaders of our Synagogue, and at the same time participate in this event for the benefit of the United Jewish Appeal's campaign this year.

Rabbi Allan Blaine To Preach At Shavuoth Services, June 5 and 6

At the Shavuoth Service on Wednesday morning. June 5. the Religious School will hold its Confirmation and Graduation Exercises.

Yiskor (Memorial) services will be held on the second day of Shavuoth. Thursday morning. June 6.

At both services Rabbi Allan Blaine will occupy our pulpit as the visiting Rabbi.

RABBI ALLAN BLAINE

Rabbi Blaine, a member of the faculty of our Religious School since 1954 received his degree as Rabbi and Teacher at the Jewish Theological Seminary on Sunday. June 2. 1957 and it is most fitting that his first Pulpit assignment. so soon after his ordination, has brought him to the Park Avenue Synagogue.

A graduate from University College. New York University and from the Herzliah Hebrew Teachers' Institute where he graduated with honors and also served as President of the Student Organization. Rabbi Blaine attended the Seminary College of Jewish Studies and was awarded the Israel Student Fellowship for a six months study in Israel.

He has been associated with Religions Schools of the East Midwood Jewish Center as well as that of the Park Avenue Synagogue where he has been an inspiring and devoted teacher. His enthusiasm and interest in Jewish affairs has won him a place of esteem and affection in the hearts of our students. As he begins his new career first as Chaplain in the Armed Forces and then as Rabbi, he goes forth with the good wishes of his colleagues on the faculty and the gratitude and appreciation of the sudent body. the parents and the officers and members of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Baruch Haba

"Blessed is he who comes." This was the silent greeting that welcomed Rabbi Judah Nadieh as he entered the Lemberg Auditorium. Sunday evening, May 12, at the reception to him and his charming wife.

Before one of the largest audiences that ever filled the Lemberg Auditorium, Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of our Board of Trustees, presented Rabbi Nadich to the members of the congregation who had assembled to welcome him to the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Rabbi Nadieh and his wife graciously greeted each member personally, often recognizing an old acquaintance, often stopping long enough to speak of a mutual friend mentioned by some of those who passed along the reception line, but always evincing a sincere desire to know all those who were presented, despite the brief greeting.

The warmth, the cordiality and the friendship that was evident to all, clearly indicated that Rabbi Nadich in the short span of but a few hours had endeared himself to all those present.

In presenting him to the members of the congregation, Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, said:

"Friends, during January of this year, here in this auditorium at the Annual Congregational dinner, I had the privilege of appearing before this very microphone, and I pledged to you then that the first, the foremost, and the most important item on the agenda of our new administration would be an all out effort on the part of our pulpit committee to bring to this great institution, a Rabbi who possesses the leadership, the spirituality, and the distinction that this pulpit deserves. I am very happy and very proud tonight that I am here to redeem that pledge.

"Now I believe that this is as good an opportunity as I will ever have to publicly thank and pay tribute to the members of that pulpit committee, who because of their perseverance made this a reality, and I refer of course, to the chairman of that committee, one of the stalwarts of this congregation, Mr. Benjamin Sack, to Judge Bernard Botein, Milton Weill, Samuel Lemberg, General Melvin Krulewitch, Harold H. Levin, Ben Gross, Ezra Cohen, who was the ex-officio member of that committee, and who was my predecessor as chairman of the Board and Judge Sanford H. Cohen, who served for a short time. To all of them our thanks for a job well done.

"Now I know that you did not come here to listen to speeches tonight. We are gathered to welcome Rabbi Nadieh and his very charming wife. Incidentally, this informal party is not a substitute for an induction ceremony, which will take place later this fall. So many of you asked us to have an opportunity to meet the Rabbi before the summer months set in, and this being the only available night even though it competed with Mother's Day, we decided upon this informal gathering here.

"Now Rabbi and Mrs. Nadieh from all of us from the bottom of our hearts we say to you Baruch Haba. We extend to you our warmest and sincerest welcome. We pray that you will be with us for many, many years, and that you and the congregation will continue to go from strength to strength. We wish you, both of you, and your dear little three girls good health and happiness always, and we know that within a short time you will be integrated within the family of Park Avenue Synagogue.

"And now having officially welcomed you, may I formally on this informal occasion introduce you to your new congregation."

A tumultous applause from the more than 500 members greeted Rabbi Nadieh, who expressed his appreciation for the warm and friendly reception accorded to him and his wife. In his informal remarks, Rabbi Nadieh said:

"I must say that my wife and I are overwhelmed by your kindness and by this magnificent display of your friendship. We are very grateful to Mr. Katz, to Mr. Klein, to Mr. Saek and indeed to all of the leaders of the congregation who during these past several weeks have shown such warmth of friendship, and to the many among you who have been gracious enough to write me such warm and cordial letters of welcome. And all of you who have come tonight, by your presence you are already showing to my wife and myself that we are coming to good, dear and warm friends.

"I am not unmindful of the fact that it is a great privilege that you have bestowed upon me to extend a call to occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Synagogue. This congregation is known throughout the length and breadth of

History of Congregation Reviewed by Milton Weill at 75th Anniversary

More than 650 persons, an unusually large assemblage, joined together on Sunday, March 31, to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the establishment of the Park Avenue Synagogue. The featured speakers of the afternoon were Dr. Solomon Grayzel, Editor of the Jewish Publication Society, Honorable Albert Conway, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, President of the National Council of the Churches of Christ and Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary.

A special musical program was presented by Hazzan David J. Putterman, assisted by the choir and George Crook at the organ. Sanford H. Hahn, Rabbi of the Jewish Center of Mt. Kisco, New York, and a former graduate of the Park Avenue Synagogue Religious School delivered the opening prayer.

The ushering was in the charge of Dr. Sigmund Siegel, Chairman of the Ushering Committee, who was ably assisted by Harry Dubin, Emil Forster, Milton Heller, Julian Jacobs, Leon Klein, Theodore Meistrich, Dr. Harry Neivert, Dr. Samuel Stern together with Mortimer D. Millheiser, Synagogue Sexton and Emanual Rosenthal, Synagogue Secretary. Following the celebration, refreshments were served in the Lemberg Auditorium under the chairmanship of Mrs. Irwin Rome, assisted by her energetic committee consisting of Mrs. Solomon E. Green, Mrs. Milton Heller, Mrs. Herman Helpern, Mrs. Joseph Howard Katz, Mrs. Sidney R. Katz, Mrs. Theodore Meistrich, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel and Mrs. Jacob Starr.

Milton Weill, chairman of the 75th anniversary committee, in opening the services, reviewed the historical progress of the Park Avenue Synagogue. In the course of his remarks, he said:

"The Park Avenue Synagogue, in celebrating its 75th Anniversary, is rather a unique organization. . . . We did not move from the West Side to the East Side. We did not move from downtown to uptown. We were born here, we developed here, we progressed here, and we shall, we hope, continue to progress in this very spot . . . This Congregation was born in the year 1882. Its early dates were filled with struggles; stores and rented halls were the Temple structures. The Congregants were a group of pious Hungarian and German Jews mostly store keepers and merchants in Yorkville, who combined their meager resources, and they were meager, to form and establish what was originally called Congregation Agudath Jeshorum. Eight years later in 1890, that is 67 years ago, the Congregation acquired a Temple building, a former Church, located at 115 East 86th Street. I think it is at that point that the memory of most of us begins to be associated with our Synagogue. The Church was remodeled, and the Congregation became known as the Gates of Hope Temple, or as it was popularly known to all in this area, the 86th Street Temple.

"Some 38 years ago, we find the next important date in the record of this Congregation. Temple Bikur Cholim, a Congregation which was some 25 years older than the 86th Street Temple, was merged with this Congregation. Cantor Baum was the Cantor at that time and became honorary Cantor of the combined Synagogue. . . ."

"A Fond Adieu"

This will be the last issue of the BULLETIN for the current season. In taking leave of our readers for the summer, we want to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our contributors, identified by their respective by-line credits, whose regular contributions to the columns of the BULLETIN have made the work of your editor somewhat easier.

May we remind you that the High Holidays occur rather late this year. Rosh Hashanna falls on Thursday and Friday, September 26 and 27, and Yom Kippur on Saturday, October 5. By that time, our new spiritual leader, Rabbi Judah Nadich will be occupying our pulpit and leading the Park Avenue Synagogue to greater glory.

So until we meet again, we bid you a fond adieu and a happy summer.

Sisterhood Activities

By BELLE GREEN

Visit To Home for Aged Blind

Recently a delegation from Sisterhood made their annual visit to the Home for the Aged Blind in Yonkers. Mrs. Alfred Luebeck, chairman of the committee which arranged for the party, and the members of her committee brought with them an orchestra which played beautiful concert music and Jewish songs in which they all joined. Lovely personal gifts were distributed and refreshments were served. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Sol E. Green and also by Mrs. Emma Luebeck, who expressed the hope that they would all reach her own number of years. These visits are deeply appreciated by the guests at the Home, whose immaculate appearance, pleasant demeanor and warmth of their reception should inspire a greater attendance and participation by our group next year.

Hostess to Metropolitan Group

On May 1, Sisterhood acted as hostess to several hundred women from the Conservative Synagogues in this Metropolitan area. Mrs. Harry Nievert, chairman of Torah Fund, was in charge of the arrangements. Rabbi Harry Halpern was the principal speaker. Mrs. Sol E. Green extended greetings from Sisterhood and personally made the souveniers and place cards.

UJA Tribute to Mrs. Sack

Mrs. Benjamin Sack was the guest of honor at a recent tea held for the benefit of UJA at the home of Mrs. Tubie Resnick, at which a considerable sum of money was raised for UJA.

Two of the confirmands, Inez Fields and Charles F. Keiser, have been elected to membership in the Keter Torah, an all-city honor society. This organization, sponsored by the Board of Education of the Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue, consists of honor graduates from the New York City Religious Schools who have received three annual scholarship awards prior to graduation.

Each of the confirmands will, also, receive certificates, diplomas, bibles—a gift from Sisterhood—and a cash award for the purchase of Jewish books. The award for books is an annual gift awarded anonymously by a member of the Congregation. All prizes will be presented by Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, chairman of the School Board. The Men's Club will present a Youth Leadership Award to a member of the class for outstanding scholarship, character, service and leadership.

The members of the Confirmation Class will actively participate in the Shavuoth Services. They will read from the Scriptures, present an explanation of their readings and deliver a series of papers on "Man and His World."

A reception in honor of the confirmands will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium immediately after the service. The reception, which is tendered by the Park Avenue Synagogue in honor of its confirmands, will be in charge of the Class Mothers of the Parents Association.

Sisterhood Honors Mrs. William Karmiol

By BELLE GREEN

Mrs. William Karmiol, president of Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue, who recently returned from a world tour, was honored at a luncheon given by the members of the Executive Board of Sisterhood.

In her own inimitable style, Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow once again displayed her talents as a lyricist. The jingles she composed were distributed to the guests and sung to the merriment of all those gathered to honor Mrs. Karmiol. After serving as president of Sisterhood for three consecutive years, Gertrude will retire from that post at the end of her

Jewish Museum

The Jewish Museum is marking its tenth anniversary at Ninety Second Street and Fifth Avenue wih two unusual exhibitions of great interest to both the parents and the children in our congregation.

The Strauss-Rothschild collection of over 100 ceremonial objects, representing several centuries of ritual art, has been borrowed from the Cluny Museum in Paris. These precious objects—manuscripts, spice boxes, wedding rings, candelabra and textile—have not been publically exhibited since the beginning of World War II.

The Museum is also showing a collection of paintings, ranging from the fifteenth century to the present, lent by friends of the museum. Among the many fine works of art being exhibited is a Rembrandt self-portrait in which he paints himself as a Biblical high priest, with headdress and breastplate.

A visit to the museum by the entire family—parents and children—will be a most rewarding experience and will offer another opportunity to widen our experiences with our Jewish cultural heritage.

Registration

The School Office will be open during the month of June for registration of new students in the Religious School. We are accepting students for both the Primary and Hebrew Department of the school.

Members of the congregation are urged to advise their friends and relatives in the community that children of non-members may be enrolled in the school.

Registration may be made over the phone (EN 9-2600) or in person in the School Office between 3:00 and 6:30 P.M. every afternoon.

Dr. Osserman Honored

Dr. Harold A. Osserman, member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and former chairman of the UJA Park Avenue Synagogue Committee, was recently appointed Director of the Dental Clinic of Polyclinic Hospital.

We extend our congratulations and best wishes to our colleague upon this appointment.

this country as a pre-eminent congregation. I know that among you are men and women of culture and of learning, of intellect and of character, men and women who have made signal contributions not only to the Jewish life of this country but to America as a whole. To serve as your Rabbi is a great privilege that I cherish very dearly. At this moment I think also of the fact that the crowning glory of this congregation was that it was served by Rabbi Milton Steinberg for a number of decisive years. He left his impress upon American Jewry, as he left his impress upon this congregation. To be a successor of his is a privilege that I shall always clasp closely to my heart.

"This is not the time for any lengthy exposition of my views on Judaism or the function of the Rabbi, but let me share just this one thought with you. It has always been my conviction that the Rabbi performs his task best when he looks upon himself as a teacher. And he ought to be a teacher of that which presumably he knows best, namely, the Tradition. I hope that I shall be able to be that kind of a teacher to this congregation. The very fact that you and I are banded together in a congregation testifies to the fact that we believe that this tradition of ours, as it has been interpreted and re-interpreted is a viable tradition, that it has insights and wisdom which can prove beneficial for our own lives as individuals and for the life of our Jewish people.

"The word haver is used often in the Talmud as "an academic fellow", a person who is anxious to add to his knowledge. The root of the word has the meaning "to join". Those who are joined together in study are called in the Talmud, haverim. I would like to feel that you and I will have that kind of relationship, that we will be joined together as colleagues in study. But then the word, haver, has another meaning, as you well know, the meaning of joining together in friendship. I hope that you and I will be joined together in close and cordial and harmonious friendship. Working together in the kind of spirit that you have already shown my wife and myself this evening, with this warm friendship, I am certain that we shall be able to bring glory to this great congregation and perhaps a greater measure of personal happiness to all of us."

City College Alumni Honors Saul Horowitz

At the 105th Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of City College of New York, Saul Horowitz, a member of our Board of Trustees, was signally honored as one of the outstanding alumni of his alma mater.

In awarding him an Alumni Service Medal, the Alumni Association also presented him with a citation reading as follows: "Blessed with good fortune in your business enterprises, you won deserved public acclaim for your devoted philanthropic endeavors in behalf of many worthy charitable institutions. Now your fellow alumni honor you for similar benefactions and service to your Alma Mater as both ardent campaign leader and generous contributor to the City College Fund (and its predecessor, the Centennial Fund). For more than ten years, you have responded faithfully and with enthusiasm to every alumni appeal to help provide the present-day students with a more fruitful, educational experience at City College."

Mr. Horowitz, president of H.R.H. Construction Corporation, has been identified with Park Avenue Synagogue for many years and when the Milton Steinberg House was erected, he contributed the services of his organization gratuitously. We are happy to join with his fellow alumni in congratulating our colleague in this well deserved honor.

Hazzan Putterman gave an inspiring invocation and Jacob Klein, president of the Synagogue, paid tribute to Gertrude's devoted and dedicated service to Sisterhood and to the Synagogue. On behalf of Sisterhood and as an expression of esteem and affection, Mrs. Solomon E. Green presented Mrs. Karmiol with a beautiful bracelet charm inscribed "Mazel". If one has that, nothing else matters, and if one doesn't have it, then nothing else helps.

New Officers Installed At Men's Club Annual Dinner Meeting

By HARVEY GLASSER

Men's Club's 9th Annual Dinner and Election Meeting, on Tuesday evening, May 21st, in the Lemberg Auditorium, was an occasion long to be remembered and cherished for its heartwarming sentiment and rededication for the work yet to be done. No doubt, the wonderful food and atmosphere were responsible for the frivolity and good fellowship which prevailed but underneath it all was a genuine sense of sadness and regret that Milton Sivek was stepping down as President of Men's Club after a tenure of four successful years.

Milton, expressing obvious emotion, delivered a magnificent valedictory which was touching and full of humility and which those members present will not soon forget. As a token of Men's Club's gratitude and appreciation, Milton was presented with a beautiful scroll and a polaroid camera.

Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel was installed as our new President and promised to carry on the work of his predecessors in developing Men's Club into an even greater and better Men's Club.

Also honored at the dinner, and presented with scrolls and gifts, were Lawrence A. Meyers, who stepped down as Treasurer after seven years, and Louis I. Heller, former Corresponding Secretary and Editor of the Men's Club "Memo", now serving as Executive Director of Cong. Beth Israel of Atlantic City, N. J. .

Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue, presided, acting as toastmaster and inducting officer for the new officers and directors elected at the meeting. He also presented and read the scrolls to the men being honord. Jacob Klein, President of the Synagogue, delivered the invocation, and Hazzan David J. Putterman led the assemblage in saying Grace after the dinner. James J. Leibman made the presentations of the gifts to Milton Sivek, Larry Meyers and Louis Heller on behalf of the Board and membership of Men's Club.

Surprise Party For Mrs. Herman Helpern

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On the evening of May 8, the Sisterhood Lounge was a scene of gay festivity, when the Executive Board of the Parents Association gave a surprise party in honor of Mrs. Herman Helpern, who is retiring as president after having served for five years.

Husbands, too, were invited, and great was the merriment when imagination transformed the usual Board meeting into a Utopian gathering in the year 2057. The secretary's minutes, the treasurer's report and the resumes of the various committees provoked much laughter as they pictured the fanciful achievements of the organization a century hence.

For her inspirational, devoted and dynamic leadership, Lillian was awarded a beautifully engraved and framed service plaque, designed by Mrs. A. Stangel. Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, president for the coming year, then presented Lillian with a gold charm engraved: "To Lillian with love and affection from the Executive Board of the Parents Association of the Park Avenue Synagogue."

A delightful social evening followed as members and their husbands gathered around the unusually attractive buffet table so artistically arranged by our own talented Regina Stangel.

Now that a new administration in the life of the Parents Association is about to dawn, we reflect with pride upon the many splendid objectives gained during Lillian's term of office.

As Louise M. Alcott said of a worthwhile book, so we can say of Lillian's sound administration: "That is a good reign which is opened with expectation and closed with profit."

BULLETIN

September 5, 1957 Affiliated with the Jewish Theological Seminary and the United Synagogue of America 9 Elul, 5717

Address Delivered by Mrs. Sol E. Green At Her Installation as Sisterhood Pres.

(In May, Mrs. Solomon E. Green was installed as president of the Sisterhood together with the other officers by Jacob Klein, president of the Park Avenue Synagogue. With her usual thoroughness and diligence, Mrs. Green did not merely accept the presidency, but, as can be seen from the talk printed below, gave her new responsibility much thought. So impressed were those who heard it, that we herewith reprint the speech in full.)

Madam Chairman, President of the Synagogue, Women of Sisterhood, Friends: I have a mixture of emotions, —happiness and pride in the honor you have conferred on me, gratitude for your confidence, humility at the thought of the spiritual significance involved.

But, perhaps, my strongest reaction is ambition. Oh, not for myself, but for our Sisterhood. I want it to be the best in the country. With the type of individual leadership we have, it can be accomplished.

It is a very sobering thought that I am no longer a private individual, but a representative of Jewish women and the Synagogue. I am your ambassador of Good Will. The candle that gives its light to the others is called the Shamos or servant candle. That is the way I view my position.

In Judaism, the person is simply the instrument through which God works. Moses is not mentioned in the Passover Haggadah. The emphasis should be on the purpose served by a human being, but not on the person. Dr. Finkelstein says ideal leadership should be anonymous.

We who are being installed today are receiving an Aliyah, called up to the service of God, Torah, and the Jewish People. Just as the honor of Aliyah requires participation and ritual, so does our Sisterhood Aliyah involve work, participation and responsibility of action.

This, then, is an hour that divides the past from the future. Too often, we lose sight of the cause of an organization, because we are so concerned with its trappings and trimmings, its personalities. We must periodically pause and take stock, reevaluate and reaffirm our purpose.

We should never lose sight of Sisterhood objectives. These are: To perpetuate the high ideals of Judaism by stressing ethical practices in every day living. To further Jewish education, to create and foster Jewish sentiment in the home, through ceremonials in the observance of the Sabbath and Holidays. These can be made appealing to the eye, euphonious to the ear, elevating to the spirit, and stimulating to the mind. Also, to promote Synagogue attendance and projects, and to foster a sense of com-

Our Synagogue's Menorah on Exhibition At Museum

The Newark Museum of Art in Newark, New Jersey, informed us that the menorah designed and sculptured by Calvin Albert, well known sculptor, which is part of the Appleman Chapel, had been viewed by over eleven thousand persons during the nine weeks that it was shown at its museum.

The Newark Museum had borrowed our menorah for a special exhibit on Art In Judaism, which closed on the 16th of June. The associate director of the museum, Miss Mildred Baker, described this exhibit as one of its most appreciated in recent years.

Girl Scouts Visit Park Avenue Synagogue

During the month of August, the Girl Scouts of the United States of America used the facilities of our Appleman Chapel and Cohen Library for the purpose of taking photographs that will be used in nation wide publicity in newspapers and magazines during National Girl Scout Week, March 9 through March 15, 1958.

One of the features of that week will emphasize church and synagogue attendance by scouts.

The scouts who participated here were: Marie Cella—Brownie; Dorothy Michitsch — Intermediate; Charlotte Stoncy — Mariner; Cathy Rubin — Intermediate; and Dava Sobel — Intermediate.

They came from all over the metropolitan area of New York.

Synagogue Mourns Passing of Women Leaders

This summer marked the passing of two leading women of our Congregation: Mrs. Rose Weill and Mrs. Helen R. Krulewitch.

Mrs. Rose Weill was the wife of the late Charles Weill, former president of one of the congregations that went into the merger that became the Park Avenue Synagogue. He also served as vice-president of our Synagogue. Mrs. Weill's own life was interwoven with our Synagogue and its leadership. Her son, Milton Weill, is one of our Congregation's leading figures, having been a trustee for many years and today is serving as honorary trustee of our Congregation. Her son-in-law, Ezra Cohen, is a past chairman of our Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Helen R. Krulewich was the wife of Major General Melvin L. Krulewitch, a trustee of our Synagogue and former vice-chairman of its Board of Trustees. Mrs. Krulewitch had been active for many years in our Synagogue, as well as in communal services and organizations.

Religious School News

REGISTRATION

The School Office is open for registration of new students in the Religious School. We are acccpting applications for both the Primary and the Hebrew Departments of the school.

Registration may be made over the phone (EN 9-2600) or in person in the School Office between 3:00 and 6:30 P.M. every afternoon.

Members of the congregation are urged to advise their friends and relatives in the community that children of non-members may be enrolled in the school.

Students who attended the Primary Department or the Hebrew Department of the school last year will receive their new class and room assignments in the mail.

BAR MITZVAH and BAS MITZVAH

The Park Avenue Synagogue has always advocated equal opportunities in Jewish education for both boys and girls. All of our students attend the same classes, study the same curriculum and, at the age of thirteen, are equally prepared for the boys to be Bar Mitzvah and the girls to be Bas Mitzvah.

The Synagogue, however, in accordance with the recommendations of the United Synagogue Comuission on Education, requires a minimum of three years instruction in the Hebrew Department of the Religious School prior to Bar Mitzvah or Bas Mitzvah.

HEBREW REGENTS

Two students in our High School Extension Department passed the Hebrew Regents examination in June 1957 with unusually high grades. Frana Mills was a candidate for the three-year examination in Hebrew and Jacqueline Finkel took the two-year examination. These examinations are conducted by the University of the State of New York for students who have studied Hebrew for the equivilent of two or three years in the High School in New York.

Our congratulations to Frana and Jackie and to their teacher, Dr. Aaron Giat.

SCHOOL OPENS

The Hebrew Department of the Religious School will open on Monday, September 16.

The Primary Department will hold its first session on Sunday, September 22.

HIGH HOLIDAY SERVICES

Our annual services for the children and the young people of the Congregation will once again be held at the Jewish Museum, 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue. Full particulars of the services will appear in the next issue of the BULLETIN.

Tickets for the services will be distributed to all students enrolled in the Religious School. Parents may secure tickets for children not registered in the School by calling at or writing to the Synagogue Office.

Milton Weill Reviews History Of Park Avenue Synagogue

(In the June issue of our BULLETIN, Volume 11—No. 17, the last of our previous liturgical year, we carried photographs of our 75th anniversary celebration, which was held at the Park Avenue Synagogue on Sunday, March 31. We also published the first portion of the address which Mr. Milton Weill, chairman of the Anniversary Committee, delivered on that occasion. Due to the lack of space, we were unable to print the address in full. In his opening remarks, Mr. Weill reviewed the early years of the Congregation up to about 1925. The following is a continuation of his address.)

The next date of this chronological record is the year 1926-1927, some 31 years ago, when this present beautiful house of worship was built and dedicated. Arthur Ochs, who is still a member of our Congregation, was the chairman of the building committee at that time. Then, it officially became known as the Park Avenue Synagogue.

At this point I would like to record that some few years prior to this, in 1918, Jacob Friedman, who had been a member of this Congregation since 1902, became the President of the Park Avenue Synagogue and served in that capacity for over thirty years. Those of us who had the inspiring thrill of being associated with him will recall that literally and figuratively he gave everything that he had to the growth and development of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Who will ever forget the warmth of his messages? Who will ever forget the warmth of his personality? Who will ever forget that for year after year, until I believe 1937, he personally conducted or rendered what became famous at that time, as the Kol Nidre appeal? I would say that no anniversary, now or in the future, would be complete without our reverent and affectionate salute to his memory. I am delighted today, to have in our Congregation, Mrs. Friedman, and her daughter Frances Peiper, who still are, and always will be, stalwarts of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The next important date, in this brief summary, is the year 1929, some 28 years ago, when the Temple Atereth Israel, another old Congregation of about the same age as the Park Avenue Synagogue then located on 82nd Street, merged with the Park Avenue Synagogue. As they say in the movies, that is when I came in. I can speak with great personal satisfaction of that merger for I had the pleasure of being the representative of the 82nd Street group that worked out the details with Uncle Jacob, as we always affectionately called Jacob Friedman. It was a very happy merger for Atereth Israel and for Park Avenue Synagogue. The "Shiduch" was well worked out, and it has been a very happy merger ever since of resources and leadership.

The next important date, some 24 years ago, and the most important in the history of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is the year 1933. That is the year when Milton Steinberg became the Rabbi of Park Avenue Synagogue. That was the year that really marked the beginning of our strength and our prestige. Just as Athens had its golden age of Pericles, so the Park Avenue Synagogue had its golden age under Milton Steinberg. On April 5th we commemorate Rabbi Milton Steinberg's seventh Yahrzeit. Today we reverently recall his part, a seventeen year part in the glorious history of the Park Avenue Synagogue. He laid a strong foundation upon which this Synagogue has built, a foundation on which we shall continue to build so long as we do so with the same degree of sincerity and devotion. As we look back at that record we draw inspiration from it, but we say that the best years of our Synagogue life lie ahead.

The most recent important date in our history was the year 1954, when the beautiful Milton Steinberg House that adjoins the Synagogue building was erected and dedicated. It was a dream of Rabbi Steinberg throughout his seventeen years of service to have adequate facilities for the children and the youth of this Congregation, for a Sunday School and a Religious School. That, unfortunately, was denied to him during his life of service, but it stands today as an eloquent tribute to his great teachings. The building is a thing of beauty and an instrument of tremendous strength in the future growth of our Congregation.

I would like to recall the names of those who have served the spiritual needs of this Congregation from the year 1882 to the present time. This is really an honor roll and includes Rabbis Brown, Krauskopf, Carlman, Davidson, Martin and Lipkin. Now we come to the period of time when I became personally affiliated. Rabbi Gabriel Shulman, Rabbi Milton Steinberg and his associates Rabbis Erwin Zimet, Morris N. Kertzer and Simon Noveck, who finally succeeded him as Rabbi of the Synagogue. As I give reverent salute to these spiritual leaders of the past, may I also take this opportunity of giving a welcome salute to our new Rabbi, who will shortly be with us, Rabbi Judah Nadich.

I should also like to salute the Cantors who served this Synagogue. Unfortunately, our records do not go back too far. The first record we have is of Cantor Martin, who also served as Rabbi for two years. Then we had Cantor Sukonig who served us for seventeen years and who was followed by our wonderful Cantor Putterman who has been with us for twenty-four years. He came to this Synagogue at the same time as Rabbi Steinberg. Both were chosen by a committee headed by Jacob Friedman. Cantor Putterman has brought to the Synagogue great distinction, and has rendered a unique service in the field of liturgical music. His annual liturgical Sabbath service has helped to create new inspiring melodies to make conservative religious worship more meaningful and more significant. Much of the beauty of the Park Avenue Synagogue religious service stems from the beauty of the music, and the effectiveness of our famed choir, all under the personal direction of our Cantor Putterman.

And now, I should like to salute the Presidents who have served this Congregation; only seven in 75 years, a remarkable tribute! Max Meyers, Max Lowenstein, Dr. S. Wolff, Mr. Z. Plonsky, Jacob Fredman, Jr., Dr. E. D. Friedman, who succeeded him, and our present incumbent Jacob Klein, whose 79th birthday was recently celebrated in this very auditorium, and who is now in his sixth consecutive year of distinguished leadership as President of this Congregation.

Then I should like to salute the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of this Congregation. When Jacob Friedman became ill, it was deemed advisable to establish the office of Chairman of the Board, so that the business administration of the Synagogue might be divorced from the leadership customarily given by a president. The first Chairman of the Board to be elected under that reorganization was Fred Finn, who I am glad to see, is with us this afternoon. He was succeeded by Justice Bernard Botein and followed by Ben Sack.

Judge Sanford H. Cohen, Ezra Cohen, and our present Chairman. Joseph Howard Katz. And I would like to salute, while I am giving out salutes, and I do this with great authority, as I happen to be a military man, having risen to the dizzy heights of a Second Lieutenant in World War 1, the many families who have served the Synagogue devotedly for over a span of 50 years. Many of the individuals here today were raised in this Congregation, attended our Sunday School, Hebrew School, were Bar Mitzvah, and more recently Bas Mitzvah. As a matter of fact, we have an exhibit this afternoon in the physical presence of Rabbi Sanford Hahn, who was born in this area, was raised in this Congregation, attended our Sunday School, was Bar Mitzvah here, and has now gone forth into the Rabbinical world, to take his place of religious leadership, as a result of the inspiration that was generated in him in this very Synagogue building.

I think it is a great tribute to the type of thinking that has influenced our program, that we have been able to hold our youth so closely to our Congregation and have found in them the leaders of today. The old records of this Congregation have unfortunately been lost, so we do not have any of the details that we would love to have, and that would give us more of a picture of the early founding fathers. But we do know, that they built well, and that they passed on to each succeeding generation the spirit of their leadership. From the earliest days the Synagogue has been prominently identified with the modern principles of Jewish education. I say modern because I well remember my Sunday School and Hebrew School days and they did not have the approach that we have had in more recent years.

One of the earliest principals of the Sunday School of this Congregation was Julia Richman, a great educator, and one of the city's most distinguished leaders in the educational field. For years our Sunday and Hebrew Schools were the model schools for experimental work, under the guidance and direction of the Jewish Education Committee of New York, and beginning with Milton Steinberg's days, this Synagogue developed to a marked degree, the importance and emphasis on adult Jewish education. To this day I think that is one of the great contributions that we have made to Jewish teachings and Jewish life. More recently our Youth work, which two years ago began under a definite program of integrated activity, has become so popular, that I am told, admission to its ranks has become difficult. Our Junior Congregation, that for so many years has inspired our youth with the first glimpse into religious attitudes and the significance of religious ceremonies, stands as another symbol of the appreciation that we pay to our youth, knowing that it is the work that is done with our young that becomes important as we progress through life. And my final salute goes to the organizations affiliated with the Synagogue; to our wonderful Sisterhood which over the years has been such a stalwart guardian of the best traditons in this congregation. The Sisterhood helped consistently, particularly in the early days of our struggle, and donated many of the facilities that this Congregation might not otherwise have had, such as the organ that you heard played this afternoon. That was a contribution from Sisterhood at the time of the dedication of this building. I also salute the Men's Club; a little younger than Sisterhood, but which has rendered distinguished service and has provided leadership for the Congregation. I salute the Young Marrieds and all the other groups that have played so important a part in the life of this Congregation.

That Ladies and Gentlemen, is a brief history of the past 75 years—an inspiring one. But we look upon them only as the foundation for the years that lie ahead. I am told that it is a sign of senility to reminisce over the past. We in the Congregation believe that we are old enough to know our way around but we are young enough to look ahead. It is in the future years that we feel our greatest strength is to come, and when you are all invited to join in the celebration of our 100th anniversary, I am sure you will find that the next 25 years will add another glorious record to the achievements of the past.

Dedication Pamphlet Printed in 1891

The above reproduction is taken from the cover of the dedication pamphlet printed by Congregation Atereth Israel of East 82nd Street, Manhattan, one of the root congregations which subsequently went into the formation of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

This Congregation was nine years old at the time they dedicated their then new building. Services were held in both Hebrew and in German. The picture shown on the cover is that of the rabbi who served as the minister of the congregation, Dr. A. Calman. The president of the congregation at that time was M. Lowenstein.

The building located on 82nd Street between Second and First Avenues is still in existence and is now occupied by a church.

munal responsibility. A good Sisterhood is interested in the development of wholesome personalities seeure in their Jewishness, appreciative because of knowledge of their culture.

We keep the spirit and teachings of Milton Steinberg, Olav Hasholom alive, by doing these things, and, in the way that he would have liked. We can raise a torch in this, our little part of the world, and teach all to strive together as friends, rather than divided as enemies.

Woman should not be her sister's keeper, but her sister's sister. All need to be anchored to that which gives strength, courage, and stability. A Sisterhood can stand for the high Jewish concepts of Charity, Compassion and Love of People. In it so much is received for so little.

Sisterhood can be the school for the Jewish woman. It can make them feel a part of the contemporary process in Jewish history. A sense of creativity is imparted through participation.

A President is only as strong as her officers and chairmen, so each one must be more than aware of her unique responsibility,—and responsibility it must be. The calibre of our leadership determines the level to which our Sisterhood will rise, and the standards which we will set for our general membership must possess positive attitudes towards Jewish living to translate our objectives into action.

When we raise the standards of our Sisterhood, we raise our own personal standards as well. This we can do when we work together for something bigger than oursclves.

I do want you to like me, but even more, I want you to like Sisterhood, so much that you will refrain from petty bickering that will mar the pleasantness of our coming together, and the results achieved. Let us put Sisterhood above ourselves. Look upon it as a sacred trust to pass on to others intact, vital, and even stronger than when we came into it. To hurt each other's feelings is to hurt Sisterhood, and no one has that right. I declare here and now, that I shall give top priority to keeping the peace,—whatever that may entail, and whomever it may affect. My first test of any course of action, will be to determine if it will cement ties or irritate personal relations.

My second concern is bringing out and putting to use the potentialities of every member. Our slogan, every member a working member. We must find some niche of activity for each one, and this activity, I may add in passing, should be of the whole person, not just the mouth. In the slang of Poker players, they say, "put up or shut up". Those who occupy the floor for lengthy opinions and advice, shall be required to take an active part in implementing their fine talk, or I shall pull the rug out as it were, and give the floor to some worker who earns the right to talk. Notice the present tense of earns the right, not the past tense. Advice is neccssary and desirable, especially in private, but the past performer cannot monopolize the stage, and must give way, gracefully, and help new workers when available and capable.

My third aim is to bring Jewish content to our program, that will be intellectually and spiritually stimulating to us all. We now have a Rabbi and a Rebbetzin who can and will further this aim.

Another change of policy: Board mecting and committee meetings are the right places to thresh out problems, discuss details, and present reports by every single committee. To the general open meeting, come visitors, prospective members, and those unacquainted and therefore less interested in personalities and details. The open meeting should be made entertaining, instructive, uplifting, sociable.

We plan to streamline the agenda and program. If we step on some toes in the process, please don't let your egos be offended. It's for the overall good that we do this. Try to understand and cooperate. It's not personal.

An organization as large in size and diversified in scope as ours requires the devoted and unstinted services of many loyal women to keep secure the stature and strength already attained. The results that have been achieved tell you of the time and energy that have been given here.

Those of you who have not as yet developed your full potentialities, I am most eager that you do so in our regime. We will be successful if that is accomplished. Please feel free, I urge you to confer with us, as to any committee assignments that would interest you. Volunteers will be welcomed with open arms.

This is not a country club. It is a democratic organization. Do not hesitate to let us know what part you would like to take. No square pegs in round holes. I will not throw out in open assembly, haphazard, unadvised appointments, that might be embarassing or ill chosen. You tell us wherc you feel you fit into our whole picture. Remember, everything you do, adds to the sum total. The greatest amount of taxes in the United States is not collected from the few wealthy, but from the majority of modest means.

Our greatest asset is our woman power, and too, if your talents are being used, you will feel happier, and fulfilled, when constructive purpose is added to your life. Women feel frustrated and restless when not engaged in good, creative action. The friendships made here are invaluable; the knowledge, education and experience received, are stimulating and immeasurable.

We all need to be needed, and Sisterhood needs us. You are part of our plans. So, come and have your faith lifted. We are always at your service. Our seasoned leaders know how, what, when, why, who, and where. Before we get too tired, it would be wise for the younger women to train with us. Given time, education, encouragement, and patience, the leaders of the near future can be developed.

In industry, there's an old adage, and this truism holds good for all organizations. "There's always room at the top." Leaders must have acquired experience. We have vacancies on the Board, which we are eager to fill. There are, in the general membership, women of ability, who desire to assist in work for thc Synagoguc. Volunteer to take on an assignment, do a job, and in no time at all, you'll be sought to join the executive Board. We can not know your capabilities unless you reveal them to us by participation in our projects. In fact, even you cannot know your own possibilities until you try to develop them. We seek out leadership on the highest levels of dedication and devotion to Sisterhood and Synagogue. So don't be bashful. This is your religious home. There are new young members on our Board this year. We know they will be a great asset.

As for our general membership, it has superior type of women. No sisterhood can boast of more brilliant, capable, and dedicated women. They are

Sisterhood Plans For Current Season

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

While most of us have wiled away those lazy summer days, our president, Mrs. Sol Green, and her Program Chairman, Mrs. Irwin Rome, together with their committee, have been busily planning and organizing to make Sisterhood's meetings more stimulating and varied than ever before.

On Tuesday, September 17, Sisterhood will begin its new season with a luncheon that promises to be appealing to the most epicurean tastes. This will be followed by an open meeting at which Rabbi Judah Nadich will be our guest speaker. Everyone will want to hear our Rabbi speak on "Believing is Doing", and will want to participate in the informal discussion to follow on "Ask the Rabbi." Our own Hazzan David Putterman will also be present to teach us the traditional blessings and some of the melodies so colorful in Jewish life.

Once again on Wednesdays from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M., the Sewing Circle will meet. Here in the Milton Steinberg House, our talented ladies will share their talents and hobbies by teaching others. Creative items will be displayed for sale at the September 17 meeting, and also at the subsequent meetings during the year. Whether you are an experienced needle-artist or just an eager beginner, you will find the Sewing Circle a very interesting group to join.

Keep the date, Tuesday, September 17, at 12 noon, and do plan to join your friends at Sisterhood's first luncheon and open meeting of the current season.

top leaders in communal work. I count myself fortunate to be able to avail myself of their counsel.

I follow in an office that has been held by very special women going way back. It's quite a roster. Each made her unique contribution. May I prove worthy to be in such good company.

As to my immediate predecessor, Gertrude Karmiol, we hail her achievements, take pride in them, and look forward to her continued association with our efforts. Her administration was given effectiveness, warmth, and personal coloration because of the tact, humor, and devotion with which she met people and problems. She has been an exemplar of community cooperation.

During Gertrude Karmiol's absence, Doris Rome was acting President, who was active indeed, and conscientiously discharged all the duties of the office.

As for myself, I don't think that I can improve on Moses, so I've plagerized and paraphrased his 10 commandments as my pledge to you in accepting this high office.

1. I am the guide to lead you in service to our Sisterhood, Synagogue, and Community.
2. I shall have no other ontside interest before Sisterhood.
3. I shall not take the name of President in vain.
4. I shall remember and observe the Sabbath and Holidays to keep them Holy.
5. I shall honor and cooperate with the parents, teachers, and leaders of our Synagogue so that their days of service shall be long in our midst.
6. I shall not destroy the unity and peace of our Sisterhood.
7. I shall not be faithless to the trust you have placed in me.
8. I shall not steal your time and monetary resources with fruitless activities.
9. I shall not bear false witness or carry gossip.
10. I shall not covet the leisure hours of those who are aimless.

In closing, I want to add, that there have been times when some of us have felt keen disappointment, disillusionment, doubt, and completely crushed. But, if we all learn from mistakes that were made, then the experience was worthwhile, for a short term disaster can be a long term blessing. We must therefore, exercise self-control, patience, and courage to sustain and enable us to bridge and live through these trying periods, and we must never lose our faith, built on hope for a better future.

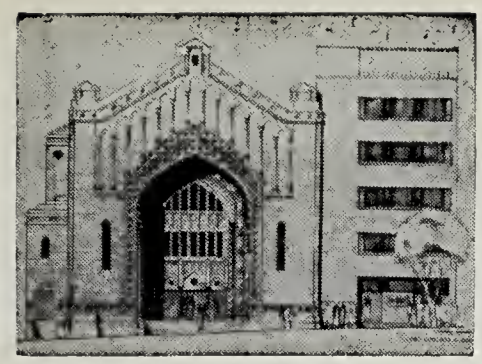

I thank you for the many kind letters I've received expressing your good wishes. I realize that alone I am nothing. My strength lies with you. And if I have succeeded today in appealing to one potential worker, or softened a heart to give pardon, or raised your hopes for Sisterhood's future, I have accomplished my purpose though perhaps, tried your patience.

May the deeds we perform be worthy of the sanctuary we serve in unity. May the words we speak be of friendship for one another.

I pray for God's divine guidance, and with your help, I mean to give the best that I have within me, so that Sisterhood will go forward in friendship, happiness, and good accomplishments. Thank you.

Rosh Hashanah Greetings From Rabbi Nadich

Dear friends:

In this, my first opportunity to greet you through the medium of the BULLETIN, may I express my appreciation for the gracious and cordial manner with which so many of you have already welcomed my family and myself. You have made us feel at home within the family of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

This new Jewish year soon to begin is a most important one in the history of our congregation. There is much that can be done to weld our people together into an even closer unity and into a more active participation in the program of the synagogue. Toward this end we shall require the closing of ranks, the counsel and re-enlistment of the past leaders, the continued dedication of officers and Board members and the cooperation of each member. No one can do it alone. No single group can achieve it. But all of us together with renewed zeal, with an unflagging awareness of the great potentialities of the Park Avenue Synagogue for our religious realization and that of our families, for its influence on the community and its leadership nationally, can write another glorious chapter in the already illustrious history of our congregation. Toward this goal I entreat your aid. For its consummation I pledge you my own devotion even as I fervently hope for and confidently expect your own.

Mrs. Nadich and our daughters join me in wishing for you and your loved ones a New Year of health, happiness and continued spiritual and cultural growth. May it be a year of moral leadership for our beloved America, a year of security for Israel and a year of peace for all mankind.

Sincerely,
JUDAH NADICH
Rabbi

A Memo To Our Congregants

Your attention is directed to the time schedule printed on the back of the tickets for your High Holyday seats. You will find noted the hours that the services begin and it is urged that you do your utmost to attend on time.

Persons arriving during the delivery of the sermon or during the recitation of a particular solemn prayer will find, as in the past, that the doors of the Synagogue are closed. It will be appreciated if late-comers accept the hospitality of the Appleman Chapel where seats can be used and the services heard until the Synagogue doors are opened once again.

Occasionally some of our congregants receive surprise visits during the services from an in-law or a grandchild and find it difficult to overcome their natural desire to have the gratification, if only for a few moments, of relatives seated near to them.

As understandable as this impulse is, we urge our congregants to give way to it only sparingly, if at all, and to please be as scrupulously careful as possible when so doing so as not to impinge upon the comfort and prayer of your neighbors. Unfortunately, we are, as all our congregants know, drastically limited in space and visits by persons who lack seating assignments are often not only unfair and undemocratic, but sometimes interfere with the solemnity of the religious service.

For the comfort of our congregants, checking facilities will be available in the lobby of the Milton Steinberg House main floor, as well as in the regular checkroom of the lower lobby of the Milton Steinberg House. All congregants are requested to avail themselves of these facilities to assure maximum comfort.

Our ushers are all loyal members of our congregation who have volunteered to help assure the character of the solemn High Holyday service and make it possible for all of our members to worship in their properly assigned seats. It is suggested that if any problem does arise our members be good enough to approach your nearest usher, who will do his utmost to take care of any difficulty.

Chairman Board of Trustees

New Year Greetings

For me this year of 5718 marks my twenty-fifth year with our beloved Synagogue. I am grateful to God for His manifold blessings in the past and pray for his continued guidance for the future.

This year will, I am certain, be an auspicious one in the annals of the Park Avenue Synagogue. In the little more than two months Rabbi Nadich and I have already become good friends and close co-workers, and I look forward to a long and enduring association of dedicated service to God, our congregational family, and the community.

May the New Year bring health, happiness, and peace to each and all of you.

DAVID J. PUTTERMAN
Hazzan

High Holyday Greetings

I wish to extend best wishes for the New Year to all our congregants with hopes that the year will bring us health, happiness and a life of joy.

May the teachings of traditional and modern Judaism and the blessing of the American democratic way of life continue to blend for all of us years of communion with God and our fellow man.

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ
Chairman Board of Trustees

New Year Greetings

To each of our fellow Congregants:

Each New Year's Day is a little station, placed along life's railroad track;
Each year finds us passing through one,
And to none can you come back.
May you find the station, New Years Day 5718 (1957)
Lovelier, better, finer and more spiritual than the others you passed,
And may many, many more New Year's await you,
Each one brighter than the last.
May you also on this New Year's Day be awakened and stirred to make a New Year's Day resolution that you will make all the days of all the New Years to come, brighter and happier for your fellow man: and may you be inscribed in the Book of Life for good health, happiness, peace and for a long life.

With feeling's of deep affection for each and every one of you.

Junior Congregation High Holyday Services

The younger people in the congregation and the students in the Religious School will conduct High Holyday Services at the Jewish Museum. 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue.

The students in the Hebrew School will conduct the services under the guidance and leadership of Jerry Ornstein, a student at the Jewish Theological Seminary. Mr. Ornstein will also lead a special service for the younger children. ages six to nine, who attend the Primary Department. This service has been planned to give our children, who have no ability to read Hebrew, an opportunity to participate in a rich emotional and religious experience.

Tickets for the services at the Museum will be distributed to all students enrolled in the Rcligious School. Parents may secure tickets for children not enrolled in the School by calling the office after 3:00 P.M. (EN 9-2600)

The students of the Religious School are grateful to Dr. Stephen S. Kayser, curator of the Jewish Museum, for making its facilities available for our High Holyday Services.

Men's Club Award

The last issue of the BULLETIN in June was printed before Shavuoth and could not announce the name of the student who was awarded the Men's Club Silver Medal and Certificate at Confirmation. This award is presented to the student in the graduating class who, during his years in the school, has been outstanding in scholarship, in service to the school and in attitude towards the synagogue and Judaism.

This year the faculty of the Religious School found two students—Charles Kaiser and Inez Fields—worthy of the award and the Men's Club was happy to provide a medal for both students.

Congratulations to Inez and Charles who will continue their studies in our High School Extension Department.

Seminar on Curriculum

The Fourth Annual Teacher's Seminar was held in the Sisterhood Lounge of the Synagogue on Tuesday and Wednesday. September 3 and 4. Society for Advancement of Judaism. B'nai Jeshurun. Anshe Chesed and Inwood Jewish Center.

Martin Leichtling, chairman of the opening session, developed the theme of the conference. He emphasized the constant need for the re-examination of curricular material in the light of the changing needs of the community, the wishes of the parents, and above all, the interests and experiences of the children.

Rabbi Judah Nadich welcomed the teachers. principals and rabbis. who attended the conference, and described some of the efforts made in the Boston area towards the development of an extensive program of Jewish Education.

Rabbi Jack Cohen of the S. A. J. and Theodore Comet of Kehilath Jeshurun chaired two sessions on curriculum material for the second and third year of study. The closing session of the conference consisted of an Arts and Crafts High Holiday Workshop led by Mrs. Temima Gezari. director of Art Education for the Jewish Education Committee.

Sisterhood News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

When it was decided that the play originally selected for the Sisterhod Brunch-Matinee on December 4 would not open in New York City, the wise ladies of Sisterhood chose the gay musical "Rumple", adapted from the comedy caricature. With such top-names in the cast as Gretchen Wyler of "Damned Yankees" and Eddy Foy, Jr. of "Pajamá Game", this merry musical promises to be a must on everyone's list of four-star performances.

On October 15, Sisterhood will celebrate Community Day and is making extensive plans for the open meeting on that afternoon. Mrs. Sanford H. Cohen, chairman of the 1957 Federation Campaign for the Park Avenue Synagogue, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Samuel Gellert, have promised a very unusual program. At a workshop luncheon held on September 18 at the home of Mrs. Cohen, her campaign workers met and inaugurated plans for this year's appeal.

One of the hight-lights of the October 15 meeting, will be a fashion show of hats and furs suitable to be worn at all events on Sisterhood's calendar. Although many of us will recall that Oscar Wilde assures us that "style largely depends on the way the chin is worn," we of the twentieth century know that a fetching hat and a lovely fur can help us wear that chin!

Mrs. Theodore Meistrich will be in charge of this phase of the program, and, from past experience, we know that she will arrange a most attractive show.

Bicycle Found

Will the person who left a bicycle in our Synagogue please be good enough to call the Synagogue office and ask for Frank Williamson, the building superintendent, to identify it?

Religious School Classrooms Redecorated

The Arts and Decorations Committee has just completed the redecorating of the classrooms in the Milton Steinberg House. The theme for the colors was taken from the various hues in the stained glass facade.

Each floor has a separate color scheme which has been executed throughout in different proportions.

In keeping with the contemporary trend and forward thinking colorings of classrooms and school buildings, bright colors in several nuances were selected.

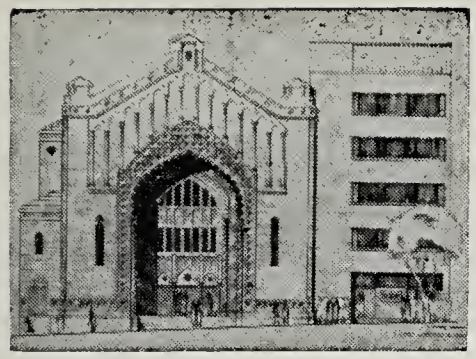

The lobby to the Appleman Chapel has incorporated in its decor the character of the grey and brown marble of the main lobby and the turquoise tone in the chapel in order to unify these areas.

Colorings and decor were selected and approved by Ethel Sivek, chairman; Lucille Lemberg and Sally Victor. One of our congregants, Milton J. Selig, was the painting contractor.

Refuoh Shelemoh

We are happy to report that Harry J. Sokolow, our energetic chairman of the Membership Committee, is on the road to recovery.

Harry, who also serves on the Board of Trustees, has been confined to the Medical Center these past few weeks. He is grateful for the many kind messages and visits he has received from so many of his friends in the congregation.

Latest reports from Dorothy, who still carries on her devoted service to the synagogue and her communal activities despite her daily visits to Harry, are that Harry is making splendid progress.

Mrs. Herman Helpern, former president of Parents Association and serving as 1st vice-president of Sisterhood and a member of the Advisory Council of the Board of Trustees, is now convalescing at home, after a long stay at Mt. Sinai Hospital that started during the summer. Lillian is anxiously awaiting her return to the Youth Activities program, of which she is chairman.

And as we go to press, we learned that Tubie Resnik, another active member of the Advisory Council, is a patient at the New York Hospital.

To all of them and to all others in our Synagogue family who are ill, go our sincere wishes for a speedy recovery. REFUOH SHELEMOH!

Sisterhood Gift Reduces Noise

The Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue contributed close to two thousand dollars to the installation of the acoustical ceiling which has made the Lemberg Auditorium a much more pleasant and attractive place in which to hold meetings and parties. This gift constitutes one in a series of many which were made over the years by the Sisterhood, including a fifty thousand dollar contribution to the Steinberg House, which continues to keep Sisterhood in the leading role of a fund raising and social arm of the Synagogue.

The president of the Sisterhood, Mrs. Sol E. Green, at the recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, announced that a thousand dollars worth of equipment is being purchased for the meat kitchen as another gift to the Synagogue.

The decor of the acoustical ceiling was selected by the Arts and Decorations Committee, Ethel Sivek, chairman.

Simhat Torah Honors Awarded To Congregants

to the Torah when the annual cycle of its reading is begun once again with the opening verses of the book of Genesis will be given to Tubie Resnik, chosen as Hatan Bereshit (Bridegroom of the Beginning).

Scrolls of Honor, commemorating the distinction awarded them, will be presented to Mr. Sokolow, Mrs. Karmiol and Mr. Resnik by the Hon. Sanford H. Cohen, Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow and Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, respectively.

Immediately following the service the worshippers will be invited to a kiddush reception in the Lemberg Auditorium in tribute to the three guests of honor to which all the congregants and their friends are invited. Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, has appointed a committee, headed by Mrs. Isidore Hahn, to be in charge of this reception.

HARRY J. SOKOLOW

Harry J. Sokolow serves as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue and for the past two years has rendered particularly exemplary service as Chairman of the Membership Committee. He has been most energetic in the development and expansion of the dues structure of the congregation. His love for the synagogue and his appreciation of its role in Jewish life goes back a long time and for many years he was president of the Men's Club of Congregation Shaaray Tefila in Far Rockaway.

During those years he was also active in forming the Zionist Organization of the Rockaways. He has made significant contributions to many aspects of Jewish communal life and has served always on the Lawyers Committee for the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies and for the United Jewish Appeal.

A distinguished member of the New York Bar, he graduated from the New York University Law School in 1905.

For his devotion to the synagogue and his service to the community, Mr. Sokolow has been chosen as Hatan Torah for Simhat Torah 5718.

MRS. WILLIAM KARMIOL

Gertrude (Mrs. William) Karmiol for the past three years served as president of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue. This deserved honor climaxed a record of over twenty years of active and dedicated service with that organization. For many years she served with distinction as its treasurer and before that as recording secretary. In addition, she has been chairman of the Sisterhood Luncheon and the treasurer for its bazaars. Indeed, her service to the cause of the synagogue goes back to the days of her youth, when she did work for the Shaare Tefilah Synagogue in East Orange, New Jersey.

She has been active in other phases of community life as well. She was one of the organizers and the treasurer of the Parents Association of the Hunter Model School and the Hunter High School. For many years she was a member of the previewing committee of the Parents Motion Picture Association. She has also served as co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal for the Sisterhood. Her student years were spent at New York University.

For her years of untiring service and leadership in the Sisterhood and synagogue, for her zeal and devotion, Mrs. William Karmiol has been named as Kalah Mafteret for Simhat Torah 5718.

TUBIE RESNIK

Tubie Resnik, prominent industrialist, is among those businessmen who are marked by their recognition of their social and civic responsibilities. His range of philanthropic and civic activities is a wide one and embraces people and causes of all creeds, races and colors. He has rendered signal service to such widespread activities as the United Jewish Appeal, Brandeis University, National Urban League, Salvation Army, Red Cross, March of Dimes, United Negro College Fund, Heart Fund and others of like importance. He is a loyal and devoted member of the Park Avenue Synagogue and a member of its Advisory Council. He has been particularly helpful as a member of the Membership Committee.

It is of interest to note that last year his native city of St. Joseph, Missouri, celebrated Tubie Resnik Day, honoring him as a distinguished native son who has brought credit to the town of his boyhood.

He is widely known in the business world, first for his years of association with McKesson and Robbins, where he climbed the ladder from salesman to Vice-President and, particularly, for his leadership in the Calvert Distillers Company with which he has been associated now for the past eighteen years. He is now the Executive Vice-President of Calvert, heading the entire marketing operation of the company.

For his many-faceted philanthropic and civic activities and for his loyalty to the Park Avenue Synagogue, Mr. Resnik has been selected for the honor of Hatan Bereshit for Simhat Torah 5718.

Men's Club Presents 10th Annual Election Showcase, October 29

By HARVEY GLASSER

Men's Club 10th Annual Election Showcase and Political Jamboree will take place on Tuesday night, October 29, 1957, at 8:30 P.M., in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Synagogue. This highly successful annual event affords an important forum where political candidates may state the issues as they see them and where members of the Park Avenue Synagogue have an opportunity to meet the candidates face to face.

This year, once again, all the top candidates for city and county-wide elective office will be present that evening.

Democratic candidates for reelection including Mayor Robert F. Wagner, President of the City Council Abe Stark and Borough President of Manhattan Julian Jack, and Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa are scheduled to appear. Republican party candidates, Robert Christenberry, Mrs. Caroline Simon and General Melvin L. Krulewitch will also be present. Senator Walter McGahan and several other candidates plan to appear. It promises to be an outstanding evening of political fireworks.

Men's Club cordially invites everyone to attend. The ladies are especially welcome to this open meeting. Appropriate refreshments befitting the occasion will be served.

Coordination for the entire evening's program is under the direction of program committee chairman David Altschul. President Dr. Sigmund Siegel will serve as moderator and introduce the speakers. Remember, the date is Tuesday, October 29.

Judge Botein Slated For Higher Honors

Governor Harriman has affirmed the announcement that appeared in the public press of his intention to appoint Justice Bernard Botein to the post of Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, First Department.

Justice Botein has served in that Court since 1953, when he was appointed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, as an Associate Justice of the Appellate Division. He will replace Justice David W. Peck, who will retire at the end of the year.

Originally appointed to the Supreme Court in 1941 by Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Judge Botein was elected to a fourteen-year term in 1942 and re-elected in 1956 by an overwhelming majority, having been designated by all major political parties.

Governor Harriman's announcement of the contemplated appointment has been hailed by the Bar Associations, who have declared that Judge Botein is a "worthy successor" to the retiring Presiding Justice.

We, in the Park Avenue Synagogue, take personal pride in this elevation of one of our active members. Judge Botein has served on our Board of Trustees for many years as well as its chairman. He is now an honorary trustee, having been elected for his outstanding and conspicuous service to the synagogue.

With the Rabbi In the Community

Although Rabbi Nadich has been a member of our community for but a brief period, he has already become active in our communal affairs.

In recent weeks, he has given the invocation at the dinner of the National Conference for Israel Bonds and at the luncheon of the National Committee for Sports in Israel. He has also been appointed to the executive committee of the New York region of the Rabbinical Assembly of America.

An Anonymous Gift

For some time, the chairs which grace the pulpit of our synagogue have been in need of refurbishing. One of our congregants, who attends services quite regularly, and his wife decided that as part of their regular contribution to the synagogue, they would add the cost of reupholstering and refinishing the chairs which decorate the pulpit.

They prefer to remain anonymous and are quite content with the improved appearance of the pulpit as their own private and personal reward.

Gen. Krulewitch Candidate for Borough President

General Melvin L. Krulewitch, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, has been designated by the Republican Party as its candidate for President of the Borough of Manhattan. His name will appear on the ballot at the forthcoming election in November.

Candidate

GENERAL MELVIN KRULEWITCH

A former vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees of our Synagogue, Gen. Krulewitch has served on the Board for over ten years. During his affiliation with the Synagogue, he has worked on innumerable committees and was appointed chairman of the newly organized Youth Activities Committee, when the Board of Trustees inaugurated our enlarged youth program.

General Krulewitch is the highest ranking Marine Corps officer in the City of New York, having been appointed Major General of the United States Marine Corps Reserve (Rtd.) about a year ago. He saw combat service in World War I and World War II, as well as in Korea. He is the holder of two Purple Hearts and many medals and ribbons awarded for heroism, meritorious and combat service.

In addition to an active professional and public career, in which he has held many public offices, Gen. Krulewitch has been actively identified with numerous communal activities. Among these are the 92nd Street Y, where he served as a member of the Board of Directors and the National Jewish Welfare Board of which he was a member. He also served as chairman of the New York City Council of the National Jewish Welfare Board and as vice-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York. In 1956, the Jewish Theological Seminary honored General Krulewitch with an award for "his able leadership in mobilizing public interest in the program of the Seminary", and in the same year, the United Jewish Appeal presented him with the Freedom Lamp for his untiring efforts in its behalf. This was the same historic replica which was also bestowed upon President Eisenhower by that organization.

As a dedicated worker, we extend non-partisan wishes to Gen. Krulewitch for success in his forthcoming political campaign.

In Appreciation

We wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Solomon E. Green, our second Vice-President, for his invaluable services in conducting the Sabbath services in the Appleman Chapel during the summer.

Assisted by Cantor Abraham Friedman, Mr. Green, former chairman of our Ritual Committee and a learned Talmudic scholar, gave a professional touch to the services which provoked the most favorable comments.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, congratulations were extended to Mr. Green for his conscientious and consistent officiation and for the excellent work of Cantor Friedman during the summer months.

Cohen Library Re-Opens

On behalf of the Library Committee, I am happy to announce the re-opening of the Cohen Library, which is located on the second floor of the Milton Steinberg House. The library is open Tuesday and Sunday from 10 A.M. to 1 P.M. and on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons from 2:45 P.M. to 5:45 P.M.

We are once again offering full lending library facilities, and several hundred adults and children have been issued, and are using, their library cards. I hope that all of you will come and pick up your cards and get acquainted with our books and with our very competent librarian, Mrs. Hilde Kisch.

If you are interested in learning more about some facet of Jewish life—history, philosophy, Israel, music, archeology, poetry, children's books, or the novel—I am sure that Mrs. Kisch can help you to find some worthwhile reading material. The library also subscribes to a number of current American-Jewish magazines which are on display. We, of course, have a complete collection of the books of the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg and are acquiring reprints of many of his magazine articles. We have Jewish encyclopedias and other standard reference works which may be of aid to you.

We have organized this library on the principles that every volume should have some relevance to Jewish life, and that there should be books to arouse the interest of every membr of our Synagogue. Why not visit the library today and see whether we have met your special interest? We would welcome your suggestions for new acquisitions.

Reading books can be fun. Why not join the more than 200 children and adults and get your Cohen Library card now?

Chairman, Library Committee

Mr. and Mrs. Club Offers Rewarding Program

By MRS. JEROME S. MITTLEMAN

Describing his relations with President Eisenhower, when he was commander of the armed forces in Europe, Rabbi Nadich initiated a new series of stimulating evenings planned by the Mr. and Mrs. Club. How the General reacted to the problems of the Jews in Europe at the time and why he and General Patton had sharp words were also discussed.

This October meeting in honor of Rabbi Nadich set a high standard that the Club enthusiastically plans to maintain.

Cocktail Party

On Sunday evening, November 10, old friendships will be renewed and new ones made when the Club features its annual cocktail party at the Synagogue. Set this date aside; more details will follow.

Education Panel

"What kind of Education for My Child," a panel discussion moderated by Rabbi Nadich, including representatives of local public, private, and religious schools will be presented on Tuesday evening, December 10. This review is planned in response to an ever growing need and should answer many points in question.

Israeli To Speak

Mordecai Kidron, representing Israel at the U.N., is to honor us on Tuesday, January 14, at 8:30 P.M. with an address. He will always be remembered for his vibrating defense of Israel at the United Nations, and we eagerly await his appearance here. Again, more details will be published.

You Are Invited

These meetings have been planned by the officers and executive committee of the Mr. and Mrs. Club with the intention of offering inspiring programs to all: we invite you to share in these activities. More leading figures and interesting topics are scheduled for the second half of the year.

Here is an opportunity for married couples to join in community activity together. We remind you to set aside Sunday evening, November 10, to join us for our annual Cocktail Party.

The members of the Junior Congregation will visit the Sukkah after the service and partake of the refreshments.

On Simhat Torah morning, October 18, the students are invited to attend the services in the main Synagogue.

Sisterhood Celebrates "Community Day"

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On Tuesday, October 15, at its second open meeting, Sisterhood will celebrate "Community Day" with a varied program which should be of interest to everyone.

The large, enthusiastic audience, which greeted Rabbi Nadich and Hazzan Putterman, was unanimous in its praise of Sisterhood's first meeting. Can S.P.A.S. top this? The committee, headed by Sisterhood's zealous president, Mrs. Solomon Green, has promised to make this second gathering another outstanding event. Even a more tempting luncheon—and who has forgotten that borscht and those blintzes—has been planned for the October 15 meeting. Once again, Hazzan Putterman will teach us traditional melodies and will lead us in community singing.

Luncheon over, a film, "The Deep Well" will be exhibited on the activities of Federation. Mrs. Sanford H. Cohen, chairman of the Sisterhood committee for the 1957 Federation campaign, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Samuel Gellert, have gone one step further and have arranged a fashion show of hats and furs suitable to be worn at all events on Sisterhood's busy calendar. Millinery by Mary of Porter's and furs by Ted Meistrich, will be modeled by our own charming and attractive ladies, all members of Sisterhood.

All this awaits you on Tuesday, October 15. Do join your friends and spend a very interesting afternoon with Sisterhood.

Federation News

The Women's Division of Federation in its thirty-sixth annual campaign has signally honored the Sisterhood of Park Avenue by awarding to four of its members top key positons on the overall Manhattan Organizations Committee of Federation. Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow is chairman of this important committee, and serving with her are Mrs. Sanford Cohen, Mrs. Isaac Liberman and Mrs. Edward Peiper.

Recently, Mrs. Cohen, P.A.S. Sisterhood chairman for the 1957 Federation campaign, held a very successful workshop meeting at her home. Plans were formulated for this year's appeal, and it is hoped that Sisterhood will once again maintain its usual high place in the Jewish community of New York City.

The 1957 campaign will officially open with an Advanced Gifts Luncheon on October 29. Mrs. Isaac Liberman wishes to call attention to the luncheon scheduled for October 30 at the Waldorf, where an exhibition of outstanding paintings and sculpture of fine artists will be shown. This art exhibit has been loaned to Federation by over one hundred private art collectors. If you are interested in attending this luncheon, please communicate with the Committee.

Dr. Nadich To Be Inducted As Rabbi Of Park Avenue Synagogue During Festive Weekend, Friday and Saturday, November 8 - 9; President Eisenhower Sends Personal Greetings

RABBI JUDAH NADICH

Dr. Judah Nadich, our new spiritual leader, will be formally inducted into the office of Rabbi of Park Avenue Synagogue at the Friday evening services, November 8, 1957, at 8:30 P.M.

Elected at the congregational meeting held last April, Dr. Nadich has officiated as our Rabbi since July and is already known personally to many of our congregants. The Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, Dr. Louis Finkelstein, a leader in World Jewry and a revered scholar, will be the installing officer. Dr. Finkelstein was the teacher of Rabbi Nadich at the Seminary where he was ordained a Rabbi in 1936.

The installation ceremonies will include an address by Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who will speak on behalf of the officers, trustees and members of the congregation. The musical portion of the service will be rendered by Hazzan David J. Putterman and the synagogue choir with George Crook at the organ.

Following the services, a reception in honor of Rabbi and Mrs. Nadich will be tendered in the Lemberg Auditorium, to which all are cordially invited.

President Eisenhower has sent personal greetings to Rabbi Nadich on the occasion of his induction, and we are happy to publish his letter in this issue of the BULLETIN. It was President Eisenhower, then the Commanding General of the Allied Forces, who appointed Rabbi Nadich as his personal advisor on Jewish affairs in World War II.

Greetings have also been received from General Walter Bedell Smith, who served as Chief of Staff to General Eisenhower, but who was unable to be present because of illness. General Smith is currently chairman of the American Heritage Foundation and previously served as Under Secretary of State and Ambassador to the Soviet Union. When Rabbi Nadich visited the Nazi concentration camps in occupied Germany, he formed a close friendship with General Smith which has continued after the war.

The induction ceremonies will continue on Saturday morning, November 9 at the Sabbath services when Honorable Simcha Pratt, the new Consul-General of Israel in New York, will speak for the State of Israel. He will represent the Prime Minister, His Excellency, David Ben Gurion, with whom Rabbi Nadich was closely associated after the liberation of the Jews from the concentration camps.

Educated at the University of Basle, Mr. Pratt then attended the University

Simhat Torah Honors

The joy and gladness of Simhat Torah was somewhat dimmed by the inability of Harry J. Sokolow and Tubie Resnik to attend the festivities because of illness. However, they were ably represented by members of their immediate families, who stood in for them.

Asa D. Sokolow, accepted the Citation for his father, who had been honored as Hatan Torah. The presentation was made to Harry, in absentia, by Hon. Sanford H. Cohen, a former chairman of the Board of Trustees and a close friend of Harry of many years standing. The Citation awarded to Harry J. Sokolow by the Park Avenue Synagogue read: "for the loyalty to his faith, his devoted labors on behalf of his synagogue, his service to the community."

David Trenk, son-in-law of Tubie Resnik, accepted the Citation for his father-in-law, who is still confined to the hospital and who had been honored as Hatan Bereshit. Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees, in presenting the Citation to Tubie, in absentia, referred to the honor bestowed upon him last year by his native city, St. Joseph, Missouri, when Tubie Resnik Day was celebrated to honor Tubie as a distinguished native son who had brought credit to his home town. The Citation read as follows: "for his philanthropic activity on behalf of all people. his devotion to the Park Avenue Synagogue, his personification of the Jewish spirit of tzedakah in all its aspects."

The honor of Kalah Mafteret, the Bride of the Prophetic Message, was conferred upon Mrs. William Karmiol. Escorted to the Bima by her husband, Gertrude received her Citation from Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, who spoke of the devoted service rendered by Gertrude as president of Sisterhood for three successive terms and to the Park Avenue Synagogue. The Citation read as follows: "for her active and dedicated service to the Sisterhood and the Congregation of the Park Avenue Synagogue, for her zeal and devotion in the leadership of Jewish women, for her labors for the Jewish people."

A reception was held in the Lemberg Auditorium following the religious services. In all of the jubilation, our thoughts were with you both, Harry and Tubie. Get well soon. Refuoh Shelemoh.

Religious Attendance

During November, which is being observed throughout the nation as Religion in American Life Month, an extensive advertising campaign will be conducted by RIAL in a continued effort to encourage regular attendance at worship service of all churches and synagogues.

RIAL stands for Religion in American Life. It is a non sectarian movement emphasizing the importance of religion in personal and community life and is sponsored by leading representatives of all faiths.

Serving on its Board of Directors are Ben Sack, a member of our Board of Trustees and a former chairman of the Board, Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer, a former associate rabbi of Park Avenue Synagogue and now the Director of Interreligious Activities Division of the American Jewish Committee, and Rabbi Marc Tannenbaum, who assisted at our High Holy Day services, and who is also vice-chairman of RIAL.

"The Empty Pew" is a perennial problem in thousands of churches and synagogues in local communities. Through the medium of advertising and publicity, the contemplated campaign hopes to bring this problem to the attention of the general public. Since the inception of this annual campaign nine years ago by RIAL, there has been a noted upsurge in worship attendance. A recent poll indicated that 51 percent of Americans are now going to their respective houses of worship regularly.

The theme of the campaign is "Find the Strength for Your Life—Worship Together This Week." Let us hope that the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue will become active participants in this religious resurgence. Let "The Empty Pew" become a thing of the past. Let us resolve to attend Sabbath Services regularly, if not every week, then every other week, or at least once a month. In our synagogue, we can find the strength and courage to meet the anxieties and fears that confront us in these troublesome times. N.R.

Sisterhood's Brunch And Gala Musical "Rumple"

By DOROTHY SOKOLOW

December 4, 1957 is approaching very quickly when it is hoped that all our loyal Sisterhood members and their friends will join us at our annual brunch at the Hotel Sheraton Astor and then to see "Rumple", the musical comedy.

Chosen as the play for this year, "Rumple" was greeted in Boston in a gay holiday mood and was accepted by the audience with warmth and an ovation at the close. If you remember Gretchen Wyler as she sang "Lola" in "Damned Yankees", you will have a treat in store when you hear her sing "Coax Me". The music is being played by the disc jockeys and it is predicted that all the songs will be very popular.

The cast, in addition to Gretchen Wyler, includes Eddie Foy, Jr., Stephen Douglas and Lois O'Brien.

Since we have adopted the policy of seats in the order of reservation, it is hoped that the membership will adhere to it and make their reservations at once to assure good seats. Why not be one of the lucky ones, who may win the diamond and pearl pin, or receive many of the gifts that will be presented to our guests?

This is the sixty-second anniversary of Sisterhood and we want all our members and their friends to join us on December 4 as we commemorate a year's effort in a gay holiday mood.

Calling All College Students

One of the problems confronting many congregations is that of maintaining contact with the younger members of their congregational families after they have left the city to attend out-of-town colleges.

We would like to keep in touch with these students and they too, undoubtedly would be interested in the activities of Park Avenue Synagogue through the medium of the BULLETIN.

Rabbi Nadich has suggested that those members of our congregational families who have students attending college or graduate school away from home, send us their names and college addresses. Will you please furnish this information to the synagogue office?

Personal Greetings From President Eisenhower

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

Newport, Rhode Island,
September 13, 1957.

Dear Rabbi Nadich:

First, I want to extend my warm congratulations to you on your designation as Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue. I hope you will enjoy your new assignment, and I am sure your congregation will derive much benefit from your wisdom and understanding.

I am, of course, complimented by your invitation to attend the ceremonies of your induction, on Friday evening, November eighth. It so happens that I have already tentatively accepted two engagements for that day, both involving informal talks. The second one is late in the afternoon, near my Gettysburg home. In view of this rather rugged schedule for that date, I must reluctantly decline your cordial suggestion.

This note brings you my very best wishes for the future, and warm regard,

Sincerely,

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Induction Services of Rabbi Judah Nadich

of London, where he obtained his law degree in 1934. Mr. Pratt settled in Tel Aviv where he practiced law until he joined the Israeli Foreign Service. He also served as a member of the Haganah and later joined the Israel Defense Army and participated in the defense of Tel Aviv, receiving serious injuries in combat in June 1948. Prior to his appointment as Consul General in New York this year, he had held the post of Israeli Consul General in Chicago.

Concluding the services on Saturday, a Kiddush will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium and all worshippers are welcome.

Rabbi Nadich received his B.A. degree with Phi Beta Kappa honors at the College of the City of New York. He continued his education at Columbia University from which he was graduated with a Master of Arts degree. Upon his ordination from the Seminary in 1936, he was awarded the degree of Master of Hebrew Literature. In 1953, the Seminary conferred upon Rabbi Nadich the degree of Doctor of Hebrew Literature.

During World War II, Rabbi Nadich was the first American Jewish Chaplain to be ordered overseas. He served in the European Theatre of Operation from 1942 until November 1945. He was decorated by the French Government with the Croix de Geurre and by the British Government with the Order of the British Empire. Pope Pius XII also awarded him a medal for services rendered to Catholic Chaplains and the American Government honored Rabbi Nadich with several decorations. When he was placed on inactive service in the Officers Reserve Corps in 1946, Rabbi Nadich had reached the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

Prior to his war service, Rabbi Nadich served as Rabbi of Temple Beth David until 1940, when he accepted a call to serve as co-rabbi of the Anshe Emet Synagogue in Chicago. His most recent pulpit was the Congregation Kehillath Israel in Brookline, Massachusetts, the largest Conservative Congregation in New England, which he occupied for ten years, since 1947.

After returning to the United States, Rabbi Nadich was engaged in an extensive speaking tour on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal and in that capacity, he visited sixty-two cities throughout the United States. In the course of that tour, he inspected DP camps in Europe for the Joint Distribution Committee, and flew to South Africa at the request of the South African Jewish War Appeal for a speaking tour of that country.

In addition to serving on numerous religious, communal and civic welfare Boards, either as a member or as chairman, Rabbi Nadich has contributed many articles which have appeared in Hadoar, Congress Weekly, Jewish Advocate and the American Zionist. His brochure on Yom Kippur, written especially for Jewish men and women in the Armed Forces, has been widely distributed. Prayers written by him have been published in the popular book, "A Minute of Prayer." He also edited for publication in Israel, a Hebrew volume of scholarly essays by the late Prof. Louis Ginzberg, and is the author of the book titled, "Eisenhower and the Jews."

His wife, the former Hadassah Ribalow, was the first woman to serve as executive secretary of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, the national organization of Conservative rabbis. The Rabbi, his wife, and their three daughters have already become endeared in the hearts of our congregation.

I. M. Cohen Honored At Testimonial Dinner

A large number of members of the Park Avenue Synagogue and other friends of Isidore M. Cohen, a member of our Board of Trustees, gathered to pay him tribute at a testimonial dinner held October 14. It was fitting that the function was held in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Milton Steinberg House, because it was I. M. Cohen, as one of the co-chairman of the Milton Steinberg Memorial Fund, who played such an important part in the construction of that memorial to our late Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

The testimonial to our guest of honor was in behalf of the Jewish Theological Seminary. It also marked the joyous occasion of his 60th birthday. Milton Weill, former president of Federation and an honorary member of our Board of Trustees, was toastmaster. Together with Samuel Lemberg, he also served as co-chairman of the dinner committee.

During the evening, the cast from the Eternal Light program, presented "A Lawyer from Boston", a sketch dealing with an incident in the life of Louis D. Brandeis. The production was under the direction of Ralph Bell and the liturgical introduction to the program was rendered by Hazzan Putterman.

Rabbi Nadich, in paying tribute to I. M. Cohen, referred to our guest as a successful business man who had "achieved leadership in the business world but who would rather be known for his concern about the Synagogue, Jewish learning and Torah." All facets of these have been the generous recipients of Mr. Cohen's beneficence. The Cohen Library in the Milton Steinberg House is the result of the bounty and generosity of Issy and his father.

But close to his heart is the Jewish Theological Seminary and Issy's willingness to accept this testimonial is evidence of his deep concern about Jewish learning and Torah. Professor Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Seminary, was one of the speakers and pronounced the traditional blessing upon our guest of honor. Rabbi Judah Goldin, Dean of the Teachers Institute at the Seminary, spoke of the many activities of the Seminary which he referred to as the "only institution of Jewish learning where research is of an authentic character."

Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of our Board of Trustees, also spoke and presented our guest of honor with a certificate of appreciation on behalf of the Park Avenue Synagogue "as a symbol of gratitude for the devoted service he has given the community in advancing the cause of the religious and cultural traditions of Judaism and for his able leadership in mobilizing public interest in the program of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America."

Mr. & Mrs. Club to Hold Cocktail Party

By MRS. JEROME S. MITTLEMAN

Rabbi Comments

"Forming lasting friendships is itself enough of a purpose for the Mr. and Mrs. Club," commented Rabbi Judah Nadich at our last monthly meeting. While he recognized this as but one of the reasons for being of the Club, it remains a prime objective.

Cocktail Party

On Sunday afternoon, November 10, at 5:30 o'clock, the Mr. and Mrs. Club is to hold its Annual Cocktail Party at the Synagogue. It offers an opportunity to make new friends and greet old ones, and it is the desire of the Club to entertain as many of its friends as who care to join in the afternoon's activity.

To members of the congregation and their friends, the Mr. and Mrs. Club earnestly extends a most cordial invitation to join in making this an even more enjoyable and pleasant afternoon. Come and be one of us on Sunday, November 10, at 5:30 P.M.

New York Law School Honors General Goldstein

Recently, the New York Law School honored Nathaniel L. Goldstein, former Attorney General of the State of New York, by conferring upon him an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, in recognition of his "pre-eminent personal attainments and distinguished public service."

General Goldstein, who has been a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, has been identified with Jewish communal affairs in almost every field of activity. As chairman of the Board of Overseers of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University, General Goldstein has played an important part in the development of that great institution of learning.

We are proud to join the community in extending our congratulations to such a dedicated public and communal servant.

New Books Received For Cohen Library

By HILDE KISCH, Librarian

On September 19 The Cohen Library reopened, again making its improved facilities available to its readers, adults as well as children. Our stock of books, covering all areas of Jewish knowledge, has been supplemented with carefully selected recent publications in all fields.

To mention only a few new additions to the various sections: There is Lionello Venturi's biographical and critical study of Chagall, lavishly gotten up, with excellent reproductions of the artist's paintings; Abba Eban's book, Voice of Israel, an eloquent chronicle of a new nation from birth to maturity by one of its foremost statesmen; Eliahu Elath's Israel and Her Neighbors, in which the Israeli Ambassador to the Court of St. James's describes his state's relationship to the other middle eastern countries. The new acquisitions also include Robert Henriques' Hundred Hours to Suez, the inside story of the Sinai campaign; such novels as Meyer Levin's Compulsion and Ilse Stanley's The Unforgotten. Eddie Cantor's autobiography, Take My Life, retraces the steps that brought him from New York's lower East Side into the glow of the footlights and fame. Very instructive and useful are Bernard Bamberger's Story of Judaism and selected writings by Samson Raphael Hirsch in Judaism Eternal. The crucial questions of prejudice and hatred as they affect races, religions, and nationalities are treated in Race and Nationality in American Life by Oscar Handlin, the Pulitzer prize winning historian. The three latest volumes of A Social and Religious History of the Jews by Salo W. Baron dealing with the Middle Ages are also available.

Morover, the Library now has a magazine section with such journals as Commentary, Midstream, Judaism, Congress Weekly and The Reconstructionist. All members of the Congregation are cordially invited to come and to make use of its facilities. The librarian will gladly introduce new readers to the catalogue and give them all pertinent information.

Library hours are Monday, Wednesday, Thursday—2:45 P.M. to 5:45 P.M. Sunday, Tuesday—10 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Parents Association

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Parents Association opened its current season with a luncheon on Monday, October 28, for mothers of all children entering the Religious School for the first time.

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, president of the Association, greeted the mothers and outlined the aims of the group and the opportunities for participation in its many activities. Rabbi Nadich spoke of the role of parents in relation to the Synagogue and to the Religious School. The curriculum and many interesting facts concerning the school were discussed by Martin Leichtling, the school principal. Hazzan Putterman taught the ladies the appropriate prayer for kindling the Sabbath candles, one of the most beautiful of all Jewish customs.

Mrs. Hector Ritey, chairman of the luncheon, was assisted by Mrs. Sam Deutsch, Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. Albert Siegel, Mrs. Nathan Somberg and Mrs. Sam Wick. The beautiful luncheon table was the creative artistry of Mrs. A. Stangel.

Book Fair

Once again, The Parents Association will sponsor the annual Book Fair which will open in the Milton Steinberg House on Sunday morning, November 17, and will continue through November 20, the evening of the open meeting.

Mrs. Leon Klein, who has successfully conducted the Book Fair for several years, will again be chairman of this event. She will be assisted by Mrs. Franklin Bergmann, Mrs. Bruno Foa, Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Adolph Stangel, Mrs. Charles Weisberg, Mrs. Sam Wick and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer. There will be a fine exhibit of the latest books on Jewish life and thought, as well as records of Jewish music. Here is a splendid opportunity to purchase worthwhile gifts, appropriate for the holiday season.

Open Meeting

Adult Education Series Underway

By HOWARD KIEVAL

The 1957-58 Adult Education Program began most auspiciously this past Monday evening, October 28th. More than three hundred people were present at the first of fifteen weeks of sessions, it was announced by Sidney J. Silberman, Chairman of the Adult Education Committee.

The Adult Education Committee which had met with Rabbi Nadich and Hazzan Putterman during the summer and early fall, has planned a notable program for the year, including an innovation in the teaching of Hebrew to beginners.

The Major Lecture Series, which commences at 9 P.M. each Monday evening, and will run for a total of fifteen weeks, will feature the theme "Great Ages and Ideas of the Jewish People."

Based on the recent fine book of the same name by Leo Schwarz, the course was opened by Mr. Schwarz himself last Monday evening. In his presentation Mr. Schwarz developed the framework of the entire course of Jewish history to date. He indicated to his audience the highlights which will be covered by succeeding lecturers.

Rabbi Judah Nadich will serve as the Chairman and discussion leader of the Series.

Among the lecturers will be Dr. Moshe Greenberg of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Morton Smith of Columbia University, Rabbi David Weiss and Dr. Abraham Halkin of the Faculty of the Jewish Theological Seminary; and Dr. Salo W. Baron, Director of Jewish Studies at Columbia University.

Rabbi Nadich will close the series with a presentation entitled: "Retrospect and Prospect."

The earlier classes, commencing at 8:00 P.M. each Monday evening, will feature a most interesting selection.

A new method of Hebrew teaching to beginners will be offered for the first time at the Park Avenue Synagogue under the direction of Mr. Reuben Singer, who has been especially trained in the method. The students will use films and records as their "textbooks."

A fifteen session course in conversational Hebrew will be offered to more advanced students.

Hazzan Putterman will offer two courses during the year. The first, for eight sessions, will cover the Sabbath Prayer Book. It will offer an interpretation and analysis of the prayers themselves in order to facilitate "following" the service as it actually takes place each Sabbath. The second course, for seven weeks, commencing early in 1958, will offer the men in the congregation an opportunity to learn the simple liturgical chants for the various blessings for those called up to the reading of the Torah and Haftorah.

The courses will all be offered in the Milton Steinberg House of the Synagogue, as noted above. Registration for the courses is free to members of the Congregation. Non-members are also invited; they will be required to pay a registration fee of $3. per person ($5. per couple). Mrs. Arthur Morse is in charge of the Registrars' group, which will be available each Monday evening.

Men's Club To Welcome Rabbi Nadich Nov. 26

By HARVEY GLASSER

Rabbi Judah Nadich will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at Men's Club's meeting on Tuesday evening, November 26, at 8:30 P.M., in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Synagogue.

The Rabbi will be formally introduced and presented to the members of Men's Club and enrolled as an honorary member. At this meeting, new members of Men's Club will also be introduced and enrolled as members. We are looking forward to greeting Rabbi Nadich and welcoming a goodly number of new members.

At its October meeting, the Board of Directors of Men's Club took official recognition of the fact that Men's Club is now ten years old. A resolution was adopted calling for a suitable celebration.

Plans were initiated for a gala social event to be held in the spring. Watch the BULLETIN for an important notice in the near future announcing the details.

Sisterhood's Open Meeting, November 19

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The next open meeting of Sisterhood which will be held Tuesday, November 19, will be devoted to a celebration of Jewish Book Month. The guest speaker, Mr. Leo W. Schwarz, recognized as an outstanding author, critic and historian, will discuss "Experiences with Books and Writers."

A native New Yorker, Mr. Schwarz was educated at Harvard where he excelled as a scholar. During World War II, he saw combat service in General Patton's Third Army and won a field commission in the Normandy campaign. Since then, he has made his mark as an author, critic and lecturer.

Among his many books, perhaps he is best known for "Where Hope Lies", which clearly identifies him as a social and political analyst. His newest book, "Feast of Leviathan: Tales of Adventure, Faith and Love from Jewish Literature", has won him highest praise. In "The Root and the Bough", and in "The Redeemers", Mr. Schwarz has skillfully recorded his Jewish experiences in Europe during the 1940's and 1950's.

In the field of history, Mr. Schwarz has been acclaimed for his "Great Ages and Ideas of the Jewish People." In commenting on his "Memoirs of My People", the Saturday Review called it "A most wonderful collection of autobiographical tales—a rich and luscious portrait gallery of a people."

Sisterhood has been fortnuate in securing this brilliant speaker, who is considered a foremost authority on Jewish literature and Jewish history.

Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer, a former president of Sisterhood, will be chairman of this meeting. As usual, luncheon will be served at noon and, following this, Hazzan Putterman will lead us in singing several traditional melodies.

At the Fashion Show presented at Sisterhood's last meeting, several substitutions were made too late for the BULLETIN. The following also acted as models: Lucille Lemberg, Helen Wimpfheimer and Lillian Bennet, all members of Sisterhood.

Tea for New Members

Henry James once said that there are few hours in life more agreeable than the hour dedicated to the ceremony known as afternoon tea. To the truth of this statement, all those who attended the musicale and tea on October 22, at the charming home of Mrs. Sol Green, president of Sisterhood, will agree.

The guests included the wives of new members of the Synagogue, officers of Sisterhood, Rabbi and Mrs. Nadich and Hazzan Putterman. What Sisterhood can mean to the members and to the Synagogue was the theme of Rabbi Nadich's informative talk. Edith Gordon, well known singer, charmed everyone with her interpretation of several songs. Mrs. William Karmiol spoke briefly on membership of which she is chairman, and Mrs. Ben Sack, urged the ladies to attend Sisterhood's annual brunch and matinee on December 4.

To encourage participation in Sisterhood's activities, the wives of new members are cordially invited to join Sisterhood without the payment of any dues for the first year.

Mrs. Green, as always was a most gracious hostess, and her guests reported "a perfectly wonderful time."

Sukkot Festival

By HELENE HAHN

Our forefathers in ancient days celebrated Sukkot as a Harvest Festival or the "Feast of Ingathering" and gave thanks to God for the bounties which he bestowed upon the land.

This year as in the days of old, the Park Avenue Synagogue celebrated in its own beautiful Sukkah, atop the Milton Steinberg House. From all accounts, ours was a Sukkah of beauty and a joy to behold; a harvest of the joint efforts of many women.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Isidor Hahn and the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph Pincus and Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, the following ladies made great contribution. towards the construction and decoration of our Sukkah, as well as the serving of the Kiddush after services: Mrs. Herbert Berger, Mrs. Michael Borish, Mrs. Bruno Foa, Mrs. Paul Brunschwig, Mrs. Sam Gellert, Mrs. Robert Gilbert, Mrs. Louis Greenstein, Mrs. Milton Heller, Mrs. L. Hershef, Mrs. Alfred Lubeck, Mrs. Leon Pordy, Mrs. Dina Rosenbach, Mrs. Charles Weisberg, Mrs. Sam Wick, Mrs. Harry Zucker and Mrs. Mortimer Milheiser.

In Appreciation

Not everyone is aware that the behind-the-scene activity of the Ushering Committee is responsible for much of the smooth functioning of the religious services and ceremonies held at the Synagogue. This was very much in evidence during the recent High Holy Days. ,

The ability of the ushers to preserve order and maintain decorum cnabled all the congregants to enjoy the full beauty of the religious services.

Here is the committee who made this possible: David Altschul, chairman; Dr. Harry Neivert, co-chairman; Frederick S. Berman, Harry Dubin, Emil Forster, Milton Heller, Julian Jacobs, Edward Kaye, Leon Klein, Theodore Meistrich, Albert Siegel, Milton M. Sivek, Dr. Samuel J. Stern and Robert Witte.

Our thanks and appreciation to all of them for a difficult job well done and diplomatically executed.

Congratulations

To the great grandfather Mr. Abe Liebovitz and to the grandparents Dr. and Mrs. Milton Helpern upon the birth of Vicki Hannah Nightingale.

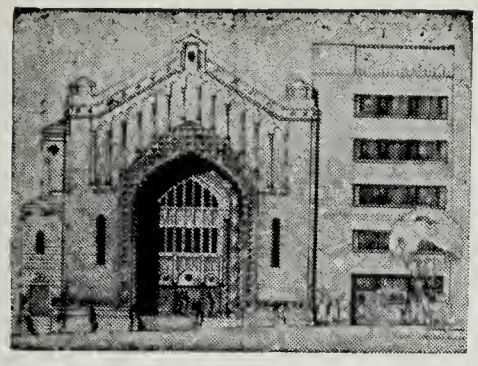

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Klein upon their wedding anniversary—Octo - ber 25

Mr. Abe Liebovitz upon his 79th Birthday

Adult Education Courses Well Attended

By Howard Kieval

Dr. Morton Smith. Assistant Professor of Ancient History at Columbia University was the lecturer in the Major Series of the Adult Education program. Dr. Smith. who is an expert on Jewish History, spoke on the Hellenistic Age on November 18 and will speak again on the same subject November 25, in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Milton Steinberg House.

DR. MORTON SMITH

Although quite a young man, Dr. Smith has a most distinguished reputation as a scholar of early Judaism and the beginnings of the Christian era. He holds a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the Hebrew University in Jerusalem for a treatise which compared certain aspects of the Christian gospels to Jewish traditional literature. Dr. Smith also holds a Doctorate in Theology from Harvard University. He has been awarded both Guggenheim and Fulbright Fellowships, and taught at Brown, Drew, and Harvard Universities before coming to Columbia.

The Hellenistic age represents a high point in the early intellectual flowering of the Jewish people. The impact of Greek liberal philosophy produced many interesting strains in the Jewish thought of that day, both sacred and secular. The conflict of ideas also heralded in a sense the later decay of the Jewish state in Palestine, because the issues were never fully resolved.

Members of the congregation may recall that Rabbi Milton Steinberg's novel "As A Driven Leaf" dealt with this specific period. The story of Rabbi Akiba, Elisha ben Abuyah, and others was both literal and fictional, and gives a most vivid portrayal of life and times in Palestine of the Second and Third Century.

The following two lectures of this series will be given on December 2 and December 9 by Rabbi David Weiss, Instructor of Talmud of the Jewish Theological Seminary. He will discuss "The Talmudic Age".

Park Avenue Synagogue Welcomes Rabbi Nadich

Friday evening, November 8, 1957 will be a night long to be remembered in the annals of our synagogue history. Despite the inclement weather, a tremendous crowd gathered at our synagogue to attend the inducton of Rabbi Nadich as Rabbi of Park Avenue Synagogue.

Although Rabbi Nadich has served as our spiritual leader since last July, the formal induction ceremony was an occasion for the entire community to participate with us in paying him our respect. Representatives from many adjoining synagogues, temples, and churches were present or sent greetings and congratulations. Truly, this was a memorable event.

Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of our Board of Trustees, in welcoming Rabbi Nadich to our "hallowed pulpit", referred to the pledge he made more than a year ago, when he was installed as chairman of the Board. At that time he said, that the first order of business of his administration would be to bring to our pulpit,

> "one who, in our judgment, possesses the erudition and the eloquence to spark our religious services and educational programs, and who will spiritually lead and wisely guide those who require pastoral leadership, a man of whom we can be proud."

Thanks to the efforts of our Pulpit Committee, our Board of Trustees and the wise judgment of the members of our congregation, this has been made possible by the election of Rabbi Nadich as our spiritual leader.

Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, from which Rabbi Nadich was ordained and later received his Doctorate Degree, was the installing officer and main speaker. Almost three decades ago, he performed a similar function when he officiated at the induction of our late Rabbi Milton Steinberg, who had previously occupied our pulpit. Dr. Finkelstein stressed the need of giving our children a moral education so necessary for them to adequately meet the complex problems confronting our present civilization. Prayers, he pointed out, express great spiritual values but our difficulty is that we do not fully understand them.

Rabbi Nadich, in acknowledging the great honor conferred upon him in being selected to serve as the spiritual leader of the Park Avenue Synagogue, which he described as "a pre-eminent congregation in this country, giving leadership not only to the community but also to American Judaism", expressed his humility in occupying the pulpit "ministered to for almost two decades by the brilliant and illustrious Milton Steinberg." In the course of his remarks, Rabbi Nadich spoke of the "space age" in which we are now living and the possibility of "utter destruction", we are facing today. All of this, he said, places an additional responsibility upon religious leaders and teachers. The great need for mankind in this scientific age is to learn to live together. That is where "religion can help us achieve that end."

At the conclusion of the services, Hazzan David J. Putterman chanted the three fold benediction and invoked God's blessing upon Rabbi Nadich on behalf of the members of the congregation. Following the services, a reception was held in the Lemberg Auditorium and the guests were afforded an opportunity to personally meet Rabbi and Mrs. Nadich.

Among those present, were the Rabbi's father, his sisters and other members of his family and several of his old friends from Kehillath Israel Congregation, Brookline, Mass., where Rabbi Nadich served for ten years prior to coming to the Park Avenue Synagogue.

At the following Sabbath morning service, the festivities continued with an address by Honorable Simcha Pratt, the Consul General of the State of Israel in New York. In discussing the creation of the State of Israel, Mr. Pratt referred to the magnificent efforts of Rabbi Nadich immediately following World War II, in helping to secure the release of many Jews from the concentration camps in occupied Nazi Europe and the DP camps.

The full story of the important contribution made by Rabbi Nadich, said Mr. Pratt, has not yet been told; neither does Rabbi Nadich's book "Eisenhower and the Jews" fully disclose the part played by Rabbi Nadich in this historical event. In the words of Mr. Pratt, "only modesty of the author" prevented him from portraying his true role in this tragic episode of Jewish history.

To those of us who know Rabbi Nadich, all of these virtues are understandable. Yes, this was a joyous occasion and we are proud of our Rabbi, Judah Nadich.

Religion In Public Schools

Once again the problem confronts us regarding the attitude of our children in the public schools as to their participation in the religious celebrations that take place this time of year.

The New York Board of Rabbis, an association of Orthodox, Conservative and Reform Rabbis in New York and vicinity, takes the position that such religious celebrations are not in keeping with the true spirit of religious equality which the public schools symbolize and in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, which requires the sepseparation of church and state.

It is the opinion of the New York Board of Rabbis that it is improper to conduct such celebrations in the public schools or that Jewish children should participate in them, as it develops a sense of conflict and confusion in the minds of such Jewish children.

Parents are requested by the New York Board of Rabbis to provide their children with a positive substitute for this non-Jewish celebration. They should emphasize and dramatize the Festival of Hanukkah and provide their homes with handsome Menorahs to kindle the lights on the eight days of Hanukkah. The presentation of Hanukkah gifts and the arranging of Hanukkah parties will produce the wholesome results of a happy family and group loyalty and heightened self-respect and self-confidence.

As stated by the New York Board of Rabbis: "This display of loyalty to and pride in our religious tradition will earn for ourselves more gentile good will" than our participation in their religious celebrations.

Sisterhood Theatre Party

The surprises planned for you will tell you how many hands have made light work of the combined efforts of the many people on the Committee. When you enter the Grand Ballroom and you see what has been arranged in color, design, table decorations and the many table prizes, you will feel amply rewarded for having participated.

Only a short program is being planned. Hazzan David J. Putterman will sing the National Anthems. There will be brief messages from the president of sisterhood, the luncheon chairman, and from Rabbi Nadich, after which we shall draw for the diamond and pearl pin—and then in a gay Holiday mood proceed to the theatre. If you have not made your reservation, may we "Coax You," as Gretchen Wyler sings in "Rumple", to join us NOW. Your participation on this exciting day will serve a two-fold purpose; an opportunity to join with all your Sisterhood friends in creating a happy mood, and to help us meet our obligations to our synagogue and maintain our honored place in the community.

Mrs. Benjamin Saek, and Mrs. Edward Peiper, Chairman and Co-Chairman of the Luncheon are happily looking forward to greeting you all on December 4.

Sisterhood News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Those who were present at the November 19 meeting of Sisterhood not only enjoyed a delicious luncheon and a pleasant social hour, but also had the privilege of hearing Mr. Leo Schwarz, eminent author and lecturer, discuss "My Experiences with Books and Writers."

Mr. Schwarz, an unusually able speaker, was most interesting and informative. Having an intimate knowledge of the lives and the books of many significant writers, he revealed their personalities with wit and candor. Mrs. Sol Green, president of Sisterhood, presided over the meeting with her usual charm and efficiency.

Ceremonial Gift Shop

Once again the season of Hanukkah is fast approaching, and, as usual, in the lobby of the Milton Steinberg House, there will be an attractive display of ceremonial objects, all of which will make charming gifts for the Hanukkah holiday.

From Israel come beautiful menorahs, sabbath lights, lovely kiddush cups, talaisim and many other unique treasures. For the youngsters, there are key rings, money clips, tie clips, lockets, bracelets, talis bags, games and multicolored dredels. Mezuzahs, Yarzeit lights, candle holders—these are but a few of the gifts, gathered from everywhere for your delight.

In charge of this exhibit and in readiness to serve you is Mrs. Milton Heller, chairman of Sisterhood's ceremonial objects. Irrespective of the amount of your purchase, you will always find Irma eager to help you make your selections. Just phone her (At 9-5500) and not only solve your gift problems but also make this Hanukkah a more festive occasion by your thoughtfulness.

Coming Event

For those of you whose calendars bespeak a busy social life, we are giving advance notice of an affair you will not want to miss—a Sunday night dinner dance planned for January 12, 1958, at the Lemberg Auditorium in the Park Avenue Synagogue. Following the dinner, a well known dance instructor will teach the newest steps. A wonderful dinner, an evening of fun for husbands and wives—all this awaits you on the night of Sunday, January 12. Be sure to reserve this date now for this gay Sisterhood affair.

Jewish Book Month

By HILDE KISCH, Librarian

From November 15 to December 15 the Jewish Book Council of America is sponsoring Jewish Book Month in order to stimulate interest in Jewish books. On this occasion it is perhaps fitting to call to mind a few facts about the development of the Jewish library, one of the most important means for disseminating Jewish knowledge and learning.

Jewish libraries are collections of books and manuscripts in Hebrew or other languages pertaining to all matters Jewish. A fixed date when they first came into being cannot be established. They were preceded by archives for the preservation of documents at the synagogues, and the oldest Jewish libraries may have been sections of such archives. When academies developed as the intellectual centers of Judaism, first in Palestine and later in the diaspora, they also became repositories of Jewish literary production in manuscript form.

The medieval period was marked by numerous persecutions and almost constant wanderings of the Jews, accompanied by the confiscation and burning of books. It was obviously not a favorable time for the formation of Jewish libraries. Nevertheless, even then there were book collectors among the Jews, especially in Spain and Italy, who established private libraries. The invention of printing in the 15th century stimulated book collecting in Italy, Turkey, and later in Holland, where libraries of considerable size came into being.

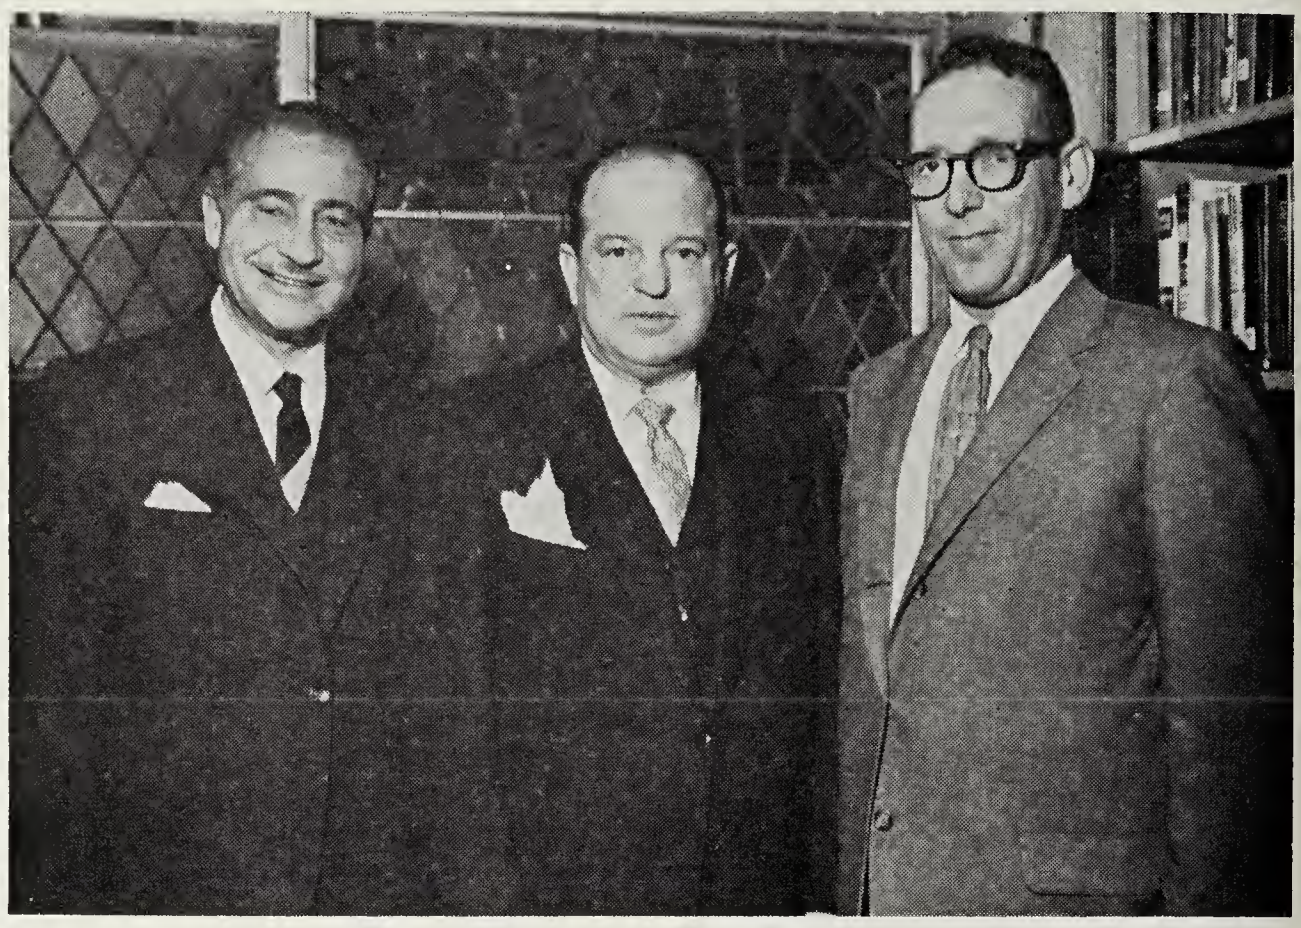

Large collections of Jewish books were assembled by scholars and booklovers in the course of the 18th and 19th centuries. Most of them found permanent homes in public institutions after the death of their original owners. After 1933 almost all Jewish libraries on the European continent fell victim to Hitler's fury and barbarism.

In America it was Judge Myer Sulzberger (1843-1923) who foresaw that the New World was destined to become one of the foremost centers of Jewish scholarship. His fine collection of Jewish books became the foundation for one of the greatest Jewish libraries in the world, that of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Other important libraries at institutions of Jewish learning are those of the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati and New York, Dropsie College in Phila-

By ASA D. SOKOLOW

The Cohen Library was formally dedicated on Sunday morning, November 17. The beautifully appointed and equipped room, which is located on the second floor of the Milton Steinberg House, is a gift to the congregation from Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Cohen and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Cohen.

Asa Sokolow, Chairman of the Library Committee, welcomed the many synagogue officials and friends who attended the ceremonies and expressed our gratitude to the many individuals and groups who helped to put the library into operation.

Mrs. Hilde Kisch, our Librarian explained the extensive use currently being made of our reference and lending facilities by our school children and members of the synagogue family.

The formal presentation was made by Mr. I. M. Cohen, a devoted member of our Board of Trustees. Mr. Cohen unveiled a plaque dedicating the library to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman A. Levey, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Junger.

Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, gratefully accepted the gift on behalf of the Board and the Congregation and paid tribute to the generosity of the Cohen family.

Rabbi Nadich opened the religious service with an appropriate prayer. Hazzan Putterman chanted a specially selected psalm. Rabbi Nadich delivered the dedicatory message and expressed the hope that the Cohen Library would become a true repository of our tradition and a major factor in the cultural life of the synagogue.

A mezuzah was affixed to the library door by Mr. Joseph H. Cohen and Mr. Jacob Klein, president of the synagogue.

Following the benediction, photographs were taken of the issuance of the first Cohen library cards.

Adult Education Courses

Dr. Moshe Greenberg of the University of Pennsylvania, discussed "The Biblical age" in two lectures on November 4 and 11 both of which were well attended. Dr. Greenberg indicated the highlights of the thinking of the early Jews as it was molded by their own experiences and by the influence of the other Near Eastern peoples among whom they lived and moved.

The Hebrew courses will be continued at 8 o'clock on Monday evenings by Mr. Reuben R. Singer as well as the Sabbath Prayer Book courses which are being given by Hazzan David J. Putterman. The Sabbath Prayer Book courses will end with the session on Monday evening, December 16.

Men's Club to Welcome Rabbi Nadich; Nov. 26

By HARVEY GLASSER

Men's Club is eagerly awaiting its next meeting on Tuesday evening, November 26, at 8:30 P.M., in the Lemberg Auditorium, when Dr. Judah Nadich will be the guest of honor and principal speaker.

We were all thrilled and moved by the beautiful ceremonies attendant upon Dr. Nadich's induction as the Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue at the Friday evening services of November 8. Men's Club, an important arm of the Synagogue, hopes to offer its personal congratulations and respects to Rabbi Nadich at its next scheduled meeting.

The meeting will also be the occasion for the formal introduction and presentation of Rabbi Nadich to the members of Men's Club and for his induction as an honorary member. The Rabbi will be joined by other new members who are to be introduced to the membership at that time.

A special word of thanks, to those who helped make our Election Showcase meeting on October 29 such a rousing success, including all the political candidates who appeared and the mambers of the Program and Hospitality Committees.

Solomon Schecter Award To Our Synagogue

The Park Avenue Synagogue has been signally honored in being selected to receive the Solomon Schecter Award this year, in recognition of the distinguished service rendered by our Synagogue in the area of liturgical music.

The Award will be presented to our Congregation at the closing banquet of the biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America which is being held on November 20, at the Concord Hotel. Mr. Archie I. Thurman, chairman of our Ritual Committee, will accept it on behalf of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

This expression of public appreciation of our contribution to the development of liturgical music was in no small measure due to the efforts of our own Hazzan David Putterman, who, for many years, has presented our annual Liturgical Service of new Liturgical Music by contemporary composers, the thirteenth of such services having been presented this past May. Dedicated to the enhancement of Jewish worship and to the wider utilization of Jewish music, these Services have served as a source of encouragement to those who have given of their lives and genius to its enrichment.

The Award has a special meaning to us at the Park Avenue Synagogue, coming as it does when we are about to celebrate twenty-five years of devoted and dedicated service rendered to our Synagogue by Hazzan Putterman.

United Synagogue Holds Biennial Convention

Archie Thurman, a member of our Board of Trustees and chairman of our Ritual Committee, and Sidney R. Katz, our Executive Director, were designated as delegates of the Park Avenue Synagogue to attend the biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America which was held November 17-21 at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Hazzan David J. Putterman, Director of the Department of Music of the United Synagogue of America, who also attended the convention was chairman of a session entitled "Music for Your Synagogue."

The theme of the convention was "Lengthen Thy Cords and Deepen Thy Stakes"—a quotation from Isaiah, suggesting the intensive and extensive growth of the Conservative Synagogue. During the course of the conference, there were workshops and general sessions dealing with almost every area of synagogue life, adult education, youth activities, religious services, membership, public relations, and the congregation school. The program was planned in an effort to guide synagogue leaders in helping to produce the "complete Jew", proud of his heritage and concerned with transmitting it to future generations.

The convention was also attended by spiritual leaders from fifteen foreign countries.

Mr. & Mrs. Club Present School Forum

By Mrs. JEROME S. MITTELMAN

The question "What kind of education for my child?" perplexes many a parent and individual interested in children. On Tuesday, December 10, at 8:30 P.M. the Mr. and Mrs. Club is to present a panel of leaders in education who will discuss this all important topic under the moderation of Rabbi Judah Nadich.

The panel will consist of Mr. Isidor Margolis, Executive Director of Mizrachi-Hapoel Hamizrachi, National Education Committee, and Professor of Religious Education at Yeshiva University, who will discuss religious schools; Mr. Frank Dunn, Chairman of the English Department of Samuel Gompers High School will represent the Public School system, and Mr. William C. Swallow, Jr., Assistant to the Director of Ethical Culture School of New York City will present the private school point of view.

Each member of the panel is an expert in his field and has generously consented to draw upon his experiences and information to help solve familiar problems. Indeed, they should stimulate new avenues of thought in approaches for bettering educational opportunities for the younger generation. Their varying points of view should excite those who would seize every chance to acquaint themselves with the many possibilities concerning proper education of the young.

The Mr. and Mrs. Club extends a cordial invitation to all congregants and their interested friends to join in the evening's activities. The forum, moderated by Rabbi Judah Nadich, will start promptly at 8:30 P.M. to allow for a period for panel members to answer questions put to them by guests. Be with us, then, on Tuesday, December 10.

Stangel will be in charge of this project and will have an inspirational display of decorations, centerpieces, games and gifts, appropriate for the celebration of Hanukkah.

Tea For Class Mothers

On the afternoon of November 14, a charming group of ladies, all class mothers of our Religious School, met in the Sisterhood Lounge, for an informal get-together over a cup of tea. Chairman of this important phase of our activities is Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, who with her co-chairmen. Mrs. Emil Forster and Mrs. James Leff, acted as hostesses.

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, president, and Mrs. Herman Helpern, past president, also greeted the group. Mr. Leichtling, principal of the Religious School, stressed the important part the mothers play in helping to arrange holiday celebrations for the children.

delphia, the Yivo Institute for Jewish Research in New York, and the College of Jewish Studies in Chicago.

The New York Public Library and the Library of Congress in Washington have excellent Jewish divisions. The libraries of Harvard, Columbia and Yale Universities contain collections of Jewish books and manuscripts.

In the last decades numerous fine libraries were founded by American Jewish congregations. The Cohen Library of Park Avenue Synagogue, although only recently established, can be counted among them. The librarian hopes that an ever-growing number of readers, through frequent use of its facilities, will help to make Jewish Book Month a real success.

By Hyman Sankel

The Youth Groups are once again sponsoring their annual Friday Evening Service on December 13 at 8:30 P.M. Rabbi Nadich will preach on the very timely topic, which should be of great interest to both adults and youngsters, "What Shall I Tell My Child About Christmas". Parents will receive an opportunity to obtain worthwhile guidance on a subject which is bound to be a topic of conversation with their children.

The teen agers will participate in the Hebrew and English Readings and chant the Kiddush. Following the Service, a panel discussion by several young people will take place in the Lemberg Auditorium during the Oneg Shabbat on the topic "Youth, Morality and Judaism". The young folk will give their opinions and reactions on the current mainstreams operating in religion and morals.

Dedication of Torah Schrolls To Be Held Together With Hanukkah Party, Sunday Evening, Dec. 22

On Sunday evening, December 22 at 8:30 P.M. in the synagogue, a beautiful traditional ceremony will take place when two Torah scrolls will be dedicated for use at future religious services in the Park Avenue Synagogue. The scrolls are the gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore M. Cohen and Mr. and Mrs. Solomon E. Green.

The colorful Siyum Hatorah ceremony will form a part of the Hanukkah evening service to be conducted by Rabbi Judah Nadich and Hazzan David J. Putterman together with the synagogue choir and with Mr. George Crook at the organ. The old and new scrolls will be carried in an impressive procession prior to the actual completion of the new Torah scroll, when the scribe will fill in the last letters. These ceremonies are rarely seen and it is to be hoped that a large number of our members will be present, together with their families, to witness these memorable scenes.

Following the presentation of the Torahs there will be a lighting of the candles, six that evening in connection

Hanukkah - An Editorial

Hanukkah, the Feast of Lights, commemorates the victory of the ancient Maccabees over the Greco-Syrians and the subsequent rededication of the Temple at Jerusalem to the worship of God. That ancient victory of a small group of determined and heroic men over a much larger enemy force is still of great significance to us today. Historically speaking, the Maccabean triumph made possible the continuation of Judaism and also the birth many years later of the two daughter religions of Judaism. Had the Maccabees failed, there would be neither Judaism, Christianity nor Islam today.

Moreover, their struggle is of extraordinary importance to us today because it represents the first raising of the standard of revolt not for territorial conquest nor for booty nor even for political indepedence, but for an idea—for one of the basic freedoms we cherish today, the freedom of conscience, the freedom of worship. The Jews could have lived peacefully in their land had they been willing to accept the religion and culture of their overlords. But peace at such a cost was spurned by the Jews who were of the opinion that life is worth living only when accompanied by freedom and that freedom meant nothing if it did not mean the possibility of ordering one's life in accordance with one's ideas and beliefs. Few in number and weak in strength as compared with the forces pitted against them, the Maccabees were victorious because they fought as only free men can fight against mercenaries and we celebrate their victory to this day.

It is good that we remind ourselves of the purposes for which they fought, that we do so by each Jewish family kindling the Hanukkah lights in the home each of the eight evenings of Hanukkah, singing the lovely melodies and exchanging Hanukkah gifts and playing the Hanukkah games. Particularly, should we give our attention during these days to the children in the family in much more than perfunctory manner so that through the joy of Hanukkah parties, festivities, presents and song, they be made familiar especially at this season with the warmth, the color and the happiness of normative Judaism.

But we the adults should also take the lesson of Hanukkah to heart. The Maccabees fought for freedom of conscience and the right of Jews to live as Jews. If we be apathetic to the values of the spirit, if Jewish religion and Hebrew culture are of no concern to us, then we who are the lineal descendants of the Maccabees constitute a mockery and denial of their valorous victory.

Let this Hanukkah be for us a time of rededication to the values of the spirit which in our times are needed as much, if not more, than in the days of our Maccabean ancestors.

JUDAH NADICH
Rabbi

Lighting The First Candle

Turn off the lights, restore the dark
To this small candle's valiant spark.
Restore to it historic right
To conquer darkness of the night.

How many age-long, fear-long nights
Have yielded to these fragile lights.
How many happy scenes return,
Rejoice the heart, the hour they burn.

So shall my children also know
Through all the ages, what true glow
Lighted with its sacred flame
The paths down which our people came.

Turn off the lights, restore the dark
To this small candle's valiant spark
Let no electric glare intrude
On this most precious interlude.

FIRST HANUKKAH CANDLE TO BE LIGHTED DEC. 17

Hanukkah candles are lit eight successive evenings. This year, the first candle will be lit Tuesday evening, December 17 and it will continue through Tuesday, December 25, when eight candles are lit.

"A Word of Appreciation"

By FREDA SACK

We have heard of meetings at "The Summit". Sisterhood had its summit meeting December 4 at the brunch held at the Sheraton Astor Hotel followed by the performance of the musical "Rumple" at the Alvin Theatre. It was an event long to be remembered and the attendance was heartwarming.

Once again, we have demonstrated that an affair sponsored by Sisterhood is a thing of beauty. Not only were the ladies who were present full of sparkle, but the gaiety that permeated the entire assembly gave the event an unusual glamor.

The Executive Board, together with a few devoted members of Sisterhood who constituted the Luncheon Committee, did a masterful job and deserve the thanks of the entire membership. As chairman of the Luncheon Committee, I want to express to them my personal appreciation for without their constant endeavor, there was little that I could have accomplished.

Necessarily any function as large as a combination Brunch and Theatre Party requires the help of a small group who must take on the larger share of the "blood, sweat and tears", and to them I want to express my deep gratitude. This includes Mrs. Edward Peiper, my co-chairman, Mrs. Irwin H. Rome, Treasurer, Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, publicity chairman, Mrs. Abraham Stangel, chairman of decorations, assisted by Mrs. Sidney R. Katz, and Mrs. William Karmiol, chairman of hostesses.

In the latter days immediately preceding the party, Frances Peiper, Doris Rome and Gertrude Karmiol, assisted by Phyllis Siegel, in addition to their other duties, spent four solid days in the mechanics of ticket and seat allocations. This was a most difficult task and their devotion to details accounted for the smooth flow of the afternoon and was responsible for a memorable day.

To Mrs. Sol E. Green, our president, may I express my special sense of obligation, for her constant support throughout every activity which made the afternoon of December 4 so successful.

To Sisterhood at large, and to our devoted men, some of whom graced our brunch by their presence, I wish to record my sincere thanks for enabling our committee to report a financial success, and thus to continue Sisterhood's role in the Synagogue and the community.

Hanukkah Party

with the Hanukkah festival. There will also be an interesting social and entertaining evening in the Lemberg Auditorium directly after the Siyum Hatorah in the synagogue itself. The program in the Lemberg Auditorium will feature a piano recital by Mrs. Della Kahn Horowitz who is contributing her services. She has given numerous recitals since childhood. She has been heard on major networks and has also played before audiences of synagogues, fraternal organizations as well as women's Zionist groups.

Miss Aviva Halaban will be the other feature artist of the evening. She is a native Israeli and has sung with the Israel Symphony Orchestra and has represented the state of Israel at international folk song festivals and UN celebrations. She is a lyric soprano.

Mrs. Regina Stangel is chairman of the committee which is arranging this function and will be in charge of the entertainment and refreshments. Members of our congregation and their families who attend are sure to find it an interesting evening.

On the committee to assist Mrs. Stangel are the following: Mrs. John Bauer, Mrs. David Altschul, Mrs. Peter Cats, Mrs. Bruno Foa, Mrs. Irving Friedman, Mrs. Robert Gilbert, Mrs. Harry Grunther, Mrs. Isidore Hahn, Mrs. Marcia B. Nasatir, Mrs. Arthur Morse, Mrs. A. Pincus, Mrs. Samuel P. Pritz, Mrs. Hector Ritey, Mrs. Robert D. Rubin, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. George Shapiro, Mrs. Albert Siegel and Mrs. Betty Smith.

Youth Sabbath Service

This event is one of the many planned by the Youth Activities Division to build closer ties between the youth of our community and the Synagogue. It reflects the religious aspect of the program which also includes sound and cultural activities. Participating in readings from the pulpit will be: Mark Alan Siegel, Kenneth Morse, David Reichman, Jane Jacobs, Inez Fields, Phyllis Brody, Elissa Kaufman and Judy Schwartz. The Kiddush will be chanted by Joel Siegel. Those who will conduct the panel discussion are: Burt Wolfson, Jeri Rosner and Harry Pincus.

Dr. Abraham S. Halkin To Close First Session Of Adult Education Lecture Series, Dec. 16

By HOWARD KIEVAL

The first half of the Adult Education program for 1957-58 will close for the winter recess with the classes on Monday, December 16.

The featured lecturer on the Major Series for December 16, will be Dr. Abraham S. Halkin, associate professor of Jewish History at the Jewish Theological Seminary, and professor of Hebrew at The City College of New York. Dr. Halkin has written a number of important historical works on the period of Islam's great rise as a world force and as a cultural influence on Judaism. His doctoral dissertation, at Columbia University, in on "Moslem Schisms and Sects."

DR. ABRAHAM S. HALKIN

The Golden Age in Spain represents a high point in the flowering of Jewish culture in the Middle Ages. It owes no small part of its success to the encouragement which Jews of the period received from their Moslem neighbors, as contrasted with the general position of Jews elsewhere in Europe at that time.

Not only in Spain, but in North Africa, Egypt, the Levant, and elsewhere in the Near East, Jewish culture gained some measure of freedom and encouragement from the interest of the Moslem rulers in all phases of intellectual activity.

Dr. Halkin will also deliver three lectures on the European age in our adult education program when it resumes in January and February.

Rabbi David Weiss, brilliant young Talmudic scholar at the Jewish Theological Seminary delivered the lectures on December 2 and 9. A victim of the Nazi terror who managed miraculously to survive the concentration camps, Rabbi Weiss came to the United States in 1947. In addition to his Talmudic studies, Rabbi Weiss has found time to complete the Bachelor's and Master's degrees at universities in New York, and to complete a book of Talmudic commentary which will be published shortly.

The December 16 session also marks the close of Hazzan Putterman's series on the Sabbath Prayer Book. His second semester course will be on the Cantillations, for male members of the Congregation.

The Hebrew courses have been extremely well attended. Their success has been so outstanding that an additional class is being established and another instructor being added to the faculty.

Details on the second semester of the Adult Education program will be announced in the BULLETIN in January.

Altmarks To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Altmark, who have been members of our congregation for several decades, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on December 17.

Harry, who has been a member of the Advisory Council of the Board of Trustees of our Synagogue for many years, has been a regular worshipper at our religious services and on numerous occasions, he has sat on the pulpit as Gabbai.

On behalf of the entire congregation, we wish to extend to the Altmarks our very best wishes for many happy anniversaries and to express the hope that they may enjoy good health with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Munves, members of our synagogue, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ullman, their grandchildren and their great grandchild for many years.

College Youth Group Plan Big Week-end Dec. 26-27

By HYMAN SANKEL

The Youth Activities Committee is planning a twofold program for the college age youth of Synagogue members during the Winter Recess. The first event will be a Cocktail Party and Supper to be held on December 26 at 6:00 P.M. If it follows the pattern of past parties, the young people are sure to spend a very enjoyable and exciting evening. Entertainment and dancing will follow the supper.

Please be sure that you have mailed in the college address of your child so that an invitation may be extended to him or to her. Students in graduate schools are included in this party. We are sure this event will provide a means for our young people to meet each other under Synagogue auspices, renew old friendships and make new acquaintances.

To insure the success of this important phase of our Youth Activities program, Mrs. Herman Helpern, chairman, has once again called upon the services of two of our indefatigable and devoted workers, to act as chairmen of this function, Mrs. Harry Zucker and Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg.

On Friday evening, December 27, the Synagogue Service will be dedicated to the College Youth of our membership. The students will participate in the interpretive readings from the pulpit. Another group will lead a panel discussion at the Oneg Shabbat which follows the service. The subject of Rabbi Judah Nadich's address "How Can Modern Man Rediscover God", will be of great interest to both college students and adults.

This Sabbath Service marks our first real effort to involve our college youth in a religious program. Will you join your children that Friday evening in attending the Service and help make it a success?

Our Armed Forces

A special committee has been appointed by the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue, with Nat B. Gerber, chairman, for the purpose of contacting our boys who are presently serving in the Armed Forces.

Will you please send us the names and addresses of your sons and relatives in the Armed Forces, so that the special committee may send them their greetings and seasonal gift parcels?

Prayer Books Presented By Nathan Gerber Family

In memory of Mrs. Lizzie Rothenberg, mother of Mrs. Bertha Gerber, the Nathan Gerbers have dedicated fifty copies of the new Sabbath Prayer Books which will shortly be used in the Park Avenue Synagogue at our regular Sabbath services.

During the course of the High Holy Days, Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees, pointed to the fact that additional copies of our Prayer Books are awaiting members of our congregation who may see fit to dedicate them in memory of any of their beloved departed.

Nathan Gerber and his wife were among the first to so respond.

Earlier, Mrs. Tubie Resnik had arranged to dedicate several in memory of her mother, Dora Smith.

Mrs. Charles Weisberg had also earlier contributed to memorialize the memory of her mother, Anna Lobel. Recently, a contribution was received from Mrs. A. Mnuchin to be used for the donation of these Books.

If you wish to dedicate any of these Prayer Books, please call Sidney Katz, the Executive Director at the synagogue, ENright 9-2600.

Milton Steinberg Hadassah Group to Meet Dec. 16

The Milton Steinberg Group of Hadassah will hold its open meeting on Monday, December 16 at 12:30 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Milton Steinberg House.

The program will consist of the showing of a new film on Israel which was recently exhibited at the Hadassah annual convention for the first time. Madame Paulette Oppert-Fink, who has just returned from Israel, will be the guest speaker. There will also be vocal selection by one of the members of the Hadassah Group.

Mrs. I. Edward Gevirtz, chairman of the Membership Committee, cordially invites all members of the various organizations of the Synagogue to join the Group at 12:30 P.M. on Monday, December 16, for a dessert luncheon and a stimulating afternoon.

Arts and Decorations

By ETHEL SIVEK

As chairman of the Arts and Decorations Committee, I am happy to report that our committee has been engaged in several projects during the past few months.

The floral arrangements for the holidays and the various special events were planned and selected by the committee. The rear lobby of the Milton Steinberg House has been completed with the installation of modern hand-crafted Finnish lighting fixtures. The subdued lighting, together with the wall covering and ceiling color, create an atmosphere to the entrance to the Appleman Chapel.

Two paintings contributed by I. M. Cohen were hung in the Sisterhood Lounge. One of the paintings is by the eminent artist Belle Golenko and depicts the blessing over the Shabbat candles. The other painting, one of Moses receiving the Ten Commandments, was at one time exhibited in an Israeli museum. A modern painting recently donated by Mrs. Sol Green is on display in the lower lobby. It was painted by Jo Anne Schneider whose exhibit is now on display at the John Heller Gallery at 63 East 57th Street. The famous Arthur Szyck prints portraying the Jewish festivals were presented by Jacob Klein.

Mrs. Kaiser, wife of the curator of the Jewish Museum, has undertaken the assignment of exhibiting antique Judaica appropriate to the various holidays in display niches in the lobby of the Milton Steinberg House.

Synagogue members interested in donating works of art and decorative objects for the beautification of our building should communicate with Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director. Those serving on the Arts and Decorations Committee with me are: Lucille Lemberg and Sally Victor.

The Board of Education of the Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue awards special honors to students in the Congregational schools in the metropolitan area. This awards system is only one of the many techniques devised by the Metropolitan Council to raise the standards in our religious schools.

The Achievement Award is granted to a student in the religious school who maintains a high scholastic standing in three areas of study; Hebrew, Jewish History and Customs and Ceremonies. A student who wins an achievement award during three of his years in the religious school then becomes eligible for membership in the all-city Honor Society—the Keter Torah or Crown of the Torah.

Student Teachers

Some seven years ago, the Primary Department of the Religious School instituted a student-teacher program for the young women of the Graduation and Confirmation class. Each year a number of the graduates have accepted the opportunity to work with the regularly appointed teachers who instruct our children on Sunday morning. This year the school has the good fortune of having the services of Susan Jacobs, Jacqueline Finkel and Joan Rubinstein.

The student-teachers, under the guidance of the regular teachers, are given opportunities to observe the instruction; to assist with the instruction; to discuss teaching techniques; and to instruct the children in particular phases of the lesson.

Report Cards

Report cards will be distributed to the students in the Hebrew Department on December 11 and December 12.

This will give parents an opportunity to discuss with their children the report card marks and, particularly, the teacher's personal comments evaluating the work of the student.

Hanukkah Parties

The Annual Hanukkah Parties for the students of the Religious School will be conducted on December 14 and December 15. The program will include the lighting of the candles, holiday songs and games, social and folk dancing and refreshments.

The refreshments for all of the parties will be provided for by the Parents Association under the supervision of Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, chairman of the Class Mothers and her group.

Parents Group Arranges New Lecture Series

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

At a recent meeting of Class Mothers, Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, chairman, found that many mothers were faced with countless questions posed by their youngsters such as, "What is Heaven?", "What Happens to my Soul?", "Where is God?" Many felt inadequate to answer these questions intelligently.

In order to help mothers meet these problems, Rabbi Nadich has graciously voluntecred to conduct a series of five lectures to be sponsored by the Parents Association. These will be based on the topic: "What shall I tell my child?" The first lecture will be given on Tuesday, January 7, at 1:15 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium and will be followed by four additional talks on the first Tuesday of each succeeding month thereafter.

The Parents Association feels that this is a wonderful opportunity which no mother should miss. All are cordially invited.

Men's Club To Discuss Stock Market Plunge

By HARVEY GLASSER

With a panel of Men's Club members comprised of Ben Boas, Fred L. Schaefer and Bernard Weinflash leading the way, Men's Club will plunge into the behind-the-scenes intricacies of the Stock Market at its December 17 meeting, at 8:30 P.M., in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Synagogue.

We, of Men's Club, are proud of the illustrious and talented men who make up our membership. To gather together a first-rate panel for a forum discussion on the gyrations of the Stock Market, we had only to call upon three of our own members.

Ben Boas has been a member of the Stock Exchange for over thirty years. A Lt. Commander in the Naval Reserve with service in both World Wars, Mr. Boas is a "Floor Trader" specializing in five stocks including International Nickel. His topic is "Intimate Revelations of the Stock Exchange".

Fred L. Schaefer is with Hirsch & Co., stock brokers, for over seven years. He was educated in Vienna, Paris and Switzerland and studied at the Academy of Music here in New York, intending to be a concert pianist. Fred speaks French and German fluently. His subject will be "Puts and Calls".

The third member of the panel, Bernard Weinflash, has been an account executive with the stock brokerage firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane for over five years. He is as well both a practising accountant and a member of the New York Bar. Mr. Weinflash also served as an Instructor at City College and as a Lecturer at Brooklyn College. He will talk on "Market Patterns and the Money Influence".

A number of other experts are also expected to attend and it should prove to be a fascinating evening for those who have watched the ups and downs of the Stock Market in utter bewilderment. Monroe Heyward will introduce the speakers and serve as moderator of the evening's program. An ample question and answer period will follow the panel discussion. As always, a collation will close the evening's activities.

Scout Group Activities

Boy Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 600 of the Park Avenue Synagogue participated recently in a three day overnight hike (Trekorce) to Camp Alpine in New Jersey. They arrived there before dark, the food was kosher, and religious services were held.

Accommodations were luxurious. Fifteen campers and two leaders had an oil heated cabin all to themselves. On Saturday night the boys played host to a neighboring troop at a big campfire. It was a most enjoyable week-end. Ours is the largest troop in the entire Yorkville section, which makes it necessary to restrict future membership to children of members of our synagogue. Meetings are held every Monday night at 7:00 P.M. in Room 302 of the Milton Steinberg House.

Girl Scouts

Our Girl Scout Troop with its very able leader, Mrs. Stanley Simon, recently participated in a joint program with the Girl Scout Troop from the School for the Deaf.

Both troops took a hike through the cool Schurz Park and then our scouts were guests for dinner at the School for the Deaf. It was a wonderful day for all concerned.

Cub Scouts

Our Cub Scouts recently held a Parents Night at which the individual projects of the boys were displayed and a demonstration of artificial respiration was given by Alfred Ross and Paul Mozian, members of our Cub Scout group. Awards were presented by Den Chief, Ronald Frank.

Scout Games were played, refreshments served and the meeting closed with a Scout Benediction.

Brownies

Brownies Troop 3-331, also part of our synagogue scout program, under the leadership of Mrs. Florence Pritz and Mrs. Altman held an investiture for new members on December 6.

The Brownies are now working on a holiday project for a children's ward of Mount Sinai Hospital. They are making drawings, word games and address books.

Sisterhood Plans Dinner-Dance for Jan. 12

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

What gayer way for Sisterhood to begin a sparkling new 1958 social season than a dinner-dance! Mrs. Irwin Rome, chairman of program, announces that this "Americana Festival" will take place on Sunday evening, January 12 at 6 o'clock in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Samuel Gellert, chairman of the dinner-dance, and her committee are busy making plans for a fun-packed get-to-gether. Dinner "a la Americana" will be served at $3.00 per person and will be followed by dancing instruction by Tobin and Lee of the Don Pallini Dance Studios. This promises to be a high light on the social calendar of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and a splendid opportunity for members—both old and new—to spend a friendly evening together.

Since space is limited, the committee urges you to make your reservations early. A phone call to Mrs. S. Gellert (Te 8-7964) or a note (170 East 61 Street) will insure you a delightful and entertaining Sunday evening.

Have you sent in your reservation for the dinner-dance which has been arranged for that evening? The price, three dollars per person, will cover the cost of a delicious dinner, dance instruction by Tobin and Lee of the Don Pallini Dance Studios, plenty of fun and many surprises.

We know that you will want to make this a "must" on your social calendar. This is your opportunity to spend an enjoyable social evening with the members of Sisterhood and their

Dedication of Pentateuchs And Prayer Books

The practice of memorializing the memory of our departed by dedicating our prayer books and Bibles in their names is an old tradition in the synagogue. Recently, mention of this tradition was made from the pulpit and referred to in the BULLETIN. The response from the members of our congregation has been heartwarming.

Many of our members, including the Nathan Gerbers, the Tubie Resnicks, the Charles Weisbergs, Mrs. Leo Rosenhirsch, and the Jerrold R. Goldings have already dedicated prayer books and Bibles in memory of their beloved departed. Mrs. A. Mnunchin made a donation for the specific purpose of purchasing these prayer books.

The new Bibles, edited by the late Dr. Joseph H. Hertz, Chief Rabbi of the British Empire and one of the early graduates of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, have an important advantage over the Bibles heretofore used at our services.

In addition to the Hebrew text and English translation, the new Bibles contain an interesting popular commentary in English, explaining and illuminating in fascinating fashion each significant verse. This commentary of Dr. Hertz is based not only on the work of the great medieval Hebrew commentators, but on modern biblical scholarship and on all branches of knowledge pertaining to the content of the Bible.

The use of these Bibles in the future will make that part of the service devoted to the reading of the Torah a study period for the individual worshipper who chooses to follow the reading of the text and the commentary upon it.

May we recommend this practice to others!

A Word of Appreciation To Hanukkah Committee

By MRS. ABRAHAM STANGEL

Sunday evening, December 22, marked another gala event in the history of the Park Avenue Synagogue—the Siyum Ha-Torah and Hanukkah Party.

After the service in the Synagogue at which two new Torot were donated by Mr. & Mrs. I. M. Cohen and Mr. & Mrs. Solomon E. Green, the evening was climaxed by a splendid Hanukkah Party in the Lemberg Auditorium.

For the smooth fuctioning of this memorable occasion, thanks go to the charming hostesses including Mrs. John Bauer, Mrs. Peter Cats, Mrs. Marcia Nasatir, Mrs. Arthur Morse, Mrs. Samuel Pritz, Mrs. Hector Ritey, Mrs. Robert Rubin, Mrs. Betty Smith and Mrs. Albert Siegel.

Mrs. Bruno Foa and Mrs. Grace Gilbert were responsible for the artistic decorations, and Mrs. David Altschul our gracious master of ceremonies. Also, Mrs. Harry Grunther, who besides her generous contribution of candy, personally arranged for kitchen help as did Mrs. Solomon E. Green. Mrs. Hahn, also a member of this committee, helped secure the delicacies at special rates to the Synagogue. Our thanks also go to Mr. Albert Siegel and Mrs. David Altschul who both helped in the serving, and to Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, co-chairman, responsible for this most enjoyable, entertaining evening.

Another feature of the evening was the recitation of a poem written by Mrs. Sidney R. Katz, wife of our executive director, by Rose Millicent Forster, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Emil Forster, active members of our congregation.

Bar Mitzvah Class Meets

The members of the Bar Mitzvah Class who will be Bar Mitzvah or Bat Mitzvah between January, 1958 and July, 1958. will hold their first meeting with Rabbi Judah Nadich on Wednesday, January 8, 1958 from 5:10 to 6 P.M. in room 403 of the Milton Steinberg House.

Rabbi Nadich will discuss with the students the origin of Bar Mitzvah and its significance to the individual and to the Jewish community. The students will also discuss some of the basic concepts of Judaism.

Polio Vaccination

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is concerned about the failure of so many people to take advantage of the Salk vaccine and has requested that the Synagogue Council of America, together with other church groups, bring this to the attention of their congregants.

The Foundation is particularly concerned about children in the Religious Schools as well as adults who do not realize that it is only by getting the entire series of three shots that one can obtain maximal protection against polio.

In the words of the Foundation circular: "It is necessary that we not only urge people to get their initial shot but that they get their second and third shots as well, as it is only through a complete program of vaccination that we can hope ultimately to rid ourselves of the threat of this disease."

In the spirit of public service, we are happy to bring this information to the attention of our congregation through the medium of the BULLETIN.

Education Forum Held By Mr. and Mrs. Club

By MRS. JEROME S. MITTLEMAN

The Mr. and Mrs. Club held an education forum on Tuesday, December 10. Panelists, moderated by Rabbi Judah Nadich, discussed the various types of schools and the individual benefits they offered.

Mr. Wm. C. Swallow, one of the participants, reviewed his conception of the ideal school and represented the private institutions. Mr. Isidor Margolis, another panel member, briefly pointed out his reasons for preferring religious schooling. Our own Mr. Sidney Katz outlined benefits offered by the public school system. Rabbi Nadich conducted an informative question and answer session and summarized the evening's flow of ideas.

The participants are to be thanked for so generously sharing their experiences and judgement so that those attending might carry away thoughts to consider regarding the education so vital to their children.

families. If you have neglected to send in your reservation, we suggest that you do so at once to make sure that you will be among those present since space is limited.

January 21 Meeting

According to Mrs. Solomon E. Green, president of Sisterhood, and Mrs. Irwin Rome, program chairman, plans are progressing splendidly for the luncheon meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 21. This is the meeting when Mrs. Judah Nadich will review "Remember Me to God", a novel by Myron S. Kaufmann. Be sure to keep this date open.

Dance Class

This year an unexpected source of income for Sisterhood's annual brunch and theatre party came from the Wednesday evening dance class.

This ambitious project which attracted over thirty eager terpsichoreans was made a reality through the efforts of its charming chairmen: Mrs. Jacob Klein and Mrs. David Altschul. On Wednesday evenings, strains of gay music intrigued many an on-looker to gaze with delight upon their talented friends doing the intricate steps of the rhumba, the cha-cha and even the lindy-hop.

Not only was the dance class a success socially, but also financially and, as a result, the group was able to make a contribution of $200 which Sisterhood's "coffers did fill." Our thanks to those whose contributions made this possible, and to Gertrude Klein and Edith Altschul fo a job well done.

Sisterhood Gift Shop

Sisterhood now boasts its own gift shop, the receipts of which are turned over to the Offering Fund to help the blind, the aged and the infirm.

Chairmen of this important phase of Sisterhood's activities are Mrs. A. Stangel and Mrs. A. Siegel who are on hand before and after every Sisterhood meeting to help you make your selections. Should you wish (and we hope you do) to donate any item to the gift shop, we assure you that your gift will be greatly appreciated. Please remember that your "white elephant" may become some one else's pet!

Ping Pong Tournament

During the past month, a ping pong and nok-hockey tournament was held by the teen-age clubs, under the able leadership of Mark Siegel. The competition was keen and resulted in several close matches. The final winners were: Harry Pincus in ping pong and Norman Robins in nok-hockey. Each of the winners was presented with a long playing album.

Special Salute To Harry

December 25 is an important date on the calendar for the Sokolow family. This year, it will be the occasion for the celebration of the seventy-fifth birthday of Harry J. Sokolow.

Harry is recognized as one of the stalwarts of the Park Avenue Synagogue. A member of the Board of Trustees for many years, Harry undertook the difficult task as chairman of the Membership Committee to implement the new dues policy adopted by the Board. That he succeeded in this arduous assignment was an accomplishment for which we shall be ever grateful.

United Synagogue Adopts New Programs

The recently completed biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America representing conservative congregations in the United States took steps in new directions.

One of the most significant decisions dealt with a resolution approving the formation of a world council of synagogues, generally following the orientation of the conservative movement in the United States. Representatives from eight other countries participated in the discussion preceding that decision.

The convention also went on record establishing a code of standards for synagogue practice following a vigorous debate. This will undoubtedly be the subject of debate in the months to come.

In an obviously different direction, a challenging report by Mr. I. B. Oseas, vice-chairman of the United Synagogue and president of their committee on the philosophy of conservative Judaism, a member of our Board of Trustees, presented an approach, the tenor of which ran counter to setting synagogue standards and relying upon the authority of others to set them. Mr. Oseas's report on Conservative philosophy was read in his absence to a plenary session of the convention and it was approved.

Sidney R. Katz, delegate from our synagogue to the convention, was on the program as consultant in the seminar on "Recruiting and Retaining Members." Hazzan David J. Putterman was chairman of another seminar on "Music for Your Synagogue." Mr. Katz also served as one of the staff consultants for congregations seeking advice in various administrative matters.

Parents Association News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Many mothers braved one of the season's worst storms recently to attend the Hanukkah Workshop sponsored by the Parents Association. Compliments were heard from each guest who entered the Sisterhood Lounge in the Milton Steinberg House, which had been appropriately decorated in celebration of Hanukkah.

Chairman of this project and originator of the charming, symbolic decorations was our talented Regina Stangel, who had created the traditional festival spirit with her appropriate centerpieces, menorahs, dreidels, games and recipes.

After a word of greeting, Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer,, president of the Parents Group, introduced Rabbi Nadish, who explained the history and the significance of Hanukkah. Hazzan David Putterman taught the blessings to be said over the lights, and the melodies which the family can sing to make the holiday more festive.

Mrs. Stangel told of the joy her interest in creating these decorations had brought to her and her family and urged all mothers to enrich the lives of their children by the traditional observance of the Hanukkah festival in the home.

New Lecture Series

"What shall I tell my child?" How often have all of us been faced with perplexing questions that seem impossible to answer! Now we have an opportunity to learn the appropriate replies to queries from our inquisitive youngsters. As an old proverb tells us, "He that nothing questioneth, nothing learneth."

Rabbi Nadich will conduct a series of monthly lectures on this topic, the first of which will be given on Tuesday, January 7, at 1:15 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium. All are welcome.

Synagogue Greets Jewish and Christian Neighbors

Passers by, who look at our bulletin board during the last two weeks of this month, will note that the Synagogue has greeted our Jewish and non-Jewish neighbors with the following inscription:

Hanukkah Greetings to Our Jewish Friends and Neighbors.

Christmas Greetings to Our Christian Friends and Neighbors.

Three Congregants Recently Honored

Saul Horowitz, Jr., son of Saul Horowitz, member of our Board of Trustees, was added to the Board of Directors of the 92nd Street Y.

Arthur Cohen, son of I. M. Cohen, one of our trustees, was recently named as one of the three Jewish scholars to serve in an advisory capacity on a special study being undertaken by the Fund for the Republic.

Irving Mitchell Felt, a member of the Advisory Council of our Board of Trustees, was recently elected as president of the Jewish Child Care Association. This group, which serves 1,500 children a year, is affiliated with the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York.

Head of the investment company, Graham-Paige Corporation, Mr. Felt has devoted much of his energy in behalf of various charitable, religious and communal activities. His election as president of one of Federation's important agencies is a well deserved tribute, and we, in the Park Avenue Synagogue, are happy to join in extending Mr. Felt our congratulations.

Federation Honors Selig

Milton J. Selig, vice-president of the Association of Master Painters and Decorators of New York, was the guest of honor at a recent dinner held by the Painters Division of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of the City of New York.

Mr. Selig, an active member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years and who has served on several of its committees, was honored by his associates for his efforts on behalf of Federation.

The guest speaker at the dinner was Mr. Saul Horowitz, Jr., son of Saul Horowitz, a member of our Board of Trustees and head of H.R.H. Construction Co. Mr. Horowitz, Jr. is a leader in the building and construction field and an associate chairman of the overall 1957-1958 Federation Campaign.

GUEST OF HONOR

LAZARE SAMINSKY

Lazare Saminsky To Be Honored At Friday Evening Service, January 31, In Celebration of Jewish Music Month

On Friday evening, January 31 at 8:30 P. M. our synagogue will inaugurate the celebration of Jewish Music Month. The entire service will consist of a tribute to the nationally famous composer—lecturer—conductor, Mr. Lazare Saminsky, music director of Temple Emanu-El of New York City.

Mr. Saminsky is presently completing fifty years of dedicated work in behalf of Jewish music.

Although he is also celebrating his seventy-fifth birthday, in his own words he states that this is "purely a casual and not cheerful matter."

The service will consist of music from his "Sabbath Evening Service" and he will speak on "Jewish Sacred Song: Present and Vistas."

Lazare Saminsky was born near Odessa, Russia, of a cultured and religious family of sea-traders, related on both sides of the family to eminent rabbis, among them Schneur Zalmon of Liosno, founder of Habad Hassidism. His higher education was received at St. Petersburg University and the Conservatory of Music—under Rimsky-Korsakov, in composition and orchestration. In his early years as a student, he became deeply interested in Jewish music. In 1908 he was a founder of the Jewish Folksong Society and as its first secretary and art chairman, he contributed much to research in and publication of Jewish compositions.

His major composer's debuts were in Koussevitsky's concerts in Moscow and in the Imperial Opera (1917), conducting his First Symphony. He became director of the Tiflis State Conservatory in the same year, leaving this post in 1919. After a year in London as music director of the Duke of York's and lecturer at Oxford University College, he emigrated to the United States in 1920.

Jacob Friedman Yahrzeit

The first Yahrzeit of the late Jaeob Friedman, Jr. will be observed at the Friday Evening Serviees to be held at our synagogue on January 17.

Uncle Jacob, as he was affectionately known to most of our congregation, served as president of the Park Avenue Synagogue from 1918 to 1948. During his tenure of office, which covered a period of thirty years, he rendered devoted service to our synagogue and inspired those who were assoeiated with him in carrying on the tradition of our institution. At the time of his death, he held the position of Honorary President, a post to which he was elected at the time of his retirement in 1948.

At our 75th anniversary celebration, Mr. Milton Weill, in reviewing the history of the Park Avenue Synagogue, referred in these words to the great part that Unele Jacob played in the growth of our institution:

> "Those of us who had the inspiring thrill of being associated with him recall that literally and figuratively he gave everything that he had to the growth and development of the Park Avenue Synagogue. Who will ever forget that for year after year, he personally eonducted or rendered what beeame famous at that time, as the Kol Nidre appeals? I would say that no anniversary, now or in the future, would be complete without our reverent and affectionate salute to his memory."

As we look about us and see the inereased activities in our synagogue and in the Milton Steinberg House, dedicated to the memory of our beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg, we eannot help but be aware of the great eontribution which was made by those who gave so much of themselves in the building of the future of Park Avenue Synagogue. Let the memory of Jaeob Friedman, Jr. be an inspiration to us to continue to build on the solid foundation which others have left us. —N.R.

A city-wide Conferenee on Adult Jewish Edueation was held by the New York Metropolitan Council of the United Synagogue of Ameriea on Sunday, January 12, 1958 at the Forest Hills Jewish Center, Forest Hills, Long Island.

This Conference was in the form of a public hearing on the status, needs and direction of Adult Jewish Education in the Conservative congregations of New York, and was a follow-up on an intensive survey reeently conducted by the Adult Education Committee.

Rabbis, adult education chairmen, educational directors and other congregational leaders interested in this vital subject attended the conference.

Presentations at the Conference were made by Mr. Saul Godwin, Park Avenue Synagogue; Rabbis Jack J. Cohen, The Society for the Advancement of Judaism and Myron Fenster, Jackson Heights Jewish Center, Consultants to the Adult Education Committee; Rabbi Marvin Wiener, Director of the National Academy for Adult Jewish Studies; Rabbi Ben-Zion Bokser, Forest Hills Jewish Center; Mr. Sol Jacobson, East Midwood Jewish Center.

Mr. Godwin, ehairman of the Metropolitan Council's Adult Education Committee, is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue and also served as chairman of its adult education program for several years.

Religious Query Omitted From '60 Federal Census

Following a nation wide protest, including a strong stand taken by the United Synagogue of America at its recent eonvention, the director of the Bureau of Census withdrew a proposed query on religion for the forthcoming 1960 census.

All national Jewish organizations had opposed inclusion of the religious inquiry on the ground that it violated the separation of church and state and the privacy of conscience.

Protestant groups were on both sides of the question, and Catholie organizations had been in favor of including the question.

Book-Marks

(From time to time the BULLETIN will print under the above heading information concerning new and old books worth reading. Such books should be purchased for your home or they may be borrowed from the Cohen Library of the Park Avenue Synagogue.)

A winter evening is a good time to sit in a comfortable chair at home and read an interesting book. One of the most important books in American Jewish literature has just been republished in a new edition—Judaism As A Civilization by Mordecai M. Kaplan. If you have not read this book as yet, it should be on your required reading list for 1958. The distinguished founder of the Reconstructionist movement, for half a century professor at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, in this book explains his philosophy of Judaism. There are many to whom the word, "Reconstructionism," is familiar, but its ideas unknown. The new appearance of this classical work offers a splendid opportunity for acquiring the kind of information which ought to be the intellectual possession of the alert American.

A new book with a sociological approach is titled American Judaism by Nathan Glazer. It offers a brief historical survey of the development of Reform, Orthodox and Conservative Judaism in this country, a sketchy analysis and a prognostication for the future.

One hundred years ago this month a man was born who has excercised a profound influence upon the State of Israel and the culture of Jews everywhere. Eliezer ben Yehuda set before himself the seemingly impossible task of transforming Hebrew from the written language of scholars to the spoken language of a living people. Before his death he was witness to the realization of his dream. This year, marking the eentennial of his birth, would be a good time to read the interesting fictionalized biography of him written by Robert St. John entitled, Tongue of the Prophets.

A new attractive book has just appeared with the title, Prayer, Humility and Compassion by the young Conservative rabbi of Springfield, Massachusetts, Rabbi Samuel Dresner. Making good use of the rich treasure-trove of Hasidie story, parable and wise teaching, the book makes for enjoyable reading. Ilya Schor has done the beautiful illustrations.

Adult Education Spring Session Continues; Dr. Baron To Lecture On "The Modern Age"

BY HOWARD KIEVAL

The second half of the 1957-58 Adult Education program began last Monday evening, January 13, in the Milton Steinberg House. One additional Hebrew course has been added at the 8 P. M. hour, in order to take care of the unexpectedly large number of applicants for the elementary "Hebrew Through Pictures" course. Hazzan Putterman will lead an eight session series in the Cantillations, the blessings for those called to the reading of the Torah and the Haftorah. This latter course is open to women as well as men. A course in conversational Hebrew is also offered at the same time.

Dr. Abraham S. Halkin, Associate Professor of Jewish History at the Jewish Theological Seminary, and Professor of Hebrew at City College, continued his discussion on "The European Age." Dr. Halkin will cover the period from the eight and ninth centuries right down to the French Revolution, in relationship to the development of the Jewish people throught Europe, from Spain to Russia, and from Greece and Turkey to Scandinavia. In many ways, some of the most spectacular literary and theological flowering of the four thousand year history of the Jewish people took place during this period in Europe. Often it occurred under very trying conditions, where one might not have expected the results which actually developed.

DR. SALO W. BARON

The next lecturer in the Major Series will be Dr. Salo W. Baron, who will speak on the evenings of January 27, February 3 and February 10. Dr. Baron, long a familiar figure on the lecture platform, is Professor of History at Columbia University, and Director of the Center of Israeli Studies there. He has been a most prolific author, and since 1939, Professor Baron has been Editor of Jewish Social Studies, a scholarly journal which is published quarterly.

Professor Baron will deal with the modern stages of Jewish history, from about 1800 to the present day. The development of intellctual, economic, and political freedom during the 19th and 20th centuries has had a more profound effect on Jewish thought and Jewish living than has been the case on many other cultural groups in Europe and Asia. In the first place, the destruction of the ghetto brought the Jews into contact with other people and with non-Jewish ideas to a greater degree than had been true for over a thousand years. Changing patterns of religious organization; the growth of Reform and Conservative Judaism; the entire impact of industrialization and the new finance on Jewish behavior and attitudes; the rise of internal weakening forces to Jewish solidarity . . . Dr. Baron will cover all these in his three lectures at the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The Adult Education Committee is under the chairmanship of Sidney J. Silberman, with Mrs. Arthur Morse and Howard A. Kieval serving as associate chairmen.

Dr. Judah Nadich will conclude this series with two lectures on "Retrospect and Prospect" to be delivered on February 17 and February 24.

Books At A Glance

BY HILDE KISCH, Librarian

During the last weeks, the Cohen Library has again added many interesting and valuable books to its collection, and a constant flow of new publication, and of course, also expected for the future. Only a few can be mentioned here.

We have been fortunate in acquiring two out-of-print items, both standard works in their respective fields: Jewish Life in the Middle Ages, by Israel Abrahams, published in 1896 by the Macmillan Company in London, presents all aspects of the Jews' activities, their social standing, inter-communal affairs, and relations with Christians from the beginning of the Middle Ages to the 17th century.. In A History of Medieval Jewish Philosophy, Isaac Husik interprets the ideas of such medieval thinkers as Isaac Israeli, Solomon Ibn Gabirol, Judah Halevi, Maimonides, and Levi Ben Gerson from their own point of view, conditioned by their history, environment, and the literary influences they experienced.

Among the recently published additions is David de Sola Pool's Why I Am a Jew, in which the author sets forth a synthesis of the religious, historic, cultural, and emotional consciousness of the Jew and his own joy at being one. In Their Brothers' Keepers, Philip Friedman relates the stories of the many selfless Christian humanitarians who tried to help and to save their Jewish brethren threatened by the scourge of Nazidom. There is also Nathan and Marynn Ausubel's A Treasury of Jewish Poetry from Biblical Times to the Present, with an introduction by the authors that provides a survey of Jewish poets and poetry throughout the ages. Itzhak Ben-Zvi, President of Israel, in The Exiled and the Redeemed, presents us with a study of the Jewish communities which have been for centuries on the periphery of Jewish life: those in Moslem countries, the sects of the Samaritans, Sabbateans, and Karaites, and certain groups of Jewish extraction who were forced by their Moslem conquerors to adopt the Moslem faith. The role of the State of Israel in "the ingathering of the exiles" is also treated. In Hebrew Man, Ludwig Kohler, an outstanding Bible scholar, deals with the thought, physical characteristics, religion, and folkways

Synagogue College Group

BY HYMAN SANKEL

College Reunion

Thirty-three college were represented at the party held for college men and women of our congregation on December 26. It once again reunited boys and girls who had been associated with the Synagogue, the Religious School, and our Youth Activities program. It was an enjoyable evening for all who attended. It provided Rabbi Judah Nadich with an opportunity for meeting these young people. He welcomed the group and spoke to them briefly about our program for college students.

The committee which prepared the dinner included Mrs. Herman Helpern, Chairman of the Youth Activities Division, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg, Mrs. Harry Zucker who were Chairmen of the event and Mrs. Abraham Blau, Mrs. Al Siegel, Mrs. David Altschul and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer. Mr. David Altschul and Mr. Al Siegel also assisted. Miss Doris Wimpfheimer was Chairman of the Hostess Committee.

"A Believing Jew" Presented

College students who attended the Friday Evening Service held in their honor on December 27 were awarded a Hanukkah gift in the form of Milton Steinberg's "A Believing Jew." Each book was appropriately inscribed by officials of the Synagogue.

It is hoped that this gift will stimulate the college men and women of our congregation to develop their own Jewish book collection. This practice of presenting a book of Jewish interest to college students attending the annual service will be continued each year.

Joe Weinstein Honored at NYU Anniversary Dinner

At the twentieth anniversary dinner of the Jewish Culture Foundation of New York University, Gold Keys of Merit Awards were presented to outstanding men and women for their "loyality, devotion, and support of Jewish culture and interfaith ideals." One of the recipients of this award was Joe Weinstein, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Mr. Weinstein, chairman of the board of Mays Department Store, has been identified with religious, philanthropic and cultural activities for many years and we are proud to join in extending our congratulations to one of our congregants who has been desigrated for this signal honor.

The New York University Jewish Cultural Foundation was founded in 1937. Its program includes extracurricular activities, cooperation with the academic program offered in the School of Education's department of Hebrew culture and education, and the maintenance of the Library of Judaica and Hebraica at the University's Center at Washington Square, New York City.

During the War for Independence in 1947 and 1948, Mr. Kidron served on the staff of the Israeli Army brigade headquarters in Jerusalem and as Military Governor of North Jerusalem during the siege.

In September 1953, he came to the United States as Deputy Permanent Representative of Israel to the United Nations in New York.

Mr. Kidron's presentation of the present situation in Israel and the promising vistas of the future was enthusiastically received by the audience.

Jewish Theatre for Children

The students in the Hebrew Departmen of the Religious School will attend a performance of "Two Tales" at the Joan of Arc Playhouse, 154 West 93 Street, on Sunday, February 2, 1958 at 2:30 P.M.

"Two Tales" is probably the most colorful production staged by the Jewish Theatre for Children in its thirteen-year history. It consists of two plays dramatizing legends of King Solomon—ancient Israel's Age of Glory. The plays have music composed by Robert Starer, a noted composer whose works have been played by the New York Philharmonic, and by Jedidjah Admon, dean of Israeli composers.

The plays, which are presented in English by professional actors, appeal to children of all ages. Parents of our younger students in the Primary Department will find that a visit to the Theatre on a Sunday afternoon, with their children, will be a valuable and stimulating Jewish cultural experience for the entire family.

Open School Week

The Jewish Education Committee of New York has announced "Open School Week" for visits of parents to our religious schools to coincide with the week of Tu B'Shevat.

The students of our Primary Department will play host to their parents on Sunday, February 2 between 9:45 and 12 noon. Visitors to the school will have an opportunity to observe the instruction and to discuss with the teachers the curriculum of the class and the work of the individual students.

Parents of students in the Hebrew Department are invited to visit the classes during the afternoon session on Wednesday, February 5 and Thursday, February 6.

Hazzan Putterman Married To Rea Racoosin

Hazzan David J. Putterman was married in a private ceremony in the Chapel of our Synagogue, Saturday night, December 28 to Mrs. Rea Racoosin, the widow of the late Mr. Abram W. Racoosin, who was a brother of the late Amy B. Putterman.

Rabbis Albert I. Gordon, Judah Nadich and Hazzan Abraham Friedman officiated.

Mrs. Nadich To Review "Remember Me To God"

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The next open meeting of Sisterhood will take place on Tuesday, January 21, 12 P. M., in the Lemberg Auditorium of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Following luncheon, which will be served at noon, Mrs. Judah Nadich will review "Remember Me To God," a novel by Myron S. Kaufmann. Now in its fifth printing, this best-seller tells about a Harvard young man of Jewish birth whose aim in life, says the New York World-Telegram, "is to join the world of the George Apleys—at whatever cost." Another reviewer has described this novel "as Myron S. Kaufmann's literary exploration of the problem of Jewish adjustment to American life."

Sisterhood has been fortunate to have Mrs. Nadich review this book and discuss its implications. A question and answer period with audience participation will follow her talk. This promises to be a most provocative discussion and should stimulate a great deal of serious thought.

Dinner-Dance Report

Orchids to Mrs. Samuel Gellert, chairman, and her fine committee for making the Sisterhood Dinner-Dance on January 12 such a success!

The large number who attended agreed that the delicious buffet-supper, the intriguing dance instruction, the warm spirit of good fellowship that invaded the Lemberg Auditorium made this party one of the gayest ever held in the Synagogue.

Sisterhood has set a fine precedent, and no doubt will be urged to plan other such enjoyable, social evenings.

Jacob Friedman Yahrzeit

their talk will be a "Portrait of a Leader," as a memorial to the late Mr. Friedman.

A plaque will be affixed to the seat occupied by the late Mr. Friedman, reading:

"Jacob Friedman, Jr.
Humanitarian — Philanthropist — Idealist — Worshipped from this seat for 55 years and served the Congregation as its president from 1918 to 1948."

Saminsky To Be Honored

His activities here are well known. He has appeared as guest conductor with the New York Philharmonic, the Detroit, Washington and Cleveland Symphonies. He was founder of the League of Composers and of the Three Choir Festival. He has been music director at Temple Emanu-El since 1923. He has written the book "Music of the Ghetto and the Bible," one of the most important works on Jewish music.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow in the Lemberg Auditorium so that our worshippers may have an opportunity to be received by Mr. Saminsky.

Rosenthal Estate Legacy Of $2500 To Synagogue

At the last meeting of the Board of Trustees, Judge Sanford H. Cohen, chairman of the Law Committee, announced that the Park Avenue Synagogue had been designated as the beneficiary of $2,500 legacy by the late Julius Rosenthal in his last Will and Testament.

The bequest was an outright gift but the Board decided to place a memorial tablet in memory of the late Mr. Rosenthal on the main plaque in the lobby of the Milton Steinberg House.

Although Mr. Rosenthal was not a member of the Synagogue, he was identified with it through members of his family who worshipped with us. That he included the Park Avenue Synagogue in the list of his legatees in such a generous manner indicates the high esteem in which he held our institution.

Parents Association News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

New Lecture Series

Under the auspices of the Parents Association, Rabbi Nadich began a series of monthly lectures on various phases of that important, often baffling topic: "What shall I tell my Child?"

The first of this series took place on January 5. These discussions will begin punctually at 1:15 P.M.. and those who plan to attend are requested to be seated in the Lemberg Auditorium by that time. Each lecture will last no longer than an hour. All are invited, and it is hoped that a great number of mothers will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to learn the appropriate answers to the questions posed by their inquiring youngsters.

The following subjects will be discussed by Rabbi Nadich on the afternoons noted:

February 25—"What Shall I Tell My Child About Death and Immortality?"

March 26—"What Shall I Tell My Child About Religion in the Home?"

April 23—"What Shall I Tell My Child About Passover and the Festivals?"

May 21—"What Shall I Tell My Child About Anti-Semitism and Why People Hate?"

Purim Workshop

Before you know it. Purim will be here with the usual Purim festivities. Perhaps your child has already urged you to get his costume for the annual Purim Party at the Synagogue.

For all mothers who have to meet the problem of creating Queen Esther, King Ahasueres, Haman and Mordecai costumes, the Parents Association has the solution. Mrs. A. Stangel, so well known for her creative genius, has promised once again to conduct a Purim Workshop several weeks before Purim. Here you will be able to buy your child's costume at a very nominal price. To insure just the costume you want, we suggest you phone Mrs. Stangel (Sa 2-6335) to place your order in advance.

Business Ethics To Be Discussed By Men's Club

By HARVEY GLASSER

Mr. William F. Mills, Jr., from the public relations and sales department of the National Better Business Bureau, will discuss the topic: "Fostering and promoting ethical business standards," at the January 28 meeting of Men's Club in the Lemberg Auditorium at 8:30 P. M. Your friends are welcome.

Most people are aware of the name Better Business Bureau but few realize the important functions it serves. This organization encourages voluntary self-regulation of business and business ethics. The idea behind it all is to build public confidence in business and business systems.

Mr. Mills will discuss his organization's work in those areas where there are (1) direct violations of law or rules and regulations, and (2) where the business activity is not in violation of the law but is, nevertheless, misleading to the public.

Our guest speaker is a native New Yorker, now residing at Oyster Bay, L. I. He attended NYC public schools and received batchelor's and master's degrees from Hofstra College. Mr. Mills is married, has one child and is active in his community's affairs. being a past-president of the Civic Association and a member of PTA.

If you have ever been prompted to say, "I think this should be reported to the Better Business Bureau," this is your chance to find out what would have happened if you had done so.

On February 25, Men's Club will be privileged to present an informative talk on the Middle East by the Assistant Director of the Turkish Information Office. Watch for further details in the next issue of the Bulletin.

Parents Ass'n Sponsors Service, Friday, Jan. 24

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

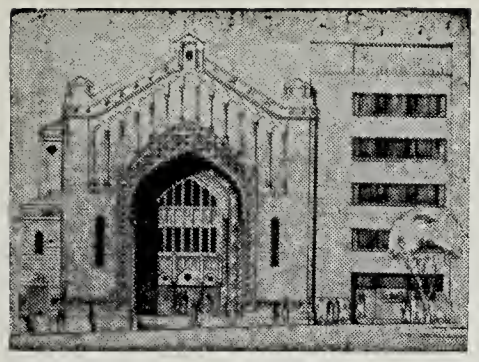

On January 24, the Parents Association will sponsor the Friday Evening Service at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Through the years, this service, always well attended, has become known as Family Night when parents and their families come together to worship.

Dr. Samuel M. Blumenfield, well known author and lecturer, will be the guest speaker. He is now director of the Department of Education and Culture of the Jewish Agency. Prior to his present post, Dr. Blumenfield served for a number of years as president of the National Council for Jewish Education, The Chicago Rabbinical Association, and The College of Jewish Studies of Chicago.

Dr. Blumenfield has written several books among which are Maimonides the Educator, John Dewey and Jewish Education, and Israel and the American Jew. He has also been a contributor to many magazines, including the Jewish Education Magazine and the Reconstructionist.

Several members of the Parents Group will participate in the reading of the prayers. Following the services, an Oneg Shabbat will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium. There will be a symposium based upon the lecture with a question and answer period, which should evoke keen interest.

UJA Women's Division Launches 1958 Campaign

The Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York will launch its 1958 campaign on Monday. February 17, in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Astor Hotel. More than 3,000 leaders of the women's organizations in the metropolitan area are expected to attend this opening rally.

The crisis which looms over the Jewish world today has placed greater obligations on American Jewry than ever before. The most immediate problem concerns 70,000 Jews in Eastern Europe, North Africa, and other Moslem areas who must be brought to safety in Israel and other free lands next year.

This rescue operation must be carried out at a time when Israel's people are being pressed by the hostility of their neighbors to maintain a costly national defense system.

Leaders of the UJA, aroused by these grave responsibilities, are calling for all-out support of the 1958 campaign. The Women's Division of UJA plays a vital role in this effort to insure the survival of the tens of thousands of endangered

Rabbi Nadich To Give Lecture Series At Friday Evening Services, Commencing February 7

Rabbi Judah Nadich will give a series of lectures at the regular Friday evening services, commencing on Friday, February 7, and continuing on the following Friday evenings, February 14 and 21.

The series will deal with the attitudes of Jewish tradition in three basic areas of contemporary concern: the family, integration, and the relations between capital and labor.

The first lecture on Friday evening, February 7, will deal with the subject: "What Does Judaism Have to Say About the Family?" Rabbi Nadich will also include a discussion on juvenile violence in the schools today.

The following Friday evening, February 14, Rabbi Nadich will discuss "What Does Judaism Have to Say About Integration?" and the final lecture in this series will be given Friday evening, February 21, on the relations between capital and labor.

It should be of interest to see where Judaism can help us in our formulation of our own ideas on these vital modern problems.

Milton Steinberg Series Planned For March

The annual lecture series in memory of our late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg will be held this year on Monday, March 3, Monday, March 10 and Friday, March 21.

In view of the fact that Jewry the world-over will be celebrating this year the Tenth Anniversary of the State of Israel and because the love of Zion was one of the motivating forces in the life and thought of Rabbi Steinberg, the series this year will center about the theme of Zionism and the Jewish State. The names of the prominent lecturers who will participate in this series will be announced in a future issue of the BULLETIN.

This advance notice is being made now so that the members of the Park Avenue Synagogue and all those who honor the memory of Rabbi Steinberg will be able now to reserve in their calendar the first two Monday evenings of March and the third Friday evening, when the eighth yahrzeit will be observed.

Message From Our Board Chairman

Dear Congregants:

One of the problems which has faced our Board of Trustees for many years is the "hand to mouth living" philosophy concerning our synagogue budget. During the past twenty years, we had been receiving just about enough dues from our congregational members to meet our annual budget. For such cooperation and devotion we are very grateful indeed. But should we be content with this arrangement alone? Would any businessman be satisfied to run his personal affairs without a plan of insurance against future disaster? I think not. Yet, the membership of our congregation has until now permitted itself to drift along, unmindful of what the future may bring.

Accordingly, I have recently appointed a Committee on Gifts, Wills and Bequests, whose job it will be to seek and obtain gifts through donations during ones lifetime, as well as bequests in ones Will. Fortunately, the policy of our government has been to encourage voluntary giving and our tax laws have actually been written to promote charitable contributions by making the tax cost to the donor surprisingly low.

The Committee on Gifts, Wills and Bequests met recently and discussed a program of procedure. You will shortly be receiving a brochure through the mail outlining how and the type of gifts which may be made to Park Avenue Synagogue. Won't you please study the brochure and discuss it with any of our Committee members? We know in our hearts that the bulwark against spiritual corrosion and assimilation is the synagogue. Is it then not the time now to prepare ourselves with a reserve fund from which deficits could be met—from which improvements could be made—from which scholarships and chairs may be endowed—and to finally create an incentive for the future generations who will succeed us?

The Committee consists of the following members:

Hon. Maxwell Shapiro, Chairman
George Armour
Isidore M. Cohen
Hon. Sanford H. Cohen
Newton Glekel
Harry Halbren
Reuben R. Kaufman
Joseph Mandelbaum
Milton M. Sivek
Asa D. Sokolow
Milton Weill
Rabbi Judah Nadich, Advisory

May we have your individual and cooperative help in this undertaking?

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ
Chairman, Board of Trustees

Torah Crown Presented To Jewish Museum

A unique eighteenth century Polish Torah Crown, an important part of the traditional dressing of the Torah Scroll, has been donated to the Jewish Museum by Dr. Harry G. Friedman, noted collector of New York City.

The Museum's new acquisition was executed by George Kahlert, a Master of Breslau, Germany, in 1750. It is of silver gilt with cut-out aplique and repousse work inlaid with semi-precious stones and stands 16 inches high. Biblical figure representations in relief depict Abraham and Isaac (the sacrifice of Isaac), Jacob (Jacob's Dream), Moses, Aaron, David and Solomon. This is the sixth such Torah crown with figure decorations to be recovered. Of the five known remaining crowns containing the rare pattern, two are at the Jewish Museum, two are known to be in Warsaw, Poland, and one has been lost.

A Hebrew inscription encircling the base identifies this crown as having come from Lissa, Poland, a former Jewish metropolis of Greater Poland and well-known center of Talmudic learning whose scholars were known as "the wise men of Lissa."

The Jewish Museum of the Jewish Theological Seminary located at 92nd Street and Fifth Avenue is open Mondays through Thursdays from 1-5 p.m. and Sundays from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission to the Museum is free at all times.

Summer Camping And Your Child

It used to be that parents, before sending their children to a summer camp, would make inquiries about the bunks, the food and the physical facilities. However, in recent years parents have come to understand more and more that the summer months offer an excellent opportunity for children in camp to benefit from their environment not only physically, but spiritually and intellectually as well. Hence, discerning parents today will make careful investigation about the complete program of the camp to which they plan to send their children. In some cases they will discover that the program of a camp is totally at variance with the parents' aims in the raising of their children. For example, parents who send their children to synagogue services and to a religious school all through the school year, by error may send their children to a summer camp which vitiates and nullifies all that the child has been trained to believe and practice.

Fortunately, during this past decade a new type of summer camp has been developed under the auspices of the Teachers Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. Beginning with one Camp Ramah in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, there are today four such camps, the other three being in Connecticut, Wisconsin and California. One of our own members, Mr. Reuben R. Kaufman, is President of Camp Ramah in Connecticut. These camps offer a complete summer camping program of athletics, arts and crafts gardening and all the normal social and recreational activities. The physical facilities and the food are of the highest quality. The personnel, including camp directors and counsellors, are the finest of young people. But, in addition, these non-profit camps offer a joyous and relaxed Jewish atmosphere. Hebraic values are transmitted to the campers through discussion, study and song. The result is that instead of the summer months being either an empty gap in Jewish education or in conflict with its aims, they thus become an instrument for happy growth. The end of each summer sees hundreds of children becoming enthusiastic and loyal advocates of the type of summer camping given at Ramah.

This explains why it is so difficult to register new children at any one of the four Ramah camps. Once children have

Jewish Music Month Meeting

Sisterhood will celebrate Jewish Music Month with a luncheon and open meeting on Tuesday, February 18, in the Lemberg Auditorium. An entertaining program has been arranged by Doris Rome, chairman of the program committee.

Martha Schlamme, the well-known Viennese soprano, will be the guest artist and will sing folk songs of many lands. Miss Schlamme has been a featured singer on the B.B.C. network in London and as one of the most popular performers at the London Players Theatre. A capacity audience of 1500 acclaimed Miss Schlamme on the occasion of her two New York Town Hall recitals. Her selections include folk songs from Israel, Yiddish folk songs, and Negro spirituals which she sings with charm, sympathy and intelligence. Her explanations of her songs, too, add to the enjoyment of her performance.

During the afternoon, a new film strip, "This is your Guild", will be presented. This will give a first-hand view of the wonderful work of the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind and will be narrated by Mrs. Edward Peiper.

Through its Offering Fund and through its contribution of five percent of the receipts of the brunch theatre party, Sisterhood has helped to support this worthy cause for many years.

Report of Previous Meeting

Those of us who heard Mrs. Judah Nadich review Myron Kaufmann's "Remember Me To God" were charmed by her interesting, graphic, and exceptionally well organized discussion of this provocative novel. Mrs. Nadich probed searchingly into the hero's problem of Jewish adjustment to American life. She spoke informally and authoritatively about a complex situation and held the interest of her large audience throughout her discussion.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Sol Green, president of Sisterhood, spoke of the untiring work of Mrs. Ben Sack and her committee in achieving the tremendous success of the December brunch and theatre party. She then presented Freda Sack with a gold charm inscribed "Mazel"—with the grateful appreciation of Sisterhood.

One of the most fascinating and important chapters in Jewish history is the story of Jewish life in Spain during the Middle Ages. The great achievements of the Jews in all fields of human endeavor and the high cultural level which they maintained in that country greatly influenced Spanish civilization and that of the world at large. Several of our new acquisitions deal with this period.

Two of these works come to the Cohen Library thanks to the efforts of Mr. Martin Leichtling, principal of the Regious School. Abaham A. Neuman's excellent two columes, The Jews in Spain, depict all aspects of their activities against the background of the State in which they lived until the tragedy of their expulsion in 1492 brought to an end the era that is generally called "the golden age" of Spanish Jewry. Among many other topics the author surveys the internal organization of the Jewish community, which had the right of self-administration, taxation, and legal jurisdiction: the economic conditions of its members: rabbinic culture: the role played by the synagogue; and the great personalities the milieu produced. Although Professor Neuman's work is of a very scholarly nature and based on painstaking research in primary source material, it is highly interesting reading and easily understandable also to the general reader. One of the outstanding Jewish poets and thinkers of twelfth century Spain is portrayed and evaluated by Rudolf Kayser in The Life and Time of Jehudah Halevi. Though this book does not claim to be a learned tome or original in character, it presents a general vista of a great age to whose spirit Jehudah Halevi gave voice both in his Hebrew poems and in his philosophic work.

The most eminent Jewish philosopher of all time, a product of the same period, whose influence left permanent marks on Jewish as well as Christian thinking, is appraised in Jacob Minkin's The World of Moses Maimonides. This book offers a humanly written biography of the great Rambam, as Maimonides is also called, together with the essence of wisdom gleaned from selections of his religious, philosophic, and ethical teachings. To extracts from Maimonides' writings on such subjects as God and the Torah, Divine Providence, the existence of evil, government, education and health, are added Rabbi Minkin's erudite and illuminating commentaries and explanations, which make his learned study a delight to read. He is also the author of another book available in the Library, dealing with Jewish-Spanish history. In Abardanel and the Expulsion of the Jews from Spain he narrates very interestingly the life-story of that outstanding scholar, thinker, and statesman, who was the last of a long line of brilliant Jews of the Iberian peninsula.

Men's Club Appoints Armed Services Committee

The Armed Services Committee, recently appointed by the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is anxious to receive the names of the men and women of our congregation serving in the Armed Forces of our country.

Mr. Nat B. Gerber, chairman of this special committee, requests that parents or relatives of those men and women now serving our country or who will, in the near future, go into the service, furnish their names and military addresses to the synagogue office.

The purpose of the committee is to act as a link between our congregation and our men and women in the Armed Forces. Youth Group To Conduct Sabbath Services, Mar. 1

Another milestone has been attained by our teenage youth groups with the inception of the sponsorship of a Sabbath Service on March 1. This group is accepting the responsibility for the conduct of the entire Service. The young people who are the products of our religious school will don their robes, kipoth and talaisim and chant the Haftorah, read portions of the Bible, preach the sermon and conduct the Service. This event provides an opportunity for our young people to practice the learnings they acquired in school and to continue their identification with the Synagogue.

Mrs. Joseph Druss, Guest Speaker, At Sisterhood Friday Eve Service, Mar. 7

By Rhea M. Ruttenberg

On March 7, Sisterhood will sponsor the Friday Evening Service at the Park Avenue Synagogue. Our own Mrs. Joseph George Druss will speak on: "What my Synagogue Affiliation Means to Me." Several members of Sisterhood will read the prayers in English and in Hebrew during the service.

Mrs. Druss—Ruth to all of us who know her—is a lawyer who, since her retirement from active practice, has devoted her time to many welfare services.

Stirred by the suffering of the Jews in Europe, Mrs. Druss has concerned herself with the rescue job overseas, the immigration and the resettlement in the United States of many Jews who have been homeless since the Hitler era. As an active member of the Board of the Central Volunteer Bureau of the Community Council of Greater New York, she has helped set up training courses and standards for volunteer participation in recognized agencies in the city.

Mrs. Druss is vice-president of the New York Section of the National Council of Jewish Women and is in charge of many of its community welfare projects. Her interests lie, too, in helping the chronically ill at the Goldwater Memorial Hospital on Welfare Island, as well as at the Katherine Engel Center for older people.

At present, Mrs. Druss is working for her master's degree at Columbia in the field of marriage and family life. She is the wife of Dr. Joseph George Druss, long an active member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and the proud mother of Sue, a senior at the Walden School, and of Richard, a medical student at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia.

Following the services, there will be an oneg shabbat in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Down With That Wall

(The following editorial, appropriate for Brotherhood Week, appeared in the Horace Mann Record, the student weekly publication of the Horace Mann School, February 24, 1953. It was written by David A. Ruttenberg, who was Bar Mitzvah and confirmed at the Park Avenue Synagogue).

Last week, we celebrated Brotherhood Week. Newspapers and magazine articles, radio and television programs have contained thousands and thousands of words about Brotherhood. We have listened attentively to the expostulations of public speakers and representatives of inter-faith movements, and most of us have agreed with the thoughts expressed, yet many of us will return to our limited, narrow, little world.

Why build a wall around ourselves? An imaginary wall, to be sure, but a circumscribing wall, nevertheless, and within whose limits, there lurks hypocrisy, intolerance, prejudice, and most tragic of all, bigotry. In fact, the very nature of our self-imposed hermitage is conducive to the development of these evils.

This is a big world and there are many kinds of people in it. In this fast-moving Atomic Age, we must learn to live with our neighbors whether we want to or not. None of us is self-sufficient and none of us can live without the association of those outside our little circle. Although they may come from different racial, religious and cultural back grounds, they have something of value to offer. All we must do is to get to know them, to have a better understanding of their point of view, and to realize that they, too, are human beings entitled to enjoy the freedoms guaranteed to all Americans.

Heywood Broun once said. "Brotherhood is not just a Bible word." It is a potent word with far-reaching implications. When we adopt a biased, discriminatory attitude, whether in thought or in our every day actions towards others, we are manifesting a form of prejudice. This is not Brotherhood.

It is significant that Brotherhood Week should be celebrated during the month of February, when we honor the memories of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, two of our greatest Americans. They exemplified humility and dignity of character in the strictest sense. They knew no prejudice; they knew no bigotry; to them, Brotherhood meant a way of daily life.

Down with that wall! Let us put into practice the true spirit of Brotherhood, not only one week of the year, but every day of our life.

Rabbi In The Community

Rabbi Nadich addressed the annual breakfast of the Council of Mens Clubs in Buffalo on February 9. He also participated recently in the programs of the annual luncheon of the Federation of Jewish Womens Organizations and of the Womens Division of the United Jewish Appeal.

He has accepted appointments to serve on the Board of Directors of the 92nd Street YMHA and of its Committee on Jewish Activities, the Board of Directors of the Jewish Braille Institute, the Board of Directors of Massad Camps and as delegate to the Synagogue Council of America, representing the United Synagogue of America.

He is also serving as a non-governmental delegate of the United Nations, representing the Synagogue Council of America.

Rabbi To Address Youth Group

On Sunday, afternoon March 9, Rabbi Judah Nadich will address the Teenage Youth Group. At this time he will provide guidance and counsel to our young people.

Questions and problems concerning Judaism, customs, rituals, inter-marriage and dating will be discussed. The young people are eagerly anticipating this meeting with the Rabbi. It is hoped that many of their doubts and misunderstandings will be clarified at that time.

On the fourteenth day of Adar, that is, on Wednesday evening March 5, we will celebrate Purim in commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from the destruction that was to have befallen them through the scheming of Haman, vizier in the court of King Ahasuerus. They were saved from disaster by the courageous action of the King's Jewish wife, Queen Esther, and her kinsman Mordecai. The story of the holiday is vividly told in the Biblical Book of Esther, which has often been the subject of research and historic interpretation by outstanding Bible scholars. Whatever may be the critical opinion of the historic authenticity of the Purim story, through the centuries the holiday has been celebrated by the Jews with joy and merrymaking because of the message of faith and courage it conveys.. Many Jewish authors have treated its spiritual meaning, as well as the legends, customs, and traditions connected with it.

The Cohen Library has several books presenting excellently the character and idea of the festival. Of these the most comprehensive is The Purim Anthology, compiled by Philip Goodman. It contains contributions by learned authors on the origin of Purim (Dr. Solomon Grayzel); on Purim in art (Rachel Wischnitzer), literature and music; on Purim celebrations in many lands; on pranks, plays, and parties customary on this day; and, above all, on how the holiday is celebrated in the synagogue. A music supplement is likewise included.

N. S. Doniach's Purim or the Feast of Esther is a historical study of the origin, synagogue service, and customs pertaining to the festival. The volume also has a chapter on Purim stories, songs, and parodies. In Purim and Hanukkah, Theodor Gaster gives a new interpretation of the Book of Esther and attempts "to sketch the true history and development of the two familiar Jewish festivals, and at the same time to describe the manner of their observance throughout the ages." He presents not only a traditional, but also a critical, view of their origins. A shorter version of his ideas can be found in the treatise on Purim in his book, Festivals of the Jewish Year. Concise chapters on all aspects of the holiday are included in

The annual series of lectures in memory of Rabbi Milton Steinberg will this year feature three internationally known speakers, Dr. Cecil Roth of England, Dr. Imanuel Ben-Dor of Israel and Mr. Maurice Samuel.

Since the Tenth Anniversary of the establishment of the State of Israel will be observed this year and because the love of Israel and the land of Israel was characteristic of Rabbi Steinberg, Israel will be the theme of this year's series. The lectures will take place on Monday evening, March 3, Monday evening, March 10 and Friday evening, March 21.

This series will begin on Monday, March 3 at 8:30 P. M. with Dr. Cecil Roth speaking on "The World Significance of the State of Israel." A member of the faculty of Oxford University since 1939, Dr. Roth is one of the world's outstanding historians. He is the author of more than thirty volumes and hundreds of articles. He considers his greatest distinction to have been the fact that he was included among the list of the first five hundred to be arrested by the Nazis when they should land in England. He has lectured in many lands and is now visiting the United States.

On Monday evening, March 10, Dr. Imanuel Ben-Dor will speak on "Searching For Israel's Past," a lecture to be illustrated with slides that have just arrived from Israel and never before shown in this country. Dr. Ben-Dor is the Deputy Director of the Department of Antiquities of the Government of Israel and is currently visiting professor at the Harvard Divinity School. His lecture will concern itself with the archaeological excavations in Israel during these past ten years, laying bare many hitherto unknown facts about the ancient past in the land of Israel.

On Friday evening, March 21, when the yahrzeit of Rabbi Milton Steinberg will be observed, the guest speaker will be Mr. Maurice Samuel who will interpret the significance of Zionism and the State of Israel for American Jewry today. Mr. Samuel is well-known to our congregation and indeed to Jews everywhere. He is a respected and esteemed lecturer, novelist and translator. There is hardly an English-speaking community anywhere in the free world which has not had the joy of hearing him speak and which does not look forward to his return.

Certainly all those who read this notice will plan to be present on these three evenings both for the intrinsic value of this extraordinary series of lectures and in order to pay honor to the memory of the late beloved rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Washington's Birthday

The Religious School will conduct regular classes on Saturday, February 22.

Class 4A of the Hebrew Department will lead the Junior Congregation in worship and Kiddush will be served by the class mothers of the Parents Association.

Purim Carnival

The Lemberg Auditorium will be transformed into a carnival area on Sunday, March 2 at 10:00 A.M. The students of the Religious School, dressed in holiday costumes, will hold their Annual Purim Carnival. They will have an opportunity to spend their "carnival" money at their gayly-decorated booths featuring games of chance and skill. Parents, too, will join in the fun and, by spending their money freely, will help to strengthen our Keren Ami fund.

A feature attraction of the morning will be a costume parade. Some students, assisted by their parents and grandparents, have been busy preparing colorful and attractive costumes. Others have purchased their costumes from Mrs. A. Stangel and her creative group of costume-designers. All students, who come to the carnival dressed in Shushan costumes, will be eligible for the ten door prizes to be distributed to the holders of lucky numbers.

Megillah Reading

The reading of the Megillah for students of the Religious School will be held on Wednesday, March 5 at 4:30 P.M. in the Main Synagogue. Greggers will be distributed to all the students and the traditional hamentashen will be served at the conclusion of the service.

Parents of the children both in the Primary Department and in the Hebrew Department are invited to attend the service with their children.

Parents Ass'n Activities

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The next meeting of the Parents Association, March 19, will have for its theme: "How to Celebrate Passover at Home."

In order to help parents provide a meaningful and inspirational observance of the Passover Holiday, the Parents Association has asked Rabbi Nadich to discuss the history, meaning, and significance of Passover. Hazzan Putterman will explain the songs to be sung during this Festival—all of which will help bring into your home the joy and spirit of Pesach.

Chairman of decorations will be our creative Regina Stangel who has promised to arrange a charming seder table, complete with the Pesach symbols and authentic in every respect.

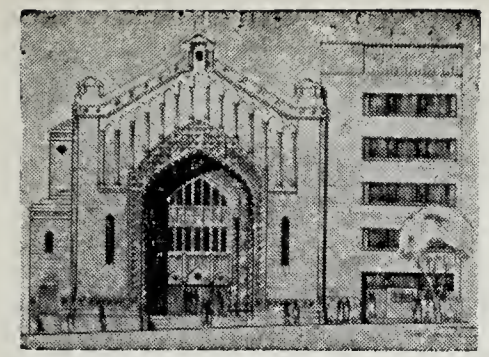

The Parents Association invites you and your friends to attend this important meeting which hopes to re-awaken for many the richness and beauty of Passover—the Jewish Festival of Freedom.

Lecture Series

Once again, we wish to remind mothers that the second in the series of lectures by Rabbi Nadich will be given on Tuesday, February 25, at 1:15 p.m. in the Lemberg Auditorium. The topic for discussion will be "What Shall I tell my child about Death and Immortality?"

Following the lecture, there will be a question and answer period which should prove invaluable to many mothers who are constantly baffled by that important question, "What Shall I Tell My Child?"

Maurice Samuel, Guest Speaker, at Steinberg Yahrzeit Service, Friday Mar. 21

The eighth Yahrzeit of the late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg will be observed by the congregation at the Friday evening service on March 21, beginning at 8:30 P.M. Special prayers and memorial readings will form part of the service.

Mr. Maurice Samuel will speak on "Israel and American Judaism". This will be the concluding lecture in this year's Milton Steinberg Lecture Series, the previous lectures having been given by Dr. Cecil Roth of Oxford University and by Dr. Imanuel Ben-Dor, Deputy Director of the Department of Antiquities of the Government of Israel. The theme of this year's series has been the Tenth Anniversary of the State of Israel.

About Rabbi Steinberg, the following was written by Mr. Samuel: "Rabbi Milton Steinberg, Rabbi of the Park Avenue Synagogue, who died on March 20, 1950, was the most brilliant American Rabbi of his generation. His books, The Making of the Modern Jew, A Partisan Guide To The Jewish Problem, Basic Judaism and A Believing Jew (the last published posthumously), are permanent classics of Jewish thought, remarkable for their lucidity, warmth and stylistic beauty."

Maurice Samuel is generally recognized as one of the foremost men of Jewish letters on the American scene today. He has reached this eminence through

Remembering The Synagogue

"We received a telephone call the other day from a member of our congregation, seeking information on the best way to make a bequest to the Synagogue! She felt that it had meant a great deal to her family for generations, that it represented the ideals of our faith and country, and was the kind of institution she would want to be certain was available for her children and grandchildren in years to come.

It made us realize with a sense of sudden awareness, that we take our Synagogue for granted. We make our annual contributions for the balancing of the current budget, but few of us have paid for the actual buildings in which our activities are housed. They represent an endowment that has been bequeathed to us by those who came before, that we might use and enjoy them.

What legacy can we leave to those who come after us? How can we be certain that the comfort and inspiration of an adequate House of God will be here to support our children's children from the cradle to the grave? How can we assure ourselves that a Synagogue worthy of the finest in our Jewish and American heritage, will be here during generations to come?

Remember the Synagogue in your long-range planning—include it significantly in your WILL."

Exchange

Jewish Museum Exhibit

An unusual exhibit of Jewish religious and ceremonial objects is on display in the window galleries of the East River Savings Bank, which is located in Rockefeller Plaza and West 50th Street.

This exhibit has been made possible through the Jewish Museum and can be seen during the month of March, 1958.

Congregants Honored

Mr. Theodore R. Racoosin, who has been identified with the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, was recently honored by having been elected chairman of the executive committee of the American Committee for the Weizman Institute.

Dr. Ira Fink, also a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue and active in the Men's Club, recently received a decoration from the Government of Haiti for his contributions in the field of medicine.

We are happy to note these honors which have come to members of our congregation and we join in extending them our sincere congratulations and best wishes.

Mrs. Edward Peiper Heads Guild Luncheon

Mrs. Edward Peiper has been named chairman of the Seventh Annual Luncheon and Fashion Show to be given by the Women's Division of the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind on April 2 at the Waldorf Astoria.

Mrs. Peiper, whose family has long been identified with the Park Avenue Synagogue, is a former president of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue and a member of the Advisory Council of the Board of Trustees of the Synagogue.

This yearly event is held to spur membership in the Women's Division of the Guild, which lends volunteer and financial support to the program of the New York Guild for the Jewish Blind for those visually handicapped regardless of age, race, or religion.

Park Avenue Synagogue Pulpit Officiates At Fort Monmouth

Each year during Brotherhood Week, the military authorities at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, stage a tri-faith preaching mission to which leading American clergymen of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths are invited to the camp to preach to the military personnel and interested civilians.

This year, the invitation to preach was extended to Rabbi Judah Nadich, and, at the same time, Hazzan David J. Putterman and the Park Avenue Synagogue choir and Mr. George Crook, organist, were invited to present the musical portion of the service.

Books At A Glance

By HILDE KISCH, Librarian

On April 24, 1958 the new State of Israel will celebrate its tenth anniversary. Its foundation, the fulfillment of the Jews' long cherished hopes and dreams, will be commemorated throughout this year by Jewish organizations and societies all over the world. At this time all of us should remember and appreciate the long and thorny road that had to be prepared and traveled by those who, through their vision and self-sacrificing work, made Israel a reality. The story of all the facts, from the initiation of the Zionist idea to the realization of Israel's statehood, has inspired Jewish and non-Jewish authors alike. Their works form a considerable section in the Cohen Library. There is Moses Hess' Rome and Jerusalem, a classic of Zionist literature, published one hundred years ago, that has just been newly translated and edited by Maurice J. Bloom. Also available is, of course, Theodor Herzl's fundamental program, The Jewish State ("Der Judenstaat"), envisioned and written by him as early as 1895 under the impact of the antisemitic riots during the Dreyfus trial in France. The development of the Zionist movement in all its phases is treated in The Zionist Idea (1949) by Joseph Heller, in Zionism (1914) by Richard Gottheil, and in Rufus Learsi's more recent book, Fulfillment: the Epic Story of Zionism (1951). A History of Palestine from 165 A. D. to Modern Times is the work of James Parkes.

Of the great wealth of publications produced before and since the creation of the new state only a few can be mentioned here. The collective volume, Israel: Its Role in Civilization, containing contributions by many learned authors and edited by Moshe Davis, deals with the part which the newly founded democracy is playing in the modern world, its historic spiritual basis, and the relationship between America and Israel. David Horowitz's State in the Making presents a piece of contemporary history and his personal experiences as a participant in the diplomatic negotiations of 1946-48, which resulted in the establishment of the state. Gerald de Gaury, a non-Jewish author, in The New State of Israel, covers such aspects as the Constitution, education, finance, the press, railroads and shipping, fishing and irrigation. The Army of Israel by Moshe

Girl Scouts Select Park Avenue Synagogue

The Girl Scouts of the United States of America, as part of their national promotional work emphasizing the religious aspects of the Girl Scout movement, came to the Park Avenue Synagogue last summer and took several photographs of girl scouts.

These pictures were taken with the sculptured ark doors as the background and also the stained glass windows were used as the background for the photographs.

Last week in a nation wide release, the above photograph was sent to all religious institutions as part of the promotional campaign of National Girl Scout Week.

The three scouts standing in front of the stained glass window are Brownie—Marie Cella, Mariner—Charlotte Stoney, and Intermediate—Dorothy Michitsch, all of whom were brought to our synagogue by the National Headquarters of the Girl Scouts.

By HARVEY GLASSER

On Tuesday, March 25, Irving M. Engel, well known attorney and lecturer, will speak to Men's Club about his recent trip to the Middle East. Mr. Engel has been President of the American Jewish Committee since 1954. In 1958 he headed a mission for the Committee to Paris, Rome, Israel, Tunisia and Morocco.

On Saturday night, April 26, Men's Club will celebrate its 10th Anniversary. The occasion also marks our Annual Ladies Night. A gala evening is being planned under the direction of Harry Dubin. Remember to reserve that date. One of the highlights of the evening will be the drawing for some outstanding prizes including a portable television set, a white fox cape (courtesy of Ted Meistrich) and a case of Calvert's (courtesy of Tubie Resnik).

Teen-Agers Conduct Sabbath Service

By HYMAN SANKEL

On Saturday, March 1 approximately 50 teen-agers spent the entire day in the Synagogue. In the morning they conducted the entire Sabbath Service. The participants were Inez Fields, Mike Gelfand, Joel Siegel, Jeffrey Mehlman, Phyllis Brody, John Stangel, Jacki Finkel, Toni Deutsch, Mark Siegel, John Wolf, Elissa Kaufman, Daniel Ritey. Burt Wolfson delivered the sermon on "Patterns of Jewish Living".

Luncheon was served in the Lemberg Auditorium following the service. Mrs. Abraham Stangel was chairman of the committee of mothers who prepared the meal.

In the afternoon there were panel groups which discussed "Ethics of Jewish Living". They were led by Jerry Goodman and Fischel Perlmutter. It was a very rewarding day for all.

Teen-Agers Sponsor Dance For UJA

By HYMAN SANKEL

It has now become a tradition to usher in Spring at the Park Avenue Synagogue with a gala and festive dance by the Teen Agers with all proceeds going to the United Jewish Appeal. This affair, on Saturday, March 22, culminates weeks of planning and feverish activity by numerous committees.

The history of these dances is a saga of success. The first year $100 was donated, $200 the second year, and $400 the third. It is hoped that the last sum can be increased this year. An outstanding band has been engaged. We are sure the dance will be a sound financial success.

Bob Fischer, Tina Gluckstein and Linda Wolfman are co-chairmen. Among the other committee chairmen are Mark Siegel, David Reichman, Harry Pincus, Derek Jackson and Jane Jacob.

Lemberg Auditorium Dedication on March 28

In compliance with the request of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue that certain new facilities be given a public dedication, the Lemberg Auditorium will be dedicated at the Friday evening service on March 28. The auditorium recently completely renovated and refurbished, has been dedicated by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lemberg in loving memory of Samuel and Yetta Friedelson, the parents of Mrs. Lemberg.

After the dedicatory service on March 28 an Oneg Shabbat and Tea will take place in the Lemberg Aunditorium in honor of the occasion..

Mr. and Mrs. Lemberg are noted for their devotion to the Park Avenue Synagogue, their wide-spread generosity and their service to the community generally. Mr. Lemberg is a trustee at the Park Avenue Synagogue and has been for many years active in the national leadership of the United Jewish Appeal. President of the Midwood Management Company and of the Lemberg Foundation and member of the Board of Directors of the Rogosin Industries, Inc., his other communal offices include the following: Honorary Trustee of the Brooklyn Jewish Center, Director of the Brooklyn Division of the American ORT Society, Trustee of Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, Honorary Trustee of the Shore Front Y.M.H.A., Honorary Trustee of the East New York Y.M.H.A. Mrs. Samuel Lemberg is a member of the Arts and Decorations Committee of the Park Avenue Synagogue, a member of the Board of Directors of the Jewish Museum and of the UJA Art Committee.

The Lemberg Auditorium is in constant use by the congregation, by every arm of the synagogue, by the Religious School and by the youth program. In addition it is the locale for Bar Mitzvah, Bat Mitzvah and wedding receptions and serves as a meeting place for many of the worth-while Jewish organizations of the community.

Mrs. Edelman Appointed Torah Cover Chairman

Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, announced the appointment of Mrs. Anna Edelman as chairman of the Committee on Torah Covers. Mr. Katz in announcing Mrs. Edelman s appointment said:

"In truth, Mrs. Edelman has been the 'unofficial chairman' of this committee for almost two decades, during which time she has been voluntarily rendering Park Avenue Synagogue exemplary, artistic, and pious service by way of making Torah covers, Ark curtains and reading desk covers for our Synagogue, which she has loved these many years.

MRS. ANNA EDELMAN

"Mrs. Edelman, whose husband, the late Morris Edelman was at one time a trustee of our Synagogue, as well as its vice-president, will continue, I am sure, to produce the same beautiful work in the future as she has done in the past, and it is a pleasure to confer upon her this official title for the duties she splendidly executed over the years."

The Chairman of the Board also requested that all persons interested in arranging to have anything made, do so directly with the Synagogue office by contacting the Executive Director, Sidney R. Katz.

In that manner, we will assure the specific needs of the Synagogue and the "orders" will then be placed with Mrs. Anna Edelman, who will continue her volunteer work. Mrs. Edelman donates the materials as well as her labor.

Congregational Seder

seder service will be conducted by Rabbi Nadich and Hazzan Putterman, assisted by the Synagogue choir with Mr. George Crook at the piano.

The contribution will be the same as last year, $11 per person, and $8 for each child under the age of 13, which will include all gratuities. The seder will be catered by one of the leading caterers and an excellent cuisine is assured.

The seder will be open to members of the congregation, their families and their friends. Because of our limited facilities, however, reservations will be limited to 200, so that those planning to attend should send in their checks immediately to Mrs. Tubie Resnik, chairman, at the synagogue office, 50 East 87th Street. Please list the names of those for whom reservations are being made, as we plan to have assigned seating.

Also serving with Mrs. Resnik on this committee are Mrs. Myron Froelich, Mrs. Joseph Howard Katz, Mrs. Nelson Ruttenberg and Mrs. Edith Zahler.

1958 Red Cross Appeal

Once again, The Red Cross campaign is under way, and once again the "nation's first-aid kit" in time of disaster needs your help. This is the Fund that enables Americans to band together in the common cause of "neighbor helping neighbor."

As in previous years, Mrs. Edward Munves has been appointed chairman of the Red Cross Committee for the Park Avenue Synagogue. Even though many of you may have already made contributions to the Red Cross through other sources, Mrs. Munves hopes that members will send a token gift to the Synagogue Committee, so that the Park Avenue Synagogue can stand high on the list of donors in the religious group.

What the Red Cross does—and how well it does it—depends on your voluntary contributions. Please send your gifts to Mrs. Edward Munves, chairman, at the Synagogue office, 50 East 87 Street.

School Seder

The students of the Religious School will hold five Sedorim on Sunday morning, March 30. Mrs. Jack Kurzweil and Mrs. Emil Forster assisted by a committee of Class Mothers have arranged for the preparation and the serving of traditional holiday food at each Seder.

The Primary Department will conduct a Seder in the Lemberg Auditorium while each grade in the Hebrew Department has its Seder in the Milton Steinberg House. Each class will be responsible for the decoration of the Seder table and many classes have planned for appropriate holiday centerpieces which have both a traditional and a modern significance. The reading of the Haggadah and the singing of the Passover melodies will be led by the students in the school.

Parents of our students are invited to attend the class Seder and join in the service.

Peter Miller Head Tax Reform Committee

A proposal, designed to conform the New York State income tax law more closely to the changing federal law, in order to make the federal provisions applicable, has been presented by the tax sub-committees of the State Bar Association and the New York County Lawyers Association. Mr. Peter Miller, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, is chairman of this committee and the architect of this proposed plan.

An amendment to the New York State Constitution to permit this simplification of state personal income tax returns will be presented to the current session of the State Legislature.

Mr. Miller is the author of an article dealing with this tax reform, which has been described as the greatest advance in tax returns since the state permitted the short form some years ago. The article appeared in the January 1958 issue of the Tax Law Review of the New York University Law School.

Mr. Miller is the son of the late Supreme Court Justice Julius Miller and Deanne Miller, who is also a member of our congregation.

Pearlman gives an account of how Israeli men and women fought in the war against the Arabs. The origin, growth, and achievements of organized labor in the Holy Land are described in Cooperative Palestine, the Story of Histadruth (1947) by Samuel Kurland. The many problems created in Israel by the two segments of the population, that is, the Oriental and the European Jews, and the impact of Western and Eastern civilizations on each other there, are treated in Israel between East and West, A Study in Human Relations by Raphael Patai. An interesting contribution to the annals of migration is made by Shlomo Barer in The Magic Carpet, which tells the amazing story of the airborne transportation of the Yemenite Jews to Israel. Information about the structure and working methods in some cooperative colonies in Israel can be gathered from Murray Weingarten's Life in a Kibbutz, and E. Spiro's Kibbutz, Venture in Utopia.

The Library's very good biographical section includes works on many Zionist and Israeli leaders: Theodore Herzl by Alex Bein, translated from the German by Maurice Samuel; Trial and Error, the autobiography of Chaim Weizmann, great scientist, statesman, and first president of Israel; the life story of the present colorful and dynamic Prime Minister is told by Barnet Litvinoff in Ben-Gurion of Israel; Rose Zeitlin's Henrietta Szold is a record of the life and work of the great Hadassah leader, who was instrumental in setting up great welfare centers and hospitals in the Holy Land. Way of Valor by Marie Syrkin relates the life story of Golda Meir, the present Foreign Minister.

All these and many other books not mentioned here, which we owe to the generosity of the Yorkville Zionist District, unfold a vivid picture of the development of Zionism and the new state of Israel.

Sisterhood News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Tuesday, March 18, is the date of Sisterhood's luncheon and open meeting to be held in the Lemberg Auditorium.

After a delicious luncheon to be served at noon, Sisterhood will present a stirring program on the crisis facing World Jewry today. Mrs. Ben Sack, chairman, and Mrs. Abel Phillips, co-chairman, are planning a memorable program for this occasion.

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, known to all of us as Phyllis, will be the guest speaker. As chairman of the Women's Division in the twentieth annual campaign of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York, Mrs. Siegel will present the story of the plight of Jewish victims in an age of upheaval and terror.

The film, "A Second Chance", a graphic portrayal of the despair of thousands of Polish Jews, who have immigrated to Israel and thus have been saved from persecution, will be exhibited during the afternoon. The story will be narrated by Rabbi Herbert Friedman, the executive vice chairman of the National Jewish Appeal.

Sisterhood Gift Shop

Mrs. A. Stangel, chairman of Sisterhood Gift Shop, has announced that thirty centerpieces portraying areas of the facade of the Milton Steinberg House will go on sale in the Sisterhood Lounge prior to the open meeting on March 18.

These are the very centerpieces that glowed brightly on each table at the Sisterhood brunch at the Sheraton Astor and provoked such favorable comment from every guest.

Appropriate and charming for your Passover Seder table. these centerpieces will bring compliments to any hostess for her originality.

One of Israel's most decorated war heroes, Col. Pundak joined the Haganah forces early in 1932 and during the War of Independence, he commanded a brigade on both the northern and southern fronts. From 1953 to 1956, he commanded the Israel Armored Forces.

Col. Pundak will discuss a subject of great concern to Jews not only in Israel but all over the world. His topic will be "The Arab Federation and Israel."

Parents Open Meeting Wednesday, March 19

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The Parents Association, answering many requests from parents at the Park Avenue Synagogue, is happy to devote its open meeting on Wednesday evening, March 19, to presenting a practical, enlightening program on "How to Celebrate Passover in the Home."

Rabbi Nadich has graciously volunteered to explain the historical significance and observance of Passover. As always, Hazzan Putterman assures us that he will be happy to teach the songs that will bring the spirit and joy of Pesach into your home. Our talented chairman of decorations, Mrs. A. Stangel, will arrange a Seder Table with the symbols of Passover authentically displayed.

What do the Passover Symbols Mean? How do you decorate the Seder Table? Why do we drink four cups of wine? What foods are forbidden on Passover? At this meeting, you will hear the answers to these and many more questions.

To enrich your celebration of the Festival of Freedom, to help you put into practice at home what your children are taught in the Religious School, and to aid you in providing a beautiful and inspirational observance of Passover—the Parents Association presents a Passover Workshop. And because the Torah says, "And thou shalt tell your son", the Parents group hopes to help you tell the story of Pesach, the holiday of liberation.

A color film, which Mrs. Stangel arranged to have taken at the annual Purim masquerade party, will be shown at this meeting. This will give parents an opportunity to see their children in their beautiful Purim costumes.

Purim Workshop

"We get letters, we get letters". We are not referring to Perry Como, but to Mrs. A. Stangel, whose creative genius brought joy to so many children at the Purim Masquerade Party.

Regina is the proud recipient of fan mail from many a grateful mother who was able to purchase a beautiful costume for her youngster at a nominal cost—thanks to Regina's efforts, generosity, and talent.

Sad, indeed, were those who came too late to select one of the many costumes, all made of the finest silks and satins, all authentic to the minutest detail of a scarf, a hat, a veil, or a glittering gold crown.

Yes, from the Regina Stangel Workshop came the most beautiful costumes that ever have appeared in the Purim Parade. History turned back its pages and brought to life Queen Esther, King Ahasueros, Mordecai, Haman, and many a courtly prince and princess.

The young lady who came both Sunday mornings when these costumes were on display at the Milton Steinberg House, and who explained the historical background of each outfit was Irene Klein, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leon Klein, active members of the Synagogue.

We join with Regina's many admirers in saying, "a million thanks for a job well done."

The profits of this project, sponsored by the Parents Association, will help to make future holiday workshops of real service to the parents of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Passover Holidays Start Friday Eve., April 4 Congregational Seder, Saturday Eve., April 5

The Passover holidays will be ushered in Friday evening, April 4, at 5:45 o'clock, with a Mincha service in the synagogue. The first seder will take place Friday evening at which time all the members and their families, it is hoped old and young alike, will gather around the festive table to celebrate together. The educational value of the seder, transmitted from one generation to the next, stems from the fact that the children and grandchildren join together with all the family to witness and reenact this dramatic presentation of the story of freedom, to sing the familiar songs and to carry out the cherished ceremonies. Many of us treasure certain beloved memories because we remember the seder we attended in the homes of parents or grandparents. Our children are entitled to the same kind of memories.

The Sabbath service will start, as usual, at 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

There will be an early service Saturday evening at 5:45 P.M., to be followed by the Congregational seder, which will take place in the beautifully decorated Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Tubie Resnik, chairman of the Congregational Seder Committee, has announced that no further reservations can be accepted. Because of our limited facilities, it has been necessary to restrict the number of reservations, and except for a cancellation, we may be unable to accomodate those who may have decided to attend at the last moment.

The service on the second day of Passover will take place on Sunday morning, April 6, at 9:30 A.M.

The services for the closing days of Passover will start on Thursday evening, April 10, at 5:45 P. M. and will continue on Friday morning, April 11, at 9:30 A.M.

There will also be an evening service on Friday, April 11, at 5:45 P.M. and Freedom - Worth Thinking About

Certain words are used so often in our spoken and written vocabulary that the fine edge gets rubbed off them. They lose their glitter and their polish; they become prosaic and dull. Among such words is "freedom". It is seen so often in the public press that a type-setter could probably set it up in his sleep. We read it and hear it so frequently that it makes no impact upon us. However, if history teaches any lesson, it is that those who are not zealous about their freedom are likely to lose it. And the great issue drawn between the Western World and the lands beyond the Iron Curtain can be summed up in that same one word.

Happily, most of us cannot even visualize what life is like without the blessings of freedom. We have not had the personal experience of living under tyranny and enforced regimentation. But this may lead us to value insufficiently the blessings we enjoy, to be apathetic and careless about the primary concern of our times.

Passover, the festival of freedom, was instituted in ancient times by the religious genius of our people so that men might be regularly reminded that life loses its savour without freedom for the individual and for the group of which he is a part. Through the ceremonies of the Seder the attempt is made to have us undergo vicariously the personal experience of enslavement and liberation—so that freedom becomes a fresh reality in our hearts. Thus we Jews were the first in human history to proclaim that freedom is God's plan for man and that the tyrant frustrates God's will when he enslaves his fellow human beings.

Passover reminds us that freedom is worth thinking about. More, it is worth our most serious dedication, our most determined consecration.

Books At A Glance

By HILDE KISCH, Librarian

The Haggadah, the festival book for Passover, presents the story of the exodus of the Jews from Egypt. It is read by Jews all over the world on the eve of the holiday commemorating their liberation from Egyptian slavery. In addition to the story, it contains explanations of the symbolic foods and customs of the Seder a well as prayers and festival songs. Next to the Bible it is one of the most widely disseminated books in the world's literature. Approximately 2,000 editions of it are now in existence.

Before the art of printing was invented, in such countries as Spain, France, Italy, Germany, and Holland numerous haggadah manuscripts were written and beautifully illuminated by skillful scribes and artists from the thirteenth century on. Fortunately, several of these manuscripts have been preserved and are now owned by museums, public institutions, and private collectors in various lands. After the invention of printing a great number of haggadah editions came into being. The first complete one appeared in Prague in 1526. Published by Gershom Cohen and ornamented with fine woodcuts, its style has greatly influenced later editions, for instance, the Italian Haggadahs of Mantua (1560) and of Venice (1609). The Haggadah of Amsterdam, which is embellished with interesting copper engravings, dates from the end of the seventeenth century. During the last centuries a great many editions of this work have been published time and again in many variations and in widely scattered places: Constantinople, Budapest, The Hague, Bombay, Johannesburg, Paris, Salonika, Warsaw, Jerusalem, etc.

Outstanding among modern haggadahs published in the English language is the one executed by the contemporary artist Arthur Szyk (1894-1951), who is considered one of the greatest illuminators since the sixteenth century. His colorful, beautiful work, first printed in England, has now been published in Israel in an excellently produced edition. A copy of this book is in the possession of the Cohen Library and may be seen as part of its Passover display in the foyer of Milton Steinberg House. Several haggadahs have also been published in New

PESACH RECESS

The Religious School will not conduct classes during the Pesach holiday, from April 4 to April 12.

The Primary Department will resume sessions on Sunday, April 13 and the Hebrew Department on Monday, April 14.

THINGS TO DO

Plan your vacation to include the following two events and make your holiday more enjoyable:

Jewish Holiday Dance Festival for Children will be held in the Kaufman Concert Hall of the YMHA, 92nd Street and Lexington Avenue, on Monday, April 7, 1958 at 11:00 A.M. and at 2:40 P.M. This program is part of the Junior Entertainment Series, sponsored by the YMHA—admission $1.50.

The Fred Berk Dance Company and the Goren Folk Dance Group have arranged a dance program featuring scenes of Purim, Hanukkah, Shavuot and Tu BiShevat.

Hebrew Arts Film House at The Gershberg Auditorium, 120 West 16th Street, New York (Wa. 4-8650) is offering a program of four films on Tuesday, April 8, 1958 at 2:30 P. M. sponsored by the Hebrew Arts Foundation.

The program includes "Palle Alone in the World"—the story of a little boy who finds that he is all alone in the world and can do all the things he wants to do from driving a fire engine to flying a plane to the moon. "Vistas of Israel" takes the viewer through the streets of Tel Aviv to the stadium to see the world's best athletes compete in the Maccabiah and then to a visit to a new kind of zoo. After a series of Hebrew song films, the program concludes with "Tent City", the story of a young boy who settles in Israel.

Admission is fifty cents for a child and seventy-five cents for an adult. Additional performances will be given on Sunday afternoons, April 20, 27 and on May 4.

The entire family—parents and children—should include these events of Jewish cultural interest in its holiday plans.

Sisterhood Activities

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The barriers are down! Sisterhood cordially invites men to join the ladies at their annual evening meeting to be held Tuesday, April 22, in the Lemberg Auditorium.

A brief business meeting, which will begin promptly at eight o'clock, will be given over to the report of the nominating committee to be submitted by Mrs. Harry Sokolow, its chairman. Following this, the audience will have the pleasure of hearing Dr. Evelyn Garfiel speak on "Marriage and the Family in a Changing World."

DR. EVELYN GARFIEL

A graduate of Barnard College, Dr. Garfiel holds a Ph.D. in psychology from Columbia University. Not only has she lectured on religion and psychology, but she has also taught at the University of Chicago, and in the Department of Neurology at the University of Wisconsin Medical School. At the present time, Dr. Garfiel is a member of the faculty of the Women's Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary and of the United Synagogue Commission on Marriage and the Family. She is well qualified to discuss the Jewish view of marriage.

Dr. Garfiel is the author of "The Service of the Heart", a basic guide to a better understanding of the Jewish Prayer Book. Mrs. Judah Nadich is chairman of this important meeting, and Mrs. Jacob Starr will be in charge of a special collation.

Sisterhood Sabbath

Those who attended Sisterhood Sabbath at the Park Avenue Synagogue, Friday evening, March 7, listened with rapt attention to Mrs. Joseph Druss who spoke from the pulpit on "What My Affiliation with the Synagogue means to me."

Participating in the reading of the prayers were past presidents of Sisterhood, including Mrs. Milton Heller, Mrs. William Karmiol, Mrs. Harold H. Levin, Mrs. Edward Peiper, Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, and Mrs. Samuel Wimpfheimer. Mrs. Sol E. Green, currently president of Sisterhood, and Mrs. Judah Nadich read prayers in Hebrew.

At the conclusion of the service, an oneg shabbat was held in the Lemberg Auditorium. Sisterhood's president, Mrs. Sol E. Green, welcomed those present and spoke most eloquently on "What Sisterhood means to the Synagogue."

Sisterhood Gift Shop

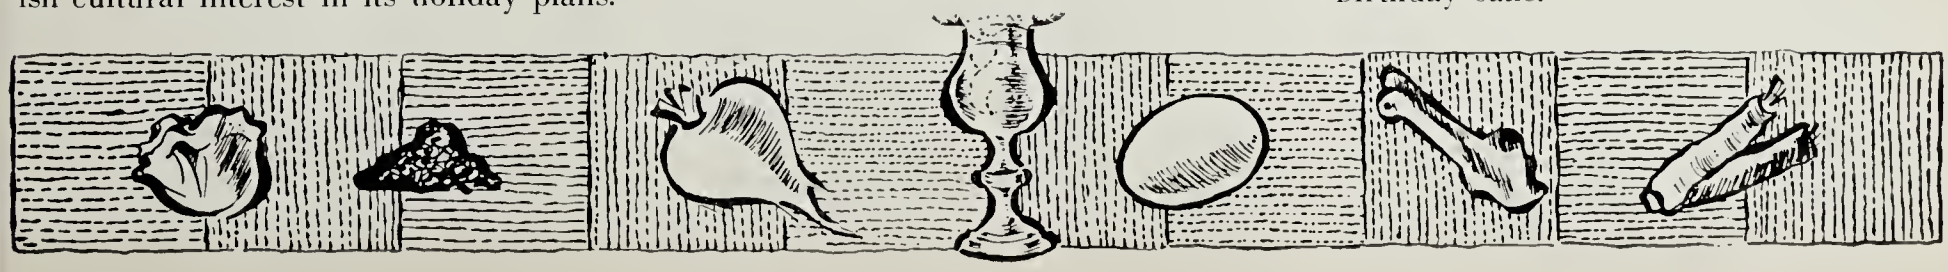

How many times have you wondered about just the right gift to bring to a hostess or to mark a special event! Irma Heller has the answer. Sisterhood gift shop, of which Irma is chairman, is a delight to the discriminating shopper. For those in search of a beautiful gift suitable for Passover, may we suggest a lovely seder plate, a charming matzos cover, or perhaps a beautiful kiddush cup. These and many other ceremonial objects direct from Israel are available. Mrs. Heller is always eager to help you make your selections. Her shop is "open for business" before all of our Sisterhood meetings.

Birthday Surprises

"Grow old along with me!
The best is yet to be."

If you were present at the meeting on March 19, when Sisterhood honored two of its members on the happy occasion of their birthdays, you were certainly impressed with the truth of Robert Browning's words. These charming ladies, who are proof that "the best is yet to be", were Mrs. Emma Luebeck and Mrs. Tillie Heller.

In behalf of Sisterhood, our president, Mrs. Sol E. Green, read her original odes in their honor and presented each dear friend with a lovely corsage and a birthday cake.

Parents Association Lecture Series Continues

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

"What Shall I tell my Child about Religion in the home?" This will be the theme of the next lecture to be given by Rabbi Nadich on Wednesday, April 23, at 1:15 P.M. in the Lemberg Auditorium.

This lecture series, sponsored by the Parents Association, has attracted many mothers who are constantly faced with the problem of "What Shall I tell my Child?"

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, president of the Parents Group, wishes to remind those who plan to attend, that the the lecture begins promptly at 1:15 P.M. and will take no longer than an hour.

March 19 Meeting

Those who braved the weather on the blustering March 19 to attend the meeting of the Parents Association were amply rewarded by hearing Rabbi Nadich explain the traditions and historical background of Passover.

After a word of welcome from Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, our president, Rabbi Nadich discussed the significance of each Passover symbol which adorns the Seder Table, as well as the spiritual tone of the Service which makes Passover the Festival of Joy.

Hazzan Putterman taught some of the beautiful songs which have become so much a part of the Seder Service.

The attractive Seder Table, perfect in every detail, was the esthetic creation of Regina Stangel.

U. J. A. Honors Mrs. Sigmund A. Siegel

The Women's Division of Manhattan Organizations for U.J.A. honored Mrs. Sigmund A. Siegel at a luncheon held at the Essex House on Wednesday, March 19. On behalf of the U.J.A. Women's' Division of Manhattan Organizations, Mrs. Abraham N. Geller, a former chairman of the Women's Division, presented Phyllis Siegel with a Shekel.

A large gathering attended this function to honor Phyllis Siegel, on which occasion a total of $83,000 was raised for the U.J.A.

Mrs. David Moskowitz, Phyllis' mother. was among the guests.

Hazzan Putterman To Be Honored On 25th Anniversary As Cantor Of Park Avenue Synagogue, Sunday Evening, May 4

By Muriel Morse

On Sunday evening, May 4 at 8:15 P.M. the Park Avenue Synagogue will celebrate a most important milestone in its history—a celebration of the twenty-five years of dedicated service of our beloved Hazzan David J. Putterman.

HAZZAN DAVID J. PUTTERMAN

A special program has been planned for this occasion. It will start with a brief Maariv service, followed by a program of tribute. The Choral Ensemble of the Cantors Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America will sing in honor of Hazzan Putterman, who is the spiritual father of this Cantors Institute. He actually was the first American trained Cantor.

This excellent Choral Ensemble is making a great departure from its usual policy by coming to the Park Avenue Synagogue and singing for a distinguished Cantor as they do not ordinarily perform away from the Seminary. The singing by this Ensemble is significant as David Putterman's entire career has been devoted to the cultural advancement of Jewish music and to elevating the standards and status of the American Cantorate.

The Ensemble will be under the direction of Dr. Hugo Weisgall, chairman of the faculties of the Seminary College of Jewish Music and the Cantors Institute. Mr. George Crook will be the accompanist.

The evening's program will include brief expressions of appreciation for his devoted and faithful service by Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Jacob Klein, president of the Synagogue and the various groups of the Synagogue. Rabbi Judah Nadich will deliver the message of tribute.

The expressions which this particular evening will afford can in no sense measure up to the great amount of sincere esteem and affection all the individuals have for David Putterman. For twenty-five years he has fully dedicated himself to the Synagogue and to the congregants of all ages, at their times of joy and sorrow. No Bar Mitzvah boy will

William Heller Facade Dedicated, Fri., May 2

As part of the Friday evening service on May 2, the William Heller stained glass facade of the Milton Steinberg House will be formally dedicated, in memory of the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

This beautiful facade, which covers the entire front of the Milton Steinberg House, was made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. William Heller, members of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Their son, Ben Heller, was active in the selection of the renowned artist, Adolph Gottlieb, whose creative artistry helped make the Milton Steinberg House world famous.

A former member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, Mr. William Heller has been identified with our congregation for many years.

Men's Club Sabbath Service, April 25 To Mark 10th Anniversary of State of Israel

According to the Hebrew calendar, Israel Independence Day, the fifth day of Iyar, this year occurs on Friday, April 25. Ten years ago the State of Israel came into being and for the first time in over eighteen hundred years there was once again a free and independent Jewish State.

On this date a year of celebration will begin in the State of Israel and throughout the world. The Park Avenue Synagogue will mark this historic occasion with special services on Friday evening, April 25, and on Saturday morning, April 26.

On Friday evening, the State of Israel will be represented by Hon. Gideon Saguy, the Consul of Israel in New York, who will speak on "Israel—The First Decade".

Mr. Gideon Saguy has lived in Israel since the age of 14. A graduate of Herzlia High School in Tel Aviv, he studied history at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem but had to give up his studies when he volunteered for service in the British Army, and for five years served in the African Theater of War.

Mr. Saguy was a member of the Haganah since 1936, and in 1948 was called up for full time service during the Israel War of Independence. With the rank of major, he was Chief Instructor at the Army School of Administration and of the first Women's Officers Course of the Israel Defense Army.

On his release from the Army in 1950, Mr. Saguy joined the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, and in September 1952 was

Ten Years of Israel

"Seldom in history at the birth of new nations have hopes been so high or so frail as they were ten years ago this week when the resurgent State or Israel struggled into renewed existence after 2,000 years of Jewish dispersion.

Back in 1948, the pessimists and ill-wishers shook their heads in gloom—Israel could not survive more than a few weeks against the armed onslaught of the whole Arab world. But the weeks became months and years and today, at the close of its first decade of independence, even its bitterest foes, beaten in war and in the arts of peace alike, concede that Israel is here to stay.

Ten years is but a day in the history of a people as old as the Jews, but the record of ten years of Israel falls little short of miraculous.

Since 1948, the population has increased from 750,000 to two million, the great majority of whom were destitute refugees either from the ruins of Central and Eastern Europe or the newer centers of persecution in the Middle East and North Africa.

What was once desert, wasteland, or swamp has been won back to cultivation after two thousand years of neglect.

But it is not in material things alone that Israel is strong. Indeed, the world looks to the people of the Bible for more than material prosperity.

There has been an unprecedented flowering in art and the sciences demonstrated by the vitality of great institutions of learning, medicine, scientific and technical research and music as well as scores of other community enterprises.

There are few nations in the world that can claim such a record of achievement, and this is even more noteworthy considering the obstacles that have beset Israel's progress.

It is an impressive record, and America's own contribution in sympathy, understanding, public aid, and private philanthropy has been richly justified. Israel and her friends have reason to be proud."

Goldings Contribute 500 Additional Prayer Books

The Park Avenue Synagogue is fortunate in being able to announce an additional contribution made to our Synagogue by Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold R. Golding. The Goldings have just contributed 500 additional Sabbath Prayer Books published by the Reconstructionist Foundation. This prayer book is used every Friday evening and Saturday morning at our Sabbath services.

The generous contribution was made in memory of Mr. Golding's mother, the late Sue Golding.

The Goldings had also recently contributed 500 copies of the Hertz Pentateuch with a similar memorial.

"Shirtsleeve" Conference For Putterman Reception

Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of our Board of Trustees has announced that a "shirtsleeve" conference of the leadership of the Synagogue will take place Wednesday evening, April 23 at our synagogue.

The meeting has been called for 8:15 P.M. for the purpose of calling to the attention of our congregation the signal honor which is being tendered to our Hazzan David Putterman on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his faithful and devoted service to the Park Avenue Synagogue, which will culminate with the reception and service of tribute to be given in our Synagogue on Sunday evening, May 4.

Invited to this conference are the officers of the Synagogue, the members of the Board of Trustees and the Advisory Council, and the officers and Board Members of all of the arms of the Synagogue, including Sisterhood, Men's Club, Parents Association, and the Mr. and Mrs. Club.

Cohen Library Awarded Citation

The Cohen Library of the Park Avenue Synagogue is to be awarded a citation on May 14 by the Jewish Book Council of America. This citation is given to those Jewish libraries in the United States and Canada which meet the high standards established by the Jewish Book Council.

Mr. Asa D. Sokolow, the chairman of the Cohen Library Committee, will accept the citation on behalf of the library.

Reflections on Our Seder

By MRS. TUBIE RESNIK

Can you imagine a family blessed with 285 members, all gathered to observe the Passover service? Not just an average family, but one including the golden voice of a Hazzan, a David Putterman, a warm, interesting and learned Rabbi, a Judah Nadich, and so many, many bright, lovely children.

Yes, that was the sight that greeted those who joined with us to participate in the second Seder which we observed Saturday evening, April 4, in the Lemberg Auditorium. It was a heart-warming occasion, intimate, friendly and meaningful.

Assisted by the Synagogue choir with Mr. George Crook at the piano, Hazzan Putterman led the singing of those melodies that make the Seder so beautiful and contribute so much to the festivity of the occasion. Rabbi Nadich interpreted the Haggadah in such dramatic fashion, that we all relived the great emancipation of our forefathers.

Judging from the enthusiastic comments of those who attended our congregational Seder, and from the increasing number of requests we receive each year, we will undoubtedly have to find some way to accommodate the great number who will want to join us next Passover.

As chairman of the Seder committee, I want to thank those who helped make this Seder such a success. For me to have served as chairman was a most rewarding experience.

Religious School Scholarship Fund

The Scholarship Fund of our Religious School has been made the richer by a contribution received from Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Cohen of $100 in memory of Mrs. Cohen's parents, Rose and Charles Weill. This fund enables children, who might otherwise be deprived of a Jewish education because of the inability of their parents to pay the tuition fees, to attend our Religious School.

Mrs. Sigmund Siegel, chairman of the Religious School Board, in forwarding this donation, has pointed out that this method of contribution is a splendid way to memoralize the departed. We are thankful to Tillie and Ezra Cohen for their gift and hope that this example will be followed by others.

All Day Bazaar-Auction Wednesday, April 29

By MURIEL MORSE

Plans are well formulated for a complete day of pleasure and bargains for every member of the family at Sisterhood's Bazaar and Auction for UJA. Everyone has been most responsive and the articles sent in are really exciting—a gorgeous hat by Sally Victor, a magnificent bag by Coblentz—even a very beautiful painting by Maxine Leibman of a ballet dancer—plus all kinds of down-to-earth items everyone needs.

If your intentions were good and you said you would send something, it is needed right away as Sisterhood still needs more merchandise and many promises haven't yet been fulfilled. Each item donated, whether large or small, will help make this bazaar another huge success.

Something new has been added this year for your pleasure and entertainment. There's going to be "Horseracing" immediately following the Auction. So after your spirits are stirred by the Auction and by Harold H. Levin, who has graciously agreed to act as the Auctioneer, you can continue to enjoy yourselves in the simple game of "Horseracing."

The bar will again have two attendants so you will be assured of good service in that department. Anne Starr's menus for this year sound even more delicious than last year, if that's possible.

All of this activity shapes up into this: 11 A.M.—Start of sale at bargain, "-give-away" prices. 12 Noon—Luscious Lunch will be served in the "Cafe UJA" for $1.00. 12:01 P.M.—Continuation of selling merchandise at rock-bottom prices. 5 P.M.—Bar opens for Cocktails and merchandise continues to sell. 6 P.M.—Delicious Dinner will be served in the "Cafe UJA" for $2.50. 8:15 P.M. —Delicious Dinner will be served in the "Cafe UJA" for $2.50. 8:15 P.M.—Auction. 9:15—"Horseracing."

Don't forget to come to the Bazaar and have a good time! All proceeds go to UJA.

forget the proud moments of fruition born from many long months of patient and understanding teaching by Hazzan Putterman. For twenty-five years he worked toward the constant enhancement of Jewish worship. Few congregations have ever been fortunate enough to hear their beautiful prayers always chanted in a voice of concert quality. The annual services of new liturgical music are accepted as a major musical event, not only in the Park Avenue Synagogue, but in the realm of general music as well.

Hazzan Putterman came to the Park Avenue Synagogue in 1933, when our late revered Rabbi Milton Steinberg came to minister to our congregation. Together they helped usher in the "golden era" of our congregation.

An elaborate reception in the Lemberg Auditorium has been planned to immediately follow the service. This will give the hundreds of congregants and friends of Hazzan Putterman's an opportunity to personally congratulate him and to share his happiness on this memorable evening of celebrating twenty-five years of association with the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Heller Dedication

He has been interested in Jewish education and has served on the board of the Jewish Education Committee. One of his outstanding interests has been the American Fund for Israel Institutions of which he served as vice president for over a decade. It was through the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg that Mr. Heller became actively identified with this organization, which supports more than forty Israel cultural institutions including museums, theatres, orchestras, as well as agricultural and mental health schools, and also a naval training school.

Several years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Heller went to Israel to lay the cornerstone of the cultural center erected in Tel Aviv which was to house an auditorium for the philharmonic orchestra of Israel and other community activities.

Mr. William Heller has also been active in United Jewish Appeal fund raising campaigns even prior to the formation of the present United Jewish Appeal and also for the Federation of Jewish Philanthropic Societies.

Mrs. William Heller, too, is interested in childhood education for the American-Jewish child. She served as president of the West Side Division of Ivriah for many years. This was the Women's Division of the Jewish Education Committee until it became a part of Federation. She also served as chairman of the Beth Hayeled School since its inception more than twenty years ago.

This Sabbath Service will be sponsored by the Mr. and Mrs. Club, who will act as hostesses at the reception which will follow in the Lemberg Auditorium.

25 Years Service An Appreciation

On Sunday evening, May 4, the congregational family of the Park Avenue Synagogue paid tribute to Hazzan David J. Putterman for twenty-five years of de voted and faithful service.

It was on outward manifestation of the gratitude genuinely felt by so many. of the affection and esteem in which the cantor is held. For a quarter of a century, his beautiful voice has led the congregation in prayer. But even more—for added to the beauty of voice there are within him a love for Judaism and its traditions, a master's knowledge of music and an insistence upon lofty standards in all things. The emotional, the intellectual and the aesthetic are happily blended in this musicianship. Therefore, his rendition of the Hebrew prayers has been characterized always by understanding, dignity and grace so that countless worshippers have been moved and uplifted. And most important of all, he has seen in his profession an opportunity for adding to life's holiness by inspiring his fellow-Jews to moments of communion with God.

In his personal contacts with our people for a quarter of a century he has been mentor, teacher and friend to generations of Bar Mitzvah boys and Bat Mitzvah girls. He has comforted in time of sorrow and added to the joy of families in time of rejoicing.

The high evaluation he places upon his profession has moved him to dedicate his life to the raising of its standards throughout the nation. So he helped to found the Cantors Assembly of America and from its inception has served as its executive leader. H was a prime mover too in the creation of the Cantors Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and has served on its faculty from its beginnings. Thus his advocacy of the finest and the highest in Jewish music and congregational worship has had a national influence which will continue to make itself felt as long as Judaism will exist on the American continent.

May he be blessed with good health and strength so that he will give of his uniquely rich talents for the blessing of us all and of the American Jewish community for many years to come.

Ve' khen yehi ratzon!

Remember Your Synagogue

The Committee on Gifts, Wills and Bequests, headed by Hon. Maxwell Shapiro, is preparing a brochure to be used in the near future in connection with the subject of gifts inter vivos and testamentary bequests.

One of the most difficult problems confronting religious institutions today is the need of endowments to insure the perpetuation of such institutions.

It seems strange that the synagogue is not too often remembered in the wills of those who have the means to make this form of contribution, despite the fact that American Jews endow universities, homes for the aged, hospitals, museums, symphony orchestras, and many other worthwhile philanthropic enterprises.

The question is sometimes asked whether this is because such form of contribution deals with intangibles, the things of the spirit that are not so obvious. After all, the synagogue is the crystalized expression of their belief in God and in righteousness. It is the primary source of our being as a religious community. It is the institution through which American Jews assume their rightful place in the American pattern.

It is hoped that the membership of our congregation will be inspired to remember the Park Avenue Synagogue not only during their lifetime, but also in their wills.

Anyone Have A Piano?

The Steinway in the Lemberg Auditorium, now about ready to play its "last chord", has served us well for many years but it cannot produce good music any longer.

Does any member of our Congregation own a piano in good working condition which he no longer needs or know where we can get one?

If you do, please communicate with the Synagogue office. EN. 9-2600.

Books at a Glance

By HILDE KISCH, Librarian

Biographical writings relate to us the life experiences and the intellectual and moral development of outstanding personalites. Memoirs, diaries, and letters, often not intended for publication, also offer rich biographical material. The stories of great figures in Jewish history —protagonists in its making and shaping —of the leaders of movements, of great rabbis and Jewish scholars in the secular sciences, contribute considerably to our understanding of the destiny of the Jewish people in the past and in the present.

Brief sketches of Jewish heroes and thinkers are, of course, found in the well-known Jewish encyclopedias. But the really interested reader will naturally prefer to turn to full-length biographies.

The Cohen Library is well supplied with older and more recent biographical works, including many for young readers. There are, for instance, — and very timely on the tenth annivesary of the State of Israel — volumes on all prominent Zionist and Israeli personalities: Theodore Herzel, by Alex Bein; Trial and Error, the autobiography of the first president of Israel, Chaim Weizmann, and Rachel Baker's Chaim Weizmann, Builder of a Nation; the story of the present energetic and colorful Prime Minister, Ben-Gurion of Israel, by Barnett Litvinoff; and a biography of the Jewish patriot Vladimir Jabotinsky by Joseph B. Schechtman, entitled Rebel and Statesman. Mare Syrkin's Way of Valor is a record of the life and work of Golda Meir, the present Foreign Minister.

Also available are books on eminent scientists: Einstein, His Life and Times, by Philip Frank; My Life with the Microbes, an autobiography by Selman A. Waksman, the Nobel prize-winner for the discovery of streptomycin; and the three-volume work by Ernest Jones on The Life and Work of Sigmund Freud. The reader who is interested in music will find the autobiography of Darius Milhaud, Notes without Music, as well as A Journey to Greatness, the Life and Music of George Gershwin, by David Ewen. Works on outstanding Jewish political figures and purists are not lacking either and will surely make fascinating reading: Margaret Coit's Mr. Baruch, and My Own Story, written by Bernard Baruch himself; Louis Marshall, Champion of Liberty, Selected Papers and Addresses by Charles Reznikoff: and the Avenue Synagogue was the composite composition of three eminent composers. one of whom was Herman Berlinski.

This year, we are proud to present the world premiere performance of a new Sabbath Eve Service composed by Mr. Herman Berlinski in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Hazzan David J Putterman's devoted and loyal service to the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Mr. Berlinski. the composer was born in Leipzig, Germany, and received his musical education at the State Conservatory in Leipzig, and in the Ecole Normale DeMusique, Paris. He was the first person to receive the degree of "Master of Sacred Music" from the Seminary College of Jewish Music of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. His composition "Music for the Peace of Mind" received its premiere performance last Februarv at the opening of the American Musical Festival. Another of his works. "And Behold the Bush Burneth" will be played at the International Organists Conference in London by the eminent organist Dr. Robert Baker. Mr. Berlinski currently is the assistant organist at Temple-Emanu-El in New York City and also instructor of music at the Cantors Institute of the Seminary.

The program will be presented by Hazzan Putterman and the synagogue choir augmented, with George Crook at the organ. The conductor will be Richard Korn.

Mr. Korn, a graduate of Princeton University at the age of nineteen, won fellowships in conducting at the Juilliard Graduate School and the National Orchestral Association. At Serge Koussevitzky's invitation he studied with Koussevitzky at Tanglewood and continued his studies in composition with Bernard Wagenaar. During World War II while serving in the Coast Guard, Mr. Korn was director of music at the Manhattan Beach Training Station.

Since the war, he has conducted many of America's major orchestras including the NBC Symphony and has been permanent conductor of the Baton Rouge Symphony. He has also been acclaimed as guest conductor of many leading orchestras in Europe.

In addition to success in the field of conducting, Mr. Korn has composed in many forms and has made a number of transcriptions for band and orchestra, including opera, ballet and recordings, as well as symphony concerts.

Due to the unusually large attendance at the services, reservation cards have been sent to the members. These should be returned to the synagogue office indicating the number of tickets desired.

Following the service, a reception will be held in the Lemberg Auditorium in honor of the composer and the participating artists.

Tributes To Hazzan David J. Putterman On His Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

Many persons from all walks of life have written to our Congregation and Cantor Putterman on the occasion of our celebration of his twenty-five years of service to the Park Avenue Synagogue. We take the libery of reproducing a few of these.

RABBI LOUIS I. NEWMAN, Congregation Rodeph Sholom, New York: "Cantor Putterman has had a distinguished career and his quarter century of service in the Park Avenue Synagogue has been notable in every way. He has an eminent place among his colleagues and in the community, and I know the Tribute will be a symbol of the influence he has exerted and continue to exert for good. Please accept the best wishes of Congregation Rodeph Sholom."

MAX J. ETRA, President, Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun, New York:

"It is a milestone. the attainment of which should bring great satisfaction to him, even as it must bring great joy to your congregation. My best wishes to him for many more years of service to your congregation and to religious Jewry."

RABBI JOSEPH H. LOOKSTEIN, Kehilath Jeshurun, New York:

"Throughout our association, I have learned to respect him and to cherish a great deal of personal affection for him.

My esteem for him is all the greater because I consider him one of the finest examples of the cantorial art. He is a person who brought dignity and prestige to the sacred calling of "sh'liach zibbur". He is in the truest sense a representative of the community deserving to stand in prayer before God."

SIMON GREENBERG, Vice-Chancellor, Jewish Theological Seminary, New York:

"The Park Avenue Synagogue is to be congratulated on having given to Hazzan Putterman the opportunity not merely to serve the congregation but also to serve the larger interest of Jewish liturgical music and of the profession of the Hazzan in our country. Hazzan Putterman has been blessed not only with a very sweet and beautiful voice and with rare ability to interpret the prayers of our people. He has also been endowed with great energy and initiative and with the ability to undertake the difficult organizational task of bringing the Cantors Assembly into being and of leading the Assembly during its difficult formative years. I pray that there may be in store for him many more years of loyal and fruitful service to the cause to which his life has been so gloriously dedicated.

DR. LOUIS FINKELSTEIN, Chancellor, Jewish Theological Seminary, New York:

"My heart is with you. I rejoice in the good fortune of the Park Avenue Synagogue in having you as its Hazzan. It was my great privilege to introduce both you and Rabbi Milton Steinberg to the Park Avenue Synagogue and I am delighted that this privilege came to me. I hope all will continue to be well with you and pray that you may have the blessings of effective service to the community for many years to come."

ALICE AND JAN PEERCE:

"All of our good wishes and love to you, for many, many more years of happiness and success that you so justly deserve."

LAZARE SAMINSKY, Music Director of Congregation Emanu-El. New York:

"I wish to congratulate you on your devoted and highly fruitful service to Jewish music and Jewish culture, so dear to us.

RABBI JACK J.COHEN, Society for the Advancement of Judaism. New York:

"I wish you much happiness and many more fruitful years of concentrated work in the enhancement of hazzanut. All of your friends at the SAJ join me in the hope that your voice will continue to be heard in song and in thoughtful expression of the aspirations of the hazzan."

DR. MOSHE DAVIS. Provost. Jewish Theological Seminary of America, New York:

"For several decades now and more, you have been in the forefront of the religious musical life in this country. You have given wholeheartedly of yourself in voice and action. While you served so magnificently in your own Congregation.

Men's Club's Celebration A Rousing Success

By HARVEY GLASSER

Men's Club gala weekend celebration of April 25 and 26, commemorating the Tenth Anniversaries of the founding of the State of Israel and the Men's Club of the Park Avenue Synagogue, was a rousing success and a highly gratifying experience for all the many who attended either or both functions.

Those who attended Men's Club Sabbath on Friday night, April 25, in honor of the Tenth Anniversary of the State of Israel, heard Gideon Saguy, Israeli Consul in New York speak on the topic, "Israel—The First Decade." Mr. Saguy was introduced by Men's Club president, Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel. Also present and seated on the pulpit were former Men's Club presidents, Milton M. Sivek and Joseph Howard Katz. Dr. Harry Neivert, Dr. Samuel Stern, Leon Klein, Dr. Arthur Morse, Lawrence A. Meyers and Dr. Erich Siegel, members of the Men's Club participated in the religious part of the service. They were treated to a wonderful Oneg Shabbat following the service presented by the Men's Club under the supervision of Jack Boorstein and Julian Jacobs. During the Oneg Shabbat, Cantor David J. Putterman led the assembled in singing Israeli songs.

Annual Ladies Night

Men's Club's Tenth Anniversary Party, held Saturday night, April 26, and designated this year's Annual Ladies Night, was, in short, just sensational. All the ingredients were present for a most enjoyable time, including delicious cuisine, entertainment, music, dancing and informal conviviality. Harry Dubin, Albert Siegel and the other membes of the committee deserve our heartfelt thanks for an outstanding job. The Lemberg Auditorium of the Synagogue was transformed into the decorous "21 Club" for the night, creating the realistic atmosphere of an intimate supper club. Also deserving of our thanks are Dr. Alexander S. Forster, chairman of the donations committee, and Ted Meistrich and Tubie Resnik, who donated some of the valuable prizes which were given away. It seemed as if almost everyone present won a door prize.

One of the cherished moments of the party was the singing of "Happy Birthday" to the Men's Club by all of the ladies present. As for the name "21 Club", someone figured out that there are 21 steps down from the lobby of the Milton Steinberg House to the Lemberg Auditorium, and thus the name was born. This was typical of the imagination and planning that went into making the Tenth Anniversary Party and Ladies Night one long to be remembered.

Annual Meeting, MAY 27

Concerning things and events to remember, Men's Club Annual Election Meeting and Dinner is Tuesday, May 27, 1958. Hon. Louis J. Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York, will be our guest speaker. Watch for details by separate mailing.

Frederick Finn Elected Honorary Board Trustee

Mr. Frederick Finn, the first person to serve as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and presently serving on the Advisory Council, was recommended by the Nominating Committee in its recent report submitted to the Board of Trustees to be elevated to the position of Honorary Trustee. His election as Honorary Trustee of the Park Avenue Synagogue was for "conspicuous service rendered to the synagogue." The report was unanimously accepted by the board and formal announcement will be made at the forthcoming Annual Congregational Meeting to be held Sunday evening, May 18.

Mr. Finn, who emigrated from Belgium in 1920, became an active and devoted member of our synagogue and served as Chairman of the Board for a five year period. He also was chairman of the Religious School Board for many years. He was active on the committe which made arrangements to repurchase the original mortgage on our synagogue property many years ago.

In addition to these positions, Mr. Finn served as a member of the Finance Commttee and the committee which was instrumental in securing the services of our late and revered Rabbi Milton Steinberg.

The fervor and devotion with which Mr. Finn served our congregation warrants this newly acquired honor which has been bestowed upon him.

Judge Botein Speaks To Legal Aid Society

Mr. Justice Botein, an honorary trustee of the Park Avenue Synagogue, recently addressed the annual meeting of the Legal Aid Society on "Our Sixth Sense-The Sense of Justice".

Now serving as the Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, Mr. Justice Botein has had vast experience in the field of jurisprudence. His address dealt with the dedicated contributions made by the Legal Aid Society and the splendid assistance rendered by young volunteers from some of the finest law firms in the city in representing accused persons who otherwise might not obtain a fair hearing.

In referring to the Constitutional guarantee that "no man shall be deprived of his life, liberty or property without due process of law", Mr. Justice Botein called attention to the fact that these rights are not limited to persons of unblemished reputation and highest character, but are "accorded to all—the blessed and the damned, the reformer and the racketeer".

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On Thursday, April 24, a group of ladies from the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue, headed by Mrs. Sol E. Green, made their annual visit to the Yonkers Home of the Guild for the Jewish Blind.

Refreshments and souvenirs were provided by the visitors for the hundred men and women residents who eagerly look forward each year to Sisterhood's visit. Syd Skolsky, accordionist, entertained the group with a selection of Jewish folk songs which proved highly popular. Belle Green gave a reading of humorous anecdotes, a highlight of the party.

The women who attended were impressed anew with the immaculate conditions of the Home and the pleasant demeanor of the residents. Those who attended, besides Mrs. Green, were Mrs. Fred Adams, Mrs. Paul Bercu, Mrs. Anna Edelman, Mrs. Samuel Gellert, Mrs. Harry Grunther, Mrs. Milton Heller, Mrs. William Karmiol, Mrs Mitchell Leventhal, Mrs Harry J. Sokolow and Mrs Marvin Spiegel.

you thought continuously of the calling as a whole and how you could raise the standards of the hazzan. Your work in this broad field is being appreciated each day more and more; and I am sure the ultimate record will show that you have been a pioneer and a leader and that you have truly worked with a spirit of consecration."

A. W. BINDER, Director, Department of Music, 92nd Street YM&YWHA, New York:

"You have made a definite contribution to the American Cantorate, always to raise the standards of the cantorial profession in this country. For this service you deserve the tribute which is being planned for you."

DR. ISRAEL GOLDSTEIN, Congregation B'nai Jeshurun, New York.

"I have known Cantor Putterman through all of these years and share in the wide admiration for his gifts as Hazzan and for his dedication to raising the standards of Hazzanuth in America. I know how much he has meant to the Park Avenue Synagogue not only in the pulpit but in his personal ministry to his Congregants."

RABBI ISRAEL H. LEVINTHAL, Brooklyn Jewish Center, New York:

"You have greatly enriched the field of Jewish liturgical music and you have raised the standards of Hazzanism in this country to a high degree."

RABBI ARTHUR LELYVELD, Executive Vice-President, American Israeli Cultural Foundation:

David Putterman follows one of the loftiest callings that man can have on earth; to lead his fellowman in prayer and to direct him in the search for eternal truths.

In honoring your hazzan, you are glorifying the whole concept of a life devoted to the service of the Jewish community."

Rabbi Judah Nadich was the keynote speaker at the conventions of the Southeast Region of the United Synagogue of America and of the National Women's League. Delegates attended from the Conservative congregations and Sisterhoods of Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and South Carolina.

Sisterhood UJA Bazaar Tremendous Success

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

"No endeavor is in vain;
Its reward is in the doing."

So said Longfellow many years ago, and so say we today, as we happily report the success of the Bazaar-Auction held by Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue in behalf of the Rescue Fund of the United Jewish Appeal.

On Tuesday, April 29, the Lemberg Auditorium was completely transformed with gaily decorated booths—the creative work of our talented Regina Stangel—into a scene of great activity. The Bazaar brought many who came to "get a bargain", to join their friends for a delicious luncheon, and in the late afternoon, to drink, eat and be merry, and particularly to contribute to this life saving project. In the evening, Cafe UJA attracted a great number of people who came with their families to have dinner, and later to try their skill at various games, and to bid for some special objects d'art at the auction, so expertly conducted by Mr. Harold H. Levin.

Chairman of the Bazaar, Mrs. Irwin H. Rome, and her co-chairmen, Mrs. Herman Helpern and Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, are to be congratulated for a job well done. Orchids go to Mrs. Aaron Schoenbaum and Mrs. Ted Meistrich and their hard-working committe for their fruitful efforts in securing so much merchandise without which there could have been no bazaar. "Pick-ups"—and we refer of course to calling for the gifts so kindly donated by many friends eager to help UJA—were supervised by Mrs. Harold A. Osserman and her group, who chauffered all around town to gather the many items.

The well stocked booths were in charge of Mrs. Mack Fieber. Mrs. A. Stangel was responsible for the original decorations that brought so many compliments. To Mrs Jacob Starr and her tireless committee go our thanks for that wonderful lunch and dinner served so efficiently to so many diners.

The notices and articles which induced so many to attend the Bazaar proved the literary talent of Mrs. Arthur Morse, chairman of publicity. And most important, our gratitude to the keepers of the shekels, our capable treasurers, Mrs. Samuel Gellert and Mrs. Mortimer Millheiser.

We also wish to express our appreciation to the host of well-wishers who contributed so generously of their merchandise and of their money to help make our annual Sisterhood Bazaar an outstanding event in our program of activities.

Executive Director Speaks At Synagogue Conference

Sidney R. Katz, Executive Director of the Park Avenue Synagogue, was the guest speaker at the Annual Conference of the United Synagogue of America — Northern New Jersey Region. Approximately sixty congregations in the New Jersey region were represented at the conference, which took place in Millburn. New Jersey, Congregation B'nai Israel, on Sunday afternoon, April 27.

Mr. Katz addressed one of the five workshop sessions as the guest speaker on the subject of "Synagogue Administration". Other speakers included Dr. Simon Greenberg who delivered the main address, and Dr. Abraham J. Heschel, who addressed the concluding banquet session. Both speakers represented the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Dr. Abraham E. Millgram, Director of the Department of Education of the United Synagogue of America, and Dr. Morton Siegel, Director of Youth Activities of the United Synagogue of America also addressed the conference.

Cantors Conference Held At Concord Hotel

The 11th annual conference of the Cantors Assembly of America (of which Hazzan David J. Putterman is the executive vice-president) and the Department of Music of the United Synagogue of America (of which Hazzan Putterman is the director) was held at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha, New York, from Monday, April 21 through Thursday April 24.

The convention was devoted to the theme of "No End To Learning." More than 500 hazzanim, rabbis, and synagogue lay leaders from all over the United States and Canada attended what proved to be a most inspiring, fruitful and enjoyable convention.

At the closing banquet held Wednesday evening, April 23, a telegram was received from Mrs. Solomon E. Green, President of the Sisterhood of the Park Avenue Synagogue, saluting the entire assemblage and paying special tribute to Hazzan David J. Putterman on his twenty-fifth anniversary with the Park Avenue Synagogue and his devoted and dedicated service to the entire cantorate.

Youth Groups Help UJA

By HY SANKEL

The teen age clubs once again surpassed the previous year's total for their annual contribution to the United Jewish Appeal. This year they raised $410 which Mrs. Herman Helpern, chairman of the Youth Activities Committee, was happy to present to Mrs Benjamin Sack, Chairman of the UJA Women's Division of the Synagogue.

In thanking the young people, Mrs Sack said, "This annual letter is one of my greatest joys in the entire UJA campaign . . . Those of us who are dedicated to the cause of UJA can take pride and hope in the knowledge that our young people can be counted on for future leadership in this great humanitarian cause."

Youth Groups Aid Israel

Our teen agers have decided to assist the United Synagogue of America in its project to develop closer relationships between the American youth and the youth of Israel.

Plans are being made to build living accomodations in Israel that may be used by Americans who visit there and shared by Israelis. It is called a 2-0-9 project. Two dollars is to be donated to the project and 9c for administrative expenses.

In order to raise this sum, the youth groups are planning a dance on Saturday evening, May 10. They have invited the Westchester youth groups which are also affiliated with the United Synagogue. The dance is also being utilized to help build a Manhattan, Bronx, Westchester Council so that closer relationships among the groups may be developed.

Israel — After Ten Years

The recent observance of the Tenth Anniversay of the State of Israel gave the students of the Religious School an opportunity to complete a study of Israel. During the three weeks prior to the anniversary date, April 24, all the classes in the Primary Department and in the Hebrew Department based their history study on a "Unit on Israel" which was prepared for our school. Our children became aware of some of the major events and personalities in the struggle for nationhood; learned some new songs; worked in arts and crafts on related themes; and, discussed the significance of the event to the American Jew and to World Jewry.

As a culmination of our celebration, each of the classes held a birthday party — in a number of classes parents baked birthday cakes — and the entire school observed the anniversary at the Junior Congregation services and at a special assembly for the classes in the Primary Department.

Keren Ami Council

On Sunday, May 11, the students in our school will attend a special assembly to present a gift to the children of a school in Israel. Each year delegates representing four mid-Manhattan schools, Ansche Chesed, B'nai Jeshurun, Society for the Advancement of Judaism and the Park Avenue Synagogue, hold a series of meetings devoted to the allocation of some of their Keren Ami funds for a special gift from the children of our schools to the children of an Israeli school. In recent years, athletic equipment and an electro-cardiograph machine for a children's hospital were donated.

Jonathan Stowe and Stanley Kurzweil, delegates to the Keren Ami Council, were active in the selection of the gift—a filmstrip projector and a series of film strips —and in the planning of the presentation assembly to be held at Ansche Chesed. Stanley was elected to act as chairman of the assembly and to make the presentation of the gift to an Israeli child.

Bar Mitzvah Class

Rabbi Nadich will meet with the students in the Bar Mitzvah class who are scheduled to be Bar Mitzvah or Bat Mitzvah from September 1958 to January 1, 1959. The meetings will be held in room 501 of the Milton Steinberg House on Wednesday May 7 and May 14, between 5:10 and 6:10 P.M.

State of Israel To Show At U.S. World Trade Fair

Israel will again be represented at the United States World Trade Fair, which will be held at the New York Coliseum from May 7 to May 17.

The beautiful pavilion which will feature Israel's cultural and industrial accomplishments will cover 3,200 square feet on the mezzanine floor of the Coliseum. The ten years of economic progress together with the dramatic panorama of Israel's thistorical and cultural background will be depicted through a series of mosaics, sculptures, life-size photographs and an array of Israel's manufactured products.

This exhibit will be part of the celebration of the Tenth Anniversary of the State of Israel and also will include two forthcoming television programs of great interest and educational value.

On Sunday, May 10, on NBC-TV from 11:30 A.M. to noon there will be a panel discussion of Middle East Oil titled "Briefing Session."

On Sunday, May 18, on NBC-TV from 4:00 to 5:30 P. M. Chet Huntley will give a special report on "Israel: The Next Ten Years."

In preparation for the sessions with Rabbi Nadich, the students have read the book "A Guide to Jewish Youth." The class will discuss the history of the Bar Mitzvah ceremony and its meaning to the Jewish boy and girl today.

News Of Our Men In The Armed Forces

Our best wishes are expressed to the following young men of our congregation who are now serving with the Armed Forces:

P.F.C. Edward Gerber and Ensign Samuel Spilo.

If any of the families in the Park Avenue Synagogue have sons or daughters currently serving in the Armed Forces it would be appreciated if they would submit such names to either the synagogue office, attention of Rabbi Nadich, or to the Chairman of the Armed Forces Committee of the Men's Club, Mr. N. B. Gerber, 120 Wall Street, New York 5.

Register Your Child In Our Religious School

The question is asked, "Why should my child go to religous school?"

The answer is quite simple. By attending a modern Jewish school. together with other children of his own age, your child will gain a rich and joyful experience as a Jew.

He will learn the great heritage of his people, the traditions and culture of Jews through the ages, the Jewish ethics and ideals whch have contributed to the development of the American democratic spirit. He will grow up with a deep love and understanding of the privilege of being Jewish and much better equipped to meet the outside world.

Through our Religious School, your child will find identification with you, your family, the synagogue the Jewish community in the United States and with Jewish people throughout the world.

We have a PRIMARY DEPARTMENT for children between the ages of 6 to 9. The school, which meets on Sunday morning, aims to familiarize the child with Judaism, its history and its cultural expressions. Bible stories, customs and festivals are taught through games, songs and plays. The school develops within the child a sense of loyalty and pride in Judaism.

Our HEBREW DEPARTMENT is for children between the ages of 9 to 15. The school, which meets two afternoons and on Saturday mornings, aims to prepare the child for an active and constructive participation in Jewish life. Instruction in Hebrew, Bible, history, customs, ceremonies and religious worship through the Junior Congregation develop in the child an understanding of religious concepts, the ethical values and the ritual forms of Judaism.

Then there is the HIGH SCHOOL EXTENSION for students who are on the high school level. This class meets on Sunday morning.

Sisterhood News

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Our annual evening meeting held on Tuesday, April 22, attracted many of our members and their husbands. Dr. Evlyn Garfiel, the guest speaker, delivered a most interesting talk on the Jewish viewpoint of "Marriage and the Family." She was presented by Mrs. Judah Nadich.

Mrs. Sol E. Green, president of Sisterhood, who presided over the business session in her customary efficient manner, reported on the many activities of Sisterhood. In referring to the Bazaar-Auction to be held at the Synagogue on April 29, for the benefit of UJA, she did so in original poetry, which provoked great applause.

The meaning and purpose of the Torah Fund was discussed by Mrs. Jack Kurzweil, chairman of that committee. She urged all to attend the Torah Fund Chi Luncheon.

In behalf of Camp Ramah conducted by the Jewish Theological Seminary, John Stangel, son of our devoted members, Mr. and Mrs. A. Stangel, spoke dynamically of the summers he had spent at the Camp and of his many interesting experiences. He held the audience spellbound as he related the benefits which he and his friends had derived from the services conducted entirely in Hebrew. In Johnny, we see a future leader in the Park Avenue Synagogue.

The new slate of officers and members of the Eexecutive Board for Sisterhood for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Harry J Sokolow, chairman of the Nominating Committee. The following officers were unanimously elected and will be installed at the May 20 birthday party luncheon-meeting:

Reflections on a Party

The Park Avenue Synagogue has been the scene of many notable functions but none has surpassed that of Sunday evening, May 4.

That was the occasion of the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Hazzan David J. Putterman's service as Cantor of the Park Avenue Synagogue. An overflowing gathering, which not only filled the main synagogue but also occupied a good portion of the balcony, came to attend our special evening service to honor a man who symbolized our synagogue more than any other living person.

The large audience included many friends and associates of David in the Cantorate as well as leading figures in the rabbinical world, all of whom came to pay a well deserved tribute to one who had served our synagogue with a selfless loyalty and devotion for a quarter of a century.

Hazzan Putterman joined our pulpit as Cantor in 1933, at about the same time that our late beloved Rabbi Milton Steinberg became our spiritual leader. Since then Rabbi Steinberg, of blessed memory, has been called from our midst. Jacob Friedman, or as he was known to so many of us, Uncle Jacob, who served as our president for over thirty years and was instrumental in bringing David Putterman and Milton Steinberg to minister to our congregation, has also passed away. But they and those who worked with them, left us a stronger institution which has continued to grow through the "golden era" of their ministration.

It was fitting and proper that this service of tribute to Hazzan Putterman was in the form of a religious service, for David's whole life has been wrapped up in synagogue worship and in liturgical music. His contribution in the latter field has won acclaim throughout the country for his efforts in bringing to public attention, through the medium of our annual liturgical service, new music for the Sabbath eve service written by contemporary composers. Some of these compositions have already found their place in the regular Sabbath eve services of many congregations.

The appearance of the members of the Choral Ensemble of the Cantors Institute was their way of expressing deep affection for their "Founder". Under the baton of Dr. Hugo Weisgal, the Ensemble presented several selections which left an emotional impact on the audience by reason of the beautiful quality of their voices and the depth of their Jewish musical content. As we gazed upon the faces of this group, we had a feeling of pride that American Judaism has such fine young men preparing to fill the Cantorate in our synagogues in the years ahead.

Following the conclusion of the service, words of appreciation were expressed by representatives of the various arms of the synagogue. For the Bar Mitzvah boys and girls, Robert Stricker, who was Bar Mitzvah the following Shabbath, spoke of the splendid work Hazzan Putterman was doing to prepare these boys and girls for "their day." Miss Doris Wimpfheimer, who was Bas Mitzvah and confirmed at our synagogue, expressed her tribute on behalf of the teen-age groups. The Mr. and Mrs. Club was represented by its president, Dr. Leon Pordy. Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer spoke for the Parents Association and Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel, president of the Men's Club, expressed appreciation for Hazzan Putterman's valued service. Sisterhood, the oldest arm of our synagogue, was ably represented by Mrs. Sol E. Green, its president. For the synagogue, Jacob Klein, now serving his seventh term as president, welcomed those who had come to honor Hazzan Putterman, and Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of our Board of Trustees, eloquently expressed the love and affection that was in the hearts of our entire congregation for our loyal and devoted Cantor. In recognition of David's long service, Mr. Katz announced that the Board of Trustees had appointed Hazzan Putterman as Cantor of the Park Avenue Synagogue for a life tenure. In a touching and moving address, Rabbi Nadich, our spiritual leader, referred to David's great and lasting contribution not only to the Park Avenue Synagogue but also to the wider field of Jewish music.

The reception held in the Lemberg Auditorium at the conclusion of the service was a most festive occasion. Hundreds of David's friends stood on line for an opportunity to say a personal word of greeting to our guest of honor. The conviviality and good fellowship that was noticeable reflected the spirit of friendship that prevailed in our synagogue. Thanks to Mrs. Arthur Morse and the members of her committee for the excellent planning and preparation that contributed so much to the success of this celebration.

Yes, this was an unusual occasion and one that will be long remembered. Yet, all the accolades expressed could but in a small way measure the deep love and affection all of us have for Hazzan Putterman.

excellent arrangements for this function. Hazzan Putterman sang the national anthem and Hatikvah and said grace after the meal.

Jacob Klein, who was re-elected to serve as president for the eighth consecutive term, called the meeting to order. Before turning over the gavel to Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board. Mr. Klein delivered his annual message as president which is printed in full in the Bulletin.

Joseph Howard Katz, who will continue to serve as chairman of the Board for another term, submitted a comprehensive report of the synagogue activities since he assumed office in January 1957, which will be published in a future issue of the Bulletin so that those who could not attend our annual meeting may learn of the many accomplishments of the past administration.

In looking forward to the future of our synagogue, Mr. Katz said:

"As we look back upon the past year, we see not only the achievements attained but also our unattained goals and unrealized dreams. We hope to use the challenge of this coming year with faith and courage for greater fulfillment of our ideals in a finer and greater synagogue. We aim for greater unity so that whatever point of synagogue life we meet, we may find a true fellowship of warm understanding and harmony."

With the full cooperation of all the members of our synagogue family, the sights we have set for the future can easily be accomplished. Let us dedicate ourselves to continue to work together and to strive for the growth of our synagogue in prestige, in membership, and in greater achievements.

Annual Message of Jacob Klein, President

In my last message to the Membership Body, I closed with this quotation:

Osay sholom bimromov, who yaase sholem oleynu, v'al kol Yisroel.
May he who created harmony in the Heights, create harmony among us and among the entire House of Israel.

I am not egotistical enough to claim that the Almighty heard and answered my prayer, but I am happy in the thought that harmony does prevail in our midst, even though the entire body of Israel is not exactly at peace with the world. It is indeed a source of great satisfaction, as it must be to all of you, to realize how happy we all are here at the present time.

JACOB KLEIN
President of Congregation

Primarily, I would say that a great deal of this pleasant relationship is due to our spiritual leader, Rabbi Judah Nadich, who seems to have integrated himself into the hearts and minds of our congregation, in a sweet, gracious, courteous and affable manner, giving practically to each one of us a feeling of oneness with each member of the Park Avenue Synagogue, and making us all feel that we now have a worthy successor to our beloved Milton Steinberg.

I am a regular attendant at all services, not only in the synagogue, but at other places, and have personally found Rabbi Nadich a most agreeable, intellectual and spiritually uplifting gentleman of sterling character, honesty and integrity. God bless our Rabbi, his charming helpmate, Hadassah, and their family.

Another who has shared with Rabbi Nadich this fine relationship with his congregants is Hazzan David J. Putterman. During all the years I have been in pretty close contact with him, I have found him to be a gentleman who has served this congregation ably, and who has been a devoted and self-sacrificing Cantor whom everyone loves and admires. His singing thrills his listeners. Certainly, the testimonial given to him by the congregation two weeks ago, on the occasion of his twenty-fifth anniversary as our Cantor, attests to his popularity among all the members of the congregation.

A third person who has contributed to the harmony that presently exists in our midst is our Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Joseph Howard Katz. His has not been a pleasant task, but he certainly has devotedly and in an intelligent, even if at times aggressive manner contributed to making the Park Avenue Synagogue what Dr. Louis Finkelstein, Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, termed it, the Cathedral Synagogue of the conservative movement. In all this, he was ably assisted by Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer, the Vice Chairman of the Board.

Although everyone is entitled to honorable mention and I mean it when I say everyone, I don't think it would be fair not to mention our Vice President, Sol Green, familiarly and lovingly referred to as Sol. He has been a rock of Gibraltar working with me, and a great deal of credit is due him for the unselfish service he has always rendered and has been willing to render, particularly during the summer months when all of us are at summer resorts enjoying ourselves.

And now a word about our Executive Director, Sidney R. Katz, whom we all know as Sidney. I am almost daily at the Synagogue and I speak, not from what has been told to me, but from what

President's Message

I am able to observe. I don't think there has been or is a more conscientious, honest. honorable and indefatigable worker than Sidney—as I said, I can see him daily and with him there is never a dull moment. I have heard many a telephone conversation at the most trying times where his tact, diplomacy and sweetness have softened many a person who started off with fire in his eyes and murder in his heart, calm down, to a peaceful person.

We are indeed happy to have Sidney in charge as our Executive Director, and I want to personally thank him for the unselfish service he has at all times rendered.

If I have singled out these four individuals it is because I have been in almost daily contact with each, but I feel I would be doing our Board of Trustees an injustice if I did not mention them in this same category, men of big affairs, who give of their time and substance at great sacrifice, to make the Park Avenue Synagogue function as an important cog in the wheels that helps to make Judaism a functioning organism in the entire Jewish community.

I must not leave out the Sisterhood, whose able leader Belle Green, has been at the helm of the ladies division this past year and who has done so much to help her organization to be in the forefront of Park Avenue Synagogue life. Belle has stayed up many a night until the wee hours of the morning working for the Park Avenue Synagogue and she prepares and delivers a most intellectual and moving report and address. I salute her.

It would be most unfair for me not to mention each of the ladies who have assisted not only Belle, but the entire Sisterhood organization. Freda Sack, an unusual and tireless worker for UJA and the Bazaar, Dorothy Sokolow, Doris Rome, Muriel Morse, Anne Starr, Regina Stangel and right down the line, all the ladies of the Sisterhood, who I hope will forgive me, for not mentioning their names.

Then there is the Men's Club with Dr. Sigmund Siegel, at the helm. the Mr. and Mrs. Club headed by Dr. Pordy, Vicki Wimpfheimer of the Parents Association, Phyllis Siegel of Religious School Board and Lillian Helpern of the Youth Activities Division. all of whom are entitled to the thanks and appreciation of the Park Avenue Synagogue for their unselfish devotion to thankless tasks. On behalf of the Park Avenue Synagogue, as well as in my own behalf, I give them our and my personal thanks. I sincerely hope that no lady or gentleman whom I haven't mentioned will feel that I have overlooked him or her. Each one of the ladies and gentlemen of the congregation and Sisterhood is entitled to unstinted praise for what he or she has done individually to have the wheels of progress move harmoniously at the Park Avenue Synagogue, so I beg of you all to be charitable and forgive me, because any omission of a name has been accidental. I love you all.

After hearing the beautiful way in which the Chairman has condensed all the wonderful reports of all the heads of the different arms of the synagogue, no one, even if his or her name was not mentioned, can question the sincerity of our feelings for each member.

What, however, I would like to say to those members, who are not so active is

"Are you an active member? The kind that would be missed, or

Are you just contented that your name is on the list?

And now I come to myself and I quote from the daily prayer I recite "What are we, what is our life, what is our kindliness, what is our righteousness, what is our strength, what is our vigor then... Are not all strong men as nothing before Thee, men of renown, as if they never had been, and wise men as if they never existed and men of understanding, as if without knowledge, for the multitude of their works is void, and the days of their lives vanity." As the Preacher says, "Vanity, of vanities, all is vanity."

So here is where I leave you—judge me from what you yourselves know and have observed during the years.

I close with the blessing we recited in the synagogue yesterday, when we concluded reading the book of Leviticus

Chazak, Chazak, venis Chazak
Be strong, be strong, Let us be strong together.

Floral Decorations Gift of Bielefeld

The flowers which have been adorning our pulpit for the Friday evening and Saturday morning services have been contributed by David Bielefeld, the florist.

Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees, has expressed our thanks for Mr. Bielefeld's generosity. Mr. Bielefeld has been making similar contributions for many years.

Judge Irving R. Kaufman Discusses Science-Law

Hon. Irving R. Kaufman, a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years, has achieved world-wide fame as a jurist and is recognized as one of the most outstanding younger members of the federal court.

Recently, Judge Kaufman, a Judge of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, was invited by Fordham University School of Law to be its guest speaker at ceremonies commemorating the national observance of Law Day.

The theme selected by Judge Kaufman was "Science and the Law—The Inseparable Twins." In developing his subject, Judge Kaufman pointed out that the launching of the sputnik by the Soviet Union had suddenly alerted the American people to the dramatic realization that we were suddenly thrust into the space age. As a result, he said: "The progressively more complex social and economic system resulting from the colossal acceleration of technological development has required infinitely more complicated legal controls. Today, the law is the concern of the average man as it never was before. Every aspect of his life is in some way affected by a host of new legal regulations."

Although the rapid advance of science has created vast new problems for the law, yet as Judge Kaufman pointed out, "it promises to help solve some of its oldest", for we are now equipped "with infinitely more reliable means of discovering the truth than law has ever had in the past."

The complex problems, which the penetration of outer space has presented, places an additional responsibility upon lawyers. As Judge Kaufman said: "Problems of this sort have traditionally been the province of the lawyer in this country. He was the person to whom other people turned when they wanted to know how to get things done and he was the prime and courageous exponent of individual freedom. Whatever freedom our citizens have today was in a large measure created by lawyers."

In speaking of the future confronting the world with the advent of the new space age, Judge Kaufman observed, that "the space age may well require drastic reductions in national jurisdiction with control being placed in the hands of an international administrative agency."

The Park Avenue Synagogue is proud to number Judge Kaufman and his family among the list of its congregants and happy to take this opportunity to present his new approach to a perplexing problem that confronts our modern age.

Mrs. Moe Turman UJA Guest of Honor

Mrs. Moe Turman, widow of Moe Turman, the late beloved leader in the office furniture industry, will be the guest of honor on Thursday, May 15, in the Sky Garden Suite of the Hotel St. Moritz.

The testimonial dinner will be given by the UJA office furniture division for the benefit of the UJA's rescue and relief campaign. In announcing this dinner, Mr. Irving Kramer, general chairman of this industry division, pointed out that Mrs. Turman had not only aided her late husband in his benefactions but that she had also played a major role herself in philanthropic affairs.

Mrs. Turman and her late husband, were active in the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years and we are proud to share in the honor which has come to her for her generous support of so many worthy causes.

Federation Honors Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow

When the women's division of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York was surveying the list of those to be named new members of its Executive Board, the over-all planning board for the entire metropolitan area, that of Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow presented no problem.

Dorothy Sokolow, known to us at the Park Avenue Synagogue for her dynamic personality and ceaseless energy, has been an active worker for Federation for many years. At the recent election of the women's division of Federation, Mrs. Sokolow was elected a member of its Executive Board in recognition of her years of loyal and devoted service to that organization.

Also designated with Mrs. Sokolow were, Mrs. Joseph F. Cullman 3rd, Mrs. Louis B. Froelich, Mrs. Samuel A. Gifford, Mrs. Melville J. Katz and Mrs. Samuel I. Rosenman. We are happy to take note of this new honor which has come to one of our ardent congregants. Our congratulations to you, Dorothy.

Seminary Cornerstone Laying Set For July 29

The Jewish Theological Seminary of America has announced that ceremonies for the laying of the cornerstone of the Seminary Center in Jerusalem will be held on Tuesday, July 29.

Plans are being made to have each congregation send at least one of its members to be designated as the official representative of such congregation and to have him bring a scroll containing a message from his congregation and a brief summary of its history to be deposited in the cornerstone of such building.

The representative of such congregation will receive an appropriately inscribed scroll commemorating the fact that such congregation was represented on this memorable occasion, which would demonstrate the deep attachment of the conservative movement to Eretz Yisrael and the determination of American Jews to help build spiritual bridges between us and our brethren in Israel.

If any member of the Park Avenue Synagogue plans to be in Jerusalem on July 29, please communicate with Rabbi Nadich so that arrangements can be made to have such person or persons designated as our official representative.

Sisterhood Annual Party

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

The lovliest party of the year—this was the unanimous opinion of the many members and guests who attended Sisterhood's annual birthday party on the afternoon of May 20.

After a delicious luncheon, Mrs. Sol E. Green, Sisterhood president, welcomed the guests and then presented her annual report of the various activities of Sisterhood during the past year. The major portion of the afternoon was devoted to the installation of the officers by Rabbi Judah Nadich.

In "Hamlet", Shakespeare queried: "What imports the nomination of this gentleman?" Rabbi Nadich answered this question very charmingly in refercnce to Sisterhood's officers as he pictured the unusual talents and abilities of each person who had been elected for the coming year.

Hazzan David J. Putterman added a note of gaiety with his timely remarks.

The original decorations, so appropriate for a birthday party, once again proved the creative genius of Regina Stangel. whose tireless efforts transformed thc Lemberg Auditorium into a scene of a gay, birthday celebration.

The following officers will direct the activities of Sisterhood next year:

Mrs. Sol E. Green..... President
Mrs. Herman Helpern... Vice-President
Mrs. Arthur Morse..... Vice-President

Youth Activities Program

By HY SANKEL

The perpetuation of our Jewish ideals is one of the important goals of our Youth Program. In order to achieve it we continually strive to identify potential leaders of Jewry and then provide necessary training. The program is well organized and has achieved great results. Ted Pincus, is now President of the Greater New York Region of the United Synagogue Youth and national editor of New and Views, a U.S.Y. publication. Mike Gelfand is president of the Bronx Manhattan and Westchester Council METNY division of U.S.Y. Other Park Avenue Youth hold various leadership posts.

Our leadership training program this year included sending seven members to the U.S.Y. convention in Chicago in December, fourteen members to a Kinus in Cedarhurst and ten to Mt. Kisco this month. We plan to send six more leaders to Camp Ramah for an eight day leadership training session in August. We have utilized sessions of our Study Group and our March Sichot for this purpose. We are proud of the results.

Art Club Recognition

At a recent exhibit of children's art held at the Jewish Museum a mosaic depicting the tower of Babel was accepted for exhibition. The work of our Art Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Sylvia Cohen, has been of a high caliber and has appeared at the Jewish Museum annually.

This year, however, the Jewish Education Committee has requested permission from Mrs. Lillian Helpern, Chairman of the Youth Activities Committee, to exhibit this mosaic panel at the Department of Art and Architecture of the University of Michigan at Anne Harbor during this summer.

Mrs. Temima Gezari, the Director of the Department of Art Education, of the Jewish Education Committee expressed great pride in this singular honor achieved by the Youth of our Synagogue.

Members of the club who contributed to the creation of the panel were: Jacqualine Wechsler, Davida Beere, Hank Linn and Andrea Colton.

Parents Ass'n Surprise Party for Regina Stangel

By RHEA M.RUTTENBERG

The usual Wednesday evening meeting of the Executive Board of the Parents Association on May 14, turned out bo be a delightful surprise party in honor of one of its beloved members—Mrs Adolph Stangel.

A vice-president of the Parents Association for many years and one of its devoted members, Regina was chosen this year to be honored for her untiring work in behalf of the Parents Group.

An ardent worker for the Parents Association, Regina has demonstrated a loyalty and devotion that has endeared her to everyone. With a rare talent for original decorations, she has recreated the spirit of the holidays and the traditions of the festivals through her Holiday Workshops. The beautiful masquerade costumes which were worn by many of the children of the Religious School in the Purim parade proved her creative genius.

But perhaps more important than all, Regina is always gracious, thoughtful, generous and kind and eager to do more than her part in every undertaking.

Sisterhood Lounge was transformed into a charming scene as husbands and wives gathered to drink a toast to Regina and to join in the gay celebration. Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, president of the Parents Group, spoke of Regina's fine work, her talent for unusual and original decorations, her inspiring Workshops, and her loyalty to our Association and to so many other arms of the synagogue. She presented Regina with a gold framed picture with a spiritual theme, which Mrs. Anna Edelman had especially created for the Parents to give to Regina.

Hazzan Putterman spoke of Regina's devotion to the synagogue and of her efforts in making the holiday functions more meaningful to the members of the congregation. Mr. Martin Leichtling, principal of the Religious School, also expressed his appreciation for all that Regina had done for the school.

The lovely buffet table was the work of several members of the Executive Board who were happy to help make the evening "especially enjoyable."

"Happy is the house that shelters a friend", said Emerson in his "Essays on Friendship." May we paraphrase this truth and say, "Happy is the group that shelters a friend," for in Regina, we all have found a dear, loyal friend.

Parents Lecture Series

The Parents Association is greatly indebted to Rabbi Nadich for the series of excellent lectures which he has delivered from January through May on the topic of "What Shall I Tell my Child?"

Rabbi Nadich included in this series of discussions: "What Shall I Tell my Child about God and Prayer; about Death and Immortality; about Religion in the Home; and about Anti-Semitism and why people hate?" Those who were fortunate to hear these informal talks felt immeasurably enriched and much more capable of answering the many perplexing questions often asked by their youngsters.

President Goes To Israel V. P. Sol Green Will Act

Bon voyage to our president, Jacob Klein, and his charming wife, Gertrude, who have left for a visit to Israel and to Europe for the summer.

During the absence of our president, and our 1st vice-president, Saul Godwin, who is still away in Europe, Mr. Solomon E. Green, our 2nd vice-president, will carry on the functions of that office.

This is not the first time that our dedicated V.P.Sol Green has volunteered for services when called upon. Last summer, as well as the summer before, while most of us were enjoying the cool breezes of the seashore, Sol Green was conducting the regular religious services in the Appleman Chapel; thus proving that our lay leaders are well able to conduct our religious services, and that we are "a kingdom of priests and a holy nation" as decreed in the book of Exodus.

Congregational Annual Meeting Elects 1958-1959 Officers and New Members of Board of Trustees

More than 175 members of our congregation gathered at the seventy-sixth annual congregational meeting of the Park Avenue Synagogue held Sunday evening, May 18, in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Arthur Morse, chairman of the dinner committee, did a splendid job in arranging for the catered dinner, as well as the smorgasbord that was served in the Sisterhood Lounge preceding the dinner. It was a joyful sight to see the renewal of old friendships and the gay, festive spirit that prevailed.

Jacob Klein, re-elected to serve as president for the seventh consecutive term, having been first elected in 1952, (to correct an error in prior issues of the Bulletin) delivered his annual message, which was published in the previous issue of the Bulletin. Rabbi Judah Nadich was the installing officer and in his own inimitable style and gracious manner, he formally installed the elected officers and members of the Board of Trustees, giving an individual thumbnail biographical sketch of each of their respective activities.

Prefacing the installation ceremonies with a few brief remarks, Rabbi Nadich referred to the glorious history of the Park Avenue Synagogue and its prestige in the conservative movement, but at the same time he pointed out that we must look forward to the future and not rely on the glory of the past. As he said, "The glory of the past should be an index of what we can do in the future."

Re-elected chairman of the Board of Trustees for a second term, Joseph Howard Katz submitted his report of the many accomplishments of the past administration and stressed the theme of the entire evening's festivities; that the obligation rests on all of us "to strive for greater glory in the years that lie ahead." His annual report will be published in full in the next and final issue of the Bulletin. He graciously paid tribute to those who had contributed to the achievements of the previous administra-

Millheiser Praised Upon Retirement As Chairman Of House Committee

Joseph Howard Katz, chairman of the Board of Trustees, in a letter to Mortimer D. Millheiser, who for 17 years has been chairman of the House Committee, extended praise and thanks for extraordinary and devoted service to the synagogue far beyond the call of duty of any chairman.

Mr. Millheiser, of course, remains as sexton of the synagogue, as well as funeral director, and in addition will continue to serve as a member of the House Committee.

Mr. Millheiser has been a member of the Park Avenue Synagogue for over 50 years. He was Bar Mitzvah at Congregation Aterath Israel, which later was amalgamated with the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Mr. Katz's letter to Mr. Millheiser stated in part—"On behalf of the Board of Trustees and the entire congregation, I wish to express to you our deepest appreciation for your many years of service as chairman of the House Committee. We are deeply grateful to you."

Mr. Millheiser is also a member of the Advisory Council to the Board of Trustees and has served in that capacity for many years.

Edward Gutman Memorial Stained Glass Window

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gutman, members of the Park Avenue Synagogue, have made arrangements for the installation of a stained glass window in the synagogue in memory of their son, Edward Gutman, of Blessed Memory.

The Gutmans have been members of the Park Avenue Snyagogue for many years. In memory of their son, the Gutmans made a generous contribution to the congregation. The window inscribed is located on the west wall of the synagogue, upper section. It reads "In Memory of Edward Gutman."

tion. The applause that greeted those whom he called upon to take a bow indicated the gratitude of our congregational family for the loyal and devoted service rendered by these unsung heroes.

The chairman of the Board announced that Mr. Fred Finn, the first person to serve as chairman of the Board, had been elected as Honorary Trustee in recognition of his "conspicuous service to the synagogue." Other former chairmen of the Board were also present, including Benjamin Sack, Judge Sanford H. Cohen and Ezra Cohen. The presence of each was acknowledged by the applause of the audience.

All agreed that this annual meeting was in keeping with the high standards established by our congregation and a social event that they would not have wanted to miss. To make sure you will reserve this date next year, please note that hereafter our congregational annual meeting is held in May of each year, pursuant to the provisions of the new Constitution and By-Laws under which we are now functioning.

Before concluding this brief report, may we refer to what Jacob Klein, our president, said in his annual message. He asked the question, "Are you an active member? The kind that would be missed, or are you just contented that your name is on the list?" The answer rests with each member of our congregation. What the answer will be depends on the extent of active participation of each member in the various functions and activities that are made available to our congregation. Don't you want to share in the glory of the future?

Parents Association Elects Officers

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

Parents Association held its final meeting for the current season Wednesday evening, May 28, in the Lemberg Auditorium.

Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, our president, submitted a report of the activities of the Parents Group this past year. Vicki, like all our devoted members, looks forward to a year of greater activity and wider horizons next season.

Mrs. Sylvia Zucker, chairman of the Nominating Committee, submitted the slate of officers and members of the Executive Board to be elected. This was duly approved.

Our guest speaker was Martin Leichtling, principal of the Religious School, who discussed the school, its aims, and its hopes. Martin, who has endeared himself to the Parents Association over many years, and who has always been ready to render any service asked of him, once again graciously answered questions based on the discussion that followed his very interesting talk.

Refreshments were then served and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. To the Parents Association, we extend our congratulations on past accomplishments and our hopes for the group to continue "still achieving, still pursuing."

Torah Readings Dedicated By Mrs. Bessie Greenwald

In memory of her late husband, Harry M. Greenwald, of Blessed Memory, Mrs. Bessie Greenwald, a member of our congregation, has made a contribution to the synagogue.

In recognition of the contribution, four hundred new Torah Readings, which are used during the three festivals, Shavuot, Passover and Sukkot, have been purchased by the synagogue and inscribed in memory of Harry M. Greenwald.

Sisterhood's Birthday Party Meeting, May 20

By RHEA M. RUTTENBERG

On May 20, Sisterhood celebrated her sixty-third birthday with a gay party. First, the guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon topped by that American favorite—strawberry sundaes and birthday cake. The Sisterhood Lounge, beautifully decorated for the occasion by our talented Regina Stangel, really looked like a breath of spring with its lovely flower centerpieces.

Following the luncheon, the meeting was called to order by our president, Mrs. Sol E. Green, who then submitted her annual report. Everyone listened with rapt attention as Belle told of Sisterhood's many accomplishments during the past year.

Her report, beautifully written and beautifully presented, covered every phase of Sisterhood's activities of which she can justly be proud. Beginning with the first opening meeting in September last year, when Rabbi Nadich, our guest speaker, led an informal discussion on "Ask the Rabbi", Belle reviewed the monthly meetings that followed — all carefully planned by the Program Committee under the chairmanship of Doris Rome.

Belle pointed out that perhaps the greatest achievement had been the theatre party in December, preceded by the brunch at the Astor which had attracted many of our members and their husbands despite the worst snow storm of the year. The tireless efforts of Freda Sack, chairman of that function, and her devoted co-workers resulted in such a huge success that Sisterhood was able to contribute the cost of several extensive improvements in the synagogue, including the acoustical ceiling in the Lemberg Auditorium, equipment for the kitchen and table linens which are used by the various arms of the synagogue for their functions. She also reviewed the many other activities of Sisterhood, including the Federation Drive, the Bazaar for the benefit of the United Jewish Appeal Rescue Fund, the Torah Fund luncheon, Sisterhood's annual visit to the Home for the Aged Blind in Yonkers and the highly successful annual evening meeting to which men were invited.

Before concluding her report, Belle acknowledged her gratitude to each committee chairman, as well as to those in charge of special functions, for their loyal efforts in helping to carry out Sisterhood's ambitious program during the current season.

Mrs. Harry J. Sokolow, chairman of the Nominating Committee, despite the stress of preparing to leave for Israel the following day, came to present the slate of officers and the new members of the Executive Board. Her report was unanimously approved.

Rabbi Nadich then installed the officers and newly elected Board members in his usual charming manner. As he pointed out each one's past accomplishments, we all felt that Sisterhood was fortunate, indeed, to have such a fine group of ladies to steer the course of our organization for even a greater year of accomplishments.

To our president, Belle Green, we extend our fondest hopes that she will continue her marvellous work and, with the aid of her fellow officers, bring about Sisterhood's most glorious year. As Belle said in accepting the presidency for another year; "I shall do my best"—and her best is the best anyone can ask.

Assisting her in administering the affairs of Sisterhood for 1958—1959 will be: Mrs. Herman Helpern, Mrs. Arthur Morse, Mrs. Irwin Rome, and Mrs. Jacob Starr, vice-presidents; Mrs. Samuel Gellert, treasurer; Mrs. Mac Fieber, recording secretary; Mrs. Abel Phillips, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Millheiser, financial secretary; and Mrs. William Karmiol, chaplain.

Hy Sankel, Youth Director, Named To Head Project

Mr. Hyman R. Sankel, Director of the Youth Activities of the Park Avenue Synagogue, has been selected to serve as project director of the American Jewish Society for Service, which is working in conjunction with Fellowship House and the State Department to foster closer relations of American Youth with those of Mid-Eastern, Asiatic and African Youth.

Groups of Jewish, Christian and Negro American teen-agers will be joined by young people selected by the State Department from Arabic Countries, India, Ghana, Kenya, Indonesia, Burma, and other nations, to work together on construction and farming projects. They will prepare their own meals, eat together, study together, and even pray together in the form of two half-hour daily meditation periods.

This experiment in group living by young people of such diverse backgrounds is being closely watched by authorities interested in promoting peace and building international friendship.

Gen. Krulewitch Receives Jewish Veterans Award

At a recent gathering at Madison Square Garden of the New York Department, Jewish War Veterans, Maj. Gen. Melvin H. Krulewitch, a member of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue for many years and former vice-chairman of the Board, was the recipient of the 1958 Americanism Award bestowed by the Jewish War Veterans.

Gen. Krulewitch was the first member of the Jewish faith to achieve the rank of Major General in the United States Marine Corps, Reserve. He saw active combat service in the three past wars and received several decorations, including the Purple Heart. His religious, philanthropic, and charitable affiliations are numerous.

We join in saluting you, General, for this well deserved award in recognition of your activity in civic and patriotic affairs.

Annual Report of Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of Board of Trustees, Submitted To The Congregational Meeting Held Sunday, May 18, 1958

Fellow Congregants:

I have tried to prepare the annual report for this year so that it reflects not alone the activities of the different committees, arms, and religious and spiritual aspects of our synagogue, but more important, that it emphasizes the over-all picture of our entire congregational life.

This is not a synagogue dedicated to the advancement of any particular group or to any individual. We are a family of 710 congregants whose purposes have been set forth in the Preamble of our By Laws. Therefore in the spirit of this Preamble, I report to you as follows:

I. The Beginning of a New Era

As congregations go, in the United States of America ours, the Park Avenue Synagogue, is an old one. We can boast of at least three-quarters of a century of existence.

Having last year celebrated our seventy-fifth, our Diamond Jubilee, we find ourselves now facing the fourth quarter of a century of our recorded history.

We face this future with justifiable pride. Ours is a congregation that grew and developed not by cleavage, but by cohesion and amalgamation.

Our congregation grew not only by the joining of forces, but also by the merging of ideologies. Our constituent founders during the past seventy-five years were orthodox, conservative, and reform. Perhaps our history will be not only exemplary but also prophetic, in that the future of American Judaism will represent a closer cohesion as the years roll on, among what are now the three major divisions within Jewish life. The world itself stands on the threshold of a new era. We hope, that era will be characterized by reflecting in its history the ethics and morality which Judaism has given to the world. In our own modest way, as one congregation among thousands, we pray that we will continue our role of strengthening the ties of Jews to Judaism and of Americans to Americanism.

May the new era of this last quarter of the century of our existence be one of continued fruitfulness.

II. Our Pulpit

The heart of a synagogue is its pulpit. When I undertook the responsibility of the chairmanship of the Board of Trustees of the Park Avenue Synagogue, I felt that the selection of a new rabbi was at the very core of my responsibility and it had to assume a primacy over anything else I was to perform in connection with my duties.

JOSEPH HOWARD KATZ
Chairman Board of Trustees

Those of our congregants who have been fortunate to have been in personal contact with Rabbi Judah Nadich will agree with me. I am sure, that with his arrival our congregation has achieved a revival of its distinguished pulpit and we have now attained a long sought stability. The task of selection was not an easy one, but the results achieved by our Board of Trustees were more than justified by the choice of Judah Nadich as our rabbi, and here I want once again to particularly thank Mr. Benjamin Sack, who tirelessly served as Chairman of the Pulpit Committee.

One year's acquaintance, intimate though it has been for many of us, is a short time in the life of a person. Yet, for us it has been a wonderful opportunity to get to know our rabbi and to witness his growing integration into the Park Avenue Synagogue—with its leadership, its membership, its activities and its customs. We are happy and proud that Rabbi Nadich is with us and that we are once again on the threshold of a new period in the life of our congregation.

Of Hazzan David J. Putterman—what can be said this evening that has not been said on Sunday, May 4 in celebrating twenty-five years of service to our congregation? We are pleased to note, that in terms of evaluating our pulpit as a unit, we now possess a well functioning team. While the leadership of the pulpit emanates from the rabbi, and will always do so, we, nevertheless, pride ourselves on our good fortune in having as our cantor a person who has taken Judaism seriously. Thus the religious inspiration which comes to us through the sermonic teachings of our rabbi will often find their complement in the musical and spiritual incantations of our hazzan.

No fair estimate of the cultural impact of our congregation upon the community and upon the nation can fail to include reference to the encouragement our congregation has given for fourteen years to the writing of new liturgical music. This is no small contribution to the field of Jewish music and we are indebted to Cantor Putterman for inspiring us to do so.

I want also on this occasion to salute, as it were, our Baal Korah, one who reads our Torah and who will officiate at our religious services during July and August — Hazzan Abraham Friedman. Hazzan Friedman's vigor belies his age and we pray that he will continue as part of our pulpit team for many years to come.

From The Editor

Once again we come to the end of our current schedule for the Bulletin. This issue wll be the last for this liturgical year and none will be published until September, just prior to the High Holy Days.

Much has been accomplished during the past year since Rabbi Judah Nadich came to the Park Avenue Synagogue as its spiritual leader. To attempt to detail these achievements would be entirely redundant for they are all fully covered in the comprehensive report submitted at the Annual Congregational Dinner-Meeting by Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. This report is being published in this issue of the Bulletin. It will acquaint you with the diverse activities daily taking place in our synagogue life and the extensive program of accomplishments which has brought fame to the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Before taking leave of you for the summer, may we express our gratitude to those who have contributed articles to the columns of the Bulletin and thereby eased the task of the editor. We also wish to express our thanks to Sidney R. Katz, our executive director, for his cooperation and help to the editor.

It has always been our belief that working together as a team is some assurance of success. However, if we have been successful in our efforts to give you a publication in keeping with the high standards of the Park Avenue Synagogue, it is because "team work" has always played such an important part in the issuance of the Bulletin.

So, as we bid you a fond "au revoir," may we wish you all a happy and healthful summer until we meet again.

III. Looking to the Future

Our Future Finances

I am certain our congregants will forgive me a personal reference when I say that the task of being chairman of the Board of Trustees, (real honor though it be), has not been an easy one. One of the problems which has beset me, and I feel we are on the road towards achieving a solution, has been the fact that we have no large reserve should it ever become necessary for us to face up to the consequences of a depression. I refer particularly to our responsibility for maintaining the glory and tradition that is the Park Avenue Synagogue. Also, it has been a matter of concern to me that from time to time major renovations, as well as basic alterations, become necessary in order to properly maintain the synagogue and the Milton Steinberg House. Also from time to time, certain structural improvements are required or replacements are in order even if these replacements occur once every twenty-five years or so.

Furthermore as part of the maturing process of our synagogue, we are required today to face the fact that if we are going to have a large synagogue which serves our congregation and our community and provide full-time employment and a life career for many persons, we must in consequence begin to think about the matter of pensions for those who have served us well and long. I might say parenthetically that such a step has already been taken in connection with Cantor Putterman.

None of this can come out of the regular annual budget of our congregation. Our congregational budget covers only the regular operating and normal maintenance of the synagogue. It does not and cannot and should not include any of the items I have just referred to. If we achieve this purpose, and if it is the only significant thing accomplished during my administration, I shall feel more than pleased.

Recently, I have taken the responsibility of creating a Committee on Gifts, Wills and Bequests. This committee has as its objective the encouragement of our congregants to create endowments, to establish funds and gifts and to leave bequests in your Will so that the Park Avenue Synagogue may continue in the way we would like to see it continue. You will hear more about this committee in the period ahead, but let me say at this point that between now and the High Holy Days there will be mailed to your home our first significant statement about the objectives of this committee. I trust you will read it, study it, and that you will act on it.

This Committee on Gifts, Wills and Bequests is fortunate to have as its chairman, Judge Maxwell Shapiro, and it has on its roster a distinguished list of congregants.

They and Judge Shapiro will be glad to help you in any steps you wish to take towards helping perpetuate the congregation, whether it be through a stained glass window or prayer books, or a memorial tablet, or in the dedication of a classroom, or any other of the various forms available.

Our Future Youth

Basic to the operations of this synagogue is our Religious School. In evaluating this phase of our work, I want to say that I have long had an interest in Jewish education and I am not approaching this important phase of our Synagogue life as if it were all new to me. I am proud of the kind of Religious School one finds at the Park Avenue Synagogue. I am very proud and happy about the chairman of our Religious School Board, Mrs Sigmund A. Siegel, an intelligent and cultured woman in her own right. Fortune too has smiled on us in that the principal of the Religious School has been with us, all these years and has continued to give real practical day to day leadership in the operation of our school. I refer of course, to the principal, Martin Leichtling. Our school is a well organized institution. There is a primary department, a Hebrew department, and the beginnings of a high school extension department. All of the classes taught in our school are based upon a prepared course of study, a thought through curriculum and a school system which has clear cut aims and objectives. The teachers are carefully selected and their work is marked by originality, knowledge and devotion. I earnestly and seriously invite our congregants to visit our school. I am certain you will find diligent and interested youngsters responding to the stimulus of a well conducted school in beautiful air conditioned surroundings.

From this Religious School we hope to obtain many youth leaders of the future to whom the Jewish heritage has meaning and significance. To better assure that continuity, our synagogue within recent years has created a youth program to take care of the need of youngsters between the ages of 13 and 17. Here the program must be less formal, but not nccessarily less Jewish, and thc organization more fluid, while at the came time purposive and leading to sociability and increased understanding of Jcwish life. We hope to achieve a real continuity of growth of the young persons of our synagogue, and I think that even in the short number of years this program has been in operation we have very much to be pleased with and great deal to be proud of.

Annual Report

Our Youth Activities chairman, Mrs. Herman Helpern, has been one of the most hard working and conscientious committe chairman this synagogue has ever had in any capacity. It is important to add here that the work of this program has gone forward because of the excellent administrative leadership given to it by Hyman Sankel, our Youth Activities Director.

We cannot blind ourselves to the fact that outside of the synagogue the problem of the youth of today is a major social problem. We, in the synagogue, must share in the responsibility of helping provide answers to the youth. It is not enough that we provide them with beautiful facilities and a room in which to meet and rooms in which to cavort. Wc must also in our youth program bear in mind the need of integrating a Jewish outlook so that the youngsters who are cxposed to our problem will appreciate the high moral standards of life for which Judaism stands. In the youth rests our future and it is up to us to help share that future through them.

Our Future Leadership

I hope I am not disturbing the pleasantncss of the evening by speaking of what I regard as gaps in our program, so that we may confide with each other about goals which are very important for us to achieve, and for ramparts which we have really not begun to scale. I refer particularly to a young adult group program. I fervently wish that in the period immediately ahead it will be possible to creat such a group consisting of young men and women who are sons and daughters of our members.

The other area where I feel that wc must cooperate more diligently is the Mr. and Mrs. Club. From what I know of the leadership and the composition of this group, there is no finer collection of people in our congregation. We need more younger members of our congregation to participate and to activate into our programs young husbands and wives who want their congregational social group to be one in which they jointly bclong. I trust that the year ahead will give us a larger and stronger Mr. and Mrs. Club. The kind of work put into this group by Dr. Leon Pordy, its president, and Mrs. Pordy, merits better results in terms of cooperation by our congregation and its leadership.

IV. Strengthening the Present through Culture and Education

Rabbi Judah Nadich's Talks

In the short time that he has been with us, the Rabbi has accomplished a great deal in this area of culture and cducation. His talks in the adult education program, his series of talks to the Parents Association and his addresses bcfore the arms of the synagogue have all added content and meaning and all have helped increase understanding amongst our members.

Adult Education Program

Our adult education program this ycar was a most pleasant surprise. I first want to say that the committee chairman, Sidney J. Silberman, has donc an excellent and conscientious job. Our classes were bigger than they were for many ycars and the percentage of congregants who attended these classes was higher than ever before. The content of the program, both the early evening courses and the major lecture series have been on a high level that should make us proud of Park Avenue Synagogue. However, I am telling you no secret when I say that we arc not altogether pleased with our adult education program despite the improvements which have occurred this year as compared with our immediate past. Our disappointment is due only to the lack of response by our congregants. By and largc the enthusiasm of our congregants toward adult education has been tcpid when it should havc been avid. We trust that in the year ahead this program will attract more of our congregants than it has in the past.

Our Library

I feel that wc can say without straining the truth, that with the establishment of the Cohen Library we now have the beginning of another major cultural faucet in our synagogue educational and religious program. A large number of youngsters use it and adults too have begun to read our books. The number of titles is regularly increasing and the range of material is ever expanding. Recently, in fact only four days ago, the Cohen Library was awarded a citation by the Jcwish Book Council. Much of the succcss of this library is attributable to the seriousness with which the committe chairman, Asa D. Sokolow, takes his work; no detail being too unimportant for him, we are indeed fortunate in having him as chairman of this committee. I should also like to add here that we are likewise fortunate in having as librarian a very talented and dedicated lady, Mrs. Hilde Kisch.

Arms of the Synagogue

While the synagogue arms are engaged in a great variety of activities, I think it would bc unfair in dealing with the cultural and educational impact upon our congregants to exclude from reference, the educational programs offered by the synagogue arms. During the past year Sisterhood, Men's Club, Parents Association and Mr. and Mrs. Club made genuine educational and cultural contributions to our members through a large variety of speakers that were offered.

Without even attempting to enumerate the various lectures which were given here this year, I think all of you will agree with me if you think back over the panorama of events, that tremendous educational opportunities were presented through all the arms of the Park Avenue Synagogue.

Sisterhood—In addition to anything clse one may say in praise of it, Sisterhood has always taken seriously the special honor which has been bestowed upon it; the privilege of raising funds for the congregation. Everyone will concede that it has done this very well indeed. During this administration, we have received equipment for our meat kitchen, and a sound proof ceiling for this Auditorium, which makes it now possible for us to hcar each other. I hope in the near future the Synagogue will be the recipient of a special contribution for a major renovation job to thc ladies room and the mens room in the rear of this Auditorium which the Board of Trustees voted at its last meetmg and which will be donc this summcr. Some of Sisterhood's successful projects this year were the UJA-Bazaar, Federation, Torah Fund and Jewish Blind among so many other worthy causes. The president of Sisterhood is Mrs. Solomon E. Green, a dedicated member of our congregation who takes her duties seriously and performs them all efficiently. Under her leadership the Sisterhood continues to be the wonderful group it has always been.

Annual Report

Our Men's Club has this year been under the presidency of Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel, a loyal member of our congregation and an able leader of the Men's Club. Under his guidance and with the aid of many of his devoted colleagues, the social programs of the Men's Club have been abong the outstanding events in the life of our synagogue. These programs have received proper emphasis and they have been carried out very successfully. Here I would like to add that it is my earnest desire to see the Men's Club this coming year fill two very important but sadly neglected facets of our synagogue life , (1) to join forces with Sisterhood and engage in a huge fund raising function to help repay to the synagogue the cost of the construction job which I mentioned before. and (2) to establish and sponsor a daily minyan every evening to be held in the Appleman Chapel. Many of our congregants who have had the misfortune of requiring to recite the daily Kaddish—must of necessity attend daily services elsewhere. I know that at Temple Emanu-El, the Men's Club is in charge of the daily minyan and each week of the year a different team of men takes over this very important function of synagogue life. I earnestly trust that Dr. Siegel and his board will give these suggestions some thought and act on it promptly.

The Parents Association, under the leadership of our hard working and competent Mrs. Seymour Wimpfheimer, continues its difficult role of helping to draw young parents closer to the aims and principles of our synagogue. Over the years this has been a job well done, despite its difficulties; and the course of events during the past 12 months has continued to demonstrate the useful role played by the Parents Association in the life of our congregation. They have helped not only the parents, but also the youngsters themselves through their class-mothers program. And, this year more than ever before, their self-education has benefited tremendously from the efforts of our Rabbi and their own superb program.

V. The Synagogue as a Family

I wish now to treat the synagogue as one large family and to share with you some of my thoughts of living together as a family.

The Parish Work of Rabbi and Cantor

Those of our congregants who have met with sadness during the past year will need no reminder from me about the manner in which our rabbi and cantor have been able to help them in moments of distress. I can think of few phases of work of our rabbi particularly. which can be of greater importance than his day to day visits to our congregants at such times when they need more than anything else, words of consolation during hours of intense grief. I know that Rabbi Nadich has supplied that need. and so has Cantor Putterman these many years.

The Extraordinary Parish Work of our president Jacob Klein

This much must be said: That without the unusual role played by our synagogue president, Jacob Klein, the life of our synagogue as a family would most definitely be different. On second thought, not only would it be different, but it would be nowheres as good.

Jacob Klein carved out for himself in behalf of our congregation a most extraordinary extra-constitutional function. He congratulates the fortunate with letters, with visits, with telephone calls. He calls upon the sick at hospitals, at homes. He attends funerals. He goes to minyanim. He forgets no anniversary or simcha. mourning or yahrzeit. As the Yiddish expression goes "until 120 years," may this kind of extraordinary parish work continue!

The Unifying Force of the Synagogue Bulletin

I took occasion a few weeks ago, for no special reason, to spend a few minutes telling the Board of Trustees what I thought of Nelson Ruttenberg, our Bulletin Chairman and in addition our Bulletin editor. I have long felt that the synagogue was lucky to have someone as devoted as Nelson who can help make of the Bulletin a unifying family force strengthening the solidity of our congretion. It can be said with pride that this Bulletin ranks among the best of any congregation in the country. If for no other reason as far as I am concerned, it deserves a place of honor because it helps create the feeling that even though all of us in the synagogue are not kin, we are at least kith.

Our Synagogue Building—A Pleasant Place to come to

The Arts and Decorations Committee holds a special spot in my heart for I would like to feel that when our congregants come to this building they will find a warm, friendly and pleasant place to meet in.

Our Arts and Decorations Committe is concerned with the decor of our premises and I feel confident in saying that despite the limited budget that we made available to it, the improvement in the appearance of our building has already been marked. For this achievement much of the credit goes to Mrs. Milton M Sivek and the members of her wonderful committee, who have really spent time on a task which fortunately they love to do.

Maintaining the Facilities

We all like to come to a building that is spic and span and neat, one that runs smoothly and efficiently. I doubt that any congregant could be more critical of any imperfections in this direction than I am; yet I have this to say—despite the tremendous increase in the use of our building by synagogue arms, by more congregational functions, by more catered functions, we have by and large been able to maintain a fine looking building. This is not to say that there is no room for improvement. There surely is but where there is life—there is hope. For devotion to this task, we must indeed be thankful to Mortimer D. Millheiser, who as one of our congregants just like you and I, has nevertheless volunteered a great deal of time and effort to the problem of maintaining our facilities.

Family Parties at our Synagogue

During the past year or so an increased number of family parties have taken place in the synagogue. This pleases all of us, not merely because it represents income to the synagogue but beause it reflects more and more a closer tie in the association by these families with the synagogue. I refer not only to weddings and Bar Mitzvah parties, but specifically to parties just for a group of friends.

VI. How Are We Doing?

A. Financially—The Chairman of our Finance Committe, our dedicated Mr. Benjamin Sack, tells us and you ought to know that whereas in years not too long gone by, there had always been a fair surplus at the end of the year, in the current fiscal year and in the one coming up, we are just about breaking even. This is not in itself very good, and I hope that we can begin to return to the days where our annual operating budget will be able to show a surplus of income over outgo. We are pushing close to a $200,000 a year budget.

We are operating a large institution. There are fifty-one persons who work for our synagogue either part-time or full-time. There is an ever increasing demand upon the services of the synagogue by our congregants, by our congregational committees, by the arms of the synagogue, by the Religious School and by our youth. This is a good sign and a good trend, even though these trends cost money. Our facilities are here to be used. Our members are here to be served. Synagogue catering has been a help to us financially, and here the chairmanship of Nelson Ruttenberg has been a real positive factor.

Nevertheless, our synagogue income is based essentially upon dues rather than upon any other form of revenue. It is my hope that from time to time members of our congregation will see fit to review for themselves, without any encouragement or suggestion by any formal committee of the congregation, the amount of dues they contribute to the synagogue. Ours is a voluntary dues system. Our dues are based upon the ability to pay and the readiness to pay it. Sometimes that readiness matures and increases with a person's attachment to the congregation. The fortune of years, varying as they do, will often make it possible for people to increase their dues when they are in a position to do so. We hope that many of our congregants will find it possible to do so.

B. Our Membership

Membership in this congregation is limited by the number of seats we have available for the High Holy Days. Despite the fact that the number of seats has remained constant over the past four years,—that is, since the Milton Steinberg House went into operation and the activities of our congregation increased ——despite that, the amount of dues income during this four year period increased by 33 1/3%. This substantial increase reflects credit upon the chairman of our Membership Committee, Mr. Harry Sokolow, and the wonderful personnel of his committee who work with him. It reflects credit upon the excellence of our congregation, for what we stand in the eyes of the community—all of us acting as magnets to draw additional persons into our congregational family. I want to say that I am proud of our congregation and its members. I am proud of the dues system of our congregation as being a real contribution in and of itself to the membership structure of synagogue life in America.

C. Law Committee

The Law Committee this year in addition to its normal routine tasks and inquiries that are referred to it, achieved a new status for our synagogue by working out the method of bringing the synagogue personnel into the Social Security System. Our thanks of course go to the wonderful chairman of that committee, Judge Sanford H. Cohen.

One of the not so routine acts of the Law Committee this year, which I would like to underscore, dealt with a $2,500 legacy which has come to us and this from one not even a member of the congregation.

D. Ritual Committee

The Ritual Committee under the chairmanship of our good friend, Archie Thurman, has by and large maintained a status quo in regard to the religious practices of our congregation. I feel that I am expressing the wishes of our congregants when I say that our ritual and practices pretty much as we have them now, are more or less closely attuned with the wishes of our congregants.

E. Ushering

In David Altschul the Ushering Committee has a fine chairman, devoted to the tasks assigned to that committee. I regard ushering as of major importance not only during the High Holy Days when it is indispensable, but during the Sabbath Services as well as during the Festivals. The first impression that one receives of our synagogue he may often get, in his handling by an usher. We are fortunate in the composition of our Ushering Committee who have been making favorable impressions upon those who enter our portals.

F. Planning Immediately Ahead

The short term and immediate planning for the year ahead comes under the jurisdiction of the Planning Committee under the able chairmanship of Mr. Milton M. Sivek. With tonight's function, we conclude a long year of many important events. I know that much of the smoothness that attended all of our functions which occurred this year was due in no small measure to the original planning which went into it, by the Planning Committee. Nevertheless, these special function chairmen must merit your attention. I refer to Mrs. Isidore Hahn for the wonderful handling of the Oneg Shabbat on so many Friday nights, for more times than one should ask a person to serve; to Mrs. Abraham Stangel for the magnificent Siyum Ha-Torah and Hanukkah Party; to Mr. Howard Kieval for the splendid Purim entertainment and party; to Mrs. Tubie Resnik for a marvelous congregational Seder; to Mrs. Jacob Starr, for the welcome party given to our new members; and last but not least, to Mrs. Arthur Morse for the magnificent tribute to our Cantor, not to mention tonight's dinner party too. These congregants aided by committees all did heroic work in helping to make our functions pleasant and successful in the service of our congregation.

It is my hope that when the Planning Committee prepares its notification to our congregants about the events for the year ahead, our members will carefully note the events on their own private calendars and avail themselves of the opportunity to participate more fully in the many things we have to offer.

Administration —
Our Executive Director

Very few of our congregants are aware of the fact that a synagogue such as ours could not run efficiently without the aid of an Executive Director. He has a multitude of operations to perform and hundreds of phone calls to make. His job is to coordinate the office and its help; to supervise the buildings and their help; to create fund raising ideas; to help with our public relations and generally to supervise our entire synagogue life except that of the pulpit, the school and the Board of Trustees. We have been fortunate indeed these past years to have Sidney R. Katz fill that position. I can testify to his unselfish devotion and dedication to our synagogue and to its ideals. He has always been at my beck and call and always indicated to me a sincere desire to help the Board of Trustees carry out its decisions and its plans. Sidney has an extraordinary amount of talent which I know he can use to very great advantage. I am grateful to him for his cooperation during this past year and a half, and I trust that I will continue to receive his wholehearted support and cooperation in the future.

I am grateful to Manny Rosenthal who, although incapacitated this past year, has nevertheless made a genuine effort to help me fulfill my job.

I am grateful to all my fellow officers and Trustees from Dr. Seymour Wimpfheimer through to every member of our Board and Advisory Council.

I am grateful to everyone whose name I read to you this evening. Without their help this synagogue could not have attained the stature it commands.

This report in many ways resembles a play, the title to which can very well be, "PAS—January 1957 to May 1958," and like all plays, the cast should be permitted to take a bow at the end of the performance. May I therefore ask those whose names I will call, to rise and acknowledge your applause in the order of their appearance in this report.

Now, in conclusion, I beg you to permit me to borrow the words of the president of Sisterhood contained in her report of the year. It can very well apply to the congregation generally as it was intended to apply to Sisterhood:

> "As we look back upon the past year, we see not only the achievements attained, but also our unattained goals and unrealized dreams. We hope to use the challenge of this coming year with faith and courage for greater fulfillment of our ideals in a finer and greater synagogue. We aim for greater unity so that whatever point of synagogue life we meet we may find a true fellowship of warm understanding and harmony."

Cantor Friedman Will Conduct Summer Services

During the summer months, July and August, the Friday evening religious services will begin at 6:00 P.M. and will be conducted by Cantor Abraham Friedman.

During the same period, the Saturday morning service will begin, as usual, at 9:30 A.M. These, too, will be conducted by Cantor Friedman.

Both the Friday evening and Sabbath morning service will take place in the air-conditioned Appleman Chapel in the Milton Steinberg House, adjourning the main synagogue building.

Att'y General Lefkowitz Addresses Men's Club

By HARVEY GLASSER

Hon. Louis J. Lefkowitz, Attorney General of the State of New York, was the guest speaker at the 10th annual election and dinner meeting of the Men's Club, Tuesday, May 27, in the Lemberg Auditorium.

In an informal talk, the General discussed the workings of the Attorney General's office, which ranks second in size only to that of the United States Attorney General. He stressed the action taken against "boiler factories" for their fraud on the public in the sale of stock and the recent drive against those engaged in "bait advertising."

The slate of officers and members of the Board as presented by Charles Bennet, chairman of the nominating committee was unanimously elected. Rabbi Judah Nadich was the installing officer.

Re-elected to serve as our president for a second term, Dr. Sigmund A. Siegel, who did such an outstanding job, reported on our activities during the past year and our plans for 1958-1959.

Harry Dubin, re-elected 1st vice-president, was the recipient of the first Service Award, to be presented annually to one of our members for unusual service and dedication to the Men's Club. Chester Glaser and his committee made the selection which could not have been more popular. Julian Jacobs, much to his surprise, was called upon to make the presentation.

Substituting for Nat B. Gerber, who was absent on a business trip, David Altschul did a splendid job as toastmaster. Our thanks to Julian Jacobs and Jack Boorstein, and to the members of the hospitality committee for an excellent dinner. Our thanks, too, go to Ted Meistrich for his role as chairman of reservations.

Hazzan Putterman led us in saying grace. Also seated on the dais were Nezih Manyas, head of the Turkish Information Office in New York City, Joseph Howard Katz and Milton M. Sivek, former presidents of Men's Club.

And so, 1957-1958 is now behind us. Let us hope and pray that we will be all together in good fellowship and good health in the year ahead.

Condolences

Franz Lissauer—death of his father, Meno Lissauer

BOY SCOUT HONORED

Alan Feit, a member of our Boy Scout Troop 600, achieved the highest possible rank in Scouting — the Eagle Scout Award. On Monday evening, May 26, the Award was presented to Alan by Mr. Jacob Klein, president of the Park Avenue Synagogue, at a special ceremony held in the Lemberg Auditorium.

The Eagle Scout Award is a rare distinction which very few scouts are ever able to attain. Mr. Joseph Howard Katz, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, in a congratulatory message stated, "Having been a Boy Scout myself in my youth, I know the honor which this award represents and I am very proud that a Scout from Park Avenue Synagogue has attained this honor."

High Holyday Services

This year (1958), Rosh Hashanna will fall on Monday, September 15, and Tuesday, September 16. The high holydays will be ushered in with a Maariv Service, Sunday evening, September 14, at 5:45 P.M.

Kol Nidre, Erev Yom Kippur, will fall on Tuesday evening, September 23, and Yom Kippur on Wednesday, September 24.
